Injured As Sewer Caves In

A 37-year-old Chicago laborer remained in critical condition at Northwest Community Hospital yesterday (Wednesday) after he was caught in a sewer trench cave-in Tuesday morning in Arlington Heights.

Frank Bizzotto, an employe of Rossetti Construction Co,, was buried up to his chest when trench walls gave way at a construction site on Davis Street near Arthur Avenue.

He suffered a fractured leg and chest injuries from the pressure of the earth before Arlington Heights police and firemen could free him.

ROSSETTI foreman Anthony Marzullo told police he was standing at the edge of the excavation when he saw the side start to cave.

He said it seemed Bizzotto, who saw the earth coming, became confused and jumped the wrong way in an attempt to get clear.

No reason was given for the cave-in of the trench, which is part of work on over-all installation of water and sanitary sewer service for Park Manor subdivision.

Close Street For Display Of New Cars

Davis Street between Evergreen and Dunton avenues in Arlington Heights will be blocked this Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 2, 3 and 4, to allow central display of 1965 automobiles from local dealerships.

The display is being sponsored by the Arlington Heights National Bank in cooperation with the local dealers. Approximately 16 new models will be on display for the weekend.

INTERRACIAL HOUSING and its problems were attacked from several angles Tuesday night in a panel discussion sponsored by the Arlington Heights Community Council. The controversial subject brought about 50 residents to the Pioneer Park fieldhouse to hear experts including Eugese J. Callahan, executive director of the Chicago Conference on Religion and Race; banker Erwin A. Salk, Rev. Robert Christ, director of Presbytery's Commission on Religion and Race; John A. McDermott, executive director of the Catholic Interracial Council of Chicago; and William Hoyer, a member of HOME, Inc. (Home Opportunities Made Equal). (Staff photo)

One-Year Trial

Ask End to Refuse Pickup at Curbside

The citizens' committee on refuse pickup will present a recommendation to the Arlington Heights village board Monday that back-door pickup service exclusively be given a trial run in the village.

The committee, faced with divided opinion from residents on the advisability of eliminating curb-side pickup from the Laseke Disposal Co. contract, will recommend also that the matter be subjected to a referendum after a sufficient trial time.

The recommendation passed by the citizens' committee at its final meeting Monday, Sept. 28, calls for a test period of a year minimum in order to give residents a chance to experience service in all seasons before they vote on the matter.

CHOICE IS between the present method of collection, either at the curb for $2.10 a month or at back doors (wherever cans are stored) for $2.95, and exclusively back door service for $2.50 a month.

The committee members state their unanimous feeling in the recommendation that rear-door service "is beneficial to the village," but add that the sharply divided opinion of residents on the matter should warrant a referendum.

Letters were received at the request of the committee from about 40 residents stating their preference on the pickup system after the committee was formed by the village board.

A contract negotiated with Laseke Disposal Co. in 1963 provides that, unless the board decides otherwise, back door service at the new price will be instituted as of Dec. 1 this year.

OF THOSE who wrote in objecting to the scheduled change. the majority claimed that it would take from them their right of individual choice.

Other objectors said the refuse collectors would cause a mess walking from the rear of their property, or that the storage area for their refuse cans would not be accessible and they would have to be taken to the curb anyway.

An additional problem of whether the Laseke collectors would tromp through unplowed snow in winter months to take the cans was also raised.

Those in favor of the single type of collection, including members of the citizens' committee, reasoned that it would remove an unsightly condition which is always present somewhere in the village on any weekday.

THE COMMITTEE members also said there is a safety factor involved, since cans and lids often blow out onto village streets from the curb after collection on a windy day.

The committee discussed several alternates in coming up with the final recommendation — one of which was an immediate referendum on the issue without a trial period.

It was decided that the trial would be necessary in order for those who had never had rear-door service to determine its merits or demerits.

The committee also decided that institution of the single-service system on the basis of their personal preference would be unfair to a large segment of the citizenry who might be opposed.

THE committee recommends that a referendum be held no sooner than nine months after the trial begins, but set no outer limit.

Closest village elections to which such a referendum could be linked are in April, 1967; but the committee also discussed possibility of holding the vote in November, 1966, at the time of national and state elections.

Downspout Law Before Board

The Arlington Heights village board will consider a second ordinance regulating connection of downspouts to sewer lines at its regular meeting Monday, Oct. 5.

Interested citizens are invited to attend the meeing a 8 p.m. in the municipal building, 33 S. State Rd.

Postpone Launching Date for United Fund

After a late start, plans for the Arlington Heights United Fund Appeal for 1964 have been set back more than a month to allow time to get an organization together.

New target date for the drive, originally scheduled for mid-October, is Nov. 30 — and the campaign still lacks a chairman.

Officers and members of the United Fund's board of directors, elected only a month ago, have agreed to put the campaign back on its feet.

THE DIRECTORS will meet tonight (Thursday) and again next Tuesday, Oct. 6, to interview representatives of three professional groups under consideration.

Fred Leydig, Fund president, explained that the interviews would serve not only to determine the best suited of the three professional organizations, but also to determine if professional assistance would be practical for the drive.

Roger Chapman, vice president of the Fund organization, said any such aid would most likely be on a one-year basis to "teach us what we should be doing."

Both Leydig and Chapman indicated that the group has suffered from a lack of continuity of volunteer personnel to step up to posts of responsibility from the previous drive.

AT A general meeting of United Fund members (those who contributed $5 or more in last year's drive) for election of 1964 directors, there were no more persons present than there were directors to be chosen.

Though the organization of solicitors for the scheduled one-week drive has not begun, other phases are under way after a later-than-usual start.

According to Leydig, letters have been mailed to all civic and charitable agencies which took part in last year's combined appeal, asking them to again submit their budget requests.

Lester J. McAuliffe, budget chairman for the Fund, is still receiving replies and applications which must be reviewed before the 1964 budget and goal are established.

LEYDIG SAID, though, that the organization is thinking again this year in terms of $75,000 — last year's goal, which ran a third higher than actual collections.

The president also stressed that, though the drive will be late in getting under way this year, persons who give through a payroll deduction plan anywhere in the Chicago area may designate all or part of the deduction for the Arlington Heights appeal.

He said the entire campaign will be run this year on the basis of designated contributions — giving donors the right to earmark their pledge for any one or group of participating agencies in the drive.

CHAPMAN SAID he feels that after the professional fund raisers are interviewed and the cost of such service is determined, the investment will appear well worth it in terms of drive success.

Discuss Suit to Void Annexation

The Mount Prospect village board will hold a special meeting next Tuesday, Oct. 6, to discuss development plans for the Curtis farms—an area already annexed to the village of Arlington Heights.

The meeting was called by Mount Prospect Village Pres. Clarence O. Schlaver at another special meeting last Tuesday after the possibility of a suit for disconnection of the area from Arlington Heights was disclosed.

Development plans for the area, north of Golf Road along an extension of Meier Road on the Mount Prospect border, were presented originally by Salvatore DiMucci, a Mount Prospect builder.

The plans to be discussed at next Tuesday's meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p. m. before the regular board meeting, were prepared by Tec-Search Inc., village planning consultants acting for Mount Prospect as alternates to DiMucci's proposal.

ACCORDING to Trustee Parker Ekren, who presented the Tec-Search plan to the board Tuesday, the new proposals involve larger single-family lot areas than DiMucci requested, and a revision of apartment layout.

Ekren said the planners were requested to come up with alternate proposals after the Mount Prospect board indicated in a secret meeting Sept. 8, that DiMucci's plan was unsatisfactory.

He said at this time the Arlington Heights annexation was not known, and that the Mount Prospect board is just carrying through something which began "more than three weeks ago."

Mount Prospect Village Atty. Edward C. Hofert said Wednesday, "I don't see any point in having a meeting. We're wasting our time. The whole question is moot—it isn't even in Mount Prospect."

EKREN SAID he did not have any information on whether DiMucci is suing or planning to sue for disconnection from Arlington Heights, and Arlington Heights village officials had received no word of legal action.

The Curtis farms area was annexed to the village involuntarily more than a month ago along with several other plots at the south end of the village which had been included in a previous contested annexation.

Worker Shot After Dice Game Break-Up

Four men were charged with gambling, and a fifth was charged with aggravated battery after a shooting incident Saturday at the Arlington Auto Wash, 900 W. Euclid Ave., Arlington Heights.

Charges of disorderly conduct were also lodged against three of the persons involved.

William A. Dingler, 923 W. Euclid, a maintenance man at the auto wash, is to appear in court Oct. 8 on a charge that he shot Harvey Lee Vaughn of Chicago in a scuffle after breaking up a dice game.

According to statements given the Arlington Heights police, the fight broke out when Dingler kept dice belonging to Willie Vaughn, also an auto wash employe.

Both Willie and Harvey Vaughn, who suffered a minor wound in the back at the left shoulder from a .22 calibre derringer, were charged with gambling and disorderly conduct.

Rufus James and John Huske, also at the scene, were charged only with gambling.

Dingler faces a charge of disorderly conduct in addition to the aggravated battery charge. He is free on $1,500 bond.

Bond was also set at $1,500 for the Vaughn brothers, and a court date set for Oct. 8, James is free on $1,000 bond and scheduled to appear in court the same day.

Locations for Registration

Residents who missed their opportunity to register for the November general election during the regular period will be able to register at their precinct polling places from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. Oct. 6.

Lists of polling places for precincts within Wheeling and Elk Grove townships will be found inside this week's Herald.

Village Cites Achievements

Arlington Heights was entered yesterday (Wednesday) in its second bid for distinction as an "All-America City" on the basis of civic and community betterment.

The nomination was submitted by Lester Ploetz, 1004 N. Mitchell Ave., an active member of a number of the citizens' committees which have figured in the advances set forth in the document.

Ploetz worked with Village Pres. John G. Woods at Woods' suggestion to seek the country-wide recognition sponsored jointly by the National Municipal League and Look Magazine.

Theme on which the presentation is based is the community's achievements in coping with a tremendous rate of growth since 1950.

Arlington Heights' last entry, formulated by Trustee Norval Stephens in 1962, was based on the same theme, but Woods said many specifics have been added to the new nomination.

THE STANDARD form document mailed yesterday stresses nine specific areas of achievement over the past several years, but concentrates on projects recently completed or still under way in the hands of citizens, village officials, and other official bodies which work within the municipality.

Woods explained that citations have been based to a great extent on citizen participation in improvement programs and that much of the progress in Arlington Heights was due to such volunteer aid.

Heading the achievement list in Ploetz' nomination is community improvement—a broad topic which goes back to construction of a new municipal building, a $3-million storm sewer system, a new well, and streets and sidewalks to bring the village network toward completion.

THE FIRST section also dwells on special assessment improvement of Park Manor subdivision and on a recent lease-purchase arrangement for utilities serving Arlington Gardens subdivision.

A total expenditure figure for the community improvements heading is about $6 million—over a period of less than five years. In addition, citizens' committees were active in nearly every area in one way or another.

Under the heading of commerce and industry, the village's annexation and zoning of more than 1,000 acres of land for industrial, office and research use is noted. Ploetz also outlines village activity in attracting new facilities such as Harvestore and Ginn Publishing Co. as old factories leave.

A cultural section enumerates several volunteer groups including Village Theatre, Countryside Art Center, and Community Concerts—in addition to the proposal for a community cultural center.

THE INTER-American Friendship Program is highlighted under a topic which bears the village motto — "City of Good Neighbors." Also included are the work of the United Fund, efforts of the League of Women Voters and Community Council in the area of human relations, and contributions to the area YMCA.

Perhaps the biggest story of expansion comes in the area of education. The past five years have seen two new high schools, several new elementary schools, and additions to many others.

A recreation section closely parallels the school growth—with a new major and neighborhood parks provided as subdivisions blossom from farmland on the village outskirts.

A health section features the expansion drive for Northwest Community Hospital which is to double present facilities, and both the present location and plans for the Northwest Mental Health Clinic.

CHURCH GROWTH has served to meet needs of the growing population, according to Ploetz' entry, with the addition of nine new churches in the past few years, and several building additions within the existing congregations.

He stressed the part citizens have played in development of the village's governmental system—particularly the League of Women Voters and a special citizens' committee which backed establishment of the village manager system.

The caucus system of election of municipal officials was also praised.

But the entry also outlines problems in the community which reamin to be solved. Heading the list are revitalization of the downtown business district, and establishment of a long-range water supply.

Woods said entries will not be judged for some time, but that finalist villages in the competition will send representatives to New York for a personal presentation to determine winners.

High-Rise Amendments Proposed

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission last week approved a recommendation to the village board that two sections be added to beef up the proposed high-rise commercial zoning class for downtown Arlington.

The major addition provides that any parcels zoned for B-5 in addition to the central business district outlined in the original ordinance must be touching the central district.

A second recommended addition would provide that commercial uses in the B-5 district which would provide a bonus of higher density in apartment buildings must cover the majoritiy of floor space in one or more floors of the building.

The B-5 ordinance which will be considered by the Arlington Heights village board Monday was recommended by the plan commission subject to the second addition worded last Wednesday.

Without it, the ordinance would have allowed great increases over allowed apartment density of an exclusively residential building if even the smallest commercial establishment had been added.

Threaten Refusal To Pay Water Tab

A hard core of opposition to Arlington Heights' acquisition of a water and sewer company serivng Arlington Gardens subdivision remains active this week.

The group of residents, who are backing a suit to have annexation of the area thrown out, also agreed last Thursday to refuse to pay a $10.25 monthly charge for lease-purchase of the utilities.

Mrs. Barbara Vidmar, spokesman for the group, said she expected "about 50 residents" to refuse to pay the charge.

SHE ADDED, though, that they were planning to pay a charge for water which would be added to the $10.25 every month. The water charge is 40 cents per 1,000 gallons.

The nearly 300 homeowners in Arlington Gardens subdivision have been obligated to pay the $10.25 standard charge for eight years to pay for the system. Payment is to go through the village to Citizens' Utility Co., which gave up control of the system Sept. 15.

Residents in the area complained this week that there were periods Monday during which water pressure gave out.

THE GARDENS water system is to be operated separtely for eight years until the lease-purchase agreement is completed, but the village had pledged to back up the small system with its main supply.

One of the prime reasons for the acquisition was to solve water shortage problems which had plagued the subdivision since it was built.

New Club to Train Teens in Theatre

The Arlington Heights Park District will sponsor a theatre club for all 13- to 18-year-olds interested in learning more about acting, stage techniques and backstage skills.

Club members will decide on phases of theatre to be emphasized and training desired. Some possible areas to be covered will be how to audition for plays, voice and diction, improvisational theatre, monologues and make-up.

IF MEMBERS desire, the performance of short plays and entertainment for other groups will be featured. The club will give the beginner in theatre an opportunity to learn, and teens with previous experience an opportunity to improve their skills.

A contest for naming this new group will be conducted after the first meeting. Officers or a committee will be appointed or elected to decide the function, purposes and goals of the organization.

Mrs. Ann Hume, an experienced member of Village Theatre, will serve as director for Teen Theatre. The group will meet every Tuesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Recreation Park Fieldhouse, starting next Tuesday. Dues will be charged on a monthly basis to assist in paying Teen Theatre expenses.

Cards Top R-B Frosh

Bob Graham and Keith Culbertson teamed up on a 40-yard scoring pass and Paul Douglas added the extra point as Arlington High School's frosh 'A' football team edged Riverside-Brookfield, 7-0.

The only score of the plebe encounter came in the second quarter and gave Ted Wissen's Cards a 1-1 record for 1964.

A penalty checked a promising Arlington march in the first period, and the game ended with the young Cards on the Riverside four.

"We showed quite a bit of improvement over our first game," Wissen said. Arlington will tackle a host York eleven Saturday.

Over 50 Club Lists Activities

The Over 50 Club of the Arlington Heights area will meet today (Thursday) at Recreation Park for Drop In Center Day, from noon until 4 p.m.

The group will celebrate its second birthday on Thursday, Oct. 8, with a luncheon complete with a birthday cake. Reservations should be made now.

The Over 50 club will be guests of Sara Lee Baking Co. in Deerfield on Thursday, Oct. 22. Reservations must be in by Tuesday, Oct. 20.

Hearing on Assessment Slated Oct. 8

Informal hearing on a proposed special assessment project including sewer, water and paving improvements on Olive Street from State Road to Dunton Avenue, will be Oct. 8 before the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements.

Properties adjoining the section to be improved, and within a half-block on side streets, are generally affected by special assessment proceedings.

Peace Church Plans Dedication Services

Peace Reformed Church, 600 E. Golf Road, Arlington Heights, will hold a week of dedication services beginning Sunday.

The services will provide an opportunity for the public to attend worship and to inspect the new church building.

Three services will be held Sunday, one at 9:30 a.m., the dedication service at 3 p.m. and evening worship at 7:30. World Wide Communion Sunday will be observed at both morning and evening services.

The Rev. Edwin Mulder, director of evangelism for the Reformed Church, will give the message at the 3 o'clock service.

Tuesday, at 8 p.m., Community Night will be observed with the message being given by the Rev. Harry Evans, Evangelical Free Church, Arlington Heights. Friday, Oct. 9, at 8 p.m. will be Denominational Night, with ministers from other Reformed Churches in the Chicago area participating. The message will be given by Rev. Harold Korver, Calvary Reformed Church, Chicago.

The new church is located on a two-acre plot next to the parsonage. The membership now consists of 27 families including the pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Sherwin J. Broersma. The building seats approximately 230 and has complete nursery, Sunday School and kitchen facilities.

Announce 2 Swim Programs for Boys

Two swim programs for boys were announced by the Arlington Heights Park District.

A revised father and son program will enable boys and their fathers to swim Thursday evenings at St. Viator High School pool. Passes for each 10-week session cost $5 and may be obtained at the park district office. Night passes may be bought at the pool.

The first session will run from Thursday, Oct. 8, to Dec. 17, with the pool open from 7 to 9 p.m. The second session will begin Feb. 4 and run through April 8.

ALL BOYS must be accompanied by their fathers.

The other program is a boys' competitive swim club to be directed by Charles Mondi, summer pool manager at Pioneer Park. This 20-week session on Saturday mornings is designed to both teach and develop swim skills.

Instruction will start Saturday, Oct. 10, at 9 a.m. Registration will be taken at Pioneer Park.

Both swim programs are open to residents of other communities as well as Arlington Heights.

Town Meet Rejects 'Over 50' Donation

A proposal to designate $10,000 of surplus funds from the Wheeling Township treasury to the "Over Fifty Club" was narrowly defeated at a special town meeting last week.

Defeated also was a proposal to change the time of next year's annual town meeting from 8 p.m. to 2 p.m.

Instead a motion was passed by voice vote that all special and regular town meetings be held at 8 p.m. only.

Requiring a two-thirds majority, the appropriation to the Over Fifty Club was defeated 83 to 48. Some 133 people jammed the Wheeling Township Hall meeting room so 89 votes were needed for approval.

Arguments against the appropriation were that there were no plans for the operation and activities of the club, and that it appeared to be essentially an Arlington Heights organization rather than serving the township as a whole.

Two other motions, one to give the Over Fifty Club $1,000 and the other to give it $5,000, were also defeated.

A motion that a $10,000 fund be established for any township organizations for the aged to draw upon was declared illegal. Township Supervisor Albert Peters said that state law requires such appropriations to be made to a specific organization rather than for a general purpose.

Seeking the funds in behalf of the Over Fifty Club was the Arlington Heights Woman's Club. Mrs. Albert Peters, wife of the township supervisor and president of the woman's club said the Over Fifty Club has a membership of about 200.

Reason for the proposed time change in the annual town meeting was because the first Tuesday of April next year will be the same date as the village and township elections. Township Clerk Mrs. Dorothy Hauff, who is to preside at the town meeting, will also have to supervise the tabulation of votes that evening.

By state law, also, the town meeting must be held on the first Tuesday of April, it was reported.

Argument against the change in time was that almost all of the men in the township and a large number of women are unable to attend afternoon meetings. The township clerk will therefore have to make the best of the inconvenience of the election and town meeting schedule in order that as many people as possible would be able to participate in the town meeting, it was agreed by a clear majority of those in attendance.

Peace Church Plans Dedication Services

Peace Reformed Church, 600 E. Golf Road, Arlington Heights, will hold a week of dedication services beginning Sunday.

The services will provide an opportunity for the public to attend worship and to inspect the new church building.

Three services will be held Sunday, one at 9:30 a.m., the dedication service at 3 p.m. and evening worship at 7:30. World Wide Communion Sunday will be observed at both morning and evening services.

The Rev. Edwin Mulder, director of evangelism for the Reformed Church, will give the message at the 3 o'clock service.

Tuesday, at 8 p.m., Community Night will be observed with the message being given by the Rev. Harry Evans, Evangelical Free Church, Arlington Heights. Friday, Oct. 9, at 8 p.m. will be Denominational Night, with ministers from other Reformed Churches in the Chicago area participating. The message will be given by Rev. Harold Korver, Calvary Reformed Church, Chicago.

The new church is located on a two-acre plot next to the parsonage. The membership now consists of 27 families including the pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Sherwin J. Broersma. The building seats approximately 230 and has complete nursery, Sunday School and kitchen facilities.

Talent Bank Offers Free Programs

Talent Bank, a musical performing group formed from members of Music On Stage, Inc., has prepared several free 20-minute variety shows for the entertainment of organizations in the community.

The variety shows will consist of numbers from the musical repertoire of Music On Stage, Inc., including "New Moon," "Music Man," and "Kismet," and will be presented in full costume.

Any organization desiring such talent to supplement its programs may call Mrs. David Lindemann, CL 5-6976.

A membership drive is now in progress and anyone wishing to join Music On Stage Inc., may contact Mrs. Ray Dietrich, CL 3-2793, evenings for more information.

Two swim programs for boys were announced by the Arlington Heights Park District.

A revised father and son program will enable boys and their fathers to swim Thursday evenings at St. Viator High School pool. Passes for each 10-week session cost $5 and may be obtained at the park district office. Night passes may be bought at the pool.

The first session will run from Thursday, Oct. 8, to Dec. 17, with the pool open from 7 to 9 p.m. The second session will begin Feb. 4 and run through April 8.

ALL BOYS must be accompanied by their fathers.

The other program is a boys' competitive swim club to be directed by Charles Mondi, summer pool manager at Pioneer Park. This 20-week session on Saturday mornings is designed to both teach and develop swim skills.

Instruction will start Saturday, Oct. 10, at 9 a.m. Registration will be taken at Pioneer Park.

Both swim programs are open to residents of other communities as well as Arlington Heights.

Lady Demos Hold First Fall Meet

The Women's Democratic Organization of Wheeling Township conducted its first autumn meeting Sept. 22.

Following the business meeting, James Stavros, township committeeman, reminded the ladies of the important tasks that must be fulfilled between now and Nov. 3. Voter registration is considered a paramount obligation, he said.

The featured guest speaker of the evening was Mrs. R. J. Schlott, chairman of the Speakers' Bureau of the nonpartisan Arlington Heights League of Women Voters. Mrs. Schlott provided the pro and con points of view pertaining to the two constitutional amendments up for approval on Nov. 3.

An explanation of the orange at-large House of Representatives ballot was also given.

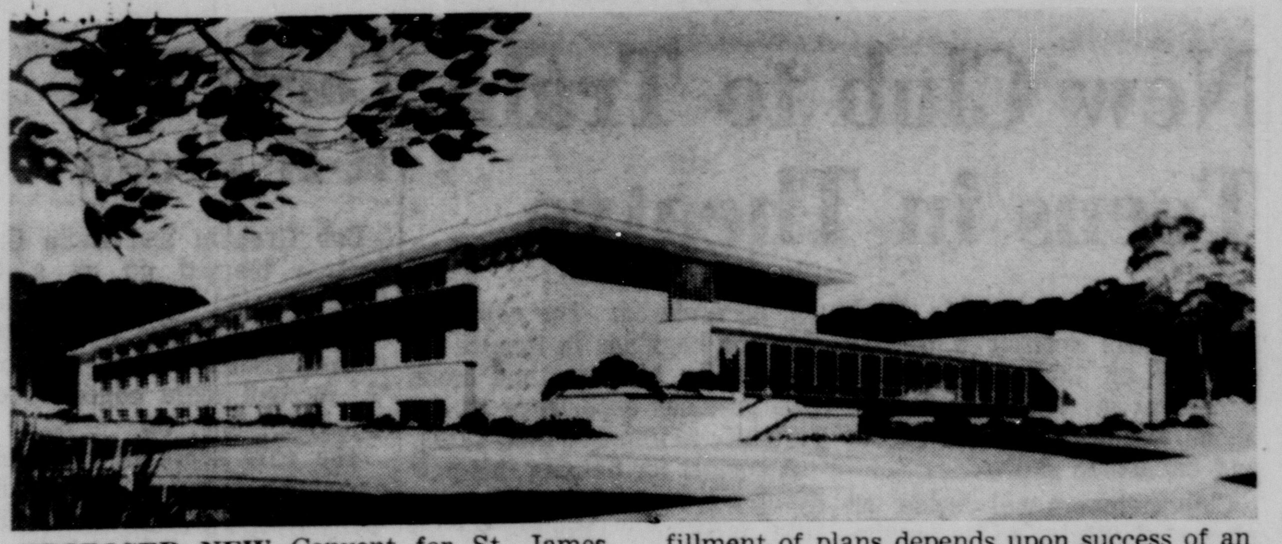
Lions Will Sell Candy Oct. 8, 9

Lions Club members will be on Arlington Heights street corners, in shopping centers and at the trains next week for their annual sale of candy to help the blind. The dates are Friday and Saturday, Oct. 9 and 10.

Among the services to the blind benefiting from the Lions' candy sale are the Hadley School for the Blind at Winnetka and Leader Dogs.

Newest undertaking of the Lions in Illinois is Camp Lions, maintained jointly with the YMCA, which sightless youth may attend to participate in outdoor and group activities.

The Arlington Heights Club also helps support Wheeling School for the Blind and the blind resource room maintained by High School District 214 and buys eye glasses for those unable to purchase them for themselves. The local club also helps pay cost of eye examinations if needed.



PROPOSED NEW Convent for St. James Parish, Arlington Heights, is planned for construction beginning in spring of 1965. Estimated cost of the structure, to be built around the present convent, is $350,000. Fulfillment of plans depends upon success of an appeal to secure the necessary loan from the Chancery office of the Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago. (A

2 Chief Goals Listed By Wheeling Twp. GOP

(Another in a series of articles on the aims and activities of member organizations of the Arlington Heights Community Council.)

Education as to political issues and strengthening of the political party within the township: These are the primary purposes of the Wheeling Township Republican organization, founded by Henry Busse.

Directing this two-fold campaign is the Republican committeeman, elected for a four-year term. Current committeeman is Thomas Houser, 219 N. Hickory. Assisting him are a committeewoman, treasurer, secretary, advisory staff, committee chairmen, area chairmen and precinct captains, all appointed by the township committeeman.

The committeewoman, Mrs. Ethel Kolerus, 9 N. Pine, Mount Prospect, represents the township at various social activities, political and non-political. Her term of office is at the discretion of the township committeeman.

THE ADVISORY staff works with the committeeman to keep political affairs running smoothly. Their recommendations are presented to him for his final decision. The committee is composed of the officers listed above, plus additional members appointed by the committeeman. At present there are 21 persons on this staff.

Each area chairman is responsible for five to seven precinct captains. Communications and material distribution are his principal duties. Generally speaking, an area chairman is a former precinct captain.

The precinct captain is the direct link between the citizen and the political party and committeeman. His duties are manifold, encompassing selection of block captains, workers, poll watchers and challengers; covering the precinct with registration cards; assigning individuals to phone calling, baby sitting, auto pickup service on election day, etc. In addition to 55 regular precinct captains, the party has 15 captains-at-large, who serve as standbys until needed.

Other Republican channels for providing dissemination of information and for building party strength are:

THE REGULAR Republican Club. Designed to encourage all Republicans and independents to take an interest in politics and government, it provides educational and social programs and a public forum for public officials and candidates. Meetings are held on the third Thursday of each month in the VFW hall.

The Women's Republican Club. Meeting on the fourth Thursday of each month in the Republican headquarters, it seeks to increase the role of women in politics and to work for honesty and efficiency in election machinery.

The Young Republicans Club. Its work is to bring young people between the ages of 18 and 36 into the party, to provide them with an opportunity for political education and experience and to offer a vehicle for political expression. It meets on the first Thursday of each month in Republican headquarters.

The Teen-Age Republican Club. This group is organized to inform those of high school and college age about the role of political parties, how they function and the importance of good government to the society. It also offers opportunity for limited political activity. Meetings are held twice monthly at Republican headquarters.

MEMBERSHIP in each of these organizations is open to any resident in Wheeling Township.

The organization conducts workshops during the year as a means of further education. Held as informal discussion sessions in various residents' homes, they deal with structure of a political party, how it functions, how the two national parties differ and the role the citizen can play in politics.

It also issues each year a directory, providing information about the Republican party in the township, the county and the state.

Since it is located in Cook County, the township organization actively participates in the program of the Cook County Republican Organization, which is composed of all ward and township committeemen.

Currently the chief project of the Republican Township Organization is to have all voters registered for the forthcoming election. On Sept. 20 it sponsored a seminar meeting at Miner Junior High School to explain and discuss the at-large election.

Fund raising is another project of the organization. Majority of this is accomplished by door-to-door solicitation on the part of precinct or block captains.

TV's 'Uncle Tony' Is Arlington Man

"Wee One's World," a children's religious television series which began Sept. 13 on WMAQ-TV, Chicago, features Tony Sulla, 1333 S. Vail, Arlington Heights, as "Uncle Tony."

Sulla tells a moral story using cartoons for illustration in the second segment of the program, which uses entertainment segments as educational tools.

The show is based on the premise that small children have a limited attention span, and activities change each five minutes.

SIX CHILDREN will participate in each week's telecast. Other segments include Gospel reading, dramatization of saints' lives with hand puppets, special guests, and teaching of a new song each week.

Though many children will learn to call Sulla "Uncle Tony" in his "To Do or Not To Do" show segments, there are three at home — Tommy, Danny and Bobby, who know him as "Dad." (A

Lay Committee to Support Referendum

The Lay Citizens Committee which studied a proposed referendum to increase the educational tax rate for High School District 214 will support the referendum.

Committee members voted unanimously at a meeting Sept. 23 to back the tax increase vote following a study of the proposal. They also approved the suggested Oct. 17 date for the referendum.

The referendum proposes that the education tax rate in District 214 be increased from 1.17 to 1.38 per cent, or to $1.38 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Present at the meeting were 23 committee members, five members of the school board and seven administrators. Of the 36 committee members not at the meeting but polled by telephone on whether they supported the referendum, 29 said "yes" and seven said "no." Four others could not be reached.

The committee will meet again Wednesday, Oct. 7, in the library of Arlington High School.

Folk Music Subject Of Church Program

The influence of contemporary folk music on the worship life of the church will be the theme for a musical program being sponsored by the Luther League of Church of the Cross in Arlington Heights Sunday evening, Oct. 11.

Speaker of the evening will be Herbert K. Meyer, director of music, who will present a recording entitled "The American Folk-Song Mass." This is the liturgy of the Episcopal Church expressed in contemporary music.

THE DON Haydn Duo will present "Three Decades of Jazz," a description of the evolution of jazz since 1930. Mrs. Joy Heidemann will be at the piano, and Don Heidemann will be at the drums.

This program is open to the youth of the area, and interested adults also are invited to attend. A refreshment hour will follow. During this time a discussion will be held concerning the various ways music could be used to enrich the life of the church.

2 Chief Goals Listed By Wheeling Twp. GOP

(Another in a series of articles on the aims and activities of member organizations of the Arlington Heights Community Council.)

Education as to political issues and strengthening of the political party within the township: These are the primary purposes of the Wheeling Township Republican organization, founded by Henry Busse.

Directing this two-fold campaign is the Republican committeeman, elected for a four-year term. Current committeeman is Thomas Houser, 219 N. Hickory. Assisting him are a committeewoman, treasurer, secretary, advisory staff, committee chairmen, area chairmen and precinct captains, all appointed by the township committeeman.

The committeewoman, Mrs. Ethel Kolerus, 9 N. Pine, Mount Prospect, represents the township at various social activities, political and non-political. Her term of office is at the discretion of the township committeeman.

THE ADVISORY staff works with the committeeman to keep political affairs running smoothly. Their recommendations are presented to him for his final decision. The committee is composed of the officers listed above, plus additional members appointed by the committeeman. At present there are 21 persons on this staff.

Each area chairman is responsible for five to seven precinct captains. Communications and material distribution are his principal duties. Generally speaking, an area chairman is a former precinct captain.

The precinct captain is the direct link between the citizen and the political party and committeeman. His duties are manifold, encompassing selection of block captains, workers, poll watchers and challengers; covering the precinct with registration cards; assigning individuals to phone calling, baby sitting, auto pickup service on election day, etc. In addition to 55 regular precinct captains, the party has 15 captains-at-large, who serve as standbys until needed.

Other Republican channels for providing dissemination of information and for building party strength are:

THE REGULAR Republican Club. Designed to encourage all Republicans and independents to take an interest in politics and government, it provides educational and social programs and a public forum for public officials and candidates. Meetings are held on the third Thursday of each month in the VFW hall.

The Women's Republican Club. Meeting on the fourth Thursday of each month in the Republican headquarters, it seeks to increase the role of women in politics and to work for honesty and efficiency in election machinery.

The Young Republicans Club. Its work is to bring young people between the ages of 18 and 36 into the party, to provide them with an opportunity for political education and experience and to offer a vehicle for political expression. It meets on the first Thursday of each month in Republican headquarters.

The Teen-Age Republican Club. This group is organized to inform those of high school and college age about the role of political parties, how they function and the importance of good government to the society. It also offers opportunity for limited political activity. Meetings are held twice monthly at Republican headquarters.

MEMBERSHIP in each of these organizations is open to any resident in Wheeling Township.

The organization conducts workshops during the year as a means of further education. Held as informal discussion sessions in various residents' homes, they deal with structure of a political party, how it functions, how the two national parties differ and the role the citizen can play in politics.

It also issues each year a directory, providing information about the Republican party in the township, the county and the state.

Since it is located in Cook County, the township organization actively participates in the program of the Cook County Republican Organization, which is composed of all ward and township committeemen.

Currently the chief project of the Republican Township Organization is to have all voters registered for the forthcoming election. On Sept. 20 it sponsored a seminar meeting at Miner Junior High School to explain and discuss the at-large election.

Fund raising is another project of the organization. Majority of this is accomplished by door-to-door solicitation on the part of precinct or block captains.

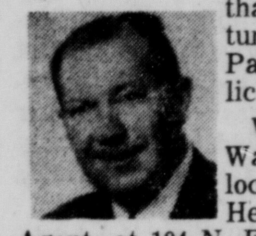
Travel Tips



With this edition we mark the start of a new travel column that will be featured weekly in Paddock Publications.

Written by Wayne Griffin, local Arlington Heights Travel Agent, at 104 N. Evergreen, the column will delve into all sorts of facts about the world of Travel. Included from time to time will be tips on current popular trips being offered by the agency, along with Mr. Griffin's personal travel experiences.

As Griffin explains, "In any business we must know the product we are selling. The same is true in travel. That is why the staff of our office is constantly visiting vacation spots both near and far to keep up to date on facilities that are offered. Hawaii is a good example. All of our staff folks have been to Hawaii — they know the hotels, the sightseeing, the eating places in both Waikiki and the outer islands. And we revisit Hawaii regularly so we know about the newest hotels and latest changes. I have been in Hawaii five times in the last couple of years and will be happy to discuss it with anyone, at any time . . . It's my favorite vacation paradise."

Wayne Griffin Travel invites you to read this column each week. It will be found in the same location in this section of the paper weekly.

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall

CLearbrook 5-2936

Arlington Acres is happy to welcome the Robert Robinson family from Wheeling to 504 S. Prindle. Robert and Gail, who came here from Canada three years ago, have a 14-month-old daughter, Deryn.

Mrs. Martha Matthews, 428 S. Forrest, was wished a happy birthday at a family party Wednesday evening of last week. Wishing their mother many more happy years were Mrs. R. Dale Hinchliff and the Don Cooks of Arlington Acres and the John Finches of Northbrook.

Another grandma in the news this week is Mrs. Emma Westman, 520 S. Forest, who entertained three sisters-in-law at dinner Friday, Mrs. Claussen of Evanston and the Misses Anne and Edna Westman of Miami who recently moved to Evanston.

THE CAST WHICH Bob Kremer, 417 S. Prindle, is wearing on his ankle is the result of missing the bottom step down into the living room. Bob is wished a speedy healing by his friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thorstad, 412 S. Phelps, and their eight children were offered a change of pace by Barbara's sister, Mary Kelly, recently. They accepted the offer and spent a weekend at Miss Kelly's apartment in Skokie while Aunt Mary took over with Susan, Janice, Jimmy, Tommy, Kitty, Barby, Patty and John.

Dick Truelove, 532 S. Phelps, was wished a happy 18th birthday by his family at a dinner Sept. 24, and again at a house party Saturday given by his friend, Doug Stoehr. Eight couples gathered at the Stoehr home, 441 S. Prindle, to play records, dance and congratulate Dick.

Karla Soukup celebrated her fourth birthday quietly Saturday, with dinner and birthday wishes from her sisters, Kris and Karen, and parents, Rick and Esther. The Soukups live at 525 S. Prindle.

THE FIRST birthday of John Schneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Schneider, 508 S. Prindle, was celebrated at a party Sept. 23. Sharing the baby's delight in his one-candled cake with his parents, brother, Mark, and sister, Laurie, were an aunt, uncle and cousins, the Earl Meitzner family of Weatherfield.

Robert Christiansen, 2123 E. Park, celebrated his 17th birthday Sept. 26 quietly at home with his parents, after a celebration with his friends at the dance at Arlington High School.

Mrs. Robert Novy, 408 S. Phelps, was guest of honor when the Birthday Club met at the A. E. Dassonville home, 428 S. Phelps, to celebrate her Sept. 23 birthday. A dozen fellow members were present to extend best wishes and enjoy cake and coffee.

The air of festivity in the Dassonville home for the party was a carry over from the day before, when Dennis Dassonville received the congratulations of his family at a dinner in honor of his 20th birthday.

SATURDAY WAS Connie Schultz' 13th birthday, and to celebrate her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schultz, took her and her sister, Janet, to dinner and a show. When they returned home they were greeted by an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Martin of Rockford, who drove down to share in a special birthday dinner Sunday.

Although he is too young to sing "Happy Birthday," Connie's 8-month-old brother, Steven, enjoyed all the noise and fun. The Schutlzes live at 528 S. Waterman.

The celebration of Linda Christiansen's Sept. 23 birthday started the Sunday before the big day, when her parents, the Richard Christiansens, 428 S. Waterman, hosted a dinner in her honor for grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Arney of Naperville and Mrs. Hertha Christiansen of the Waterman address, and a host of aunts, uncles and cousins, as well as brother, Jack and Dickie, and sister, Cindy.

Dinner on Linda's birthday was a gala affair with a candlelit cake and a rousing chorus of "Happy Birthday."

Friday the week long celebration wound up with a slumber party. Five of the birthday girl's school friends giggled, snacked and whispered far into the morning hours.

LINDA GRYZIK, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gryzik, 417 S. Forrest, greeted her friends as they arrived for her party the afternoon of Sept. 24. Bringing birthday remembrances and best wishes to Linda were Julie Moller, Beth Ann Briscoe, Mark Hermanson, Julie Dombrow, Kari Knutsen and Cathy Hanson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Oravetz, 522 S. Prindle, who were married 20 years Sept. 22, celebrated by having dinner at the White Fence Farm near Lemont.

Other area residents having September wedding anniversaries are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O'Donnell, 405 S. Gibbons, who were married 19 years Sept. 24.

Sept. 24 was the ninth wedding anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Mertes, 529 S. Phelps, who celebrated quietly at home.

Mr. and Mrs. James McArdle, 536 S. Phelps, marked their sixth wedding anniversary Sunday with no special celebration.

The street dance given by the Arlington Acres Civic Association was held as planned Friday evening. Countless teenagers in the area spent the early part of the evening dancing to the music of the "Esquires," a local up and coming group composed of three guitarists, Doug Soderberg, Ed Plummer and Paul Zander, and a drummer, John Lyons.

SQUARE DANCING under the direction of Merrill Tibbetts was enjoyed by some of the teenagers and many of the close to 50 couples of the "older generation," while those not dancing visited with neighbors and enjoyed refreshments. No matter how the evening was spent, the association members and newcomers agreed that it was a successful fun affair.

Prizes were awarded to the Max Brittains of Gibbons and the Gerald Schneiders of Prindle, both newcomers to the area, the Frank Jenkos, Ed Schneiders and Mrs. Robert Kremer of Prindle, the Dexter Ashbrooks of Forrest and the Ron Browns and Mrs. Richard Byrnes of Phelps. Mrs. Byrnes' friends were particularly happy to see her and to have her win a prize because it was her first evening out after being confined to her home for several weeks because of illness.

Among those being thanked for the enjoyable evening are Mayme Ehlen, Vonnie Donovan, Arelne Novy and Joan Brunsfeld, and Jim Brady, who had charge of refreshments, Boyd Briscoe, Don Cerva for electrical work, the Robert Kunzes and L. Q. Yowells for the use of their garage. Two jackets found in the garage after the dance may be picked up at the Yowell home, 441 S. Forrest.(A

FROM RIDGE PARK

This Thursday, Oct. 1, will bring congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. George Kadlec of 822 N. Harvard, who will be celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary. On that evening, they will be guests of honor when they dine out with their daughters, Joyce Kadlec and Karen Nunley, and son-in-law, Charles Nunley. Also adding his part to that special occasion will be their grandson, Charles, born to the Nunleys in August.

At 912 N. Fernandez, the twins have left for their first year at college and according to their parents, Harry and Ruth Schuldt, the house has never seemed so quiet. Roberta has enrolled at the University of Illinois in Champaign and Roberta is in DeKalb, as a Northern Illinois freshman.

A welcome goes to newcomers Leonard and Ulla Jarnholm, who moved to 911 N. Kennicott on Sept. 1. The Jarnholms are originally from Malmo, Sweden, but lived in Chicago prior to their establishing residence in Arlington Heights. They are the parents of Eva, 13, and Leif, 11. Leonard is a carpenter employed by S. N. Robbins Co. in Chicago.

IT'S QUITE AN occasion when longtime friends get together after a span of 11 years, and the only regret is when such a visit was too brief to allow enough conversation about "the good old days." That's the report from Elizabeth and Fred Oberhauser, 816 N. Patton, upon their return from Cincinnatti on Sept. 21 and a visit with William and Frieda Schwarz. Mrs. Oberhauser and Mr. Schwarz knew one another as children when both lived in Germany. Accompanying them on the Ohio trip was their son, Fred Oberhauser Jr.

Becoming grandparents for the second time were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Double, 918 N. Illinois, when Diane Margaret was born Sept. 21 to their daughter, Adrienne and her husband, Ray Rukstales, of Waukegan. Young Brian stayed in Arlington with his grandparents last week while his mother was in the hospital. This week Mrs. Double has been in Waukegan helping care for the new arrival.

Mrs. William Fick, 922 N. Harvard, welcomed as house guests during the past week Mr. and Mrs. Leo Morgan of Tucson, former residents of Chicago. Mrs. Fick was hostess at a dinner party for the Morgans on Thursday evening. Guests were from Arlington Heights and Chicago.

Chris Marquis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Marquis of 824 N. Patton, didn't let a rainy day daunt his birthday celebration Saturday. Chris, who was 4 Sept. 24, enjoyed his party with Donna and Douglas Lanzon, Kevin Wilson, John Korte, Tommy Cumings, Kevin and Paul Grady, and Mona Eglund of Palatine.

NEW RESIDENTS at 919 N. Kaspar are Carroll and LaVonne Kuhlman and their children, Charles, Carol Lynn, Cheryl and Kathleen, who moved here in August from Burnsville, Minn. Carroll is an equipment inspector for Western Union. Besides her full-time job of caring for four youngsters, LaVonne enjoys knitting, sewing and is presently occupied in an upholstering project for the home.

Ridge Parkers attending the membership tea given by Wheeling Township Women's Republican Club on Sept. 24 at Old Orchard Country Club were Judy Biehl, Alice Wilson, Pat Marquis, Betty Dunne and Doris Nastal.

The Robert Kleiners, 914 N. Yale, spent their 2½-week vacation in Santa Fe, N. M., visiting Kathryn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Essington, who formerly lived in Mount Prospect. The Kleiners had to depart before the Fiesta days in Santa Fe, but were able to be on hand for some of the "pre-Fiesta" activities.

The Thomas Schroeders, 914 N. Illinois, had a memorable Sept. 20. They were invited to lunch by Capt. C. Ahlberg on board the Swedish-Chicago line passenger and cargo ship, the Birgit Ragne. The family was royally treated in every way. They were given a grand tour of the ship and Capt. Ahlberg even had the crew start the engines during the tour. In the evening, the Schroeders reciprocated by inviting to their home in Arlington Heights Chief Engineer Henry Jorgensen; 1st Engineer Dick Nilsson; 1st Mate Bendt Krage and Radio Operator Bengt Sandered. Neighbors Richard and Mary Ellen Spirek joined the group and enjoyed meeting the crew members.

Villa Venice was the site of the fashion show given by the Democratic Woman's Club on Saturday. Among those modeling were Lee Koeneman and her children, Karen and Kevin. Among the speakers of the day was Eugenia Chapman. Among other Ridge Park women present were Mamie Abbinanti, Marge Barnak, Doris Kelly and Mrs. Sam Ungaro.

ELIOT MORRIS, son of Howard and Nancy Morris, 916 N. Kaspar, was 10 Sept. 19. Joining him for lunch and an afternoon at the movies were John Chapman and Rick Bronwell. During the same week Mrs. Morris was hostess for a coffee in honor of two new residents of Kaspar Avenue, Gladys Sullivan and LaVonne Kuhlman.

Here recently for a 10-day visit was Don Gaul and his wife, Ann, who brought their 2-month-old daughter, Leah, for a first introduction to her grandmother, Mrs. Bernice Gaul, 944 N. Fernandez. Don, who has been stationed in Savannah, Ga., is now being transferred to Scott AFB.

The James Kellys, 828 N. Fernandez, attended the Elks Club golfing banquet Saturday night. Also enjoying the festivities were the Herbert Koenemans, 908 N. Fernandez.

Recent visitors at the Richard Hendricksens', 1009 N. Patton, were Charline's brother and his wife, the James Gahagans of Fort Worth, Tex. They were here to enroll their daughter, Marguerite, at the University of Chicago.

Weekend guests of the Charles Blacks, 812 N. Kaspar, were former Arlington Heights residents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz Goehe of Louisville. They were in Old Town Friday and spent Saturday evening at the Elks Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Abbinanti, 923 N. Fernandez, were present for the marriage ceremony of Nick and Barbara Abbinanti in Chicago Sept. 19. Nick is Tony's nephew.

RIDGE PARK greets Dr. Richard Schlott and wife, Mary, who moved to 1010 N. Princeton in July. Their family also includes Chris, 9, Susan, 3, and Nicky, 2. Dr. Schlott is a research scientist with Borg-Warner in Des Plaines. Mary is a board member of the League of Women Voters. They attend the Congregational Church of Arlington Heights.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Schlott cohosted a coffee with Mrs. Jerry Hansen at the former's home, in behalf of Mrs. Charles Raths of 1726 N. Patton who will be moving to Hinsdale.

Jim Shogren, son of the Arthur Shorgrens, 1000 N. Patton, is now a freshman at Illinois College in Jacksonville. His sister, Suzanne, has an assistantship in the biology department at the University of Illinois while working towards her master's degree.

Sympathy of friends and neighbors is extended to the Fred Holub family, 920 N. Fernandez, on the death of Jeanette's father, Mr. Fred Radtke, Sept. 22 in Indianapolis.

FROM SHERWOOD

The 928th Reserve Squadron from O'Hare Field held a military ball at the Flying Carpet Inn Saturday evening. Despite the rainy weather, a fine time was had by all attending, including Lt. Col. John K. Auld and his wife, Charlotte, of 1009 Watling.

Mrs. John Miller, 1221 Clarendon, will give a breakfast Saturday for the nationally accredited judges of the flower show to be held by the Arlington Heights Garden Club this weekend.

Lt. Col. C. William Reicherts, son of William and Louise Reicherts, 1019 Burgoyne, arrived from Hickam AFB Friday and spent the weekend here before departing for Minneapolis. He will again return to his parents' home later this week. He is assigned to an Air Force Rescue Squadron in Hawaii. (A

Russell J. Ward, 132 S. Highland Ave., Arlington Heights won two blue ribbons at the 10th annual rose show of the Illinois-Indiana District of the American Rose Society.

The show was held Sept. 20 at the International Minerals & Chemical Corp. administrative center in Skokie.

Ward won ribbons for the best Grandiflora rose and the best Floribunda rose. He also received two sterling silver and crystal bud vases and gift certificates for two rose bushes.

Artist Wins Honorable Mention

Donald J. Sutcliffe, 806 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights was one of five artists who received an honorable mention award in the Chicagoland Christmas Seal design contest.

Sutcliffe is an artist in the public relations department of Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

The public showing of entries will continue through tomorrow (Friday).

Sutcliffe received his formal art training with the Ray Vogue School and worked in Omaha before joining Illinois Bell nine years ago. He also worked as an artist while a member of the U. S. Air Force Strategic Air Command. Sutcliffe is married and the father of three children.

HOW MUCH WATER SHOULD YOU DRINK?

All living cells of the body function in a fluid environment. This fluid is steadily lost through the gastrointestinal and urinal tracts. More is lost by perspiration and through the lungs. It must be replaced because the skin cannot absorb moisture from the air no matter how humid the day.

The body usually functions best if two quarts of liquids are taken in each day. One quart is considered the minimum. So estimate how much you get each day in coffee, etc., and drink additional water to help keep you healthier.

SPECIAL PRICE

Now-buy a new electric dryer and save up to $60

You'll get the $20 to $40 savings you normally expect when you buy a flameless electric dryer instead of gas—plus a special $20 cash discount from Commonwealth Edison. And once you buy a new flameless electric dryer, you'll find the savings don't end with the purchase price. Because there are few moving parts, electric dryers are more economical to maintain. With no pilot light, they cost nothing when not in use. An average family can dry the modern electric way for only $1.25 a month.* What's more, because there are no fumes, flames or products of combustion, things keep fresh and new looking longer—you'll save money on your clothes.

See your dealer for the money-saving details now. No down payment. Satisfaction on any flameless electric dryer guaranteed, of course.

Mrs. Oberhauser and Mr. Schwarz knew one another as children when both lived in Germany. Accompanying them on the Ohio trip was their son, Fred Oberhauser Jr.

Becoming grandparents for the second time were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Double, 918 N. Illinois, when Diane Margaret was born Sept. 21 to their daughter, Adrienne and her husband, Ray Rukstales, of Waukegan. Young Brian stayed in Arlington with his grandparents last week while his mother was in the hospital. This week Mrs. Double has been in Waukegan helping care for the new arrival.

Mrs. William Fick, 922 N. Harvard, welcomed as house guests during the past week Mr. and Mrs. Leo Morgan of Tucson, former residents of Chicago. Mrs. Fick was hostess at a dinner party for the Morgans on Thursday evening. Guests were from Arlington Heights and Chicago.

Chris Marquis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Marquis of 824 N. Patton, didn't let a rainy day daunt his birthday celebration Saturday. Chris, who was 4 Sept. 24, enjoyed his party with Donna and Douglas Lanzon, Kevin Wilson, John Korte, Tommy Cumings, Kevin and Paul Grady, and Mona Eglund of Palatine.

NEW RESIDENTS at 919 N. Kaspar are Carroll and LaVonne Kuhlman and their children, Charles, Carol Lynn, Cheryl and Kathleen, who moved here in August from Burnsville, Minn. Carroll is an equipment inspector for Western Union. Besides her full-time job of caring for four youngsters, LaVonne enjoys knitting, sewing and is presently occupied in an upholstering project for the home.

Ridge Parkers attending the membership tea given by Wheeling Township Women's Republican Club on Sept. 24 at Old Orchard Country Club were Judy Biehl, Alice Wilson, Pat Marquis, Betty Dunne and Doris Nastal.

The Robert Kleiners, 914 N. Yale, spent their 2½-week vacation in Santa Fe, N. M., visiting Kathryn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Essington, who formerly lived in Mount Prospect. The Kleiners had to depart before the Fiesta days in Santa Fe, but were able to be on hand for some of the "pre-Fiesta" activities.

The Thomas Schroeders, 914 N. Illinois, had a memorable Sept. 20. They were invited to lunch by Capt. C. Ahlberg on board the Swedish-Chicago line passenger and cargo ship, the Birgit Ragne. The family was royally treated in every way. They were given a grand tour of the ship and Capt. Ahlberg even had the crew start the engines during the tour. In the evening, the Schroeders reciprocated by inviting to their home in Arlington Heights Chief Engineer Henry Jorgensen; 1st Engineer Dick Nilsson; 1st Mate Bendt Krage and Radio Operator Bengt Sandered. Neighbors Richard and Mary Ellen Spirek joined the group and enjoyed meeting the crew members.

Villa Venice was the site of the fashion show given by the Democratic Woman's Club on Saturday. Among those modeling were Lee Koeneman and her children, Karen and Kevin. Among the speakers of the day was Eugenia Chapman. Among other Ridge Park women present were Mamie Abbinanti, Marge Barnak, Doris Kelly and Mrs. Sam Ungaro.

ELIOT MORRIS, son of Howard and Nancy Morris, 916 N. Kaspar, was 10 Sept. 19. Joining him for lunch and an afternoon at the movies were John Chapman and Rick Bronwell. During the same week Mrs. Morris was hostess for a coffee in honor of two new residents of Kaspar Avenue, Gladys Sullivan and LaVonne Kuhlman.

Here recently for a 10-day visit was Don Gaul and his wife, Ann, who brought their 2-month-old daughter, Leah, for a first introduction to her grandmother, Mrs. Bernice Gaul, 944 N. Fernandez. Don, who has been stationed in Savannah, Ga., is now being transferred to Scott AFB.

The James Kellys, 828 N. Fernandez, attended the Elks Club golfing banquet Saturday night. Also enjoying the festivities were the Herbert Koenemans, 908 N. Fernandez.

Recent visitors at the Richard Hendricksens', 1009 N. Patton, were Charline's brother and his wife, the James Gahagans of Fort Worth, Tex. They were here to enroll their daughter, Marguerite, at the University of Chicago.

Weekend guests of the Charles Blacks, 812 N. Kaspar, were former Arlington Heights residents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz Goehe of Louisville. They were in Old Town Friday and spent Saturday evening at the Elks Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Abbinanti, 923 N. Fernandez, were present for the marriage ceremony of Nick and Barbara Abbinanti in Chicago Sept. 19. Nick is Tony's nephew.

RIDGE PARK greets Dr. Richard Schlott and wife, Mary, who moved to 1010 N. Princeton in July. Their family also includes Chris, 9, Susan, 3, and Nicky, 2. Dr. Schlott is a research scientist with Borg-Warner in Des Plaines. Mary is a board member of the League of Women Voters. They attend the Congregational Church of Arlington Heights.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Schlott cohosted a coffee with Mrs. Jerry Hansen at the former's home, in behalf of Mrs. Charles Raths of 1726 N. Patton who will be moving to Hinsdale.

Jim Shogren, son of the Arthur Shorgrens, 1000 N. Patton, is now a freshman at Illinois College in Jacksonville. His sister, Suzanne, has an assistantship in the biology department at the University of Illinois while working towards her master's degree.

Sympathy of friends and neighbors is extended to the Fred Holub family, 920 N. Fernandez, on the death of Jeanette's father, Mr. Fred Radtke, Sept. 22 in Indianapolis.

FROM SHERWOOD

The 928th Reserve Squadron from O'Hare Field held a military ball at the Flying Carpet Inn Saturday evening. Despite the rainy weather, a fine time was had by all attending, including Lt. Col. John K. Auld and his wife, Charlotte, of 1009 Watling.

Mrs. John Miller, 1221 Clarendon, will give a breakfast Saturday for the nationally accredited judges of the flower show to be held by the Arlington Heights Garden Club this weekend.

Lt. Col. C. William Reicherts, son of William and Louise Reicherts, 1019 Burgoyne, arrived from Hickam AFB Friday and spent the weekend here before departing for Minneapolis. He will again return to his parents' home later this week. He is assigned to an Air Force Rescue Squadron in Hawaii. (A

Russell J. Ward, 132 S. Highland Ave., Arlington Heights won two blue ribbons at the 10th annual rose show of the Illinois-Indiana District of the American Rose Society.

The show was held Sept. 20 at the International Minerals & Chemical Corp. administrative center in Skokie.

Ward won ribbons for the best Grandiflora rose and the best Floribunda rose. He also received two sterling silver and crystal bud vases and gift certificates for two rose bushes.

HOW MUCH WATER SHOULD YOU DRINK?

All living cells of the body function in a fluid environment. This fluid is steadily lost through the gastrointestinal and urinal tracts. More is lost by perspiration and through the lungs. It must be replaced because the skin cannot absorb moisture from the air no matter how humid the day.

The body usually functions best if two quarts of liquids are taken in each day. One quart is considered the minimum. So estimate how much you get each day in coffee, etc., and drink additional water to help keep you healthier.

SPECIAL PRICE

Now–buy a new electric dryer and save up to $60

You'll get the $20 to $40 savings you normally expect when you buy a flameless electric dryer instead of gas—plus a special $20 cash discount from Commonwealth Edison. And once you buy a new flameless electric dryer, you'll find the savings don't end with the purchase price. Because there are few moving parts, electric dryers are more economical to maintain. With no pilot light, they cost nothing when not in use. An average family can dry the modern electric way for only $1.25 a month.* What's more, because there are no fumes, flames or products of combustion, things keep fresh and new looking longer—you'll save money on your clothes.

See your dealer for the money-saving details now. No down payment. Satisfaction on any flameless electric dryer guaranteed, of course.

'Accident or Design?' Is Theme of Planning Meet

by JEAN WESTON

If the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission has its way the next 20 years in northeastern Illinois will have "design," and judging from the number of representatives of various municipal, county and organizational bodies attending the seventh annual metropolitan area planning conference in Chicago Monday, it will.

Using as its theme this year, "The Next 20 Years: Accident or Design?" the planning commission delved into a wide range of topics mutually concerning the six counties it envelopes and it came up with a good many answers, recommendations and solutions.

Transportation was high on the list of concerns with metropolitan planning, water problems, zoning and planning tomorrow's shopping areas among the workshop subjects.

The day-long sessions opened in the morning in the Great Hall of the Pick-Congress Hotel with Matthew L. Rockwell, executive director of NIPC, welcoming the participants.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made during the day of the contract just signed with the Illinois State Division of Highways and NIPC. The planning commission will undertake a $140,000 land use study for the highway department Francis Lorenz, director of public works and buildings, announced.

Rockwell said the study is related to planning a comprehensive transportation system for the Chicago urbanized area. Funds will come from the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads. The planning commission will prepare alternative land use plans as a basis on which a revised transportation plan can be developed. The findings will be tested by the Chicago Area Transportation authority and compared with its study of 1962.

NIPC is the official agency established by the Illinois General Assembly to develop plans for solving critical area-wide problems. It serves the metropolitan area comprised of Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry and Will counties.

It receives $50,000 per year from the state, and the same amount from Cook County. DuPage County, among others, engages its services in an advisory capacity at $7,500 per year.

IN ADDITION, the county has commissioned NIPC to undertake a $12,500 study of land, water and open space used through-out DuPage. The results will be announced early in 1965.

Many of the municipalities in DuPage County also avail themselves of the services of this unique planning body.

Chester Davis, Wayne resident, president of NIPC, expressed the hope that the next meeting of the state legislature would see enabling legislation enacted making NIPC a state agency.

Roger Nusbaum, deputy chief highway engineer, chose transportation as his topic in addressing the gathering following the luncheon.

THE SPEAKER predicted a rapid increase in population for the six-county area of metropolitan Chicago, from 5½ million in 1956 to 8 million in 1980. "If we're to effectively meet the challenge of this growth, we must plan for it now," he warned.

He spoke of the federal legislation, Federal Aid to Highways Act of 1962, in which it states, "After July 1, 1965, the Secretary of Commerce shall not approve any programs for Federal Aid to Highway projects in any urban area of more than 50,000 population unless such projects are based on a continuing comprehensive transportation planning process carried on cooperatively by the states and local communities."

Nusbaum, as did the other speakers for the sessions, stressed the need for comprehensive planning on an area-wide basis. (A-15

Sociability Suffers from Annual Football Epidemic

PADDOCK PUBLICATIONS THURS., OCT. 1, 1964

Sidelights
Of Arlington Heights

Arlington Heights, Scarsdale & Estates, Stonegate

Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298 Elsie Jedd, CL 3-5982

Sociability is suffering the annual epidemic of football fever complicated by World Series Syndrome compounded by vows to REALLY get the storm windows up early this year. Many a veteran wife has refrained from making either social plans that interfere with televiewing or snide remarks that recall other vows of other years, serene in the knowledge that no epidemic is total and that local sociability, if not her screens, will survive. It always does.

A Syoen-Hollebeke family reunion Sunday brought together an estimated 150-175 relatives of the mother and late father of George Syoen, 733 N. Evergreen. Planned by the local Syoen and his wife, the reunion was held in the VFW hall of Arlington Heights Post No. 981 where Chicago and suburban relatives greeted out-of-state aunts, uncles and cousins from Minnesota, Iowa and Arizona.

Many were meeting one another for the first time in 20 or more years, and one, Julie Renee Wachter of Chicago, was introduced to almost everyone for the first time ever. Born early this month, she is the newest member of the four generations represented at the party. There were several members of the first generation on hand, all having the best time in a long time and marvelling at the remarkable number of their descendants.

HERE FROM Monticello, Minn. were Mr. and Mrs. Basil Schillewaert; from Storm City, Iowa came Mr. and Mrs. Dean Woodle and their three sons, joining George Vercruysse of Phoenix, Ariz. to complete the out-of-state contingent.

A potluck supper came midway between the 3 o'clock beginning and the reluctant 9 o'clock climax to the reunion, with non-stop, making-up-for-lost-time conversation providing the only necessary entertainment. "It took a bit of doing to round them all up," said Syoen Monday, "but it sure was worth the effort."

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Hansen, 1517 W. Fremont, recently returned from Oklahoma where their daughter, Claudia, is now in the second week of her first year at Tulsa University. After taking Claudia to the university, the Hansens visited relatives in Bartlesville, Okla. before coming home to welcome a "temporary son," Winston Crabb of Billings, Mont.

Crabb and the Hansens' son, Jim, are students in Northwestern University's School of Medicine, commuting daily from 1517 W. Fremont to the campus. An apartment near the school, plus an extra hour's sleep each morning, will be theirs by mid-October; Mom will retire her alarm clock then, too.

MRS. MARIA ZOTTI of Milan, Italy has reached the half-way point in a 6-month visit with her daughter and family, the Gordon Riefstahls, 204 S. Yale. Time, like everything else in the United States, is too much in a hurry, although it went fast, too, three years ago when Mrs. Riefstahl was in Milan for a family visit.

Mrs. W. D. Musser, 28 S. State, is home again after a stay in East Lansing, Mich. where she left her son, Philip, a freshman at Michigan State University, and visited her daughter and son-in-law, the John S. Kents, who were married in August and are now campus-dwellers. Mrs. Kent begins her third year of study in the university.

Greg Peterson was 7 years old last Friday and celebrated next day with seven local buddies who were his guests at a boy-filling birthday lunch in his home, then at the local Saturday matinee. Greg is the son of the Kenneth Petersons, 702 S. Highland.

MR. AND MRS. James Yates, 903 N. Vail, returned last Tuesday evening from a 3-week, 8-country tour of Europe that was an early celebration of their November silver wedding anniversary. It was their first trip abroad and scheduled just right for one of the most colorful times of the year.

They arrived in New York Monday, stayed over one day to tour the World's Fair, then jetted home to an almost-empty house. Their elder son, Doug, is in the army and stationed at Fort Sill; Sue is back in Madison for her junior year in the University of Wisconsin, and Bruce is beginning his freshman year in the University of Illinois.

During their absence Mrs. Yates' mother, Mrs. George Zachariasen of Elm Grove, Wis., was here with Deborah who helped Grandma celebrate her 80th birthday Monday at a neighborhood dinner in her honor.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Monti, 1012 N. Highland, attended a business convention held last Thursday, Friday and Saturday in The Abbey at Lake Geneva. Before the rains came there was golfing each day, plus plenty of evening entertainment. Highlight of the weekend was a dinner party Friday evening that was preceded by a gala cocktail party aboard an old style showboat.

PVT. ALBERT Goeppinger Jr., 416 S. Dale, was home recently for 10 days of home cooking and no reveille, returning to Fort Jackson, S. C. in time to meet Gladys, the season's fourth hurricane. She made him cold, wet and sick, but outside of that there was nothing to mar their relationship.

Gaye Johnson, 820 N. Walnut, was five years old 'way last month, but couldn't celebrate because of getting separated from her tonsils. Last Thursday was a fine day for a party, though, especially for one that could be shared with a good friend, Lisa Weed, who turned 5 the day before. Lisa and Gaye swapped congratulations and shared the hostess duties at an afternoon party for five in the Johnson home. There were games, refreshments, and best of all, no sore throat.

Seven brothers and sisters were together for the first time in more than 20 years at a family reunion hosted a week ago Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bublitz, 108 S. Evergreen. Reunited by the party were Mrs. Bublitz' mother, Mrs. Arthur Pape of Palatine, and Mrs. Pape's brothers, Ernest Kuempel of Glendale, Calif., Carl of Chicago, Ray of Niles, Harold of Park Ridge, and her sisters, Mrs. Leona Lurie of San Gabriel, Calif. and Mrs. Hattie Johnson of Chicago.

The seven Kuempel "kids," their children and grandchildren added up to 57 laughing, crying-for-happiness, talking-like-mad family members who had 20 years to make up for in one short afternoon and evening. A potluck picnic supper kept up their energies for the wonderful marathon of happy conversation. There were grandchildren to show off and hug, old family stories to reminisce about and new ones to tell.

THE CALIFORNIA Kuempel, his wife and their granddaughter went on to visit in Cincinnati for a few days, returned here yesterday and will stay out the week before returning to the west coast. Mrs. Lurie remained here for more family visiting and left yesterday for her San Gabriel home.

Visitors last week in the Gordon Glorch home, 615 S. Beverly, were Mrs. Glorch's grandmother, Mrs. Marie Daniel, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Loppacker, all of Glen Ridge, N. J. It was not the first time the Glorch children had seen their great-grandmother but it was the finest opportunity they've had to really play with her. Great-grandmas, they discovered, play real good!

MISS JEANIE BOX, daughter of William L. Box Sr., 838 S. Evergreen Ave., was honored recently at a bridal luncheon given by Mrs. Robert Wellman and Mrs. James Wellman at the latter's home, 222 S. Pine Ave., Arlington Heights. Among the guests were the bridal attendants, Mrs. William L. Box Jr. of Elk Grove Village, Miss Marlene Kucera of Arlington Heights and Miss Delores Mantley of Prairie View, and other close friends of the bride.

Miss Box will become the bride of John J. Nelson of San Anselmo, Calif. Saturday, Oct. 3.

Previously, Miss Box's fellow workers at Pure Oil Company, Palatine, showered her with personal gifts at a surprise shower in the Mount Prospect home of Miss Pat Darby.

Mrs. Glenn C. Daly of Mount Prospect and Mrs. Edgar L. Neitzel also entertained Miss Box and 18 of her friends at a recent Sunday afternoon tea and shower at the latter's home, 826 S. Evergreen.

Another surprise shower was given in honor of the bride by her friends at the Muriel Mundy Dress Shop of Arlington Heights at the home of Mrs. Edward Wahl, 906 N. Vail. Miss Box received kitchen gadgets and personal gifts at this shower.

Mrs. Robert Bishop of Des Plaines, a friend of the groom's family, also gave a miscellaneous shower for Miss Box.

Climaxing the hectic whirl of pre-nuptial parties will be the rehearsal dinner at Old Orchard Country Club given by Mr. and Mrs. Roger Nelson of Des Plaines, parents of the groom.

THE ELDRED Koenigs, 341 S. Windsor, spent four days in Chicago last week attending the Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriters Convention held in the Palmer House.

The William Balls, 454 Banbury, entertained at a brunch Sunday in the Anvil Club of Dundee.

A group of Scarsdale neighbors, including the Joseph Faners, Albert Dunhams, Norman Johnsons, Charles Oestmanns, John Bowens and Arthur Schulzes, met Friday at the Lake Lawn resort in Delavan, Wis., for their annual 3-day fall get-to-gether.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Kleisner, 602 E. Park, were in New York City last week, attending the General Electric convention. During their stay, they visited the Fair and attended a Broadway play. A highlight of the trip for Mrs. Kleisner, was a boat trip around Manhattan.

William G. Franke, 126 S. Pine, spent the past week fishing at Red Lake, Canada. Mrs. Franke accompanied him on the trip north, stopping off in Minneapolis to spend the week with their daughter and family, the John Eakins.

Mrs. F. J. Raiter of Bronxville, N. Y., is spending 10 days in Arlington Heights, visiting her grandson and family, the Stephen Holstads, 520 S. Belmont.

MISS MAUREEN Garrity, daughter of the John T. Garritys, 615 E. Grove, who will be married Oct. 10, to Jack Hamrin, son of the John Hamrins of Des Plaines, was feted at a luncheon and shower last Thursday in the Long Grove Country Club by Mrs. Charles Cronin, Mrs. Milton Waxstein, Mrs. Larry Smith and Mrs. George Gabrielsen.

The wedding will take place in Our Lady of the Wayside church.

Newcomers to Scarsdale are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Amsz, who moved to 221 S. Belmont Sept. 12, from Milwaukee. They have a daughter, Donna, a freshman at Arlington High School, and who is currently recovering from a broken elbow incurred in a fall at school.

Mr. Amsz is the plant manager of the Institutional Plant division of Universal Food Corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Jarecki, 705 E. Fairview, and son, John, went to Cleveland over the weekend to attend the Davis Cup matches.

The Stanley J. Wilkinses, 751 S. Belmont, spent the past week vacationing at Gordon's Lodge in Baileys Harbor, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Johnson, 504 S. Pine, have as their houseguest, her mother, Mrs. Eve Millizen. Mrs. Millizen, who has been living in St. Petersburg, Fla., has just moved to Decatur, Ill.

MISS SHERRY PRUGH was hostess at a dinner party and luau Friday at the home of her parents, the Dwight R. Prughs, 356 S. Burton, for members of her Horizon Club, the high school camp fire girls. Party guests incuded Randy Oppelt and Kazuyoski Hosogaya of Japan, an exchange student living with the Oppelt family, and members of Explorer Group from Mount Prospect.

Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Keys, 526 S. Pine, have their two young grandchildren, Diana and Danny Marvin of Pittsburgh, here for a 2-week visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schwank, 526 S. Dryden, and their children, recently returned from a 5-day vacation spent on Beaver Island, a small and sparsely populated island in Lake Michigan near Charlevoix, Mich., which can be reached only by a ferry.

They enjoyed being surrounded by water and decided to return home by ferrying across Lake Michigan to Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Cline, 415 S. Belmont, entertained at a buffet supper Sunday after which they showed slides taken during their recent trip to Hawaii.

Guests included the William Willys of Winston Park, the Richard Johnsons, the Jerome Mockenhaupts and the Robert Starrs, all Scarsdale neighbors, and all the children of the guests.

Miss Babs Rasmussen arrived home Sunday after a 4-month stay in Denmark and a tour of the British Isles. Her parents, the H. Bruce Rasmussens, 202 S. Windsor, went to New York to meet her and before returning home stopped in Corning to visit their son, Robert, and his family. (A

VIRGINIA TERRACE

Mary Louise Smith, daughter of the Dave Smiths, 1259 N. Chicago, was baptized Sunday morning at St. Simon Episcopal Church by Father Keys. Sponsors were her uncle, Robert Smith of Clarendon Hills, and his fiancee, Louise Windmueller of Wheaton. The Smiths hosted a party after the services. Attending were the baby's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Meyers of Lombard, her aunt, uncle, and cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meyers and Robbie of Wheaton, grandfather, H. Smith of Clarendon Hills, great-grandmother, Mrs. Flora Breathwaite, and aunt, Jane DeWitt, both of Clarendon Hills. Also present were Mary Louise's sisters, Barbara and "Dede." Mary Louise wore her mother's baptismal dress for the occasion.

The Terrace bids farewell to Bruce and Sandy Mullins and their children, Michael, Kevin, Marianne and Kathleen, who moved from 1415 N. Illinois to Park Ridge on Sept. 26 after having lived in the Terrace for seven years.

CELEBRATING HER second birthday Sept. 24 was Christine Murphy, daughter of the Jim Murphys, 1326 N. Chicago. She was honored at a family party attended by her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bryczek of Melrose Park, great-great aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Bucholz of Arlington Heights, grandmother, Mrs. Mae Murphy of Chicago, several great aunts and unces and her parents and her sister and brother, Gail and Jimmy.

On Sunday, Christine's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Muthers of Melrose Park, and her great-grandparents, the N. Zanettos of Chicago, came to help her celebrate.

Jim and Joanne Minette, 1414 N. Illinois, journeyed to Wilmot, Wis., Sunday to work at the car races. They have attended a number of races recently in an official capacity. They are members of the Austin-Healy Club of Chicago. The weekend of Sept. 19, Jim and Joanne traveled to Lynndale Farms in Wisconsin to work at the races there. Elkhart Lake, Wis. was their destination Sept. 12; eight couples from the club worked at the races and enjoyed camping out over the weekend.

Mary Soby, 1208 N. Chicago, was hostess at a neighborhood coffee Sept. 22 for Sally Kruse, Patty Edwards, Kay Roden, Pat Ordner and Margaret Noon.

Sunday evening at the theatre was enjoyed by the Wayne Mantheis, 1321 N. Wilke, and the Bill Plattes, 1318 N. Race. The two couples went out to dinner prior to seeing "Take Her, She's Mine," starring Forrest Tucker, at Drury Lane Theatre.

TEDDY MISCH, son of the Bill Misches, 1329 N. Wilke, was 2 Sept. 29. He was honored at a family dinner party Sunday attended by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Misch and Norman Mitchell, and his great-grandmother, Mrs. George Mitchell, all of Chicago, and his aunt, uncle and cousins, the Clayton Bebber family of Palatine.

The Terrace bids farewell to Edward and Helen Willson and daughters, Julie and Sallie. Ed, formerly stationed at the Nike Base, retired from the Army and he and his family moved to their former hometown, Mount Clemens, Mich., on Sept. 30 from 1251 N. Chicago.

Attending the Wheeling Drama Players production of "If a Man Answers" Saturday night at Wheeling High School were Ron and Laraine Francis, 1227 N. Wilke.

Terrace newcomers are Sgt. Donald Owens, his wife, Joan, and son, Kenneth, 5, who moved to 1346 N. Illinois from Rolling Meadows on Sept. 4. Don is stationed at the Nike Base. Among his hobbies are golf and rifle and pistol shooting.

A Saturday dinner guest of Bill and Freya Jones, 1227 N. Illinois, was Freya's father, Charles Peterson of Lake Forest. They celebrated Bill's birthday.

Sunday guests of Al and Rosemary Shellander were Rosemary's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jonas of Lake Geneva.

IT'S AN IDEA
HOME DECORATIONS

The modern television set is a far cry from early models which were all cabinet and a small viewing screen.

Recent advances have been made in color sets, such as the model shown. The manufacturer says that it has color picture tubes 40 per cent brighter than previously available models.

The set shown is a French Provincial console with a cherry finish. It has the new picture tube, folding doors and two 9-inch oval speakers.

Sociability Suffers from Annual Football Epidemic

Sociability is suffering the annual epidemic of football fever complicated by World Series Syndrome compounded by vows to REALLY get the storm windows up early this year. Many a veteran wife has refrained from making either social plans that interfere with televiewing or snide remarks that recall other vows of other years, serene in the knowledge that no epidemic is total and that local sociability, if not her screens, will survive. It always does.

A Syoen-Hollebeke family reunion Sunday brought together an estimated 150-175 relatives of the mother and late father of George Syoen, 733 N. Evergreen. Planned by the local Syoen and his wife, the reunion was held in the VFW hall of Arlington Heights Post No. 981 where Chicago and suburban relatives greeted out-of-state aunts, uncles and cousins from Minnesota, Iowa and Arizona.

Many were meeting one another for the first time in 20 or more years, and one, Julie Renee Wachter of Chicago, was introduced to almost everyone for the first time ever. Born early this month, she is the newest member of the four generations represented at the party. There were several members of the first generation on hand, all having the best time in a long time and marvelling at the remarkable number of their descendants.

HERE FROM Monticello, Minn. were Mr. and Mrs. Basil Schillewaert; from Storm City, Iowa came Mr. and Mrs. Dean Woodle and their three sons, joining George Vercruysse of Phoenix, Ariz. to complete the out-of-state contingent.

A potluck supper came midway between the 3 o'clock beginning and the reluctant 9 o'clock climax to the reunion, with non-stop, making-up-for-lost-time conversation providing the only necessary entertainment. "It took a bit of doing to round them all up," said Syoen Monday, "but it sure was worth the effort."

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Hansen, 1517 W. Fremont, recently returned from Oklahoma where their daughter, Claudia, is now in the second week of her first year at Tulsa University. After taking Claudia to the university, the Hansens visited relatives in Bartlesville, Okla. before coming home to welcome a "temporary son," Winston Crabb of Billings, Mont.

Crabb and the Hansens' son, Jim, are students in Northwestern University's School of Medicine, commuting daily from 1517 W. Fremont to the campus. An apartment near the school, plus an extra hour's sleep each morning, will be theirs by mid-October; Mom will retire her alarm clock then, too.

MRS. MARIA ZOTTI of Milan, Italy has reached the half-way point in a 6-month visit with her daughter and family, the Gordon Riefstahls, 204 S. Yale. Time, like everything else in the United States, is too much in a hurry, although it went fast, too, three years ago when Mrs. Riefstahl was in Milan for a family visit.

Mrs. W. D. Musser, 28 S. State, is home again after a stay in East Lansing, Mich. where she left her son, Philip, a freshman at Michigan State University, and visited her daughter and son-in-law, the John S. Kents, who were married in August and are now campus-dwellers. Mrs. Kent begins her third year of study in the university.

Greg Peterson was 7 years old last Friday and celebrated next day with seven local buddies who were his guests at a boy-filling birthday lunch in his home, then at the local Saturday matinee. Greg is the son of the Kenneth Petersons, 702 S. Highland.

MR. AND MRS. James Yates, 903 N. Vail, returned last Tuesday evening from a 3-week, 8-country tour of Europe that was an early celebration of their November silver wedding anniversary. It was their first trip abroad and scheduled just right for one of the most colorful times of the year.

They arrived in New York Monday, stayed over one day to tour the World's Fair, then jetted home to an almost-empty house. Their elder son, Doug, is in the army and stationed at Fort Sill; Sue is back in Madison for her junior year in the University of Wisconsin, and Bruce is beginning his freshman year in the University of Illinois.

During their absence Mrs. Yates' mother, Mrs. George Zachariasen of Elm Grove, Wis., was here with Deborah who helped Grandma celebrate her 80th birthday Monday at a neighborhood dinner in her honor.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Monti, 1012 N. Highland, attended a business convention held last Thursday, Friday and Saturday in The Abbey at Lake Geneva. Before the rains came there was golfing each day, plus plenty of evening entertainment. Highlight of the weekend was a dinner party Friday evening that was preceded by a gala cocktail party aboard an old style showboat.

PVT. ALBERT Goeppinger Jr., 416 S. Dale, was home recently for 10 days of home cooking and no reveille, returning to Fort Jackson, S. C. in time to meet Gladys, the season's fourth hurricane. She made him cold, wet and sick, but outside of that there was nothing to mar their relationship.

Gaye Johnson, 820 N. Walnut, was five years old 'way last month, but couldn't celebrate because of getting separated from her tonsils. Last Thursday was a fine day for a party, though, especially for one that could be shared with a good friend, Lisa Weed, who turned 5 the day before. Smith of Clarendon Hills, great-grandmother, Mrs. Flora Breathwaite, and aunt, Jane DeWitt, both of Clarendon Hills. Also present were Mary Louise's sisters, Barbara and "Dede." Mary Louise wore her mother's baptismal dress for the occasion.

The Terrace bids farewell to Bruce and Sandy Mullins and their children, Michael, Kevin, Marianne and Kathleen, who moved from 1415 N. Illinois to Park Ridge on Sept. 26 after having lived in the Terrace for seven years.

CELEBRATING HER second birthday Sept. 24 was Christine Murphy, daughter of the Jim Murphys, 1326 N. Chicago. She was honored at a family party attended by her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bryczek of Melrose Park, great-great aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Bucholz of Arlington Heights, grandmother, Mrs. Mae Murphy of Chicago, several great aunts and unces and her parents and her sister and brother, Gail and Jimmy.

On Sunday, Christine's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Muthers of Melrose Park, and her great-grandparents, the N. Zanettos of Chicago, came to help her celebrate.

Jim and Joanne Minette, 1414 N. Illinois, journeyed to Wilmot, Wis., Sunday to work at the car races. They have attended a number of races recently in an official capacity. They are members of the Austin-Healy Club of Chicago. The weekend of Sept. 19, Jim and Joanne traveled to Lynndale Farms in Wisconsin to work at the races there. Elkhart Lake, Wis. was their destination Sept. 12; eight couples from the club worked at the races and enjoyed camping out over the weekend.

Mary Soby, 1208 N. Chicago, was hostess at a neighborhood coffee Sept. 22 for Sally Kruse, Patty Edwards, Kay Roden, Pat Ordner and Margaret Noon.

Sunday evening at the theatre was enjoyed by the Wayne Mantheis, 1321 N. Wilke, and the Bill Plattes, 1318 N. Race. The two couples went out to dinner prior to seeing "Take Her, She's Mine," starring Forrest Tucker, at Drury Lane Theatre.

TEDDY MISCH, son of the Bill Misches, 1329 N. Wilke, was 2 Sept. 29. He was honored at a family dinner party Sunday attended by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Misch and Norman Mitchell, and his great-grandmother, Mrs. George Mitchell, all of Chicago, and his aunt, uncle and cousins, the Clayton Bebber family of Palatine.

The Terrace bids farewell to Edward and Helen Willson and daughters, Julie and Sallie. Ed, formerly stationed at the Nike Base, retired from the Army and he and his family moved to their former hometown, Mount Clemens, Mich., on Sept. 30 from 1251 N. Chicago.

Attending the Wheeling Drama Players production of "If a Man Answers" Saturday night at Wheeling High School were Ron and Laraine Francis, 1227 N. Wilke.

Terrace newcomers are Sgt. Donald Owens, his wife, Joan, and son, Kenneth, 5, who moved to 1346 N. Illinois from Rolling Meadows on Sept. 4. Don is stationed at the Nike Base. Among his hobbies are golf and rifle and pistol shooting.

A Saturday dinner guest of Bill and Freya Jones, 1227 N. Illinois, was Freya's father, Charles Peterson of Lake Forest. They celebrated Bill's birthday.

Sunday guests of Al and Rosemary Shellander were Rosemary's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jonas of Lake Geneva.

IT'S AN IDEA HOME DECORATIONS

The modern television set is a far cry from early models which were all cabinet and a small viewing screen.

Recent advances have been made in color sets, such as the model shown. The manufacturer says that it has color picture tubes 40 per cent brighter than previously available models.

The set shown is a French Provincial console with a cherry finish. It has the new picture tube, folding doors and two 9-inch oval speakers.

Kirby Says Howlett Exaggerates Savings

John Kirby, Republican candidate for state auditor, has charged that incumbent State Auditor Michael Howlett "painted an untrue and distorted picture" of the financial operation of his own office when he claimed he saved Illinois taxpayers $600,000 during the 72nd biennium.

Kirby, in a statement, said a study of the record proves that Howlett's claim is false.

"The figures Howlett used to portray a $600,000 savings by design, painted an untrue and distorted picture of the financial operation of his office," Kirby said.

"IN ATTEMPTING to show he 'saved' taxpayers' money," Kirby said, "he failed to point out that he asked for and received $448,127 more than his predecessor, Auditor Elbert Smith, requested and received in the 1959-61 biennium.

"He also failed to point out that he had at his disposal $729,000 left over from the appropriation Auditor Smith had received," Kirby said, "of which he spent all but $92,557 in six months."

"It is easy to see why he failed to mention these figures, since they show a far cry from 'saving' $600,000."

Kirby said Howlett violated a cardinal rule of auditing — "He twisted the figures to make them come out the way he wanted them to," Kirby said, "not the way they actually were." (A15

Forest View News

The first meeting of the Parents Club of Forest View Elementary School will be held Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 8 p.m. Open house has been planned so that parents and friends can visit the classrooms and meet the teachers.

This is a parents' club, and the officers would like to see the fathers and mothers come out. Coffee will be served.

Dempster Junior High PTA will meet Thursday, Oct. 8, at 8 p.m. There will be an introduction of teachers and Dr. Bardwell will project the future of the district. The teachers will be in their rooms after the meeting.

RECENT VISITORS at the Bernard Olsons', Elk Grove Road, were the John Van Stedums, Helen's sister and family from Denver, and the Everet Joling family from Wisconsin. Pat Joling entered nurses training at Presbyterian Hospital in Chicago, so she will be a frequent visitor.

The Perry Thimios family, 1709 Lincoln, had a picnic recently for the Thimios family Sept. 13 starting at Barrington Park and ending at Juanita and Perry's home.

Frank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Buffa, 1715 Kim Ave., had two parties celebrating his recent fourth birthday. Sept. 13 his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mobeck of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buffa Sr. of Elmwood Park were guests. Sept. 19 his party was for his cousins from Glenview and Itasca and neighborhood friends, Mark Markwell, Kenny Andersen, Joey Wuchterl, Jo Jo Carcerano and Albert Morey.

Get well wishes go to Mrs. Orlando Fiorito, 1701 Robbie Lane, and Mrs. Charles Trowbridge, 503 Crestwood.

Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Fasano, 1711 Kim Ave., has entered Southern Illinois University in Carbondale.

SUNDAY guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Menard, 1714 Rusty Drive, were their daughters, Mrs. Phyllis Kurtz of Mount Prospect and the Jim Young family from Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Gale and Terry, 1717 Estates Drive, helped Greg celebrate his 12th birthday a day early by going bowling and out for dinner Sept. 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Larson, West Algonquin Road, returned Sunday from a fun packed four days in New York City. They stayed at the Americana Hotel, enjoyed the Fair, a boat ride on the Hudson River and all around Manhattan Island, an evening at the Latin Quarter, where Sophie Tucker was the attraction, seeing the play "Annie" at the Music Box and dining at the Royal Box of the American Hotel, where Tony Martin was the entertainer.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Elliot and Christine, 703 Crestwood Lane, helped Roxanne celebrate her 10th birthday with a dinner party for 30 fifth grade classmates. Mrs. John Nitz, 1900 Elk Grove Road, helped Mrs. Elliot prepare and serve the dinner.

CLOWN INVITATIONS announced that Mark Markwell, 1713 Kim Avenue, was having a party for his fourth birthday Sept. 22. Invited were Frank Buffa, Lisa Andronaco, Colleen Finnerty, Joe Carcerano, Mary Ann Galgano, Mark Lutzow, Joe Wuchterl and Steve Burman. Clown candles on the cake carried out the theme and delighted the group of four year-olds.

Weekend guests of the Beryl Markwells were the grandparents, the Wayne Markwells from Marion, Iowa, and the E. H. Ladwigs from Waukesha, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Gorgius and Laurie, S. Busse Road, attended Prince of Peace Church in Lake Villa for a mass on Sunday for Loraine's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. D. Wilhelm who were celebrating their 53rd wedding anniversary. Twenty-five members of the family attended the mass, later having breakfast and lunch served by the Wilhelms' daughter, Mrs. Stewart Avildsen of Chicago, at the Wilhelm home on Sand Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Waller Smith, 1706 Myrtle Drive, attended the Notre Dame - Wisconsin football game at Madison as guests of the Edward Murrays. Later they dined at the Pump Room.

Birthday greetings this week go to Robert Lee, Chuck Anderson, Jack Hill, Pam Paus and Karen Sue Baardsen.

Teachers Assembly Meeting Scheduled

The first representative assembly of the newly formed Northwest Suburban Divison of the Illinois Education Assembly will meet at Carl Sandburg School in Rolling Meadows today (Thursday) at 4 p.m.

The Northwest Suburban Division represents teachers, both elementary and secondary, who teach within the geographic limits of Arlington and Palatine High School districts.

Main emphasis of the meeting will be to discuss the duties and functions of the I.E.A. building representatives. Chester Raasch, principal of Miner Junior High will address the assembly on the topic, "What Can You Do for I.E.A." Various committee chairman will also speak.

The representatives also will decide upon the plan for selection of delegates to the annual meeting in December.

Marge Olson of Forest View High School will chair the meeting. Coffee will be served. It will be open to all teachers and the general public. (B10

Alaska is the land of vast opportunity for the young and adventurous, so report Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Miller of 715 E. Euclid Ave., and if they were a bit younger it would most certainly be the place for them. The Millers recently returned from a weekj's trip to our 49th state and were entranced with its magnificence and grandeur.

They flew from Seattle—3,500 miles to Fairbanks, Anchorage, Nome and Katzebue—saw the Portage Glacier, the only one accessible by road and took the chair lift up Mt. Aleyska. At 2,500 feet they say the view is awesome. They panned for gold, stopped at a trapper's shack and visited the "Malemute Saloon" on the outskirts of Fairbanks, had dinner in Nome overlooking the Berrien Sea, saw Katzebue, the second largest Eskimo village and found the people to be charming, and the Eskimo children, with their round faces, most appealing.

At times the weather was cold, blustery and rainy, and they just missed by hours a hurricane at Unalakleet, which necessitated evacuating the residents of that village.

The thousands of miles traveled in one week and the rugged beauty of the country has made the Millers' Alaskan trip an outstanding vacation memory.

AFTER SPENDING most of the summer in Ireland, Greg Inman topped off his vacation time with a restful week with his parents at Shag Lake in northern Michigan. Playing in tennis tournaments in and around Dublin, with time out for a visit to London, comprised the better part of Greg's overseas trip, and he loved every minute of it.

Faraway places and an across the ocean trip were also the vacation fare for other Douglas Avenue residents, the George Pearsons of 413. They mainly spent their time in London and touring the English countryside.

A holiday fishing and sunning at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was relaxing last week for Doris and Russ Walters. Just before the Walters' son, Rusty, returned to Miami University in Ohio for his sophomore year, he and the Sam Culisons' son John and Bill Thomas vacationed in New York.

THE BOYS camped most of the way — saw all the famous New York sites and really toured the Fair. They spent several days with Bob Inman who is in the admissions department at Harvard University. The three young men returned home with just pennies in their pocket, but with lots of fun memories before starting back for another school year at their respective colleges.

John Cullison drove back to Indiana University with his grandfather, Mr. Sam Cullison Sr., who is visiting here from his home in Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Cullison returned last Friday from a vacation trip to Kentucky Lake where they had the pleasure of accidentally meeting Arlington Heights friends, the Harold Smalleys. On their return trip the Cullisons stopped for several days at Turkey Run in Indiana.

Previous to this trip Mrs. Cullison spent some time in August in New York visiting with her sister, Mrs. James Kettle in Bronxville, and with former Arlington Heighters, the Richard Bakers in Chappaqua. Mr. Cullison Sr. from Pittsburgh kept Sam III company while his folks were vacationing.

SEEING ALL the Northwestern home games is tradition with the Jim Rogers, and they are grateful that the first home game with Oregon was a week ago instead of this past rain soaked Saturday. After the game Jean and Jim were joined by former Eastwooders, Helen and Bill Kasper, and new neighbors, the O. Wilkinsons, for an evening at the Anvil Club and Chez Louise.

Also guests of the Rogers for the game and the weekend were Mr. Rogers' sister, Virginia Thomas, and Mr. Thomas from Milwaukee.

The Wilkinsons have recently moved into the former John Fellman home on Lincoln Lane. With United Airlines for 35 years, Mr. Wilkinson was recently transferred to this area from Denver.

AN AUTOMOBILE accident near DeWitt, Iowa, marred some of the pleasure of taking their daughter, Suzanne, to her first year at Cornell College for Mr. and Mrs. Gus Anderson of N. Beverly Lane. Luckily no one was injured, so they were able to proceed to Mt. Vernon and participate in the orientation ceremonies at the college for parents and new students.

A tea on the lawn and luncheon were enjoyed by the Andersons. They are planning a visit with Suzanne at Cornell this coming weekend. Suzanne is studying elementary education.

OLD FASHIONED FUN FAIR will be held Saturday, Oct. 3, from 1 to 7 in Westgate School, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Richard Riley, Mrs. Sion Colvin and Mrs. Robert Bledsoe, clowns, are looking forward to the Fair which will feature games, spookhouse, white elephant sale, bake sale, country cupboard, horse and wagon rides, balloon lady, pick-a-pocket clown and hot dog stand. Alaska is the land of vast opportunity for the young and adventurous, so report Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Miller of 715 E. Young Gardener Captures 15 Ribbons for 18 Entries

by LEE SECHLER
Staff Writer

Fall is a time of cold rain and brightly colored trees to most people. But to gardeners it means work and planning for next year.

One such gardener is a fourth grader in Mohawk School in Bensenville. Robin Moomjian, of 717 Algonquin Road, is thinking about expanding her garden, which started as a small section in her father's garden. He has now reached the point where he may "retire."

ROBIN MOOMJIAN, shown here inspecting some of her flowers, was one of the youngest exhibitors in the Men's Garden Club of Villa Park. Robin was in the junior division, and has captured 23 ribbons in two years — the youngest to do so. The Mohawk fourth grader was awarded a Court of Honor ribbon for her Easter lily. (Staff photo)

Robin is a prize winning gardener, despite her tender years. She was awarded the Court of Honor ribbon for her Easter Lily entered in the Men's Garden Club of Villa Park recently.

The dark haired youngster collected a total of 15 ribbons from her 18 entries this season. Last year she entered 11 and won eight ribbons.

ROBIN SAID she started her gardening career when she was two-years old and she has some big plans for next year.

"I never expected the Court of Honor on my lily," explained Robin, who has collected eight first place, five second, and three third place ribbons this season.

Robin's Court of Honor ribbon signifies that it was the best of the entire show, explained her mother. She also pointed out that Robin's other flowers were judged in the junior division.

A neighbor—over the back fence—is a prize winning gardener, too. Mrs. Harold Shenefield, said Mrs. Moomjian, has given Robin encouragement.

MRS. MOOMJIAN said that Robin planted the seeds of every piece of fruit she ate. A number of neighbors have peach trees which Robin started; some of the seeds were planted when she was two years old.

Robin explained that she was going to add vegetables to her garden this year, which currently boasts over two-dozen assorted flowers and her pride and joy—the Easter lily.

The youthful prize winner explained it was given to her while she was sick last Easter.

Robin, explained her mother, was so interested in gardening that she spent some of her own money for seeds and putters in the garden when she has spare time.

ROBIN SMILED as she explained her father gave her a small section of his garden after she and a friend cleared the weeds off an area—and then out of his garden.

If present expansion continues, Mr. Moomjian will be relegated to the status of having to dig holes in his daughter's garden to plant his seeds.

It's a position he's willing to take—as long as Robin is interested in gardening.

Another person interested in gardening is Bob Baker.

Baker, of Baker Family Nursery in Palatine, explained gardeners should be thinking and planning color groupings when they plant their bulbs.

BAKER WARNED that the depth at which the bulbs were planted was very important and should be watched closely.

"I'm afraid people don't pay enough attention to color grouping when they plant their bulbs," the experienced nurseryman commented.

He pointed out that the ground the bulbs were planted in should be loose, and even mixed with one-third peat moss.

Also, some bulbs could be placed in the ground while in containers. They could then be dug up in December or January and taken inside. Hence, blooming flowers in the winter time.

Robin, the youngest exhibitor in the Villa Park shows to receive 23 ribbons in two years, may push her father out of the garden next season.

Public Aid Rolls Down For July

In July the public aid rolls dropped by a total of 1,871 persons from the previous month, according to a report released by Harold O. Swank, director of the Illinois Department of Public Aid.

There were 418,763 persons receiving public aid in July, compared to 420,634 in June. The July, 1963, caseload was 417,413.

Public aid expenditures in July were $23,719,625, compared to $24,176,060 in June. The expenditures in July, 1963, were $23,276,223. These total expenditures include payment for burials, foster care for ADC children removed from unsuitable homes and aid to the medically indigent in Cook County.

THE AID to Dependent Children rolls declined for the fourth consecutive month. Old Age Assistance rolls dropped by 359 persons in July to 58,047 compared to the June total of 58,406. General Assistance rolls rose by 1,112 persons to 69,569, compared to the 68,457 in June.

Blind Assistance rolls declined by nine persons from the previous month's total of 2,550, and Disability Assistance rolls increased by 117 persons to 28,236 compared to 28,119 in June. The July, 1964, payments for receiving Aid to the Medically Indigent Aged were $542,694.

Goldwater Dinner Is October 5

A fund-raising dinner dance sponsored by Citizens for Goldwater-Miller in northwest suburbs will be held Monday, Oct. 5, at 7 p.m. in Flying Carpet Motel, 6465 N. Mannheim Road, Rosemont.

Mrs. William Pailey of Arlington Heights is chairman of the event. Co-chairmen are Robert Malcom, Stanley J. Wilkins, and Mrs. L. L. Linn of Arlington Heights, and Harold Regelin of Des Plaines.

"This fund raising dinner is being held because of fervent desire expressed by many people in this area to do something special to support the candidacy of Barry Goldwater," Mrs. Pailey said. "The response has been most gratifying and the funds generated will be used both in Illinois and nationally for the Goldwater ticket."

Mrs. Pailey said tickets can be obtained from any of the committee members or from the Goldwater-Miller office, 104 S. State Road, Arlington Heights.

Local Couples Attend Campout

Among those attending the recent three-day fall campout of the Illinois State Association of the National Campers and Hikers Association were members of the Des Plaines Valley chapter. They included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kempe and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ostrand of Bensenville, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baker of Rolling Meadows and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Skowron and Mr. and Mrs. Don Jaacks of Mount Prospect. Call as often as you like in this area... talk as long as you want...for a fixed monthly rate!

New Call-Pak services can mean savings for residence customers in the Metropolitan Calling Area (see map). Call-Pak "Unlimited" does away with message units . . . lets you call as often as you want, talk as long as you like within this area for a fixed monthly rate.

Other Call-Pak services can save money for those who don't call quite so often. They give you a "volume discount" package of calls to use throughout the Metropolitan Calling Area. You can choose from a variety of different-sized packages, each with its own monthly rate. There are no message unit charges until you use all those provided by the package of your choice.

But this is just part of the story. In trying hard to make your telephone service a bigger bargain than ever, we've also announced these changes during recent months:

We've cut $3.50 off the one-time charge for a color phone. And we've eliminated the $3.50 installation charge for Bell Chime.

The new Two-Line Family Plan gives you the convenience of two phones with two separate numbers in your home; lets you pick up either line and hold calls on the first line while using the second. You get all this for 25% less than it cost before—and in most cases only a few dollars more than you're paying for a single line.

New regional service centers have improved our service after-hours. Night or day, we're ready to fix your phone when you need it fixed—and there's no service charge. Other added service improvements include more buried cable to protect service and keep neighborhoods neat; better hearing on Long Distance circuits; and faster replacement of old telephones with new models.

All of these changes add up to one thing: a stepped-up program to improve your telephone service and make it a bigger bargain than ever. To order any of these services, or for more information, call your telephone business office—or ask your telephone man.

Note: Rate reductions and new services mentioned above apply only to Illinois Bell customers in Illinois.

Lesson in English

In the sense of "get in touch with," CONTACT is an overused colloquialism. It is much better to use such expressions as: "Communicate with, write to, talk with, meet, telephone, call upon, inform."

Do not say, "I am not certain as that will help." Say, "I am not certain WHETHER that will help."

Distinguish between ADVERSE (opposed to; or unfortunate) and AVERSE (disliking, or unwilling). Thus: "The adverse criticism the play received made him averse to seeing it."

Do not say, "I cannot help but say that this is bad." Say, "I cannot help SAYING that this is bad."

Fall seems to be the time for birthday parties.

Patty Merges, 4 Sept. 19, celebrated with a party for Tim and Kelley McMahon, Tommy and Davy Gaborek, Missy and Junior Cayers, Mike and Dawn Fenney, Michael Gajewski, Billy Szeremeta, Joe, Gail and Gloria Smuda and Perry and Kirk Birkenheier. In the evening another party was given for relatives, including Mr. and Mrs. L. Black, Judy Black, Miss Sandy Beck, Mr. and Mrs. R. Pawlicki and Ron Pawlicki, all of Chicago.

On Sept. 21 a birthday celebration was given for Ron Gajewski by his wife, Ginny, at their home at 1231 S. Ridge. His parents Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Gajewski, and his sister, Judy, of Niles attended.

PATTI ANN Trousil was 7 Sept. 10. Attending her party were Barbara Bjerkness, Bonnie Berkenheier, Laurie and Susie Vertigo, Debbie Krueger, Susan Mellenthin and her brother, Paul Trousil. A family party was held Sept. 12 for Mr. and Mrs. William Trousil Sr. of Berwyn; Mrs. Helen Patek, George Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Anthony and Mr. and Mrs. J. Galkowski, all of Chicago.

Gene Rudnickji, 1119 S. Mitchell, celebrated his birthday at home at a celebration for the John Rudnicki family, Mr. and Mrs. Dybas and Miss Diane Cowan, of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Vidmar went to the Millionaire's Club in Chicago with Al's company Sept. 19.

The William Mellenthins, 1111 S. Mitchell, had their son, James William, christened at Our Lady of the Wayside Church recently by Fr. O'Hara. The godparents were Patricia and John Mellenthin. The celebration which followed included the godparents, great-grandmother, 91-year-old Mrs. Ella O'Brien, a great-aunt, Maria Sampson, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Mellenthin Sr. of Harwood Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. James O'Brien of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Mellenthin of Morton Grove.

IN HONOR of their eighth anniversary, Pat and Al Birkenheier, 1130 S. Mitchell, went to Ignatz and Mary's Grove Inn and then to Vegas Highland House and Fools Rush Inn with Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Skcz of Des Plaines on Sept. 19.

The Showboat Sari S was the destination of Pat and Don Farmer, 1129 S. Walnut, Saturday evening. They were accompanied by Linda and Donny Julian of Forest Park.

Mrs. Viola Craynon has returned to her home in Danville, after spending the summer with Elaine and John Craynon, 1264 S. Walnut.

Lottie and Al Sturek, 1186 S. Mitchell, attended a square dance sponsored by the Resurrection Father's Club on Saturday. Al is an alumni member of the club.

A recent houseguest of Pat and Maury Pera, 1104 S. Walnut, was Mrs. James Dawson, Pat's mother from Townsend, Wis. (A

Arlington Greens

New residents to the Greens are Bruce and Gerry Spink at 1152 N. Beverly Lane, since early in September. They and their sons, Don, 14, and David, 12, however, are not newcomers to the village. They lived in the 1000 block of North Douglas for about 12 years. Mr. Spink is an accountant in the Chicago offices of the North Western Railroad.

Friends and neighbors offered condolences last week to the family of Edmund Wilkiewicz of North Dryden. Funeral services for Mr.Wilkiewicz were held in Chicago on Friday.

Their return home last Tuesday ended a six-day visit with her sister and family for the John Gerfens of North Beverly Lane. They were guests in Minneapolis of Dr. and Mrs. Richard J. Soderberg. Heeding the call of the anglers, Mr. Gerfens motored to northern Minnesota's Grand Marais for a try at some fishing there.

A WEEKEND of fishing was also the lure for Ron Lundell of North Hickory and guest, Jerry Kern of Johnsburg. They motored to Lake of the Ozarks for an end of summer holiday, returning Monday evening.

An unexpected trip back home began last Tuesday for Mrs. Michael Bonner and sister, Miss Susan Sharran. They attended the funeral of their grandmother, Mrs. R. A. Walker in West Concord, Minn. After a visit in the Waseca home of their mother, Mrs. Marie Sherran, they returned on Saturday.

Sightseeing trips to Chicago were part of the itinerary for Mr. and Mrs. John Alm of Escanaba, houseguests in the North Douglas Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Snell. A birthday dinner party Saturday observed the occasions for Mrs. Snell and her sister-in-law. Joining them for the evening out were Oakton Street neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. George Olson. The Alms ended their week's visit on Sunday.

Eight-year-old Margie Gildemeister returned to her East Olive Street home last Tuesday, after a week's stay in Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines.

Sunday ended a four-day stay in St. Anne Hospital in Chicago for Mrs. Lawrence Berens of North Hickory. She underwent surgery.

APPLE RIVER Canyon was the site chosen by the Don Tyrell family of East Olive for a weekend camping trip. Joining them were the Jack Clemens family of Glenview and guests from Wilmette. They attended the annual festival in nearby Galena and toured Ulysses S. Grant's home, during the two days.

A luncheon party on Sept. 18 observed the fifth birthday of Sherri Damiano in her North Pine Court home. Joining her for the partyfare were Kathy Weidinger, Erick Kopfer, Maureen and Ricky Baker, Danny and Timmy O'Neill. A second party on Sunday was attended by 13 relatives and friends, including grandparents, the senior Damianos of Chicago.

HICKORY MEADOWS

A birthday dinner party observed the occasion for 7-year-old Gail Broscovak in her North Hickory home Sunday. Guests included neighbors, the Charles Toths, and grandfather, Joseph Pope, on a vacation visit from Bradenton, Fla. (A

Fishing Days Scheduled Oct. 10-18

The annual autumn highlight of the Arlington Heights Park District will be the Fall Fishing Days. Pools at Recreation and Pioneer Parks are stocked with fish from the Whispering Waters Trout farm in Spring Grove, Ill.

This nine-day fishing season will begin Saturday, Oct. 10, and run through Sunday, Oct. 18.

Hours are Monday through Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. and on the weekends from 1 to 5 p.m.

FISHING FEES are 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults (high school age and over) for a half-hour period or one catch.

Cane poles, line, sinker and hooks will be supplied, or fishermen may bring their own equipment and bait. For safety reasons, no fly casting will be permitted.

Prizes will be awarded to the persons registering the biggest catches during the season.

Sandquist Charges Rulings Based on Politics

Pledges 'Force For Leadership'

by JIM CARNS
Staff Writer

Perhaps only since the coming of Bobby Kennedy has the office of U.S. attorney general come to life before the eyes of the common citizen.

Elroy C. Sandquist Jr., Republican candidate for Illinois attorney general, spoke some of the same life in an interview last Friday with Paddock Publications' editorial staff members.

The 41-year-old, Chicago-born candidate said in the exclusive interview that the attorney general "can be a real force in helping the state move ahead. . .can speak out, not waiting until something is brought into court. . .can be a force for leadership."

He also commented that the office he seeks is the chief law office of the state, and that a great majority of his duties would not be the type which make headlines or create controversy.

Sandquist, who faces incumbent Att. Gen. William G. Clark, a Democrat, in the Nov. 3 general election, took his opponent to task for failure to use the full powers of the office, both in and out of the headlines.

THIS HAS been the keynote to the Sandquist campaign, one which demonstrates that the practicalities of politics have not been ignored.

The candidate's background could be a roadmap for political advancement. His father, Elroy Sandquist Sr., has served 28 years in the Illinois House of Representatives and is running this year for a state senate seat.

The young Sandquist moved from Annapolis to the military to law school to a successful Loop law firm, where he is now a partner. He has been a precinct captain since 1946, and has held offices with the Cook County Young Republicans, the United Republican Fund, the Illinois Republican Citizens' League, and the John Ericsson Republican League of Illinois.

Out of this work came his first appointment, in 1957, as head of the civil division of the Cook County state's attorney's office under Benjamin Adamowski.

Sandquist termed his work in that office, from 1957 through 1960, as the closest possible parallel to the duties of attorney general. He called Adamowski a "great state's attorney," but added that he backed neither Adamowski nor John Bickley in the Republican primary contest for that office this year.

THE ATTORNEY general candidate gained confidence Friday as the interview dwelled on his service with Adamowski, now treated by many regulars as a skeleton in the GOP closet. Sandquist commented simply that Adamowski had not interfered in his decisions, and that it was the criminal division, not the civil division of the state's attorney's office which had been subject to criticism during Adamowski's reign.

He tied himself quickly, then, to the Cook County team of incumbent Richard Ogilvie and candidate John Bickley in the announced "all-out-fight" against organized crime. "If we can't do the job, it can't be done," he said.

And again the challenger lashed at the incumbent's failure to use the office to its full potential, laying partial blame at the county level because "The attorney general has to work with the state's attorneys and can't go into any county unless asked."

HE ACCUSED Clark of being a "tool of (Mayor Richard J.) Daley" of Chicago, and of making "decisions based on politics." Clark has been endorsed for re-election by the Better Government Association, but Sandquist speculated that his failure to receive the endorsement might have stemmed from personal difference with a BGA official.

"He has the BGA, but I have the IVI (Independent Voters of Illinois endorsement)," Sandquist added.

Punctuating his remarks frequently with a gesturing hand and the words "frankly," or "to be honest," the candidate answered interviewers on what he termed the key issues which face the attorney general's office.

Among them he listed reapportionment, perfection of the state's new judicial article, election reform, crime and public aid.

SANDQUIST put "at least part of the blame" for the at-large representative election on Clark, who he said did not step in to provide a necessary legal ruling when the special remap commission was deadlocked on the possibility of representative districts overlapping between Chicago and suburban Cook County.

"The law was cear," he said. "There is to be one group of districts within Chicago, one outside the corporate limits in the suburbs, and one group downstate."

On the issue of senate reapportionment, Sandquist also found fault with Clark's position. He condemned the opinion issued by the incumbent that the state senate would have to run at large because of the house decision, and called it an "echo of what Daley wants."

In another instance, Sandquist claimed, Clark violated his oath of office by not defending the Illinois Constitution in a Federal action brought by the United Steelworkers in Illinois against the present system of senate apportionment.

"No matter what his personal feelings," Sandquist said, "he (Clark) should have defended the constitution." The candidate added that now, under the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision, the Illinois Constitution was "just out" as far as senate apportionment is concerned.

HE SAID HE has discussed the problem with Charles Percy, GOP candidate for governor, and that they "as a team" would recommend that the legislature act on senate reapportionment to prevent the court from acting as threatened in other states.

Sandquist said he would consult with Percy on many issues, but that in cases of disagreement between the two he would follow his own thinking "within the framework of the law."

The attorney general's opinions, issued to supplement or clarify legislation, have the force of law in the state, he said. In addition, he plans to "work as a lobbyist in several areas on the basis of personal feelings."

He mentioned election law reform and implementation of the state's new judicial article as matters which are crying for attention of the state's top law office.

Another area which Sandquist said had been "deserted" by Clark in the present term was public aid—specifically the issue of birth control information for public aid recipients.

"I think it's legal if the state wants it," he said. "My opponent walked out on his client on this issue."

ON OTHER issues touched in the interview, Sandquist indicated his sympathy for conservation work throughout the state, and said he had worked closely with the Clean Streams Committee during his service in the state's attorney's office in Cook County.

Sandquist opposes capital punishment. "It hasn't worked," he said.

He said he would fight for the interest of Illinois in a pending suit by other lake states to prevent diversion of water from Lake Michigan.

On open housing, the candidate said his personal feelings on legislation were mixed, but "I will enforce whatever the legislature passes."

Wearing a Percy lapel pin, but noticeably lacking the Goldwater counterpart, Sandquist said the choice was logical. "I'm trying to place emphasis on the state ticket," he said. "I think we're going to run ahead of the national ticket."

BUT HE added that he is supporting Senator Goldwater, and thinks "his image will change and he'll pick up steam."

"I don't agree with everything he has said, but that's what's great about the Republican party—we can have differences," Sandquist concluded. "Right now I think he's helping us in some areas and hurting us in others."

Although the Republican candidate for attorney general has never won an election, he has lost one in Cook County which many Republicans term a substantial showing. He was defeated in 1962 in a race for the Democratic stronghold position of county judge, but by a margin more than eight times smaller than the previous GOP loss.

Again, after a summer swing on the county fair circuit downstate, he is campigning for the final weeks in the densely-populated Chicago and suburban area—"where the votes are."

SPEAKER TIP

by ED LANDWEHR

Although the average musical instrument only emits about 60 cycles per second, it is generally conceded that 1st line speakers with wide frequency ranges are most satisfactory. For example, a bass tuba can hit 43 cycles and an organ 10. So, a quality speaker will make it most appreciative to your ears.

LANDWEHR TV, specializes in the electronic field and will guarantee maintenance service for any instrument that has sound passing through it electronically. Phone CLearbrook 5-0700 today.

Sandquist Charges Rulings Based on Politics

Pledges 'Force For Leadership'

by JIM CARNS
Staff Writer

Perhaps only since the coming of Bobby Kennedy has the office of U.S. attorney general come to life before the eyes of the common citizen.

Elroy C. Sandquist Jr., Republican candidate for Illinois attorney general, spoke some of the same life in an interview last Friday with Paddock Publications' editorial staff members.

The 41-year-old, Chicago-born candidate said in the exclusive interview that the attorney general "can be a real force in helping the state move ahead. . .can speak out, not waiting until something is brought into court. . .can be a force for leadership."

He also commented that the office he seeks is the chief law office of the state, and that a great majority of his duties would not be the type which make headlines or create controversy.

Sandquist, who faces incumbent Att. Gen. William G. Clark, a Democrat, in the Nov. 3 general election, took his opponent to task for failure to use the full powers of the office, both in and out of the headlines.

THIS HAS been the keynote to the Sandquist campaign, one which demonstrates that the practicalities of politics have not been ignored.

The candidate's background could be a roadmap for political advancement. His father, Elroy Sandquist Sr., has served 28 years in the Illinois House of Representatives and is running this year for a state senate seat.

The young Sandquist moved from Annapolis to the military to law school to a successful Loop law firm, where he is now a partner. He has been a precinct captain since 1946, and has held offices with the Cook County Young Republicans, the United Republican Fund, the Illinois Republican Citizens' League, and the John Ericsson Republican League of Illinois.

Out of this work came his first appointment, in 1957, as head of the civil division of the Cook County state's attorney's office under Benjamin Adamowski.

Sandquist termed his work in that office, from 1957 through 1960, as the closest possible parallel to the duties of attorney general. He called Adamowski a "great state's attorney," but added that he backed neither Adamowski nor John Bickley in the Republican primary contest for that office this year.

THE ATTORNEY general candidate gained confidence Friday as the interview dwelled on his service with Adamowski, now treated by many regulars as a skeleton in the GOP closet. Sandquist commented simply that Adamowski had not interfered in his decisions, and that it was the criminal division, not the civil division of the state's attorney's office which had been subject to criticism during Adamowski's reign.

He tied himself quickly, then, to the Cook County team of incumbent Richard Ogilvie and candidate John Bickley in the announced "all-out-fight" against organized crime. "If we can't do the job, it can't be done," he said.

And again the challenger lashed at the incumbent's failure to use the office to its full potential, laying partial blame at the county level because "The attorney general has to work with the state's attorneys and can't go into any county unless asked."

HE ACCUSED Clark of being a "tool of (Mayor Richard J.) Daley" of Chicago, and of making "decisions based on politics." Clark has been endorsed for re-election by the Better Government Association, but Sandquist speculated that his failure to receive the endorsement might have stemmed from personal difference with a BGA official.

"He has the BGA, but I have the IVI (Independent Voters of Illinois endorsement)," Sandquist added.

Punctuating his remarks frequently with a gesturing hand and the words "frankly," or "to be honest," the candidate answered interviewers on what he termed the key issues which face the attorney general's office.

Among them he listed reapportionment, perfection of the state's new judicial article, election reform, crime and public aid.

SANDQUIST put "at least part of the blame" for the at-large representative election on Clark, who he said did not step in to provide a necessary legal ruling when the special remap commission was deadlocked on the possibility of representative districts overlapping between Chicago and suburban Cook County.

"The law was cear," he said." There is to be one group of districts within Chicago, one outside the corporate limits in the suburbs, and one group downstate."

On the issue of senate reapportionment, Sandquist also found fault with Clark's position. He condemned the opinion issued by the incumbent that the state senate would have to run at large because of the house decision, and called it an "echo of what Daley wants."

In another instance, Sandquist claimed, Clark violated his oath of office by not defending the Illinois Constitution in a Federal action brought by the United Steelworkers in Illinois against the present system of senate apportionment.

"No matter what his personal feelings," Sandquist said, "he (Clark) should have defended the constitution." The candidate added that now, under the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision, the Illinois Constitution was "just out" as far as senate apportionment is concerned.

HE SAID HE has discussed the problem with Charles Percy, GOP candidate for governor, and that they "as a team" would recommend that the legislature act on senate reapportionment to prevent the court from acting as threatened in other states.

Sandquist said he would consult with Percy on many issues, but that in cases of disagreement between the two he would follow his own thinking "within the framework of the law."

The attorney general's opinions, issued to supplement or clarify legislation, have the force of law in the state, he said. In addition, he plans to "work as a lobbyist in several areas on the basis of personal feelings."

He mentioned election law reform and implementation of the state's new judicial article as matters which are crying for attention of the state's top law office.

Another area which Sandquist said had been "deserted" by Clark in the present term was public aid—specifically the issue of birth control information for public aid recipients.

"I think it's legal if the state wants it," he said. "My opponent walked out on his client on this issue."

ON OTHER issues touched in the interview, Sandquist indicated his sympathy for conservation work throughout the state, and said he had worked closely with the Clean Streams Committee during his service in the state's attorney's office in Cook County.

Sandquist opposes capital punishment. "It hasn't worked," he said.

He said he would fight for the interest of Illinois in a pending suit by other lake states to prevent diversion of water from Lake Michigan.

On open housing, the candidate said his personal feelings on legislation were mixed, but "I will enforce whatever the legislature passes."

Wearing a Percy lapel pin, but noticeably lacking the Goldwater counterpart, Sandquist said the choice was logical. "I'm trying to place emphasis on the state ticket," he said. "I think we're going to run ahead of the national ticket."

BUT HE added that he is supporting Senator Goldwater, and thinks "his image will change and he'll pick up steam."

"I don't agree with everything he has said, but that's what's great about the Republican party—we can have differences," Sandquist concluded. "Right now I think he's helping us in some areas and hurting us in others."

Although the Republican candidate for attorney general has never won an election, he has lost one in Cook County which many Republicans term a substantial showing. He was defeated in 1962 in a race for the Democratic stronghold position of county judge, but by a margin more than eight times smaller than the previous GOP loss.

Again, after a summer swing on the county fair circuit downstate, he is campigning for the final weeks in the densely-populated Chicago and suburban area—"where the votes are."

SPEAKER TIP
by ED LANDWEHR

Although the average musical instrument only emits about 60 cycles per second, it is generally conceded that 1st line speakers with wide frequency ranges are most satisfactory. For example, a bass tuba can hit 43 cycles and an organ 10. So, a quality speaker will make it most appreciative to your ears.

Prairie Chickens To Be Liberated

Two flocks of prairie chickens will soon be released in Barrington Township by the conservation department of the Forest Preserve District.

Ten or more will be liberated in the Spring Lake preserves between Algonquin Road and the Lake-Cook Road, and an equal number in the Crabtree Lake preserve southwest of Barrington.

"This is a wildlife experiment which should interest people in northwestern Cook County, and we hope that everybody will assist us in protecting these birds so that they may become established and multiply," Seymour Simon, president of the district, was reported to have said.

BARRINGTON Township was one of the last strongholds of this famous game bird in the middle west. In pioneer times there were vast numbers of prairie chickens in Illinois and the other prairie states, the district conservation department told. They were slaughtered by the thousands for city markets and, after the invention of the chilled steel moldboard plow, farming destroyed most of their necessary food and cover.

In 1933 it became unlawful to kill prairie chickens, but they have dwindled in numbers until, today, there are probably less than 3,000 in Illinois.

THE PRAIRIE chickens to be released were obtained as little chicks from the Illinois Natural History Survey in Urbana. They were raised at Crabtree Lake Farm, the proposed nature center on Stover Road north of Palatine Road, and fed mostly on meal worms. They are to be liberated in early September so that they can fatten on grasshoppers, crickets and other insects.

"It is ironical that game bird specialists have selected our forest preserves, in this county of more than five million people as the best place in which to attempt a comeback by the prairie chicken," it was stated.

Family Court Gets Head Administrator

John P. O'Brien, former administrator for the Juvenile Court of St. Louis, was inducted Sept. 24 as chief administrator of the Cook County Family Court.

The post being filled by O'Brien was created by the county board on the recommendation of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency which made an intensive study of the Family Court last year.

O'Brien was selected after a nationwide search for qualified persons. He will be responsible for the administration of all court.

THE NEW chief administrator is 45 years old, a graduate of Fordham College, N. Y. He holds a master's degree from the University of Washington, Seattle, and has done graduate work at the New York School of Social Work.

He is a member of the executive committee of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency and of the House of Delegates of the National Council on Social Work Education.

In 1960 O'Brien was a technical consultant for the White House Conference on Children and Youth and a participant in the Haven Hill Conference on Correctional Training, sponsored by the United States Children's Bureau.

News of Kildeer Countryside

by Emma Keiler GEneral 8-9791

Park District Turned Down Again by Long Grove Voters

For the second time in four years voters in Saturday's election said "no" to a park district for the Kildeer Countryside school district. The vote was 206 against and 147 for the proposal. The fact that the issue seems to be losing ground is apparent since on Nov. 5, 1960, it was lost by only four votes.

Ballots in Saturday's election totaled 362, with nine defectives.

Workers at the polls were Mrs. Fred French, Mrs. Harold Wright, Mrs. Harold Turner, Mrs. Stewart Richmond and Mrs. Tom Hoyne.

From hors d'oeuvres to hootenanny, it was a fast-moving night for the more than 100 local folk who took part in the Long Grove Church's Women's Guild progressive dinner on Sept. 25. Arriving for the salad course, guests were greeted by the Vincent Allens. Assisting Mrs. Allen at the salad buffet were Mrs. Jack Deagen, Mrs. Robert Riley and Mrs. Malcolm Shroyer.

AN HOUR and a half later buses transported guests to the Floyd Gustafsons' and Robert Coffins', where a chicken pot pie entree was served. Riders held their breaths and enjoyed the adventure as their driver, Dick Byrne, took them cautiously down a steep path, over a narrow creek and up a winding Willowbrook hill to the Coffin home. Assisting the Coffins were Mrs. Robert Kenan and Mrs. Doris Dombrow.

At the Floyd Gustafson home the dinner activity was equally festive, with Mrs. Otto Damgaard and Mrs. Andrew Sim Sr. assisting.

Once more boarding the bus, guests were taken to Kildeer School, where Mrs. John Peterson, Mrs. Don Davison, Mrs. Robert Hill and Mrs. Robert Taylor served cake and coffee. Rev. Alfred Williams set the evening's mood for folk singing, Paul Hurley, Chris Parson, Kathy Jungbluth, Diane Schuffman and Mrs. Arthur Edmunds taking part in the hootenanny, planned to depict stories of the Old and New Testaments. Adding to the biblical atmosphere were colorfully symbolic mobiles, which took Mrs. Robert Taylor, Mrs. Clifford Marx, Mrs. David Edmunds, Mrs. Douglas McDonald and Mrs. Charles Johnson a day to create. Songs such as "Swing Low Sweet Chariot," "Jacob's Ladder," "Go Tell It on the Mountain" and the finale, "How Many Roads Must a Man Walk Down?" stirred the most enthusiastic response from the diners.

NO LONGER will Halloweeen mark the birthday of Long Grove's oldest resident as he rocks back and forth and greets the usual parade of trick or treaters who each year come grinning beneath witch or rabbit faces, their big brown paper bags to fill.

Charles Herschberger, 92, lifelong resident of the area, died Sept. 23 after a week's illness. Services were held Saturday at Lake Zurich Community Church. Our sympathy goes to his wife, Cora; his daughters, Luella Tonne of Lake Zurich; Pearl Haseman of Arlington Heights; and Dorothy Herff of Glendale, Calif.; his six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The Fred Dahlbergs grasped their last chance of the season to use Rene's parents' Saugatuck, Mich., cottage last weekend. The Ed Restails of Chicago have been spending the summer there.

Malgaard's Indian Lodge near St. Germaine, Wis., was one of a list of memorable eating spots the Marshall Greens discovered while on a week's meandering along out-of-the way roads. Driving 350 miles north to Manotowish Waters, stops en route included Minocqua and Eagle River. Along the way the Greens counted 20 deer and unexpectedly came upon a gray timber wolf in North Highland Forest.

Heinz Loeffler spent four days in Washington, D. C. last week in connection with his responsibilities with the Department of Commerce.

WHEN MALCOLM Brewster arrived unexpectedly early, the Malcolm Shroyers cut short their Maine vacation and hurried to their daughter, Nancy's bedside. Later leaving the William Howards' Long Island home, the Shroyers spent a day at the New York Fair and toured the famed 100 DuPont Early American rooms in Wilmington, Del.

The Gus Salmens and the Martin Raupps spent a week around Colorado Springs and came back with news that two inches of snow fell on Pikes Peak. Driving home through the Ozarks, they were too early for the autumn foliage colors.

Among local folk at the Wednesday evening plastic party given by Judy Salmen were Mrs. Arthur Reimers, Mrs. Richard Byrne, Mrs. Ed Rodewald, Gail Rodewald, Joyce Didier, also Mrs. Vincent Bugner of Prairie View.

Mrs. Harold Wilder attended the Tuesday luncheon and fashion show given at Long Grove Country Club, a benefit of the Deerfield Infant Welfare.

Neighbors are greeting Mrs. William Salzman, who returned Friday from St. Therese's in Waukegan. She is getting over a virus infection.

A former Long Grover Fred Popp is in Condell, where his condition is critical.

THE 25TH wedding anniversary Sept. 19 of a cousin and her husband, the John Heubners of Des Plaines, made it a festive occasion for the Elden Gadke family and Carl Lauffenburger. Celebration was held at Carpenters Hall in Des Plaines.

Mrs. Tek Osborne of Forest Lake showed 10 members of the local art group the photography, ceramics and art work in her studios during the group's meeting date last Tuesday.

Teacher friends of Joan Evans, science and biology instructor at a Des Plaines elementary school, were invited to a bridge luncheon at her home on Saturday. Sharing the afternoon were Mrs. Carolyn Ellingwood of Evanston, Mrs. Dorothy Macklen of Des Plaines and Mrs. Jane Allen of Deerfield.

Birthday toasts were for son Roger at the family party the Evanses held Sept. 24. They are busy making plans for an extension of their house trailer in preparation for this winter's stay in Florida.

The 65th birthday of Mrs. Martin Wulff's father, Arthur Malm of Half Day, was the reason for a celebration Sept. 19, bringing together the Wulffs, Allen Danners of Deerfield, Ed Ohlrichs of Palatine and the Ed Gerschefskes of Buffalo Grove and others.

DRIVING together to work at DoAll Contour Saws, Des Plaines, for many years has created warm ties between Martin Wulff and former Long Grover Robert Bainbridge, now of Crystal Lake. Gathering recently at the Wulffs' were the Bainbridges and the Herman Wulffs of Bartlett. A Sept. 24 attraction for the Wulffs was the annual beef and ham supper at Half Day's Washburn Church.

New Long Grove Church School fascination for kindergarteners is the making of two wall murals, showing the church structure. Tots are busy with paper and scissors making the four by eight scene. Teachers are Mrs. Franklin Bivins, Mrs. Robert Coffin, Mrs. Martin Wulff and Sara Webster.

Every day finds the Dennis Blairs more snugly settled in their Lake Forest apartment four blocks from the center of business. Mrs. Burt Schnell hosted a farewell luncheon for Mary Sept. 24, taking guests to dine at Ricketts on Milwaukee Avenue. Sharing the party were Mrs. Wayne Pearce, Mrs. Charles Trzyna, Mrs. Robert Taylor, Mrs. William Park and this reporter.

Even the wails of the fire siren and fire trucks didn't awaken Willowbrook sleepers the night of Sept. 20 when a faulty sump pump in the William Jensens' basement resulted in a 2 a.m. fire causing some smoke damage.

WHEN NOT out on fires, the crew is busy canvassing the area with dance tickets. The "big hop" is set for Oct. 10 at the fire station.

President Mrs. Tom Hoyne and members of the Community Club board will meet Oct. 5, at 9:30 a.m., in the Kildeer School library.

Women's Guild board members will gather Oct. 8 at 9 a.m. at this reporter's home.

When Mrs. Fred Dahlberg's evening circle meets Oct. 12 at Mrs. David Calder's home, they will have with them Mrs. Martha Winch of Highland Park Family Service. Realizing that others in the area may desire to hear her, the circle is making it an open meeting, inviting all who are interested to join them. So that the hostess may plan accurately for refreshments, please call Ann, GE 8-1266, if you plan to attend, but are not a regular member of the evening group.

The Long Grove Church office will appreciate receiving the mailing addresses of our young people who are away to boarding schools or colleges or are in the armed services. Parents are asked to please leave these addresses at the church office as soon as possible.

Mrs. Arthur Edmunds and her adult choir began the fall schedule meeting for practice Sept. 23 at the Edward Wachs' home.

RADIATING enthusiasm these days is Mrs. John Cook, Kildeer School's library chairman. What was formerly Kildeer's EMH room will be used this year for book processing, reference, library instruction and such. Volunteering as assistants to help children select and check out books are Mrs. William Hahnfeldt, Mrs. James Dugan and Mrs. Peg Seeler. Anyone who would like to add her name to the list is asked to call Billie Cook, NE 4-3723.

More than 80 parents and young people attended Long Grove Church's potluck luncheon and planning meeting Sept. 20 to present its youth ministry programs. Making it a family affair, the Andrew Sims and son, Andy, took charge of the kitchen.

Andy Sim will travel to Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, on Tuesdays and Thursdays to work toward his master's in history education.

Bob Schuchardt is a second year law student at the University of Michigan. His sister, Ada, has begun her second year at Wayland Academy, Beaver Dam, Wis.

Happy wedding anniversary wishes go to the Sam LaBues, Oct. 2; Floyd Trumbulls, Oct. 4; and to the Marshall Greens, Oct. 6.

Birthday wishes go to Joan Evans, Oct. 1; Lynne Riley and Earnest Williamson Oct. 3; and Emily Ann Karnopp, Oct. 7.

NEWS OF GREATER PALATINE

Going back to their former home abroad was a happy time for Mr. and Mrs. James A. Chambers and Sue, N. Quentin Road, for five weeks. They flew to England to visit with Mrs. Chambers' father, Fred Lamble of Devonshire, and relatives an friends.

Meeting them there just before their departure was the son, Antony, who is in the RAF and had just returned from duty in Singapore. On leave, he flew home with them the Sunday before Labor Day and left again a week ago Friday to return to England.

News was received by this correspondent that a former resident of Gainer Park, Walter Hahn, previously of Center Road, died Sept. 19 after a long illness. For the past few years he and Mrs. Hahn made their home with a daughter in Barrington.

GET WELL wishes go to 10-year-old David, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walenter, Rand Road, who underwent an appendectomy in Sherman Hospital last week Tuesday. Recuperating nicely, they expected to bring him home over the weekend.

It was a busy, but enjoyable time away for Mrs. Donald V. Sargol, Lee Court, Capri Village, recently, when she was in Hayward, Wis. She was director of the YMCA Camp Kroehler, with staff members from Palatine, Pet Mickus, Chris Evans, Candice Hansen, Peggy Sales and daughters, Diane and Linda Sargol; Kay Hester of Rolling Meadows and Sue Crawford of Arlington. Overnight canoe trips, horseback riding and other activities filled their stay.

Diane Sargol left Sept. 9 for her sophomore studies at Mundelein College, where she is living on campus. A week back the Sargols motored to East Lansing, where Linda, who is a senior at Palatine High School, received her advanced placement from Michigan State University.

THOUGH THE elements were anything but favorable Saturday, it was still a gay evening for Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Syverson, Hickory Lane, and Palatine friends, the Ralph Sowkas and Bill Coursens. Following a cocktail party they went on to take part in the Plum Grove Association's treasure hunt.

Spending the weekend at their lake home in Montello, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. John E. Anderson, Palos Road, had a pleasant surprise when long-time friends, the Aaron Yundt family of Mundelein, paid them a visit, bringing along a birthday cake for early celebration of Mrs. Anderson's Sept. 29 occasion.

A new family settling in their new home in the Reseda section are Mr. and Mrs. Dick Zieman, Nanette and Richarl, 517 Monterey Road. A change of positions brought them here from Morristown, N. J., Sept. 18. The household also includes three pets: two poodles, Candy and Duffy, and a cocker spaniel, Tip Top Fenris.

MR. AND MRS. David Kuh and children, 19 W. Hellen, will be having a busy time this weekend entertaining visitors. Their Australian house guest will be Ray Debus, who they met when he was an exchange student approximately 10 years ago, and from Peshtigo, Wis., the mother, Mrs. Grace Kuh. Out-of-towners due to arrive on Monday are Mrs. Kuhs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Tok of Bovey, Minn., who will spend a week.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dougherty, W. Wood Street, on their Sept. 29 eighth wedding anniversary. Another occasion in the family falls on Saturday, the birthday of Brenda Lee, who will be 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Kastning, W. Palatine Road, were among members of the family at the farm in Schaumburg Sunday to join in a dual birthday celebration. Happy returns of the day were extended to the mother, Mrs. Emma L. Kastning on her Sept. 25 occasion, and her great-niece, Christine Plote, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Plote, Roselle Road, who shares the same birth date.

....IT WAS A festive time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Carlson, Capri Drive, Capri Village, Sunday, with happy birthday wishes going to Mrs. Carlson's mother, Mrs. Andria Yates, on her 76th occasion Sept. 30. Guests at the family party from Chicago were Miss Alice Lamb and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Lyons, also Mr. and Mr Wayne Yates, Debbie and Kevin and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith of Herrin, Ill., who were houseguests from Thursday to Monday.

Wishes for a speedy and complete return to good health go to Mrs. Yates, who is convalescing from a stroke she suffered Aug. 3. Though her home is in Herrin, she has been here since her release from the hospital and is reported to be progressing nicely.

BIRTHDAY WISHES were warmly received by Mrs. James Taylor, Palos Road, on her occasion Sunday. Six children and their families, including 26 grandchildren from Hampshire, Meadowdale, Shady Hill, Island Lake and the Fox Valley Gardens, visited during the day.

It was also a thankful time for Mrs. Taylor. Returning home Friday, the car she was riding in was involved in an accilent and though she suffered some injuries, she was more fortunate than her three companions who were hospitalized.

Currently visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Bruno V. Lemanski, N. Middleton Road, is the son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lemanski. Formerly of St. Louis, they arrived here an approximate week back to spend some time before going on to make their home in Toledo.

A BIRTHDAY missed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Kleiner, W. Ellis, a few weeks back, was that of Mrs. Kleiners' mother, Mrs. Fred Rascher, who was 92 Sept. 13. Though all the family was present for her celebration, surprise visitors for "Grandma" and the rest of the family were her granddaughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Wordell of Hackensak, Minn., who were houseguests for that weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Kleiner returned home Sunday from a weekend stay at their summer home in Clintonville, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Reuter, N. Quentin Road, traveled in the rain Saturday to attend the wedding of a nephew in Wisconsin. They witnessed the marriage of James Slavin and Miss Mary Jo Elston in Hartland Church and attended the reception at Peg's Supper Club in East Troy.

The last day of September brought birthday greetings to Bobby, son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Ralph, S. Roberts Road, who celebrated turning 8 with a family party.

WISHES FOR good luck in their future home go to Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Carney, who will be leaving Palatine Oct. 15, to make their home in the south. Residents of S. Roberts Road, they have lived here for the past 12 years. Their stay until this month enabled them to be on hand for the birthday celebration of their two grandchildren, Dougie and Debbie, children of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Carney, S. Haman Road, who were 3 and 11 Sept. 15 and 25 respectively.

Monday Mrs. John Biddle, Roselle Road, entertained four ladies from the area for refreshments and a business meeting. Members of St. John United Church of Christ, Palatine, they are on the planning and serving committee for the ham supper to be held Oct. 7 in the church hall.

Returning home from a late late summer vacation a week back were Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Eckley, Old Plum Grove Road. Away for two weeks, they traveled to the East Coast for sightseeing through the New England states. Historical sights were enjoyed in Deerfield, Mass., one of the most authentic settlements of the east, and also in Sturtbridge. Being antique fanciers, they browsed quite a bit and were compensated with a few fortunate "finds."

A SEVEN-DAY vacation was spent recently by Mrs. Daniel Mc Sweeney, N. Quentin Road. She returned home Saturday from Cedar Rapids, where she was the houseguest of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Martin.

The Bradwell Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lagerhausen was the scene of triple birthday celebrating last week, when they entertained the brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lagerhausen of Des Plaines, for a dinner party. Sharing honors were both the brothers, who share the same birth date, and Mrs. K. Lagerhausen, whose occasion was Sept. 29.

The weather may not have been in keeping with the activity of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Quenon, N. Eagle Lane, North View, Saturday, but dressed accordingly, it was an evening of fun. They were guests of neighbor friends, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Lafferty, for the IRE treasure hunt which started in the Palos Park forest preserve.

SCATTERED clues on the south side of the city kept them going at a good pace and winding up the fun, they met with other couples at Karen's Restaurant for a midnight buffet supper.

There is little doubt that Fran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Sehnert, 919 Arrowhead Drive, will forget her first teenage birthday for some time to come.

Helping her celebrate her 13th Saturday were 65 friends of her Girl Scout Troop 612, classmates of the Grey Sanborn School, and neighbors, guests for roller skating, swimming and refreshments at the YMCA in Des Plaines.

Wishes for a speedy recovery go to Fran's brother, Rusty, who had an unfortunate accident Sunday when he broke his arm while bicycling in the area. He received emergency treatment in Northwest Community Hospital and is now wearing a cast.

A WELCOME is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Broadwater, Fritzi, Wendy, Paul and Heide Lee, S. Quentin Road, who are the new occupants of the former Wayne Allard home. They moved here approximately three weeks ago from Cedar Rapids, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jacobsen, N. Quentin Road, hosted a family birthday dinner party a week ago Sunday to celebrate the birthday of Candy, who was 11 Sept. 21.

Guests were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Jacobsen, Algonquin Road; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Reuse of Des Plaines; and an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Baril, Palatine. Sunday the family were all birthday guests at the Jacobsen home for a supper party honoring Mr. Jacobsen's Sept. 25 occasion.

Happy returns of the day in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Mosier, W. Hillcrest Road, Monday, went to Mrs. Mosier, who had to postpone a planned celebration due to illness among the relatives.

TUESDAY the birthday celebrated in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Krabbe, Ela Road, was that of Deborah Jean, who was 5.

A belated welcome goes to Mr. and Mrs. James Joy, Lisa Marie and Sheila Colleen, who have been residents here for the past several months. Formerly from Skokie, they are the new owners of the former William Roudebush home on W. Hill Road.

"WHICH WAY TO MIDDLETOWN NURSERY SCHOOL?"

Communion Observance This Sunday

St. Paul United Church of Christ, 144 E. Chicago Ave., Palatine, announced that this Sunday the congregation will participate in world wide communion along with many other Protestant churches throughout the world.

The celebration will take place at the 9:30 and 11 services child-care and church school run simultaneously.

New members will be received at the 11 a. m. service.

This Saturday the Fellowship Hall of the church will be the scene of a "travel agency."

Connie and George Unger and Barbara and Jack Eichacker will conduct members and guests on a tour of the United States through slides being provided by the members.

Couples are invited to attend the program beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Red Cross Training to Be Offered

The north Cook regional office of the Mid-America chapter, American Red Cross, will cooperate with the adult evening school at Barrington High School to training in first aid skills to local residents.

Standard and advanced first aid courses will be held beginning Thursday, Oct. 8, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Instructors for the class will be Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mess of Barrington.

All instruction in a Red Cross sponsored course is provided free. However, a textbook charge will be made, and in some instances an enrollment fee will be asked by the evening school.

Teenagers Honored By Elgin Hospital

More than 80 teenage girls from several communities surrounding Elgin have been honored for more than 17,800 hours of volunteer service to Sherman Hospital in the last 12 months.

The girls received pins and certificates for work ranging from a few hours to more than 800. The teens are recognized as Candy Stripers and wear pink pinafores while serving the hospital.

DR. GENICHI Kobayashi, assistant to the administrator of Sherman Hospital, congratulated the girls for their effort in serving patients "and helping bring warmth and cheerfulness into their hospital rooms." He said he hoped many of the teenagers would select nursing, laboratory work or other areas of hospital service for their life's work.

Palatine girls who received certificates were Robin Gocke and Sandi Janowiak.

Roselle girls who received certificates were Sandy Benhart, Cindy Cloonan, Linda Deuchar, Frances Jakubec and Judi Morgan.

To Hear Talk

The first meeting of this year of the Presbyterian Couples' Club of Palatine will be tomorrow (Friday) at 7 p.m. at the Winston School Cafeteria.

Wyatte F. Deloache, midwest manager of the DuPont Co.'s Extension division, will present an address entitled "The Disappearance of the Obvious."

He will point out what he considers is the diminishing awareness of certain factors which made this country great.

HE WILL highlight the basic role of large industrial firms in the U. S. economy, in national defense and in individual welfare.

A former newspaperman, DeLoache has been with DuPont since 1940 in a variety of assignments in public relations.

The meeting will also be used for collecting baby food, canned milk, curtains, and wearable clothes for children at the church's Erie House, a settlement house in Chicago.

Pomp, Pageantry Spur Pint-Sized Gridders

DEJECTEDLY LEAVING the field are members of the Addison boys football team which just dropped a tough 13-7 decision to the Hoffman Estates Commandos in the 100-pound division game. Sunday was Homecoming Day for the Hoffman Estates teams and it was celebrated with a queen and parade in addition to the football games. (A15

Games in the Chicago Suburban Junior Football League have all the color, pomp, pageantry and pressure of their high school and college counterparts.

As has been cited as a major fault of Little League baseball ,the pint-sized players' parents are ofter accused of shifting the emphasis from "how you played the game" to winning.

Only the scaled down players differentiate the game from the high school or college version. Otherwise cheerleaders, marching bands, screaming crowds and homecoming ceremonies are much the same.

'Block that kick! Block that kick!" chant the cheer girls. "That was no clip, he caught him from side," exclaims an irate pop. And the Suburban Junior League's version of Ohio State's Woody Hayes—a blocky bull of a man—explains to his anxious bench, "I'll put the second string in just as soon as we score one more touchdown."

THE TRAINING for the games is rigid, with four days of practice per week. Heavier boys in the Pop Warner League are forced to diet to stay under the 120 pound weight limit, according to Hoffman Commando coach Bob Hill.

The younger group runs off a straight T formation while the older boys play from a split T formation and have other intricacies.

The passing attack is somewhat limited in the small fry version of the game because the boys have trouble spiraling the regulation sized ball.

The Hoffman Estates teams have had few injuries—two minor ones in the past three years —and every innovation in safety equipment is used by the players from all teams.

ON THE DAY of the game the boys get together early and eat nothing after 9 a.m. for a 1 p.m. game, Hill said.

The squads are limited to 34 players, by league regulations. Teams participating in the league this year include: Wood Dale, Addison, Bensenville, Bloomingdale, Hoffman Estates, Downers Grove, North Austin, Glen Ellyn and Edison Park.

A single game is played with each member of the league, with championship trophies awarded in November, according to league officials.

High school, college and amateur coaches all agree, however, that the experience of football for the 9-13-year-olds, who partiicpate in the Pop Warner and Little League football teams, can be a valuable one.

AS COMMANDO coach Hill, a former semi-pro player with the Elmhurst Travelers, put it, "Depending on the coaching staff, I would say this type of football is very valuable to surrounding high schools and to future football play.

"If the coaches can develop fundamentals it can be a great help; if not, it can hurt the surrounding high school teams," Hill, a Hoffman Estates resident, said.

An Addison Recreation Club spokesman compared the game with Little League baseball. "It is definitely good for kids this age," he said. "It definitely helps the high schools in the areas. There are quite a few first string sophomores playing at York."

Where the coaches seem to differ is on the extent to which the game should resemble high school and college contests.

MICKEY LILE, freshman coach at Northwestern University and formerly head football coach at Lake Park High School, expressed the concern of his peers.

"It has great value if every boy that comes out is allowed to play someplace and the emphasis is not on winning but rather on learning how to play.

"I feel some of the amateur coaches love the game but never had the etching techniques to do a good job with the kids. I think some of them have begun to make the same emphasis in Pop Warner football as they do in pro football or college football," Lile said.

More than 140 boys turned out for football tryouts in Hoffman Estates, Hill said. Of these 34 were selected to play on the Commando team, which includes youngsters up to 100 pounds in weight.

"Every boy had an opportunity to play," Hill said. "Each boy would put on a football uniform twice and would be judged on the quality of his tackling, blocking and defensive play. The decisions are made by four coaches, not just one man," Hill emphasized.

LILE, HOWEVER, pointed out that the boys who are most physically mature are most proficient and are usually the ones selected.

"Others, who may mature later, sometimes become better athletes," Lile said. "No boy should be overlooked at that age. I maintain that the Little Leagues in both football and baseball are all right if played right at home and al lthe boys divided up into as many teams as possible," Lile said.

Robert Appleby, head football coach at Fenton High School in Bensenville backed up his fellow coach's stand.

"Intra-community football is better because it takes the pressure off that is put on winning by parents and adults.

"Let the kids play the game; there is no point to the pressure put on them."

APPLEBY SAID Bensenville has changed its approach from within the village to become a suburban league member this year.

"I'm not in favor of it," Appleby said. "Now, the emphasis has changed and they are limiting the number of boys. Another thing that happens when they start playing inter-community community football, they are taking the ones who are already talented and developed.

"This is not what Pop Warner or Little League football was intended to be."

Hill disagreed with this viewpoint. "Between communities is best," he said.

"In an intramural league the boys don't have the tendency to do the job if they know the kids they are playing against. It gives them better spirit and a more competitive attitude to play against boys from another town. (A15

Smoke Signals

by THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS FIRE DEPARTMENT

Fire Prevention Week begins Sunday, Oct. 4, as proclaimed by both President Johnson and Village Pres. John G. Woods of Arlington Heights.

Fire Chief Harvey Carothers today announced the fire department's cooperation with other civic groups in using simple precautionary methods to prevent many damaging fires.

The chief, discussing replacement costs, said that, "Even in small fires, where the firemen are able to confine the flames to one room, it costs property owners two to three times as much to refurnish the burned-out areas as it did 10 years ago."

Arlington Heights' 1963 fire loss totalled $94,220.36 with 11 persons injured.

THE CHIEF particularly emphasized the following points:

1. Great damage to the city is caused by rubbish fires. If rubbish is removed from cellars, attics and closets, fire losses will come down and many alarms will be eliminated.

2. Electrical wiring and appliances should be checked periodically by a competent electrician for defective wiring and overloads on circuits. Use 15 or 20 ampere fuses for ordinary circuits. Never place pennies behind blown fuses.

3. Heating plants and flues should be cleaned and examined once each year (preferably in the summer or fall before heat is needed by a competent furnace man.

Chief Carothers emphasized the large number of fires caused from carelessness in handling matches and smoking. "Matches should be kept where small children cannot reach them and a liberal supply of ash trays throughout the house would reduce fires," he said. He particularly emphasized that, "If you value your life, do not smoke in bed."

Lions' Harriers Record Two Wins

St. Viator's varsity cross country team osted its second and third straight victories of the young season with impressive conquests of Elmwood Park and Holy Cross.

Coach Bob Martineau's Lions paced by the 1-2 finish of Mike Jones and Pat Doherty, toppled Elmwood Park's runners 22-35 and had an easier time coasting past Holy Cross 18-41.

Doherty and Jones reversed positions in heading the field at Holy Cross.

ALSO FINISHING among the leaders at Elmwood Park were John Drnec, Paul Larson, and Bill Demmert. The same boys and Bob Nemec were the top Lion scorers against Holy Cross.

In frosh-soph competition Mike Cunningham and Don Rich finished 1-2 in both meets as the Lion sophs suffered two straight setbacks. Cunningham is a freshman and Rich a sophomore.

Elmwood Park pulled out a 26-31 frosh-soph victory, and Holy Cross triumphed, 26-29. Mike Tremblay, Hemsley, and Tom Doherty followed Cunningham and Rich across the line forthe St. Viator sophomores.

Martineau's crew will be at St. Patrick's Friday for a Chicagoland meet.

Named Chairman For Dimes Drive

David Griffin, 1111 W. Hawthorn, was appointed community campaign chairman for the Arlington Heights 1965 March of Dimes.

Griffin will direct the community organization in the January drive to raise funds for research and treatment of birth defects, arthritis and residual polio.

Griffin is a partner in the Chicago law firm of Griffin, Guinan and Griffin. (A

LWV Committee to Study Child Welfare

Mrs. R. N. Hill, 43 Glenbrook Drive, Prospect Heights, has been named chairman of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters committee on Illinois child welfare services.

Her appointment was announced by Mrs. Russell Gardner, president of the local league.

As chairman, Mrs. Hill will coordinate league study in various areas of state welfare services. Included in the league study agenda, adopted at the state LWV convention in 1963, are Aid to Dependent Children programs, protective services, and the child in relation to the courts.

The local league will join with the League of Women Voters of Palatine in presenting a workshop on the welfare study on Wednesday, Oct. 28, and will attempt to reach agreement on welfare program needs during unit meetings in November.

Mrs. Hill replaces Mrs. Jerry Hansen, 1600 N. Yale, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Hansen resigned from the board after her husband was appointed a precinct captain.

"While the league encourages individual members to participate in partisan politics, board members may not," Mrs. Gardner said in telling of the committee change. "And we try to avoid even having board members whose families are highly active in politics," she explained.

"We require board members to avoid politicking while they serve on the board—the league's policy-making group—in order to avoid even an appearance that a decision was influenced by partisanship."

Mrs. Hill has resided in this area since her husband was appointed principal of the new Wheeling High School a year ago. She joined the local LWV in April and had previously served three years as chairman of the state study item in the suburban Minneapolis League of Robinsdale.

She has five children, four of them in the Prospect Heights schools. (A

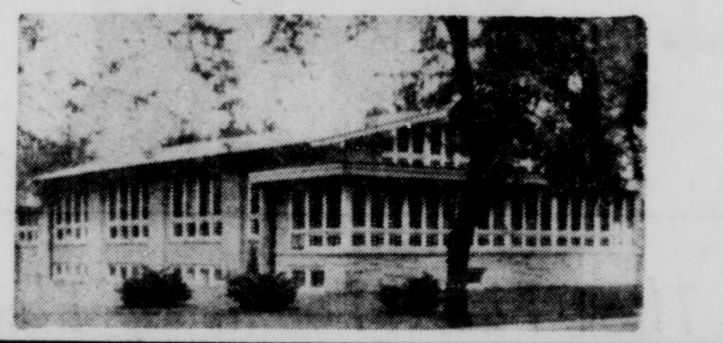
WHAT IS the United Church of Christ?

In Bensenville, Peace Church is one of three churches and a home for the aged representing the United Church. Located in the center of the village at Wood and Center streets, Peace Church has provided Sunday Worship and Church School since the turn of the century. The over 300 families of Peace Church invite you to Sunday Worship at 9:15 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. and your children to our church school at 9:15 a.m. Many other organizations and fellowship groups within the church also invite your interest.



Pastor Ed Geltz leads the congregation in worship and in the sermon preaches God's Word to contemporary man.

Over 300 children from age 3 through Jr. High attend Sunday Church School classes. Above, a second grade class learns of the Christian faith and life.

Teens meet to discuss living as Christians in a world that is rapidly changing. Our youth program includes discussion groups, fellowship nights, and weekend retreats.

The United Church of Christ is a new denomination, with roots that are centuries old. It came into existence in 1957 when the Congregational Christian, and the Evangelical and Reformed Churches merged. England's 16th Century Reformation gave birth to the Congregational Church, whose members were among the Pilgrims. The Evangelical and Reformed Church was born of the Reformation in Europe under men like Luther, Zwingli, and Calvin. The United Church of Christ is a united and a uniting church.

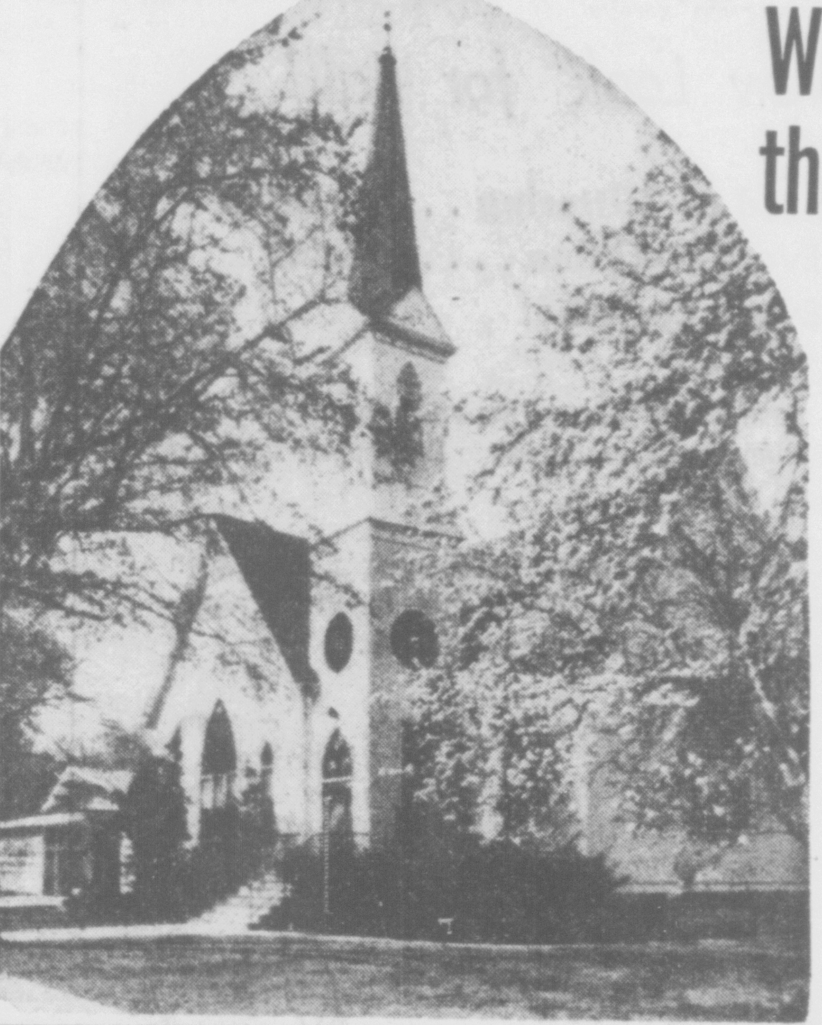
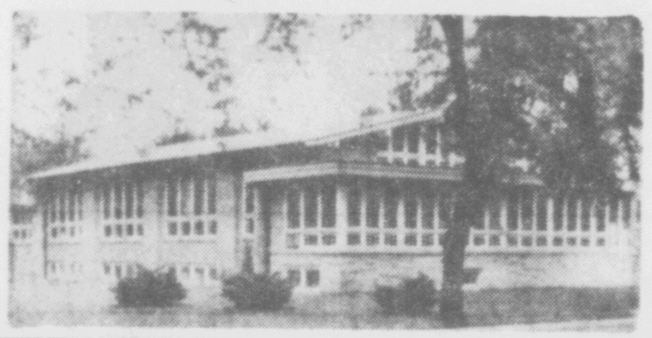
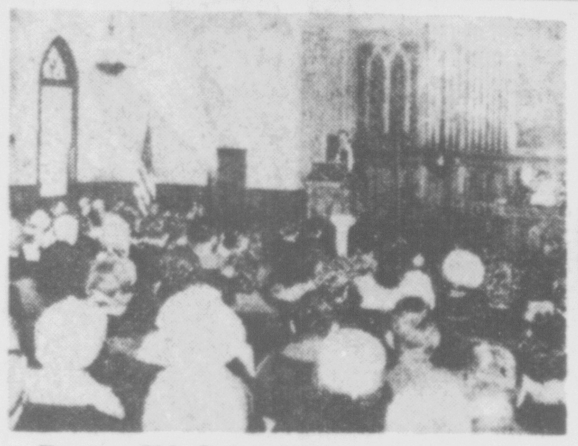
WHAT IS the United Church of Christ?



In Bensenville, Peace Church is one of three churches and a home for the aged representing the United Church. Located in the center of the village at Wood and Center streets, Peace Church has provided Sunday Worship and Church School since the turn of the century. The over 300 families of Peace Church invite you to Sunday Worship at 9:15 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. and your children to our church school at 9:15 a.m. Many other organizations and fellowship groups within the church also invite your interest.





Pastor Ed Geltz leads the congregation in worship and in the sermon preaches God's Word to contemporary man.

Over 300 children from age 3 through Jr. High attend Sunday Church School classes. Above, a second grade class learns of the Christian faith and life.

Teens meet to discuss living as Christians in a world that is rapidly changing. Our youth program includes discussion groups, fellowship nights, and weekend retreats.

The United Church of Christ is a new denomination, with roots that are centuries old. It came into existence in 1957 when the Congregational Christian, and the Evangelical and Reformed Churches merged. England's 16th Century Reformation gave birth to the Congregational Church, whose members were among the Pilgrims. The Evangelical and Reformed Church was born of the Reformation in Europe under men like Luther, Zwingli, and Calvin. The United Church of Christ is a united and a uniting church.

MOUNT EMBLEM

"Illinois' Most Beautiful Cemetery"
Site of the
OLD DUTCH MILL
Built in 1850

The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to MOUNT EMBLEM CEMETERY in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.

Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.

Autumn brings a glorious burst of color to the superb landscape of Mount Emblem. This is one of Nature's most impressive moments which we invite you to enjoy.

You will see acre upon acre of multi-colored effects from our great variety of trees and shrubs each lending its particular hue to the scene.

For such extensive landscaping you could reasonably expect to pay more. Yet our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.

"It is better to have it and not need it—than to need it and not have it."

MOUNT EMBLEM

"Illinois' Most Beautiful Cemetery"
Site of the
OLD DUTCH MILL
Built in 1850

The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to MOUNT EMBLEM CEMETERY in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.

Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.

Autumn brings a glorious burst of color to the superb landscape of Mount Emblem. This is one of Nature's most impressive moments which we invite you to enjoy.

You will see acre upon acre of multi-colored effects from our great variety of trees and shrubs each lending its particular hue to the scene.

For such extensive landscaping you could reasonably expect to pay more. Yet our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.

than to need it and not have it."

Hines Gets CD Supplies From Cook

The stocking of Hines Veterans' Hospital with 16 tons of supplies from the Cook County Civil Defense Organization was announced this week by Seymour Simon, president of the Cook County Board of Commissioners and also president of the civil defense organization.

These supplies included emergency rations, first aid kits, Radiological detection instruments, water containers and sanitation kits.

According to Dr. Lee H. Schlessinger, hospital director, shelter spaces for 6,200 persons have been arranged at Hines. The supplies furnished by the county would sustain a group that size for approximately two weeks.

Dr. Schlessinger pointed out that Hines, in addition to treating veterans, is responsible for caring for all persons requiring emergency treatment. Arrangements are being made to receive patients, even in large numbers, from O'Hare Airport.

The Hines staff has been training first aid, radiological monitoring, and rescue teams since 1957. A radio transmitter has been installed, with at least half a dozen licensed amateur operators on hand and a "fan-out" system for summoning personnel in an emergency has been put in effect.

Group to Hear Northwestern U. Speech Expert

"Learning Disabilities in Children—Education and Training" will be discussed by Dr. Helmer Myklebust at the monthly meeting of the Northern Illinois Chapter, Fund for Perceptually Handicapped Children Inc.

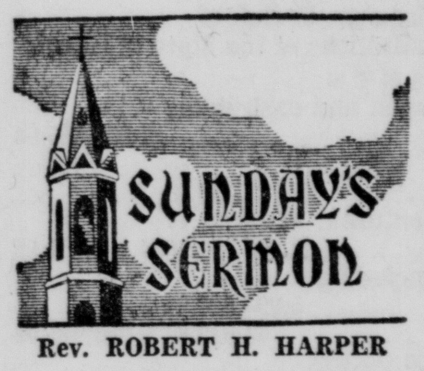
The meeting will be held at Jane Stenson School, 9201 Lockwood, Skokie, on Wednesday, Oct. 14, at 8 p.m.

Dr. Myklebust, an expert in the field of learning disorders, is a professor of language, pathology and psychology at Northwestern University. He is director of the Institute for Language Disorders in the University's School of Speech.

Volunteers Give 73,165 Hours

During the past year members of the Lutheran General Hospital Service League donated 73,165 hours of service according to the annual report prepared by League president Mrs. Frederick Bauer. An additional 10,587 hours were donated by teenage volunteers.

Since the hospital opened, Service League members have volunteered over 300,000 hours of service, Mrs. Bauer noted in her report to Service League members at their Sept. 15 annual meeting. (B10



Rev. ROBERT H. HARPER

END OF THE DROUGHT

ONE of the most interesting episodes in the career of Elijah, stern prophet of ancient Israel, was his conflict with Ahab, the wicked king who ruled or misruled the Northern Kingdom in its tempestous history. In the time of Ahab, a great drought parched his domain until the wondrous day on Mount Carmel when Elijah called down fire from heaven to consume the sacrifice and the priests Baal were slain, the skies were black with clouds and there was a torrential rain that ended the long drought.

Thus we learn from the Scripture that the skies have withheld their moisture at intervals in this or that land, and great destitution has prevailed. Here in our own country in recent months there have been reports of large loss because of lack of rain. Here in my own section we have used the garden hose to keep the flowers growing and blooming normally, while in the surrounding country and pasture lands have given cattle scant grazing, the corn and the cane are far behind in their growth and even cotton which is generally regarded as a hot-weather plant has suffered in the prevailing dryness.

So there has been much rejoicing in the ending of the near drought in our section. After many days of dry weather, the rains have come and great joy. Tennyson writes of "the dead unhappy night when the rain is on the roof." But to me the patter of the rain-drops on the roof is a lullaby sent from God, especially when the drought has ended.

Hines Gets CD Supplies From Cook

The stocking of Hines Veterans' Hospital with 16 tons of supplies from the Cook County Civil Defense Organization was announced this week by Seymour Simon, president of the Cook County Board of Commissioners and also president of the civil defense organization.

These supplies included emergency rations, first aid kits, Radiological detection instruments, water containers and sanitation kits.

According to Dr. Lee H. Schlessinger, hospital director, shelter spaces for 6,200 persons have been arranged at Hines. The supplies furnished by the county would sustain a group that size for approximately two weeks.

Dr. Schlessinger pointed out that Hines, in addition to treating veterans, is responsible for caring for all persons requiring emergency treatment. Arrangements are being made to receive patients, even in large numbers, from O'Hare Airport.

The Hines staff has been training first aid, radiological monitoring, and rescue teams since 1957. A radio transmitter has been installed, with at least half a dozen licensed amateur operators on hand and a "fan-out" system for summoning personnel in an emergency has been put in effect.

Group to Hear Northwestern U. Speech Expert

"Learning Disabilities in Children—Education and Training" will be discussed by Dr. Helmer Myklebust at the monthly meeting of the Northern Illinois Chapter, Fund for Perceptually Handicapped Children Inc.

The meeting will be held at Jane Stenson School, 9201 Lockwood, Skokie, on Wednesday, Oct. 14, at 8 p.m.

Dr. Myklebust, an expert in the field of learning disorders, is a professor of language, pathology and psychology at Northwestern University. He is director of the Institute for Language Disorders in the University's School of Speech.

Volunteers Give 73,165 Hours

During the past year members of the Lutheran General Hospital Service League donated 73,165 hours of service according to the annual report prepared by League president Mrs. Frederick Bauer. An additional 10,587 hours were donated by teenage volunteers.

Since the hospital opened, Service League members have volunteered over 300,000 hours of service, Mrs. Bauer noted in her report to Service League members at their Sept. 15 annual meeting. (B10

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Rev. ROBERT H. HARPER

END OF THE DROUGHT

ONE of the most interesting episodes in the career of Elijah, stern prophet of ancient Israel, was his conflict with Ahab, the wicked king who ruled or misruled the Northern Kingdom in its tempestous history. In the time of Ahab, a great drought parched his domain until the wondrous day on Mount Carmel when Elijah called down fire from heaven to consume the sacrifice and the priests Baal were slain, the skies were black with clouds and there was a torrential rain that ended the long drought.

Thus we learn from the Scripture that the skies have withheld their moisture at intervals in this or that land, and great destitution has prevailed. Here in our own country in recent months there have been reports of large loss because of lack of rain. Here in my own section we have used the garden hose to keep the flowers growing and blooming normally, while in the surrounding country and pasture lands have given cattle scant grazing, the corn and the cane are far behind in their growth and even cotton which is generally regarded as a hot-weather plant has suffered in the prevailing dryness.

So there has been much rejoicing in the ending of the near drought in our section. After many days of dry weather, the rains have come and great joy. Tennyson writes of "the dead unhappy night when the rain is on the roof." But to me the patter of the rain-drops on the roof is a lullaby sent from God, especially when the drought has ended.

Rolling Meadows Special Assessment No. 1

Notice

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that Whereas the City Council of the City of Rolling Meadows, pursuant to recommendation by the Board of Local Improvements, has provided by ordinance for the improvement of certain portions of Kirchoff Road and Meadow Drive by installing sidewalks and constructing pedestrian bridges over Salt Creek where the said creek intersects with Kirchoff Road, together with the necessary appurtenant construction, the ordinance for the same being on file in the Office of the City Clerk, and having applied to the Circuit Court of Cook County, County Division, for an assessment of the cost of the said improvement according to benefits, and an assessment therefor having been made and returned to the said court, payable in ten (10) annual installments bearing interest at the rate of 6% per year, the final hearing thereon will be held on the 29th day of October, 1964, at which time application will be made for a judgment of confirmation at the opening of court or as soon thereafter as the business of the court will permit.

All persons desiring may file objections in that court before that day and may appear on the hearing and make their defense.

Dated Sept. 28, 1964.

IN THE MATTER OF THE PETITION OF THE CITY OF ROLLING MEADOWS, COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS, TO LEVY A SPECIAL ASSESSMENT FOR THE COST OF THE IMPROVEMENT OF KIRCHOFF ROAD AND MEADOW DRIVE IN THE CITY OF ROLLING MEADOWS BY INSTALLING SIDEWALKS AND OTHER APPURTENANT WORK IN THE CITY OF ROLLING MEADOWS, ILLINOIS)

Rolling Meadows Special Assessment No. 1

Notice

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that Whereas the City Council of the City of Rolling Meadows, pursuant to recommendation by the Board of Local Improvements, has provided by ordinance for the improvement of certain portions of Kirchoff Road and Meadow Drive by installing sidewalks and constructing pedestrian bridges over Salt Creek where the said creek intersects with Kirchoff Road, together with the necessary appurtenant construction, the ordinance for the same being on file in the Office of the City Clerk, and having applied to the Circuit Court of Cook County, County Division, for an assessment of the cost of the said improvement according to benefits, and an assessment therefor having been made and returned to the said court, payable in ten (10) annual installments bearing interest at the rate of 6% per year, the final hearing thereon will be held on the 29th day of October, 1964, at which time application will be made for a judgment of confirmation at the opening of court or as soon thereafter as the business of the court will permit.

All persons desiring may file objections in that court before that day and may appear on the hearing and make their defense.

Dated Sept. 28, 1964.

Area Towns Enter 'Oldest Strects' Contest

But Chicago Entry Wins Blue Ribbon

by HOWARD HARMENING
Staff Writer

Modern technology, more competitive costs and better planning may see more and more residents in the northwest suburbs driving on concrete streets.

At least, this is the hope of the Portland Cement Association, co-sponsors of a unique contest that ended Monday to find the oldest concrete street in Illinois.

Among the entries from the local area were Arlington Heights, Palatine and Des Plaines.

Winner of the contest, sponsored jointly by the Illinois Municipal League, was Front Street between 113th and 115th on Chicago's far southside. Built in 1905, the street is the third oldest concrete roadway in the nation.

A 1,000-foot section of Vail Avenue, from Sigwalt to South Street, was the Arlington Heights entry. Paved in 1919, the section was the oldest among the local entries, but didn't win any awards in the contest.

Palatine entries were the downtown sections of Slade Street and Brockway, paved in 1926 by Milburn Bros. of Mount Prospect.

Des Plaines entries, all paved in 1922, included Campbell, Henry, Walnut, Center, Emma and Cora.

"WE WANTED to illustrate a point," said Edward T. Koska Jr., public relations representative in Chicago for the Portland Cement Association. "We wanted to show how concrete would last."

"Actually, concrete streets are relatively common in Illinois," he continued. "The 1920's and '30's were their heyday here, but then the trend went back to asphalt preceding and during the war years."

The reason for the return to asphalt, explained Koska, was because concrete was more expensive.

"Actually, it was a false economy," he added. "Asphalt needs almost continuous maintenance because it's a flexible material. It breaks up when it freezes and then thaws."

KOSKA, HOWEVER, quickly pointed out that concrete as a surfacing material had drawbacks, too.

"Concrete has its disadvantages also," he stated. "It can crack if it's improperly designed and placed. This, though, can be controlled by designing it for specific loads. Jointing can allow for expansion."

How do you prevent concrete from cracking? "We recommend what we call the four sixes method," said Koska.

First of all, concrete has "to be of the right mixture," he explained. "It has to be cured — this is a technical way of saying moisture has to be applied while it's setting."

"Getting back to the four sixes method," he continued, "we recommend six bags of cement per cubic yard of concrete, along with a water-cement ration of six gallons for every cubic yard."

"WE THEN suggest a six-d. curing period and what we call six per cent air. Our Skokie laboratory has developed a new method by which millions of air bubbles are inserted into concrete when it's mixing."

The air in the concrete is a durability factor, according to Koska, and prevents freezing that later results in the disastrous spring breakup.

"Water that seeps into the concrete goes into the air bubbles," he explained. "When it freezes, it expands in the bubble. In rugged climates such as this, it's a real blessing."

Concrete, which has been coming back strong as surfacing material since 1955, "is competitive with asphalt in costs and oftentimes lower if you include concrete curbing and gutter," Koska said.

BOTH NORTHBROOK and Deerfield "have a concrete-only policy now," he said, "and this type of thing is spreading. A total of 56 subdivisions and 18 communities are featuring concrete streets in the Chicago area."

"In addition," he added, "many communities are now specifying concrete for the special assessment improvement programs. The virtue of concrete is that once it's put down it will last for years and years."

Koska feels his contention of concrete's longevity is proven not only by the Illinois contest, but by two other streets in the nation.

"THE OLDEST concrete street still carrying traffic was built in 1893 in Bellefontaine, Ohio," he said. "The second oldest was built in 1904 in Le Mars, Iowa."

Like one oft-repeated radio commercial says, there's one thing that makes Koska mad, though.

"Concrete and cement are not synonymous," he protested. "Cement becomes concrete after sand, water and gravel are added. When you call a street cement, it's like saying a cake is flour."

And, after all, who wants a street made out of flour? Except possibly a wheat-picker.

'Mystery' Candidate Says He's in House Race to Win

by T. WM. SWINFORD
Staff Writer

The at-large election for the Illinois House of Representatives is sure to breed many strange situations.

This year, each party has submitted a few candidates who are supposed to possess unusual qualifications for election.

One such Blue Ribbon candidate on the GOP slate is William F. Martin, 41, of Prospect Heights, who has become somewhat of a mystery man since his nomination.

Martin is a resident of Prospect Heights with an unlisted telephone number. It was listed prior to his acceptance of the GOP nomination.

For a considerable time since his nomination, Martin, due to his inaccessibility and lack of communication with other Republican candidates, was like a wraith.

HE SAID recently he is still a candidate for the post, contrary to several reports.

John W. "Bill" Carroll, a Republican member of the House from Park Ridge, said at one time "I don't know if he has resigned his candidacy or not." Carroll said he had been trying to contact Martin, as had other legislative candidates, without success.

Martin has been the president and business manager since 1959 of local 150, International Union of Operating Engineers, a 9,000 member union.

In that connection he is chairman of various union health, welfare and pension funds throughout Illinois and Indiana.

He is the past secretary of the Rockford building and Construction Trades Council.

HE IS A VETERAN of World War II, serving in the infantry from 1942 to 1945. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Shrine a well as the Disabled American Veterans. He is also a member of the Commission on Human Relations.

Martin's union association has been somwhat turbulent. In 1962 he led a fight to unseat the officers of the local. In the midst of that fight, Martin was fired from his job as business agent.

He was elected president of the union in 1962, the second election of officers in the local since 1929, and, following his election promised to clean up the union.

During a meeting at the Wheeling Township GOP Headquarters open house Sept. 20, Martin said he is actively seeking election to the Illinois House.

He confirmed that he had considered resigning the nomination and said the reason was an accident that "laid me up for some time." He did not give details on this mishap.

HOWEVER, HE SAID, he reconsidered his decision to resign and is campaigning. Martin said there has been no split in party ranks as far as he knows, and said rumors depicting his resignation as being based on unhappiness were "totally inaccurate."

Martin said he feels the entire slate of 118 Republican candidates for the House, as well as the Republican candidates throughout the state will win election.

School Secretaries To Meet Wednesday

It's kick-off time for the educational secretaries of north suburban Cook County, and approximately 350 secretaries employed in 57 school districts will meet Wednesday, Oct. 7, at the Golden Acres Country Club, Roselle.

Secretaries in High School District 214 will host the dinner meeting, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ruth Crabbe. H. L. Slichenmyer, superintendent of the district, and Mrs. Eugenia Chapman, secreatry of the board of education, will be featured speakers.

The "fun" of the evening will be a fashion show presented by Montgomery Ward and Co.; a number of the District 214 secretaries will serve as models.

Door prizes donated by local merchants will be distributed to lucky winners.

The Educational Secretaries Assn. serves an area bounded by Roosevelt Road on the south, Cook County line on the west and north, and Lake Michigan on the east, excluding the City of Chicago.

The new officers are Mrs. Pat Kolvec of District 54, president; Mrs. Roberta Weingraber, District 89, president-elect; Mrs. Betty Schneider, District 214, secretary; and Mrs. Stephanie Tennyson, District 25, treasurer.

Future meetings include a winter workshop Dec. 5, at the Robert Frost Junior High School, District 54; a spring meeting with plans yet to be announced; and a summer meeting as Bosses Night Out.

Area Poll Shows Johnson Ahead

President Johnson is leading with 59.86 per cent of the votes after the first three weeks of Foremost Liquor Stores' presidential preference poll — which in 1960 accurately predicted the Chicago area presidential vote.

Sen. Barry Goldwater has 29.59 of the votes after three weeks, and 10.55 per cent of the Foremost voters are undecided. Balloting will continue through October.

4 Drivers Licenses Revoked, 10 Suspended

The driver's licenses and driving privileges of four area residents were revoked this week by the Driver's License Division of the secretary of state for driving while intoxicated.

Ten residents had their licenses suspended, six drivers, whose licenses had been suspended but who did not have a total point accumulation of 62 points, were issued probationary permits to drive.

Suspension of the license of Billy J. Russell, 800 W. Palatine Road, Arlington Heights, was rescinded. A review of the record showed that a report of bond forfeiture from the Township of Breitung, State of Michigan, for the offense of disregarding a stop sign was entered in duplicate upon Russell's driving record. His record does not presently show reports of conviction for three or more moving traffic violations within a year.

Those whose licenses were revoked for driving while drunk were Margaret D. Boyd, 863 Bryn Mawr, and Charles J. Brumley, both of Bartlett; Donald B. Shelton, 320 Pleasant, Hoffman Estates, and Jesus Hernandez, Box 123, Roselle.

Those whose licenses were suspended for having three moving violations were John E. Amoroso, 446 Rand Road, and Leonard M. Mascarella, 123 Morrison, both of Mount Prospect; Charles L. Hoover, Route 1, Bode Road, and Kenneth R. Jefferson, 309 Princeton, both of Roselle; Edward L. Rosenblatt, 1007 N. Salem Ave., Arlington Heights.

ALSO LAWRENCE W. Buske, 434 Elmhurst Road, and Danile J. Johnson, 402 Edgewood, both of Wood Dale; Michael P. Kramer, 7N88 Briargate, Medinah, and John Schulatz, 229 Foley St., Bensenville.

John C. Wolff, 425 W. Eastman, Arlington Heights, had his license suspended for driving while his license or permit had been revoked or suspended.

Granted probationary permits to drive were Dennis R. Crick, 956 Race St., Arlington Hegihts; Kenneth R. Jefferson, 309 Princeton, Roselle; Thomas G. Swingle, 214 W. Johnston St., Palatine; Michael Wary, 156 Basswood Drive, Elk Grove Village; Lawrence W. Buske, 434 Elmhurst St., Wood Dale; Richard J. Herek, 122 S. Prairie Ave., Bloomingdale.

SQUARE DANCE CLUB NEWS

CIRCLE EIGHT TEENS

Whoops—last week we put Emmerick Park in Wheeling (instead of Buffalo Grove where it belongs) despite giving the proper directions for reaching the part. Sorry — and hope nobody will miss Sunday's first class because of our "boo-boo."

The Circe Eights are of Wheeling, but the beginners' classes they sponsor are being held in Buffalo Grove's brand-new park building. Club caller, —Jim McCall, conducts the classes which will begin Sunday afternoon at 2:30, and continue weekly at the same time, same place.

Further information may be obtained by calling McCall. Le 7-4508.

SWINGIN' SQUARES

This Arlington Heights club got off to a running—that is, swingin' — start a week ago Friday night with a pre-dance brush-up session, lots of guests and the loss of its banner. Among guests were larceny-minded Palatines club members, who are herewith forewarned of a return raid, soon!

Dancin' with Manson was fun as always, and his get-out-the-summer-kinks routine was a well-used 30 minutes. Tomorrow night's dance, with Bob Lewis at the mike at 8 o'clock, will also include a brush-up session. Everybody's welcome to join the gang in Recreation Park Fieldhouse, Arlington Heights—there'll be round dancing to the lead of Carl and Marie Peterson, refreshments and sociability after the dancing's over, and the best of Lewis as always.

Please note this change— for the club's Oct. 16 dance only, in the place-to-dance plans, it will be held in Pioneer Park Fieldhouse, 500 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights.

Pamphlet Explains Election

The coming at-large election of the Illinois House of Representatives is explained in a pocket - size pamphlet just published by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

Prepared by the State Chamber's Political Responsibility Committee for distribution to the organization's 19,500 members throughout the state, the booklet provides a layman's explanation of the complex mechanics applying to this uniue election. Also listed are the 118 Democratic and 118 Republican candidates as they will appear on the Nov. 3 at-large election ballot.

Quantity lots of the booklet are being made available to State Chamber members who may wish copies for employes and other interested voters.

Educators to Take Part in Convention

Five area educators will participate in the 20th annual convention of the Illinois Guidance and Personnel Association in Springfield tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday.

Helen Appeldoorn, director of the Northwest Suburban Special Education Organization Joint Agreement, will serve as a member of a panel discussing "Counselor Utilization of Outside Agencies."

On a panel discussion of "Guidance Looks at Administration, Administration Looks at Guidance" will be H. L. Slichenmyer, superintendent of High School District 214.

A COUNSELOR AT Lake Park High School, Medinah, Jim Vincent, will be chairman of the panel concerned with adminstration.

David Whiteside, coordinator of guidance, testing and research at Arlington High School, Arlington Heights, will act as chairman for a panel discussion on "Current Issues in Guidance." He is president-elect of the association.

William Reid, the organization president and test administrator at Prospect High School, Mount Prospect, will preside at one of the three general sessions on Saturday morning. He also will preside at the Illinois School Counselors Association luncheon on Friday.

Among the entries from the local area were Arlington Heights, Palatine and Des Plaines.

Winner of the contest, sponsored jointly by the Illinois Municipal League, was Front Street between 113th and 115th on Chicago's far southside. Built in 1905, the street is the third oldest concrete roadway in the nation.

A 1,000-foot section of Vail Avenue, from Sigwalt to South Street, was the Arlington Heights entry. Paved in 1919, the section was the oldest among the local entries, but didn't win any awards in the contest.

Palatine entries were the downtown sections of Slade Street and Brockway, paved in 1926 by Milburn Bros. of Mount Prospect.

Des Plaines entries, all paved in 1922, included Campbell, Henry, Walnut, Center, Emma and Cora.

"WE WANTED to illustrate a point," said Edward T. Koska Jr., public relations representative in Chicago for the Portland Cement Association. "We wanted to show how concrete would last."

"Actually, concrete streets are relatively common in Illinois," he continued. "The 1920's and '30's were their heyday here, but then the trend went back to asphalt preceding and during the war years."

The reason for the return to asphalt, explained Koska, was because concrete was more expensive.

"Actually, it was a false economy," he added. "Asphalt needs almost continuous maintenance because it's a flexible material. It breaks up when it freezes and then thaws."

KOSKA, HOWEVER, quickly pointed out that concrete as a surfacing material had drawbacks, too.

"Concrete has its disadvantages also," he stated. "It can crack if it's improperly designed and placed. This, though, can be controlled by designing it for specific loads. Jointing can allow for expansion."

How do you prevent concrete from cracking? "We recommend what we call the four sixes method," said Koska.

First of all, concrete has "to be of the right mixture," he explained. "It has to be cured — this is a technical way of saying moisture has to be applied while it's setting."

"Getting back to the four sixes method," he continued, "we recommend six bags of cement per cubic yard of concrete, along with a water-cement ration of six gallons for every cubic yard."

"WE THEN suggest a six-d. curing period and what we call six per cent air. Our Skokie laboratory has developed a new method by which millions of air bubbles are inserted into concrete when it's mixing."

The air in the concrete is a durability factor, according to Koska, and prevents freezing that later results in the disastrous spring breakup.

"Water that seeps into the concrete goes into the air bubbles," he explained. "When it freezes, it expands in the bubble. In rugged climates such as this, it's a real blessing."

Concrete, which has been coming back strong as surfacing material since 1955, "is competitive with asphalt in costs and oftentimes lower if you include concrete curbing and gutter," Koska said.

BOTH NORTHBROOK and Deerfield "have a concrete-only policy now," he said, "and this type of thing is spreading. A total of 56 subdivisions and 18 communities are featuring concrete streets in the Chicago area."

"In addition," he added, "many communities are now specifying concrete for the special assessment improvement programs. The virtue of concrete is that once it's put down it will last for years and years."

Koska feels his contention of concrete's longevity is proven not only by the Illinois contest, but by two other streets in the nation.

"THE OLDEST concrete street still carrying traffic was built in 1893 in Bellefontaine, Ohio," he said. "The second oldest was built in 1904 in Le Mars, Iowa."

Like one oft-repeated radio commercial says, there's one thing that makes Koska mad, though.

"Concrete and cement are not synonymous," he protested. "Cement becomes concrete after sand, water and gravel are added. When you call a street cement, it's like saying a cake is flour."

And, after all, who wants a street made out of flour? Except possibly a wheat-picker.

'Mystery' Candidate Says He's in House Race to Win

by T. WM. SWINFORD
Staff Writer

The at-large election for the Illinois House of Representatives is sure to breed many strange situations.

This year, each party has submitted a few candidates who are supposed to possess unusual qualifications for election.

One such Blue Ribbon candidate on the GOP slate is William F. Martin, 41, of Prospect Heights, who has become somewhat of a mystery man since his nomination.

Martin is a resident of Prospect Heights with an unlisted telephone number. It was listed prior to his acceptance of the GOP nomination.

For a considerable time since his nomination, Martin, due to his inaccessibility and lack of communication with other Republican candidates, was like a wraith.

HE SAID recently he is still a candidate for the post, contrary to several reports.

John W. "Bill" Carroll, a Republican member of the House from Park Ridge, said at one time "I don't know if he has resigned his candidacy or not." Carroll said he had been trying to contact Martin, as had other legislative candidates, without success.

Martin has been the president and business manager since 1959 of local 150, International Union of Operating Engineers, a 9,000 member union.

In that connection he is chairman of various union health, welfare and pension funds throughout Illinois and Indiana.

He is the past secretary of the Rockford building and Construction Trades Council.

HE IS A VETERAN of World War II, serving in the infantry from 1942 to 1945. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Shrine a well as the Disabled American Veterans. He is also a member of the Commission on Human Relations.

Martin's union association has been somwhat turbulent. In 1962 he led a fight to unseat the officers of the local. In the midst of that fight, Martin was fired from his job as business agent.

He was elected president of the union in 1962, the second election of officers in the local since 1929, and, following his election promised to clean up the union.

During a meeting at the Wheeling Township GOP Headquarters open house Sept. 20, Martin said he is actively seeking election to the Illinois House.

He confirmed that he had considered resigning the nomination and said the reason was an accident that "laid me up for some time." He did not give details on this mishap.

HOWEVER, HE SAID, he reconsidered his decision to resign and is campaigning. Martin said there has been no split in party ranks as far as he knows, and said rumors depicting his resignation as being based on unhappiness were "totally inaccurate."

Martin said he feels the entire slate of 118 Republican candidates for the House, as well as the Republican candidates throughout the state will win election.

School Secretaries To Meet Wednesday

It's kick-off time for the educational secretaries of north suburban Cook County, and approximately 350 secretaries employed in 57 school districts will meet Wednesday, Oct. 7, at the Golden Acres Country Club, Roselle.

Secretaries in High School District 214 will host the dinner meeting, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ruth Crabbe. H. L. Slichenmyer, superintendent of the district, and Mrs. Eugenia Chapman, secreatry of the board of education, will be featured speakers.

The "fun" of the evening will be a fashion show presented by Montgomery Ward and Co.; a number of the District 214 secretaries will serve as models.

Door prizes donated by local merchants will be distributed to lucky winners.

The Educational Secretaries Assn. serves an area bounded by Roosevelt Road on the south, Cook County line on the west and north, and Lake Michigan on the east, excluding the City of Chicago.

The new officers are Mrs. Pat Kolvec of District 54, president; Mrs. Roberta Weingraber, District 89, president-elect; Mrs. Betty Schneider, District 214, secretary; and Mrs. Stephanie Tennyson, District 25, treasurer.

Future meetings include a winter workshop Dec. 5, at the Robert Frost Junior High School, District 54; a spring meeting with plans yet to be announced; and a summer meeting as Bosses Night Out.

Area Poll Shows Johnson Ahead

President Johnson is leading with 59.86 per cent of the votes after the first three weeks of Foremost Liquor Stores' presidential preference poll — which in 1960 accurately predicted the Chicago area presidential vote.

Sen. Barry Goldwater has 29.59 of the votes after three weeks, and 10.55 per cent of the Foremost voters are undecided. Balloting will continue through October.

4 Drivers Licenses Revoked, 10 Suspended

The driver's licenses and driving privileges of four area residents were revoked this week by the Driver's License Division of the secretary of state for driving while intoxicated.

Ten residents had their licenses suspended, six drivers, whose licenses had been suspended but who did not have a total point accumulation of 62 points, were issued probationary permits to drive.

Suspension of the license of Billy J. Russell, 800 W. Palatine Road, Arlington Heights, was rescinded. A review of the record showed that a report of bond forfeiture from the Township of Breitung, State of Michigan, for the offense of disregarding a stop sign was entered in duplicate upon Russell's driving record. His record does not presently show reports of conviction for three or more moving traffic violations within a year.

Those whose licenses were revoked for driving while drunk were Margaret D. Boyd, 863 Bryn Mawr, and Charles J. Brumley, both of Bartlett; Donald B. Shelton, 320 Pleasant, Hoffman Estates, and Jesus Hernandez, Box 123, Roselle.

Those whose licenses were suspended for having three moving violations were John E. Amoroso, 446 Rand Road, and Leonard M. Mascarella, 123 Morrison, both of Mount Prospect; Charles L. Hoover, Route 1, Bode Road, and Kenneth R. Jefferson, 309 Princeton, both of Roselle; Edward L. Rosenblatt, 1007 N. Salem Ave., Arlington Heights.

ALSO LAWRENCE W. Buske, 434 Elmhurst Road, and Danile J. Johnson, 402 Edgewood, both of Wood Dale; Michael P. Kramer, 7N88 Briargate, Medinah, and John Schulatz, 229 Foley St., Bensenville.

John C. Wolff, 425 W. Eastman, Arlington Heights, had his license suspended for driving while his license or permit had been revoked or suspended.

Granted probationary permits to drive were Dennis R. Crick, 956 Race St., Arlington Hegihts; Kenneth R. Jefferson, 309 Princeton, Roselle; Thomas G. Swingle, 214 W. Johnston St., Palatine; Michael Wary, 156 Basswood Drive, Elk Grove Village; Lawrence W. Buske, 434 Elmhurst St., Wood Dale; Richard J. Herek, 122 S. Prairie Ave., Bloomingdale.

SQUARE DANCE CLUB NEWS

CIRCLE EIGHT TEENS

Whoops—last week we put Emmerick Park in Wheeling (instead of Buffalo Grove where it belongs) despite giving the proper directions for reaching the part. Sorry — and hope nobody will miss Sunday's first class because of our "boo-boo."

The Circe Eights are of Wheeling, but the beginners' classes they sponsor are being held in Buffalo Grove's brand-new park building. Club caller, —Jim McCall, conducts the classes which will begin Sunday afternoon at 2:30, and continue weekly at the same time, same place.

Further information may be obtained by calling McCall. Le 7-4508.

SWINGIN' SQUARES

This Arlington Heights club got off to a running—that is, swingin' — start a week ago Friday night with a pre-dance brush-up session, lots of guests and the loss of its banner. Among guests were larceny-minded Palatines club members, who are herewith forewarned of a return raid, soon!

Dancin' with Manson was fun as always, and his get-out-the-summer-kinks routine was a well-used 30 minutes. Tomorrow night's dance, with Bob Lewis at the mike at 8 o'clock, will also include a brush-up session. Everybody's welcome to join the gang in Recreation Park Fieldhouse, Arlington Heights—there'll be round dancing to the lead of Carl and Marie Peterson, refreshments and sociability after the dancing's over, and the best of Lewis as always.

Please note this change— for the club's Oct. 16 dance only, in the place-to-dance plans, it will be held in Pioneer Park Fieldhouse, 500 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights.

Fact Sheet Released On Human Relations

Sunday was Human Relations Day in the village of Palatine.

The day was designated Human Relations Sunday by the Human Relations Commission.

Below is a fact sheet which the commission supplied to local pastors to act as guide for sermons.

The fact sheet was used to give the residents of Palatine a factual history and allay the fears and misconceptions of many people concerning the commission.

"President Wilbur Harris has requested the churches of Palatine to set aside a Sunday to be designated as 'Human Relations Sunday.' On this day he has asked that all the churches of our area explain to their congregations the background and purpose of the Palatine Human Relations Commission.

"Following are some notes that I (Father Raymond Sullivan, commission chairman) hope will prove of help:

"Early last spring President Harris called a village meeting to determine whether or not the people of Palatine wanted a Human Relations Commission. About a hundred people turned out.

"William K. Williams of the State of Illinois Commission on Human Relations was the featured speaker, and he answered all questions from the floor.

"There was complete unanimity at this meeting. Everyone seemed to feel that the creation of such a Commission in Palatine was highly advisable and desirable for two reasons; first, sooner or later, 'move-ins' would come to Palatine, and secondly, all the citizens desired that, if and when they came, they would come uneventfully, without any lawlessness.

"The Commission in no way was to promote move-ins.

"As a result of this meeting, President Harris appointed a committee, of which Alfred R. Moberg was chairman, to investigate the need for a commission and if needed, to draw up an ordinance to be submitted to the president and the village trustees.

After three meetings of the committee, an ordinance was drawn up and submitted to the Village Board, who accepted it on April 27th of this year.

"IN THE preamble to the ordinance the committee stated: 'The purpose of the Human Relations Commission is not actively to increase the percentage of minority group representation in our community; rather it would be to create an atmosphere which would insure the complete democratic acceptance of all peoples regardless of race, creed, color, or place of national origin. And so the mission of the Human Relations Commission is seen largely as educational.

"Its job is to remind us, and tell us in new ways, what all free men should already accept: that employment, educational, recreational, and residential opportunities should not be denied to any citizen on the basis of race, creed, or color.' (Preamble to Ordinance)

"President Harris asked for volunteers and recommendations for people to serve on this Commission.

"After due deliberation a nine-man commission was created.

"The first members are: The Rev. Raymond J. Sullivan, The Rev. Wilbur M. Childress, E.S. Castor, Miss Geraldine Cosby, Alfred R. Moberg Jr., James L. Becker, Andrew M. Obara, Mrs. Gladys Hall, and Loren Shelfo.

"This Commission meets on the last Tuesday of every month at the village hall, and all members of the community are welcome to attend its meetings.

"So far there have been three meetings, and this 'Human Relations Sunday' is its first project.

The Commission would greatly appreciate the cooperation of all the clergy in the area, and would suggest that they add remarks of their own.

"The Commission feels that this kind of undertaking is Christianity and Democracy in action.

"LET US CLOSE with official statement of purpose of the commission as it is found in Section II of the ordinance:

"The purpose of the commission shall be to promote tolerance and good will between racial and religious groups in the Village of Palatine; to work toward the elimination of prejudice and discrimination against any individual or group because of race, color, creed, national origin or ancestry; to assure fair and equal treatment and opportunity under the law to all persons.

"We should all feel proud about the creation of this commission.

"Its very creation represents another in a long series of affirmations of the devotion to American ideals by communities throughout the Nation.

"Would you ask your people to cooperate in the projects of the Commission?" (P

OIL CHANGE FACT

A famous oil institute made a series of tests recently showing the effect of changing oil at 1,000 and 2,500 mile periods over a range of 30,000 miles. The results were:

More than twice as much 'varnish' forms at 2,500 miles . . . three times as much 'oil-ring clogging' at 2,500 miles . . . 1,000 mile oil contamination was mild, but the 2,500 mile oil was over-contaminated covering the piston walls thoroughly . . . piston ring wear increased many times with the 2,500 mile interval.

The cost of the extra wear and tear did not warrant using oil any longer than the 1,000 mile distance for the average driver.

That drive to JOE'S SUNOCO SERVICE at 640 E. Northwest Hwy., Palatine is a short one for an oil change. We'll check your car all around and make it safe to drive.

2 Sign Variations Granted by Village

Two sign variations were granted Tuesday by the Palatine village board.

The first variation was granted to the Arlington Park Dodge agency at 1400 E. Northwest Highway. The variation was unanimously granted in its second reading. First reading of the ordinance occurred on Sept. 14.

THE AUTO agency will be allowed to erect a sign 96 square feet in area and 30 feet high.

The second variation was for a sign 97 square feet in area for a Mister Donut shop at 20 E. Northwest Highway.

The zoning code allows only signs 80 square feet in area and 20 feet high.

Also, the building and zoning committee of the village board was appointed the task of studying revisions to the present sign code.

THE AUTO agency will be allowed to erect a sign 96 square feet in area and 30 feet high.

The second variation was for a sign 97 square feet in area for a Mister Donut shop at 20 E. Northwest Highway.

The zoning code allows only signs 80 square feet in area and 20 feet high.

Also, the building and zoning committee of the village board was appointed the task of studying revisions to the present sign code.

Falcons, Knights to Travel Saturday

Forest View At Deerfield

Scott Says 'More Work' Needed in Falcon Camp

by MICHAEL HESS

Last year, after winning its first two games, the Forest View varsity football team lost six in a row. This year Forest View has won its first two games.

Will they repeat the nose-dive of last season? A partial answer will be given this Saturday when the Falcons take on Deerfield.

"We'll try to improve our record this year," said Bob Scott, the Falcon head coach, "But we have to take the games one at a time."

Last year Deerfield's Warriors handed a 26 to 2 pasting to Forest View. The Warriors were on the way to second place in the Mid-Suburban League while the Falcons were headed for the league cellar.

WHEN THE TWO meet this Saturday, Forest View will be trying for its third straight win, its second in league competition, as Deerfield attempts to even its league mark at one and one.

Even though his team had just blanked Glenbrook North 25-0, Falcon head man Scott maintained, "We still need a lot of work." To get extra "work" during this week's practice are the Falcon offensive backs Bob Coon, Pat Dunnigan and Robert Kohn.

"They'll concentrate on their blocking . . . and of course their running," Scott added. Forest View's running has been its strong point in this season's first two games as the Falcons have completed only two passes and gained zero yardage through the air thus far.

COACH DOUG Kay's Warriors lost in their league opener last Saturday against Prospect, 9 to 7. "We couldn't take advantage

Titans Host Prospect Unit

Glenbrook South Looks For First Touchdown

by MICHAEL HESS

"We can't go along scoring just nine points a ball game." Thus spoke Prospect head football coach Don Williams. His team has scored 22 points in its first two games and has won both.

"If we can just get the ball into the end zone, that would start us." That was Dick Walker, head man at Glenbrook South. His team has not scored in its first two losing contests.

The two coaches were discussing this Saturday's meeting of their squads as Prospect's Knights shoot for a third straight win and the Titans of Glenbrook South seek to avoid a third straight defeat.

COACH WILLIAMS continued, "We consider Glenbrook South a good defensive ball club." The Titans have held two opponents to just 15 points. "They're as big as we are; they're a good, big ball club. So, we'll be working mainly on offense this week."

On his own offense Williams observed, "We've been a running club this far. We may do a little more passing but we'll stick mainly with our running game."

Walker has heard all about the Knights' runners: "Spencer and Kuklinski (Mike and Wayne, Prospect backs) both have reputations as being hard runners. We'll try to stop them. Prospect is a threat both running and passing and we'll be working on defense this week."

WALKER LISTED Ted Bohn, senior linebacker, and Chuck Stewart and Bruce Erb, defensive linemen, as defensive standouts in Glenbrook South's first two contests. Walker hopes these three can lead his solid defense in stopping the Prospect advances.

Though Walker talked of his defense, the Titan offense was not forgotten by Williams who witnessed Maine West's 13-0 shutout over Glenbrook last Friday. "Glenbrook South should have scored against Maine," said Williams. "Glenbrook outgained Maine and had the ball three times inside the Maine 10 yard line only to be pushed back by penalties each time they came close. A break or two and Glenbrook could have made the final much closer."

Preceded by a JV contest at noon, the Knight-Titan contest will be at 2:00 p.m. on the Glenbrook North field. This is Glenbrook South's first year of varsity competition and the Titans do not yet have a home arena.

SINCE PROSPECT has played its first two contests on home soil, defeating North Chicago 13-6 and Deerfield 9-7, this will be the season's first venture away from home for the gridiron Knights.

Usually, unfamiliar surroundings are a disadvantage but Prospect's chief Williams felt this was untrue and that the foreign soil wouldn't hurt his eleven.

Saturday's battle could mean three in a row for both of the teams. Or, Prospect could receive its first taste of defeat and Glenbrook South savor an initial victory. Which it will be depends on Saturday's outcome.

York Here Friday

Cardinals Meet Dukes

by BOB FRISK

They're talking championship these days at York High School in Elmhurst.

The West Suburban Conference football championship, that is.

It's no secret that York's Alex Naidenovich is loaded with veterans from a club that posted six victories in seven conference outings in 1963.

West Suburban buffs have labeled York, LaGrange, and Hinsdale as the three clubs most likely to succeed in 1964. Nothing in the first two weeks of the season has altered this evaluation.

HINSDALE AND LaGrange will square off Saturday afternoon at Lyons in the conference headliner. Naidenovich brings his highly regarded York crew to Arlington High Friday evening.

The Dukes will be favored Friday. You can't dismiss that wealth of experience from a crack outfit. They've swept past Willowbrook (26-13) and Downers Grove (29-12). They have a balanced attack keyed on All-State halfback candidate Jim Paddock.

But Al Allen has assembled a young and dangerous club at Arlington this year. The Cards are no push-over. They'll give anyone trouble, and York has proved vulnerable in its first two contests with a yield of four touchdowns, all in the first half.

NAIDENOVICH isn't taking Friday's game lightly. He watched Arlington handle Riverside-Brookfield last Saturday in the rain, 26-19, and was impressed. You can be sure his Dukes don't regard this outing tomorrow night as a sure thing.

Special Guests

Alumni of Arlington High School who were members of the "A Club" are invited to attend the York game as guests on Friday evening.

To reserve your tickets call the high school athletic office. Admission will be through the pass gate located at the east entrance of the field.

Arlington can score. They've shown that in the first two games with seven touchdowns. They only scored eight in the entire 1963 season. They have a sophomore at the helm who's improving with each contest. They have some fine running backs.

"That Hood (Charley) certainly looked like a good back against Riverside," York's Naidenovich praised. That he did. Chuck rolled up 160 yards rushing and exploded for two touchdowns. He's been the Cards' top ground-gainer in each of the first two contests.

A SO-SO performer as a junior, Hood has blossomed into a reliable young man on both offense and defense. "Chuck did a fine job for us both ways Saturday," Allen praised. "He came up several times to make important stops from his defensive halfback position."

Joining Hood in the offensive backfield against York will be soph Steve Allen at quarterback, junior Steve Ewart at left half, and senior and co-captain Mike Frase at fullback. Frase, a hard-running 175-pounder, who has made a successful transition from quarterback, was injured in the first half against Riverside, but bounced back to finish the contest.

Head coach Allen, naturally pleased with that victory Saturday which snapped a nine-game losing skid, had words of praise for other performers in addition to Hood. Al also passed out post-game orchids to defensive halfback Thad Woodard, middle linebacker Kim Markshausen, and guard Mark Frase.

"THE DEFENSE did a great job," Allen praised. "What touchdowns they did score were set up by offensive mistakes. But I liked the way our backs carried out their fakes. We'll be okay. We've still got to correct a few things, but I'm satisfied now."

The York back to watch Friday is 168-pound speedster Jim Paddock, a bona fide All-State candidate. Paddock has ripped off 441 yards in only two games with a 285-yard explosion against

CO-CAPTAIN MIKE FRASE operates at fullback on the 1964 edition of the Arlington varsity football team. Frase, a 175-pound senior, scored two touchdowns in the season opener. He lettered at quarterback in 1963. Mike has picked up major letters in football, basketball and baseball at Arlington.

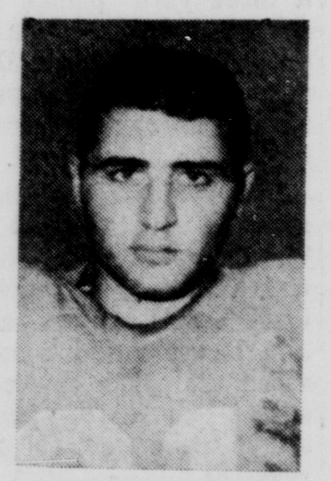
TWO GAMES DON'T MAKE A SEASON, but York High School's Jim Paddock, a 170-pound senior halfback, looks like the most exciting runner to hit the West Suburban Conference scene in many years.

Rarely has a prep back broken from the starting gate as fast as Paddock has this season. He owns a set of statistics that should interest any All-State selector. You can be sure they're extremely interested.

Paddock comes to Arlington Heights Friday evening with 441 yards rushing in only two games. He's picked up those 441 yards in 41 cracks, an average of 10.8 per carry, and has scored three touchdowns. He penetrated the Willowbrook defense for 285 yards in 22 tries in the season opener.

In two outings the York speedster (they say he does the 100 in 9.9) has already topped his 1963 season totals of 352 yards in 64 trips. No one expects him to maintain his present pace, but with this explosive start Paddock is a strong candidate for that exclusive club of backs who eclipse 1,000 yards rushing in a single season. He's almost half way there with six games remaining.

Paddock's astounding effort of 285 yards rushing against Willowbrook prompted an examination of our files for the top single game on record by an area performer. The search took us back to a brisk September evening in 1959.



TOM PETROSINO

The back was Tom Petrosino. The game matched varsity outfits from Prospect and Proviso West high schools. It was the first varsity football game in the history of either school.

Petrosino enjoyed the finest night of his prep career in this contest. The high-stepping Knight halfback ripped through the Panther defense for 223 yards in 23 carries, a snappy 9.7 standard. He had able support on offense as Prospect collected 420 yards rushing and 51 through the air in a 27-7 romp. Halfback Keith Voigt added 129 in only seven carries.

Petrosino's explosion in his first varsity game has gone unmatched in area circles. No other back has topped 200 yards rushing in a single game. Prospect speedster Danny Johnson went for 175 in 20 carries in a 1962 game against Niles West.

Arlington's Charley Hood was headed for "one of those games" last Saturday in the mud at Riverside-Brookfield. He rolled up 159 yards on the ground in the first half and finished with 160, carrying only three times in the final two periods. That 160-yard outburst was still the best by a Cardinal since Ken Layden dazzled York for 157 yards in a 1962 game.

* * * *

HARVEY DICKINSON, ATHLETIC DIRECTOR and football coach at Hinsdale High School, sees Arlington's withdrawal from the West Suburban Conference as a step in the right direction.

Dickinson, a veteran in Illinois prep circles and one of the most successful grid coaches in the state, hopes that tradition is broken in the near future and alignment in conferences is considered on a geographical basis.

Dickinson was quoted in an article by Suburban Life sports editor John Michael as saying he would like to see the Suburban League and WSC split up. "New rivals are easily made and the old excuse that it's a traditional rival should not be used."

"I would much rather see Hinsdale play conference games against Morton or Oak Park than Maine East, for example," Dickinson said.

Dickinson offered a guess that "Proviso West will get the nod" as Arlington's replacement in the West Suburban.

Ten Years Ago This Week . . .

LA GRANGE BLANKED Arlington 19-0 although the Cardinals were noticeably "improved" over their showing the previous week against Downers . . . Halfback Johnny Sujack turned in some fine runs . . . LaGrange rolled to a 39-0 frosh-soph victory.

Meadows Group Seeking Help

The Rolling Meadows Boys Baseball Association holds meetings on the first Monday of each month in the basement of the Bank of Rolling Meadows.

The group is looking for assistance and President Frank Coppoletta, 2308 Eastman, encourages residents to take an active part in the program for the boys.

"If only for a couple hours each week a person could be of great help to the program," Coppoletta said.

Anyone interested may contact Coppoletta at CLearbrook 9-4619. The meetings begin at 8 p.m.

Wildcats Hit Road To Battle Defending Conference Champs

by TOM TULLY

"We liked everything but the score."

Bill Daletski voiced the feeling of the Wheeling coaching staff after a couple of days to reflect upon the Wildcats' 8-6 loss to Niles North last Saturday.

"I thought our kids were 100 per cent improved." He continued. "Our tackles Tony Stoik and Ted Armstrong showed us a lot of progress both offensively and defensively. Those two fullbacks we used as linebackers (Bruce Frank and Al Gibbon) did a fine job."

DALETSKI also had praise for his backs. "Bowker (Jim) and Mandersheid (Tom) both ran well and I was pleased with Newman's Mark) throwing. Several of his incompletions were right on target and can be written off to the bad weather. Ir was a tough day for receivers."

Switching to the team in general, Daletski felt his club outplayed Niles North decisively in the second half. "It seemed like we were knocking on the door the whole second half. We just couldn't get in. One play killed us. A missed block on pass protection caused a deflection when Newman had a man all alone in the end zone."

But if Daletski is pleased with last week's performance, he is also realistic about Saturday's assigment. The Cats journey to Des Plaines to battle Kenny Olson's always tough Maine West eleven.

The Warriors turned in a 7-1 mark a year ago and mauled everyone in the Mid-Suburban. They are traditionally a big, strong outfit that executes the antiquated single wing to per-

Dickinson, a veteran in Illinois prep circles and one of the most successful grid coaches in the state, hopes that tradition is broken in the near future and alignment in conferences is considered on a geographical basis.

Dickinson was quoted in an article by Suburban Life sports editor John Michael as saying he would like to see the Suburban League and WSC split up. "New rivals are easily made and the old excuse that it's a traditional rival should not be used."

"I would much rather see Hinsdale play conference games against Morton or Oak Park than Maine East, for example," Dickinson said.

Dickinson offered a guess that "Proviso West will get the nod" as Arlington's replacement in the West Suburban.

Cardinals Meet Dukes

by BOB FRISK

They're talking championship these days at York High School in Elmhurst.

The West Suburban Conference football championship, that is.

It's no secret that York's Alex Naidenovich is loaded with veterans from a club that posted six victories in seven conference outings in 1963.

West Suburban buffs have labeled York, LaGrange, and Hinsdale as the three clubs most likely to succeed in 1964. Nothing in the first two weeks of the season has altered this evaluation.

HINSDALE AND LaGrange will square off Saturday afternoon at Lyons in the conference headliner. Naidenovich brings his highly regarded York crew to Arlington High Friday evening.

The Dukes will be favored Friday. You can't dismiss that wealth of experience from a crack outfit. They've swept past Willowbrook (26-13) and Downers Grove (29-12). They have a balanced attack keyed on All-State halfback candidate Jim Paddock.

But Al Allen has assembled a young and dangerous club at Arlington this year. The Cards are no push-over. They'll give anyone trouble, and York has proved vulnerable in its first two contests with a yield of four touchdowns, all in the first half.

NAIDENOVICH isn't taking Friday's game lightly. He watched Arlington handle Riverside-Brookfield last Saturday in the rain, 26-19, and was impressed. You can be sure his Dukes don't regard this outing tomorrow night as a sure thing.

Special Guests

Alumni of Arlington High School who were members of the "A Club" are invited to attend the York game as guests on Friday evening.

To reserve your tickets call the high school athletic office. Admission will be through the pass gate located at the east entrance of the field.

CO-CAPTAIN MIKE FRASE operates at fullback on the 1964 edition of the Arlington varsity football team. Frase, a 175-pound senior, scored two touchdowns in the season opener. He lettered at quarterback in 1963. Mike has picked up major letters in football, basketball and baseball at Arlington.

Arlington can score. They've shown that in the first two games with seven touchdowns. They only scored eight in the entire 1963 season. They have a sophomore at the helm who's improving with each contest. They have some fine running backs.

"That Hood (Charley) certainly looked like a good back against Riverside," York's Naidenovich praised. That he did. Chuck rolled up 160 yards rushing and exploded for two touchdowns. He's been the Cards' top ground-gainer in each of the first two contests.

A SO-SO performer as a junior, Hood has blossomed into a reliable young man on both offense and defense. "Chuck did a fine job for us both ways Saturday," Allen praised. "He came up several times to make important stops from his defensive halfback position."

Joining Hood in the offensive backfield against York will be soph Steve Allen at quarterback, junior Steve Ewart at left half, and senior and co-captain Mike Frase at fullback. Frase, a hard-running 175-pounder, who has made a successful transition from quarterback, was injured in the first half against Riverside, but bounced back to finish the contest.

Head coach Allen, naturally pleased with that victory Saturday which snapped a nine-game losing skid, had words of praise for other performers in addition to Hood. Al also passed out post-game orchids to defensive halfback Thad Woodard, middle linebacker Kim Markshausen, and guard Mark Frase.

"THE DEFENSE did a great job," Allen praised. "What touchdowns they did score were set up by offensive mistakes. But I liked the way our backs carried out their fakes. We'll be okay. We've still got to correct a few things, but I'm satisfied now."

The York back to watch Friday is 168-pound speedster Jim Paddock, a bona fide All-State candidate. Paddock has ripped off 441 yards in only two games with a 285-yard explosion against

Meadows Group Seeking Help

The Rolling Meadows Boys Baseball Association holds meetings on the first Monday of each month in the basement of the Bank of Rolling Meadows.

The group is looking for assistance and President Frank Coppoletta, 2308 Eastman, encourages residents to take an active part in the program for the boys.

"If only for a couple hours each week a person could be of great help to the program," Coppoletta said.

Anyone interested may contact Coppoletta at CLearbrook 9-4619. The meetings begin at 8 p.m.

Wildcats Hit Road To Battle Defending Conference Champs

by TOM TULLY

"We liked everything but the score."

Bill Daletski voiced the feeling of the Wheeling coaching staff after a couple of days to reflect upon the Wildcats' 8-6 loss to Niles North last Saturday.

"I thought our kids were 100 per cent improved." He continued. "Our tackles Tony Stoik and Ted Armstrong showed us a lot of progress both offensively and defensively. Those two fullbacks we used as linebackers (Bruce Frank and Al Gibbon) did a fine job."

DALETSKI also had praise for his backs. "Bowker (Jim) and Mandersheid (Tom) both ran well and I was pleased with Newman's Mark) throwing. Several of his incompletions were right on target and can be written off to the bad weather. Ir was a tough day for receivers."

Switching to the team in general, Daletski felt his club outplayed Niles North decisively in the second half. "It seemed like we were knocking on the door the whole second half. We just couldn't get in. One play killed us. A missed block on pass protection caused a deflection when Newman had a man all alone in the end zone."

But if Daletski is pleased with last week's performance, he is also realistic about Saturday's assigment. The Cats journey to Des Plaines to battle Kenny Olson's always tough Maine West eleven.

THIS YEAR'S club may not be as strong as the 1963 edition but it figures to be tough enough to win the Mid Suburban. The club stands at 1-1 after an opening 6-0 loss to a stong Peoria Central team and a lacklustre 13-0 win over Glenbrook South.

"To date I'm disappointed," Olson says. "We have some injuries, but our club just hasn't jelled as quickly as I had hoped." Perhaps because of this, he dispelled the notion that a schedule quirk, which has the Warriors playing the new schools in the league (Glenbrook South, Wheeling and Niles North) early, is an advantage to his team.

"We don't consider this a breather" Olson said. "We felt that Wheeling clearly dominated the second half last week." He finished with the coach's credo, "We play 'em one at a time."

Offensively at least, the Warriors don't. Their crunching single wing offense depends on two on one blocking and the Maine forwards are likely to put the Wildcats' improved tackles, Stoik and Armstrong, to the test with frequent use of the off tackle slant that is the bread and butter of the single wing offense.

THE TRIPLE threat man in the attack is tailback Chuck Curren, a 155 pound swifty Olson feels worthy of All-State recognition. The multiple skills of Curren plus to slashing running of full back Jim Cichowski (190) will have to be stopped if Wheeling hopes to spring a surprise on Saturday.

Daletski may have a few surprises of his own in store for the Warriors. Swift, but light fullback Tom Mandersheid (150) is moving over to wingback in an effort to spruce up the Cats passing attack. Bill Niemeyer, more of a fullback type at 185, will take his place.

Two specialists are moving their way into the Wildcat scheme of things. Horst Schneeweis handled the punting chores effectively against Niles North and will probably continue to do so. With Schneeweis booting, another kicker, Ken Traversone, can be used on punt coverage where he excels.

The other boy who figures to see action Saturday is defensive tackle Zasadny (185). Zasadny has impressed the Wheeling coaches with his play in practice sessions.

Eagles Top Cats, Bisons

The host East Leyden squads captured both the varsity and sophomore races in a triangular with Wheeling and Fenton Tuesday evening.

The Eagles won the varsity race with 24 points followed by Wheeling with 24 and Fenton with 50. Sayers won the race as East Leyden took the first three places. Wheeling won the next three with Bill Lytle, Paul Fiegen and Doug Steinman and also scored with Karl Meisenheimer (15) and Dave Eaton (15).

Rich Hebel led the Bisons in seventh place, followed by Carl Wanzung (9), Paul Miller (11), Claude Sonday (16) and Tim O'Keefe (17).

Bob Fraser of Fenton copped the sophomore race but East Leyden won the event with 27 points, followed by Fenton with 41 and Wheeling with 64. Scott Poklen finished sixth for Wheeling.

THE DOWNPOUR during the Wheeling-Niles North game last Saturday failed to dampen the enthusiasm of Wildcat cheerleader Sue Ryan as she led Wheeling followers at the school's first home game. Sue's cheers were in vain, however, and Niles North spoiled the inaugural with an 8-6 victory.

Safety Decisive As Knights Record 9-7 Win Over Deerfield

by MARV PRELLBERG, JR.

A two point safety scored in the opening minutts of the game proved eventually to be the margin of difference in a 9-7 Prospect High victory over visiting Deerfield in last Saturday afternoon's varsity football encounter.

This Mid-Suburban League opener for both squads was played before a slim but game Dad's Day crowd, which endured an extremely unpleasant blast of rain and high winds throughout the contest.

These undesirable weather elements were contributing factors in a frustrating contest beset with numerous fumbles, erratic punting and an occasional display of tempers.

IT APPEARED that if weather was to be a factor in handicapping the offensive potential of either of the aggregations, most of the damage was undoubtedly done to the Deerfield attack.

The Warriors journeyed into the Prospect environs with its talented all-league Junior Quarterback John Lindquist slated to keep the Prospect defensive backs on their toes with a potent passing attack.

The 6-foot-2-inch, 190-pound Lindquist, in spite of the weather conditions, managed to toss a total of 17 aerials, but his effectiveness through the airlanes was definitely hampered by the slippery ball and turf. Of the 17 passes only four found their mark for a 38 yards gained total.

BOTH TEAMS arrived on the field just a few minutes prior to the 2 p.m. kickoff time. Prospect's Ron Seegers, with the gale like winds at his back, immediately got the proceedings under way with a kickoff that slid past a couple of would-be Warrior receivers and was finally downed on their own one yard line.

Lindquist then surprised everyone by attempting a pass on the first play from scrimmage, but it missed its mark. A couple of thrusts into the Prospect forward wall by Ed Wallner and Doug Davis moved the Warriors out to their own six yard stripe, and on fourth down Bruce Nannini went back into the end zone to punt.

The pass from center sailed high over his head, and Nannini outraced a couple of hard charging Prospect linemen and fell on the ball in the end zone for a safety and a 2-0 Prospect lead.

A RECOVERY of a Deerfield fumble early in the second quarter by the Knights' left tackle Earle Smith started Prospect on what eventually proved to be its final tally of the day.

Having taken over possession of the ball on the Warriors' 46 yard line, fullback Mike Spencer carried twice in succession for a first down on the 35.

On the first down play halfback Wayne Kuklinski skirted his own left end and rambled the 35 yards behind some key blocks into the end zone for a Prospect touchdown. Dick Lytle smashed through for the extra point, and Coach Don Williams' Knights had a 9-0 margin.

THIS LEAD held up for Prospect until the waning minutes of the final period. Deerfield's stiffened and aggressive defensive unit had forced the Knights' Kuklinski to punt on fourth down from Prospect's seven yard marker.

Kuklinski's punt, against the wind, managed to travel only 11 yards from scrimmage and was downed on the 18 yard line.

Realizing that time was all-important at this stage of the contest, Lindquist took to the air. His first two throws fell incomplete, but on third down he threaded the needle with a completion to halfback Wallner, good for 16 yards and a first down on Prospect's two yard line.

TWO PLAYS later Lindquist sneaked across the goal from the one for the Deerfield score. Tom Fuzzey kicked the extra point, and the early two point safety for Prospect was put into proper focus—Prospect now led 9-7.

One minute and fourteen seconds later that is just how the game ended: Prospect 9, Deerfield 7.

Vikings Use Safety To Trip Cats 8-6

by BOB NORDIN

It wasn't what you could call perfect football weather and for some reason a child's poem kept coming to mind. Something about, "Rain, rain, go away."

A steady, wind-whipped downpour kept all but the stalwarts at home last Saturday when the Wheeling Wildcats played host to the Niles North Vikings.

It was a day when the same boy could kick 65 yards one direction and only five yards in the other. There were ten fumbles between the two teams and twelve penalties. There was also a safety and it was the difference as the Vikings edged the Cats 8-6 in the opening game of the Mid-Suburban season.

THE NILES Vikings kicked off to open the ball game and kicking with the wind the boot sailed into the Wildcat end zone for a touch back. The Cats took over on their own twenty with Mark Newman directing the attack.

On the first play from scrimmage the Wildcats were in motion but Niles declined the penalty. Newman then picked up three and Jim Bowker two before an off sides rap set the Cats back five yards. Horst Schneeweis punted for the Cats to the Vikings' 47 yard line.

Then lightning struck the over eager Cats. On their first play from scrimmage the Vikings ran a double reverse pass and while the eager Cats scrambled after the ever changing ball carrier the Viking right end, Doruff, ambled down field and was wide open for the pass that was laid right in his lap. With no one to bother him, Doruff ran into the end zone for the first score. Thomas' try for the point after touchdown failed and the score stood 6 to 0 favor of the visiting Vikings.

THOMAS kicked off for Niles again and once again his kick, with the aid of the wind, sailed deep into the Wheeling end zone. With the ball on the 20, the Cats went to work. Bowker picked up three, Tony Martin got six, and Newman dived for two and a Wheeling first down. Niles gave up five on an off side penalty, then Tom Manderscheid picked up three. The Wildcats gave back five when they were caught off side but Bowker got back two.

Manderscheid then picked up enough for the first down and the Cats seemed to be rolling. Manderscheid got two more and then began what was to be the telling point for the rest of the afternoon. Manderscheid belted off tackle and as he was hit, the well soaked ball squirted out of his hands. Niles recovered and in two plays picked up a first down.

Then the Wheeling defense straightened and Niles lost 15 in three plays. The Niles punt carried to the Cats' three, where Manderscheid returned to the nine. Manderscheid ran for twelve and a first down. Bowker picked up four around end, but on the next play the ball slipped away once more and Niles fell on it. The quarter ended with the fumble.

NILES, BEING in a gracious mood, fumbled the ball back to Wheeling on the first play after gaining possession. The Wildcats hung onto the ball five plays but then lost it again on a fumble. The Vikings were able to hold onto the ball but the Cat defense made them give it up when they held them to a two yard gain in four tries. This time the Cats and the Vikings traded five yard penalties. Newman was unsuccessful in two pass attempts and Schneeweis came in to punt. A hard rush by the Viking line blocked the punt and the ball rolled back into the Wild Cat end zone where Schneeweis fell on it. It was ruled a safety by the official and Niles led 8 to 0.

After the free kick by Wheeling following the safety the teams traded punts and the half ended.

Schneeweis kicked off for Wheeling to start the second half and Niles returned to the 43. On the first play from scrimmage Niles fumbled but recovered their own fumble. Two plays later they fumbled again and this time Wheeling came up with the ball. The Cats had the ball one play and then fumbled it back to the Vikings. The Cat defense held and Niles was forced to punt. Wheeling lost 20 yards in two plays on penalties then gained back fourteen on runs by Bowker and Manderscheid. A pass went incomplete and Schneeweis came in to punt. His kick sailed 55 yards on the fly and out of the end zone.

THE BALL came out to the twenty and Niles took over. But they no more than had the ball and fumbled it back to the Wildcats. Manderscheid and Bowker picked up a first down and it was first and goal at the six. Manderscheid lost one but Newman got back two. Then Newman pitched to Bowker coming around and Bowker belted into the end zone for the first Wheeling High School touchdown. The ball was fumbled on the try for point and the attempt failed.

In the fourth period the two teams had better luck hanging on to the ball, but neither team was able to get a good drive under way. It should be noted that at one time the Wildcat line put such a rush on the Niles punter that he was so hurried that he missed the ball entirely.

The Cats fought back hard in the fourth period but with the weather being what it was they were unable to put together the passing attack needed to get big yardage in a hurry. The last play of the game told the story. As the Niles back was met by the Cat defense the ball squirted away for the tenth and final fumble of the game.

One Unbeaten Falls; Bears Stop Cardinals, 27-7, in Midget Football Headliner

The list of unbeaten teams in the Mount Prospect Midget Football League survived with one exception this past Sunday.

The Bears in the Senior Division came from behind to top the Cardinals 27-7. Keith Bauer scored on a 30 yard pass while Scott Crawford broke through the middle for a seven yard score. Ted Passerelli played another outstanding game in a losing cause. He scored on a 25 yard run.

The Colts rolled up a 26-6 triumph over the Packers. Jack Costello scored three touchdowns on lung runs; one for 75 yards. Rich Skelnik contributed another on a 12 yard run through the middle. Mike Hollensteiner and Chuck Ayers played top notch in the line. The Packers' only tally came on a ten yard pass from Dave Johnson to Tony Lazzaroni, who ran for another 40 yards.

MARSHALL of the Redskins led his team to a 40-0 rout of the Steelers. He scored four times on brilliant runs of 25, 30, and 35 yards and on a 20 yard pass from Kinneman. Carron O'Keefe covered 25 yards for the other tally. Kinneman also kicked 2 PATs.

Points after touchdowns settled the Browns-Rams game as the Browns won 20-18. Mike Morgan scored for the Browns on six and 47 yard end runs. Craig Gewartowski returned a punt 49 yards in the third quarter. Brian Bakk and Mike Morgan made the all important two extra points. Bill Bley threw to Bill Kindall and ran 20 yards for two of the Rams' scores. George Sheppard ran 60 yards for the other tally.

The 49ers trounced the Eagles 28-0. Jim Remsen and Mike McKay contributed two touchdowns a piece. Remsen scored on a 40 yard run and return of an interception. McKay caught passes for his scores. Paul Pauluzzi broke through to nail the Eagles for a two point touchback.

THE COWBOYS remained undefeated in a 31-12 win over guard for six points. Gebert ran 65 and 40 yards for two touchdowns. Snyder got away for a 60 yard score. Koehler returned an intercepted pass for another goal.

The Badgers remained the Bantam Division unbeaten leaders on a 13-6, hard-fought conquest of the Spartans. Dom Divito drew first blood as the Spartans went to a first half 6-0 the Vikings. Szala went off right lead. Eilbracht tied the score on a three yard plunge after a spectacular catch of a 35 yard pass by Robinson. Derringer added the all important point, then later ran 52 yards for a touchdown around end.

The Wildcats won their first game in ten starts 27-0 over the Wolverines. Randy Jesperson and Tom Trandel each scored touchdowns and extra points. Jim Hausam and Scott Bernin added six points apiece. While scored an extra point. The scores came from end runs and reverses.

MIKE KINNEY led his Buckeye teammates to a 33-12 route of the Hawkeyes. He scored five touchdowns of the mixed variety in long and short runs. Kenny Holan tallied twice for the losers on 50 and 60 yard runs.

The Panthers' Tom Freyman went on 20, 35, 15, and 50 yard romps to account for 24 points in the 36-7 win over the Lions. , obiBkllspbAsrMcnassaieoelnew Bob MacAskill was responsible for the other scored on 25 yard runs. This was an inspired team effort.

Jayvee Squads Battle to Tie

In a rain dominated game, Prospect High School's junior-varsity played a scoreless tie with Deerfield on Prospect's soaked field.

Neither team could penetrate beyond the other's 20 yard line as the downpour made any movement at all hazardous.

Coach Chuck Aldrich's JV squad voted Bill Dax, tackle, and Jim Kolberg, halfback as Lineman and Back of The Week as a result of this 0-0 effort.

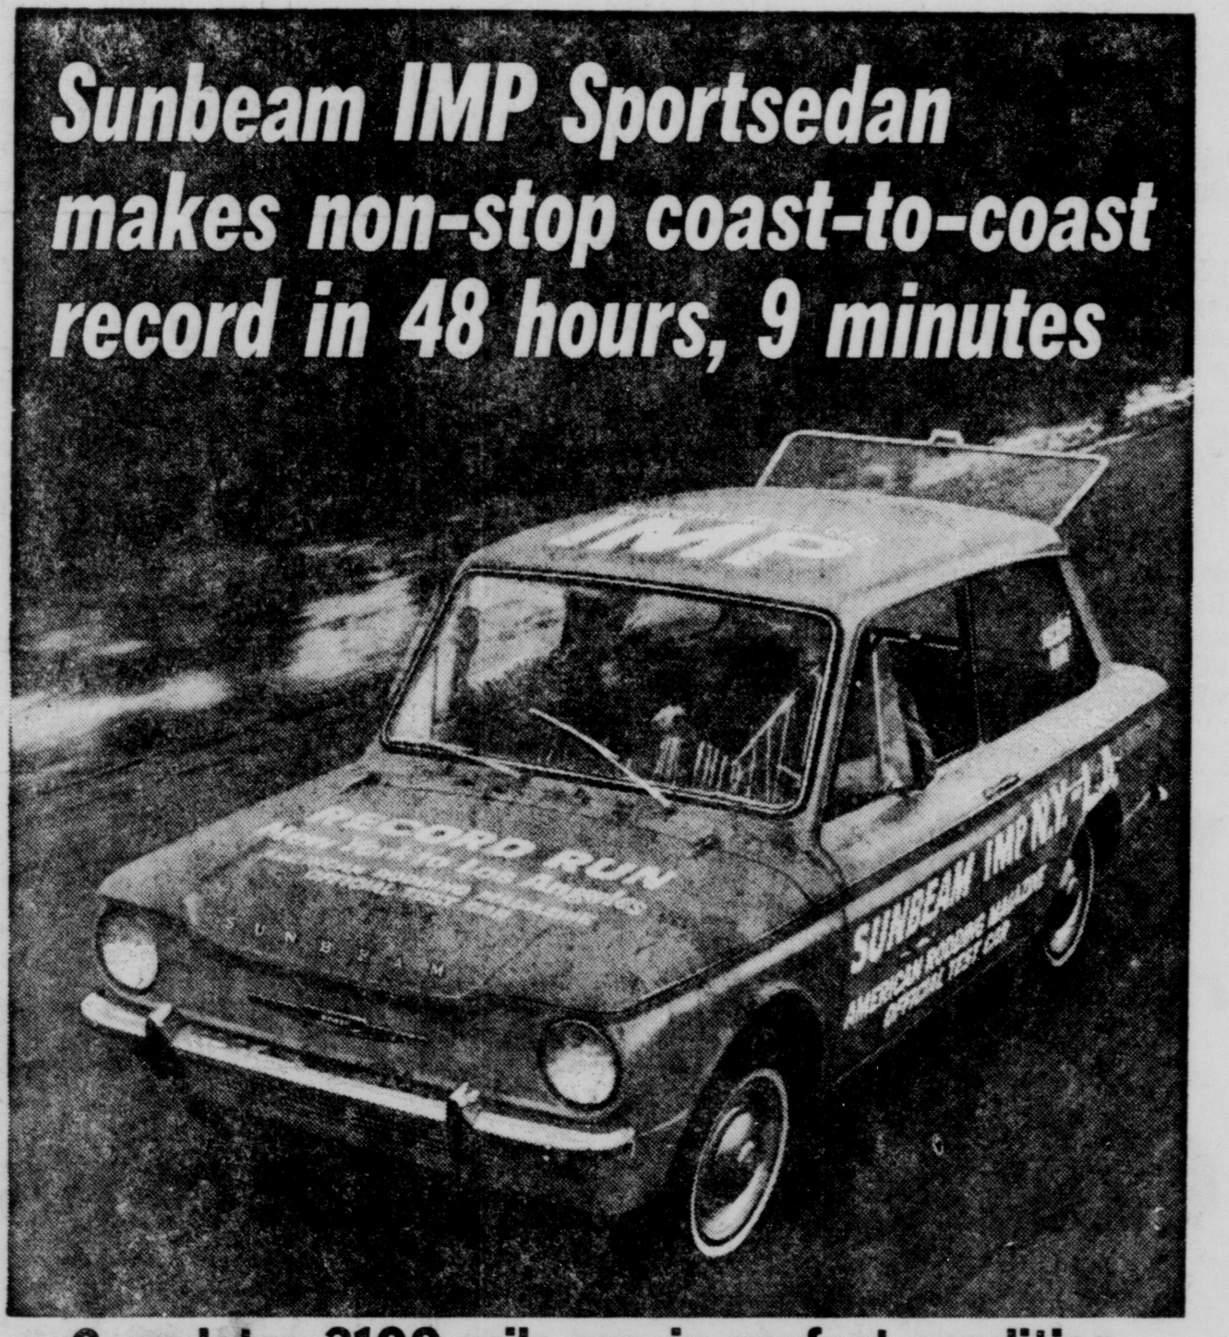
of the breaks we got," commented Kay. But, never one to linger on a defeat, he looked ahead to the Falcons: "Forest View has one whale of a ball club. They're strong, they have good speed and lots of strength. They're probably one of the strongest ball clubs in the league."

How will Deerfield prepare for the Falcon invasion? Answered Kay, "We'll work on our throwing game. We weren't able to throw much last Saturday because of the weather. Lindquist (the Warriors' All-Conference quarterback) has been hurt, a sore elbow, but is coming around and should be ready Saturday. We have the passer and the receivers and we'd like to throw a minimum of 25 times per game."

Trying to halt this air assault, will be the rugged Forest View defensive unit tagged the "Chinese Bandits." The "Bandits," led by Bill Grunwald, John Edie and Bill Brown, have held opposition to just 172 yards and six points in two games. Only 67 of those yards have been gained through the air. Lindquist should give the "Bandits" air defense its toughest test this Saturday.

Sunbeam IMP Sportsedan makes non-stop coast-to-coast record in 48 hours, 9 minutes



Completes 3100-mile run in perfect condition
Averages 62.7 m.p.h., 35.6 m.p.g.

Here's more proof that the Sunbeam Imp Sportsedan is built to give you years and years—and miles and miles—of trouble-free service.

The Imp set a record for cars of its class. It required no additional water and oil, no mechanical attention of any kind during its run.

Even the drivers finished in good shape. Reason? The roominess of the Imp and its unique flow-through ventilation system. At the end of the test, the drivers also reported that road noise and wind noise were virtually non-existent, contributing substantially to driving comfort during the 48-hour run.

This record-breaking run was timed officially by instruments of the Heuer Timer Corporation. American Rodding Magazine officially observed the run. A full report will appear in the magazine's next issue. The drivers also reported that they would have finished at least 1½ hours sooner but were delayed by construction and Railroad crossings.

Meanwhile, if you'd like a free test drive in the amazing Imp, which gets as much as 40 miles per gallon, just visit your local Sunbeam dealer. Find out what it feels like to drive a champion.

fection.

THIS YEAR'S club may not be as strong as the 1963 edition but it figures to be tough enough to win the Mid Suburban. The club stands at 1-1 after an opening 6-0 loss to a stong Peoria Central team and a lacklustre 13-0 win over Glenbrook South.

"To date I'm disappointed," Olson says. "We have some injuries, but our club just hasn't jelled as quickly as I had hoped." Perhaps because of this, he dispelled the notion that a schedule quirk, which has the Warriors playing the new schools in the league (Glenbrook South, Wheeling and Niles North) early, is an advantage to his team.

"We don't consider this a breather" Olson said. "We felt that Wheeling clearly dominated the second half last week." He finished with the coach's credo, "We play 'em one at a time."

Offensively at least, the Warriors don't. Their crunching single wing offense depends on two on one blocking and the Maine forwards are likely to put the Wildcats' improved tackles, Stoik and Armstrong, to the test with frequent use of the off tackle slant that is the bread and butter of the single wing offense.

THE TRIPLE threat man in the attack is tailback Chuck Curren, a 155 pound swifty Olson feels worthy of All-State recognition. The multiple skills of Curren plus to slashing running of full back Jim Cichowski (190) will have to be stopped if Wheeling hopes to spring a surprise on Saturday.

Daletski may have a few surprises of his own in store for the Warriors. Swift, but light fullback Tom Mandersheid (150) is moving over to wingback in an effort to spruce up the Cats passing attack. Bill Niemeyer, more of a fullback type at 185, will take his place.

Two specialists are moving their way into the Wildcat scheme of things. Horst Schneeweis handled the punting chores effectively against Niles North and will probably continue to do so. With Schneeweis booting, another kicker, Ken Traversone, can be used on punt coverage where he excels.

The other boy who figures to see action Saturday is defensive tackle Zasadny (185). Zasadny has impressed the Wheeling coaches with his play in practice sessions.

Eagles Top Cats, Bisons

The host East Leyden squads captured both the varsity and sophomore races in a triangular with Wheeling and Fenton Tuesday evening.

The Eagles won the varsity race with 24 points followed by Wheeling with 24 and Fenton with 50. Sayers won the race as East Leyden took the first three places. Wheeling won the next three with Bill Lytle, Paul Fiegen and Doug Steinman and also scored with Karl Meisenheimer (15) and Dave Eaton (15).

Rich Hebel led the Bisons in seventh place, followed by Carl Wanzung (9), Paul Miller (11), Claude Sonday (16) and Tim O'Keefe (17).

Bob Fraser of Fenton copped the sophomore race but East Leyden won the event with 27 points, followed by Fenton with 41 and Wheeling with 64. Scott Poklen finished sixth for Wheeling.

RECORD RUN
SUNBEAM IMP

Sunbeam IMP Sportsedan makes non-stop coast-to-coast record in 48 hours, 9 minutes

Completes 3100-mile run in perfect condition
Averages 62.7 m.p.h., 35.6 m.p.g.

Here's more proof that the Sunbeam Imp Sportsedan is built to give you years and years—and miles and miles—of trouble-free service.

The Imp set a record for cars of its class. It required no additional water and oil, no mechanical attention of any kind during its run.

Even the drivers finished in good shape. Reason? The roominess of the Imp and its unique flow-through ventilation system. At the end of the test, the drivers also reported that road noise and wind noise were virtually non-existent, contributing substantially to driving comfort during the 48-hour run.

This record-breaking run was timed officially by instruments of the Heuer Timer Corporation. American Rodding Magazine officially observed the run. A full report will appear in the magazine's next issue. The drivers also reported that they would have finished at least 1½ hours sooner but were delayed by construction and Railroad crossings.

Meanwhile, if you'd like a free test drive in the amazing Imp, which gets as much as 40 miles per gallon, just visit your local Sunbeam dealer. Find out what it feels like to drive a champion.

THE DOWNPOUR during the Wheeling-Niles North game last Saturday failed to dampen the enthusiasm of Wildcat cheerleader Sue Ryan as she led Wheeling followers at the school's first home game. Sue's cheers were in vain, however, and Niles North spoiled the inaugural with an 8-6 victory.

Safety Decisive As Knights Record 9-7 Win Over Deerfield

by MARV PRELLBERG, JR.

A two point safety scored in the opening minutts of the game proved eventually to be the margin of difference in a 9-7 Prospect High victory over visiting Deerfield in last Saturday afternoon's varsity football encounter.

This Mid-Suburban League opener for both squads was played before a slim but game Dad's Day crowd, which endured an extremely unpleasant blast of rain and high winds throughout the contest.

These undesirable weather elements were contributing factors in a frustrating contest beset with numerous fumbles, erratic punting and an occasional display of tempers.

IT APPEARED that if weather was to be a factor in handicapping the offensive potential of either of the aggregations, most of the damage was undoubtedly done to the Deerfield attack.

The Warriors journeyed into the Prospect environs with its talented all-league Junior Quarterback John Lindquist slated to keep the Prospect defensive backs on their toes with a potent passing attack.

The 6-foot-2-inch, 190-pound Lindquist, in spite of the weather conditions, managed to toss a total of 17 aerials, but his effectiveness through the airlanes was definitely hampered by the slippery ball and turf. Of the 17 passes only four found their mark for a 38 yards gained total.

BOTH TEAMS arrived on the field just a few minutes prior to the 2 p.m. kickoff time. Prospect's Ron Seegers, with the gale like winds at his back, immediately got the proceedings under way with a kickoff that slid past a couple of wouldbe Warrior receivers and was finally downed on their own one yard line.

Lindquist then surprised everyone by attempting a pass on the first play from scrimmage, but it missed its mark. A couple of thrusts into the Prospect forward wall by Ed Wallner and Doug Davis moved the Warriors out to their own six yard stripe, and on fourth down Bruce Nannini went back into the end zone to punt.

The pass from center sailed high over his head, and Nannini outraced a couple of hard charging Prospect linemen and fell on the ball in the end zone for a safety and a 2-0 Prospect lead.

A RECOVERY of a Deerfield fumble early in the second quarter by the Knights' left tackle Earle Smith started Prospect on what eventually proved to be its final tally of the day.

Having taken over possession of the ball on the Warriors' 46 yard line, fullback Mike Spencer carried twice in succession for a first down on the 35.

On the first down play halfback Wayne Kuklinski skirted his own left end and rambled the 35 yards behind some key blocks into the end zone for a Prospect touchdown. Dick Lytle smashed through for the extra point, and Coach Don Williams' Knights had a 9-0 margin.

THIS LEAD held up for Prospect until the waning minutes of the final period. Deerfield's stiffened and aggressive defensive unit had forced the Knights' Kuklinski to punt on fourth down from Prospect's seven yard marker.

Kuklinski's punt, against the wind, managed to travel only 11 yards from scrimmage and was downed on the 18 yard line.

Realizing that time was all-important at this stage of the contest, Lindquist took to the air. His first two throws fell incomplete, but on third down he threaded the needle with a completion to halfback Wallner, good for 16 yards and a first down on Prospect's two yard line.

TWO PLAYS later Lindquist sneaked across the goal from the one for the Deerfield score. Tom Fuzzey kicked the extra point, and the early two point safety for Prospect was put into proper focus—Prospect now led 9-7.

One minute and fourteen seconds later that is just how the game ended: Prospect 9, Deerfield 7.

Knights Honored

Prospect High School's football team voted Wayne Kuklinski as Back Of The Week and Jim LaRocco and Mark Pasdiora as Co-Lineman Of The Week on the strength of their performances in the Knights' 9-7 win over Deerfield last Saturday. LaRocco and Pasdiora were honored for the second consecutive week.

of the breaks we got," commented Kay. But, never one to linger on a defeat, he looked ahead to the Falcons: "Forest View has one whale of a ball club. They're strong, they have good speed and lots of strength. They're probably one of the strongest ball clubs in the league."

How will Deerfield prepare for the Falcon invasion? Answered Kay, "We'll work on our throwing game. We weren't able to throw much last Saturday because of the weather. Lindquist (the Warriors' All-Conference quarterback) has been hurt, a sore elbow, but is coming around and should be ready Saturday. We have the passer and the receivers and we'd like to throw a minimum of 25 times per game."

Trying to halt this air assault, will be the rugged Forest View defensive unit tagged the "Chinese Bandits." The "Bandits," led by Bill Grunwald, John Edie and Bill Brown, have held opposition to just 172 yards and six points in two games. Only 67 of those yards have been gained through the air. Lindquist should give the "Bandits" air defense its toughest test this Saturday.

Vikings Use Safety To Trip Cats 8-6

by BOB NORDIN

It wasn't what you could call perfect football weather and for some reason a child's poem kept coming to mind. Something about, "Rain, rain, go away."

A steady, wind-whipped downpour kept all but the stalwarts at home last Saturday when the Wheeling Wildcats played host to the Niles North Vikings.

It was a day when the same boy could kick 65 yards one direction and only five yards in the other. There were ten fumbles between the two teams and twelve penalties. There was also a safety and it was the difference as the Vikings edged the Cats 8-6 in the opening game of the Mid-Suburban season.

THE NILES Vikings kicked off to open the ball game and kicking with the wind the boot sailed into the Wildcat end zone for a touch back. The Cats took over on their own twenty with Mark Newman directing the attack.

On the first play from scrimmage the Wildcats were in motion but Niles declined the penalty. Newman then picked up three and Jim Bowker two before an off sides rap set the Cats back five yards. Horst Schneeweis punted for the Cats to the Vikings' 47 yard line.

Then lightning struck the over eager Cats. On their first play from scrimmage the Vikings ran a double reverse pass and while the eager Cats scrambled after the ever changing ball carrier the Viking right end, Doruff, ambled down field and was wide open for the pass that was laid right in his lap. With no one to bother him, Doruff ran into the end zone for the first score. Thomas' try for the point after touchdown failed and the score stood 6 to 0 favor of the visiting Vikings.

THOMAS kicked off for Niles again and once again his kick, with the aid of the wind, sailed deep into the Wheeling end zone. With the ball on the 20, the Cats went to work. Bowker picked up three, Tony Martin got six, and Newman dived for two and a Wheeling first down. Niles gave up five on an off side penalty, then Tom Manderscheid picked up three. The Wildcats gave back five when they were caught off side but Bowker got back two.

Manderscheid then picked up enough for the first down and the Cats seemed to be rolling. Manderscheid got two more and then began what was to be the telling point for the rest of the afternoon. Manderscheid belted off tackle and as he was hit, the well soaked ball squirted out of his hands. Niles recovered and in two plays picked up a first down.

Then the Wheeling defense straightened and Niles lost 15 in three plays. The Niles punt carried to the Cats' three, where Manderscheid returned to the nine. Manderscheid ran for twelve and a first down. Bowker picked up four around end, but on the next play the ball slipped away once more and Niles fell on it. The quarter ended with the fumble.

NILES, BEING in a gracious mood, fumbled the ball back to Wheeling on the first play after gaining possession. The Wildcats hung onto the ball five plays but then lost it again on a fumble. The Vikings were able to hold onto the ball but the Cat defense made them give it up when they held them to a two yard gain in four tries. This time the Cats and the Vikings traded five yard penalties. Newman was unsuccessful in two pass attempts and Schneeweis came in to punt. A hard rush by the Viking line blocked the punt and the ball rolled back into the Wild Cat end zone where Schneeweis fell on it. It was ruled a safety by the official and Niles led 8 to 0.

After the free kick by Wheeling following the safety the teams traded punts and the half ended.

Schneeweis kicked off for Wheeling to start the second half and Niles returned to the 43. On the first play from scrimmage Niles fumbled but recovered their own fumble. Two plays later they fumbled again and this time Wheeling came up with the ball. The Cats had the ball one play and then fumbled it back to the Vikings. The Cat defense held and Niles was forced to punt. Wheeling lost 20 yards in two plays on penalties then gained back fourteen on runs by Bowker and Manderscheid. A pass went incomplete and Schneeweis came in to punt. His kick sailed 55 yards on the fly and out of the end zone.

THE BALL came out to the twenty and Niles took over. But they no more than had the ball and fumbled it back to the Wildcats. Manderscheid and Bowker picked up a first down and it was first and goal at the six. Manderscheid lost one but Newman got back two. Then Newman pitched to Bowker coming around and Bowker belted into the end zone for the first Wheeling High School touchdown. The ball was fumbled on the try for point and the attempt failed.

In the fourth period the two teams had better luck hanging on to the ball, but neither team was able to get a good drive under way. It should be noted that at one time the Wildcat line put such a rush on the Niles punter that he was so hurried that he missed the ball entirely.

The Cats fought back hard in the fourth period but with the weather being what it was they were unable to put together the passing attack needed to get big yardage in a hurry. The last play of the game told the story. As the Niles back was met by the Cat defense the ball squirted away for the tenth and final fumble of the game.

One Unbeaten Falls; Bears Stop Cardinals, 27-7, in Midget Football Headliner

The list of unbeaten teams in the Mount Prospect Midget Football League survived with one exception this past Sunday.

The Bears in the Senior Division came from behind to top the Cardinals 27-7. Keith Bauer scored on a 30 yard pass while Scott Crawford broke through the middle for a seven yard score. Ted Passerelli played another outstanding game in a losing cause. He scored on a 25 yard run.

The Colts rolled up a 26-6 triumph over the Packers. Jack Costello scored three touchdowns on lung runs; one for 75 yards. Rich Skelnik contributed another on a 12 yard run through the middle. Mike Hollensteiner and Chuck Ayers played top notch in the line. The Packers' only tally came on a ten yard pass from Dave Johnson to Tony Lazzaroni, who ran for another 40 yards.

MARSHALL of the Redskins led his team to a 40-0 rout of the Steelers. He scored four times on brilliant runs of 25, 30, and 35 yards and on a 20 yard pass from Kinneman. Carron O'Keefe covered 25 yards for the other tally. Kinneman also kicked 2 PATs.

Points after touchdowns settled the Browns-Rams game as the Browns won 20-18. Mike Morgan scored for the Browns on six and 47 yard end runs. Craig Gewartowski returned a punt 49 yards in the third quarter. Brian Bakk and Mike Morgan made the all important two extra points. Bill Bley threw to Bill Kindall and ran 20 yards for two of the Rams' scores. George Sheppard ran 60 yards for the other tally.

The 49ers trounced the Eagles 28-0. Jim Remsen and Mike McKay contributed two touchdowns a piece. Remsen scored on a 40 yard run and return of an interception. McKay caught passes for his scores. Paul Pauluzzi broke through to nail the Eagles for a two point touchback.

THE COWBOYS remained undefeated in a 31-12 win over guard for six points. Gebert ran 65 and 40 yards for two touchdowns. Snyder got away for a 60 yard score. Koehler returned an intercepted pass for another goal.

The Badgers remained the Bantam Division unbeaten leaders on a 13-6, hard-fought conquest of the Spartans. Dom Divito drew first blood as the Spartans went to a first half 6-0 the Vikings. Szala went off right lead. Eilbracht tied the score on a three yard plunge after a spectacular catch of a 35 yard pass by Robinson. Derringer added the all important point, then later ran 52 yards for a touchdown around end.

The Wildcats won their first game in ten starts 27-0 over the Wolverines. Randy Jesperson and Tom Trandel each scored touchdowns and extra points. Jim Hausam and Scott Bernin added six points apiece. While scored an extra point. The scores came from end runs and reverses.

MIKE KINNEY led his Buckeye teammates to a 33-12 route of the Hawkeyes. He scored five touchdowns of the mixed variety in long and short runs. Kenny Holan tallied twice for the losers on 50 and 60 yard runs.

The Panthers' Tom Freyman went on 20, 35, 15, and 50 yard romps to account for 24 points in the 36-7 win over the Lions. , obiBkllspbAsrMcnassaieoelnew Bob MacAskill was responsible for the other scored on 25 yard runs. This was an inspired team effort.

Sunday the Bears play the Colts while the Packers take on the Cardinals in the Senior Division. In the Junior loop the big game sees the undefeated Browns and Cowboys meeting.

Jayvee Squads Battle to Tie

In a rain dominated game, Prospect High School's junior-varsity played a scoreless tie with Deerfield on Prospect's soaked field.

Neither team could penetrate beyond the other's 20 yard line as the downpour made any movement at all hazardous.

Coach Chuck Aldrich's JV squad voted Bill Dax, tackle, and Jim Kolberg, halfback as Lineman and Back of The Week as a result of this 0-0 effort.

St. Viator Seeks Third Straight Grid Win

Lake Park Hosts Non-League Game

by BOB FRISK

Victory via a shutout is becoming old hat for St. Viator's varsity football team.

Last fall fans were treated to four whitewashings as Joe Gliwa's Lions rode to six victories in nine outings.

The Arlington Heights crew buried Little Flower (47-0), St. Edward of Elgin (19-0), St. George of Evanston (27-0), and Holy Cross (20-0).

Gliwa has that defense in the headlines again in 1964.

Glenbrook South (2-0) and Crane Tech of Chicago (13-0) have been the victims this time around.

GLIWA'S LIONS will shoot for their third straight victory Saturday afternoon in a road trip to Lake Park High School that will serve as a final tuneup for the important Chicagoland Prep League action.

St. Viator will launch Chicagoland play on Sunday, Oct. 11, with a home game against highly regarded St. Mel of Chicago.

Gliwa will send his charges against a victory-starved eleven Saturday in Medinah. Bob Monken's Lake Park unit has gone 10 straight games without a victory in the past two campaigns. They've dropped two straight (25-10 to Thornton Fractional North and 7-0 to Ridgewood) in the 1964 season.

WORKING IN the Lancers' favor Saturday will be a Homecoming atmosphere on the Medinah campus. That day for the grads has served to bring out the best in many floundering outfits through the years.

Kielar exploded for 64 yards on a trap play against Thornton for the only Lancer touchdown of the season. Johnson added three other points on a 38-yard field goal and can be expected to shoot for those uprights Saturday if the situation dictates. He has a talented toe.

Lake Park is hungry. They haven't tasted victory since 1962 and would like nothing better than to snap this frustrating skid on the day set aside for the grads.

ST. VIATOR'S Gliwa expects another interesting tussle Saturday, admitting that "you couldn't tell much from that game last weekend."

The Lions pushed over two touchdowns and pulled out a 13-0 victory over Crane Tech in a rain-hindered contest. "It was a game of fumbles," Gliwa said. "They like a passing game and couldn't get anything going in that rain. Actually, their biggest gains came on our penalties."

St. Viator emerged from the non-conference scuffle without any serious injuries and will be at full strength for Lake Park.

On offense Gliwa will open with Jim Hawley and Chuck Heinrich at the ends, Gary Forston and John Kidd at tackles, Gary Drabant and Don Wilkinson at guards, and Pat Kennedy at center.

The quarterback slot remains a toss-up with either Mike Campana or Dennis Wilkinson getting the first call. Tim Walinski and Steve McNamara will man the halfbacks with Bob Rogowski at full.

A sophomore game will precede the varsity encounter with a 12 noon kickoff.

St. Viator Handles Crane Tech in Rain

by STEVE BROWN

On a muddy, rain-soaked field, the St. Viator eleven managed to push over two scores Saturday to defeat Crane Tech, 13-0.

Although the wind was blowing a stiff 25 m.p.h., and it was only 45 degrees, the spirit of both teams did not seem to be affected, as could be seen by the flaring of tempers toward the end of the game.

With only two pass attempts and one completion by the Lions, it seemed that neither team could hold on to the slippery pigskin for very long.

EARLY IN THE first quarter the Lions were the first to fumble but quickly got the ball back on a Crane Tech bobble.

Good running by Steve McNamara and Tim Walinski carried the ball down to the Crane Tech 15 yard line where their first threat was fumbled away.

Again gaining possession of of the ball, Crane Tech did a lot of slipping and sliding before deciding to let the Lions have another try.

However, the Crane Tech kicker was just not having his day and could punt the ball only 15 yards.

THIS TIME the Lions were able to capitalize on the many Crane Tech errors. Mike Campana, quarterbacking throughout the game, brought the ball down to the Crane Tech fire.

Then McNamara carried the ball over for the score. Wilkinson got the extra point, making it 7-0 at the close of the quarter.

Crane Tech, controlling the ball early in the second quarter ran into some strong oppostion on the part of the Lions' 160-pound guard Gary Drabant who recovered a fumble on the Crane Tech ten. McNamara carried for two, bringing the ball down close to another score.

HOWEVER, Crane dug in to stop attempts by Campana and Wilkinson, who could not score from the one yard line. Crane Tech again took possession but could not move.

With another bad kick by Crane, and an end sweep by Wilkinson, the ball wound up on the Crane Tech 15. Campana funbled for the third time to check the threat.

Paul Carroll the Lions' tackle, kicked off to open the third quarter. The ball bounced off a Crane Tech lineman and into the hands of another lineman who fumbled. St. Viator, trying to recover, could not hold on to the ball which kept rolling and changing hands until Drabant pounced upon it. The ball rolled 20 yards before being retained by the Lions.

THERE WERE more fumbles in the third quarter than there were yards gained. First Campana fumbled and recovered. Then Crane Tech fumbled.

Good defensive work by Crane Tech on the part of Robinson, combined with several roughing the kicker penalties, saw Crane threatening late in this quarter. Steve Gown led the attack by Tech which was finally stopped by Jack Helmer, who recovered a blocked Crane kick.

St. Viator again threatened. Aided by an off-sides penalty against Crane, the Lions set up for the score only to have the ball again stolen by way of another fumble. The fourth quarter ended with the Lions on top, 7-0.

Again the poor kicking on the part of Crane Tech led to the threatening of St. Viator on the Crane Tech 29 yard line. After an off-sides penalty, Walinski carried the ball twice; one on a pass (the first completion of the game), leading the Lions' charge deep into Crane Tech territory.

A 15 YARD penalty on Crane for grabbing the face mask put the ball on the 15 yard line. St. Viator was unable to hang on to the football and Crane Tech recovered.

Drabant intercepted the second pass of the game and then went over for the score. After this play was over a personal foul penalty was called on Crane Tech, giving the Lions a score of 13-0 and forcing Crane to kick off from the 45 yard line. The game ended after a beautiful interception by the Lions' Dennis Wilkinson.

Nelson Paces Wildcat Win Over Niles

The passing combination of Pat McGuire to Tom Nelson paced a second half comeback that saw the Wheeling freshman "A" team rout Niles North 33-13 last Saturday on the Viking field.

The Wildcat "B" team made it a sweep for Wheeling by scoring in every quarter en route to an easy 27-0 victory.

Nelson scored all five Wheeling touchdowns as the Wildcats battled back from a 7-6 deficit to turn the game into a rout. Three of Nelson's scores came on passes from McGuire, one covering 55 yards.

John Haas paced the "B" victory by running for one touchdown and passing to Keith Vaskovsky for another. Len Eaton and Don Danhour also scored for Wheeling, Eaton's coming on a 55 yard dash.

Card Sophs Win

Defensive Unit Praised by Coach

Praise for the entire defensive unit was in order this week as Tom Pitchford, head sophomore football coach at Arlington, looked back on a 6-2, weather-hampered victory over Riverside-Brookfield.

"We showed a lot of improvement over the previous week," Pitchford said. Arlington had toppled Barrington in the opener, 18-13.

Earning plaudits for their work on defense were linemen Karl Pingel, Jim Huegerich, Jim Donchess, Bob Ungaro, and Guy Davis and linebackers Mike Wadzita, Herb Irlbacker, and Bruce Weber.

ARLINGTON scored its only touchdown in the West Suburban opener in the first quarter on a 10-yard run by quarterback Brad Somers. The payoff dash terminated a long march.

A high pass from center on a punt attempt went over Somers' head out of the end zone in the third quarter for an automatic safety and the two R-B points.

Riverside threatened late in the first half but Ron Horcher picked off an R-B aerial at the 19. The Cards penetrated to the Riverside 30 in the third quarter only to have a fumble check this threat.

The Cardinals will entertain York's Barons Friday evening at six o'clock. York dropped its opening league game to Dwners Grove, 19-12.

Record Crowd

The Illinois-Ohio State football game here Oct. 10 will establish a new crowd record for an Illini home opener. The present mark of 64,819 was established in 1959, with Army as the opponent.

Cardinals Split

Brunner Cops 2 More Firsts

John Brunner continued to collect individual honors and Arlington's varsity Cardinals picked up their first victory of the season in the latest week of cross country competition.

Brunner, the slender Arlington senior who finished fourth in the state harrier finals as a junior, topped the fields in meets against both Notre Dame of Niles and Riverside-Brookfield.

Brunner covered the Notre Dame course in 9:49 as Russ Attis' varsity squad posted a one-sided 21-41 victory. John was followed across the line by teammate Tom Taylor.

ALSO SCORING for the Cardinals were Tom Thornton in fifth, Dave Schimpf in sixth, and Pete Barker in seventh.

The Arlington sophs also emerged victorious, dumping the host Dons 25-35. The Cards' top five finishers were Art Weidner (2), Jim Bergstrom (3), Jeff Johansen (5), Jack Finch (7), and Jim Kussow (8).

Brunner again took top honors Saturday morning in a meet at Riverside, but the Cardinals dropped decisions at both levels.

R-B triumphed in the varsity division 20-35 and in the frosh-was second.
soph class 21-35.

BRUNNER covered the hilly Swan Pond Course at Riverside in 8:21, finishing ten seconds ahead of the Bulldogs' Jim Press. Press held the lead until the final 300 yards when Brunner pulled in ront with one of his patented kicks.

Barker was the next Cardinal across the line, finishing seventh. Other locals scoring were Taylor in eighth, Bob Yeazel in ninth, and Schimpf in 10th.

Weidner's third was the top frosh-soph finish. He was followed by Bargstrom (5), Kussow (7), Johansen (9), and Mike Mills (11).

Arlington will host York Friday afternoon at 4:15 at Pioneer Park and Palatine next Tuesday, Oct. 6.

Prospect Harriers Battle Weather in Posting 24-31 Win

"Rain, mud, muck, wind, and cold!" And this led to victory?

The above description belongs to Prospect's varsity cross country coach Dick Calisch. He was telling of the weather and track conditions for last Saturday's meet with Deerfield which the Knights' varsity won 24-31 after the Knight sophs gained their victory, 16 to 41.

Evening their record at 2 and 2, the Prospect varsity harriers were led by Gary York who took second behind Deerfield's Wally Weinert. Weinert's winning time was 9:54.

Prospect's Jack Pollard and Gus Filantres took 3rd and 4th in back of York. In 6th and 9th places came Ed Schneider and Steve Stock completing the top five Knights.

The sophs of Prospect, in scoring just 16 points, were only one from the cross country minimum of 15. Steve Holmes, in a finishing time of 10:54, took first for the young harriers. Holmes was followed by Ray Hearl, Bob Bartley and Pat Luken. Only Dan Sauter, in sixth place, missed the top five.

Coach Calisch could wish for better weather, but, if bad conditions always brought victory, Calisch might always hope for rain, mud, muck, wind and cold.

No Quick TDs

No football team has scored in the first quarter against Illinois for 11 consecutive games. The Illini were unscored upon in first-period action in the Rose Bowl, through nine games last fall, and in the 1962 season finale against Michigan State.

St. Viator Seeks Third Straight Grid Win

Lake Park Hosts Non-League Game

by BOB FRISK

Victory via a shutout is becoming old hat for St. Viator's varsity football team.

Last fall fans were treated to four whitewashings as Joe Gliwa's Lions rode to six victories in nine outings.

The Arlington Heights crew buried Little Flower (47-0), St. Edward of Elgin (19-0), St. George of Evanston (27-0), and Holy Cross (20-0).

Gliwa has that defense in the headlines again in 1964.

Glenbrook South (2-0) and Crane Tech of Chicago (13-0) have been the victims this time around.

GLIWA'S LIONS will shoot for their third straight victory Saturday afternoon in a road trip to Lake Park High School that will serve as a final tuneup for the important Chicagoland Prep League action.

St. Viator will launch Chicagoland play on Sunday, Oct. 11, with a home game against highly regarded St. Mel of Chicago.

Gliwa will send his charges against a victory-starved eleven Saturday in Medinah. Bob Monken's Lake Park unit has gone 10 straight games without a victory in the past two campaigns. They've dropped two straight (25-10 to Thornton Fractional North and 7-0 to Ridgewood) in the 1964 season.

WORKING IN the Lancers' favor Saturday will be a Homecoming atmosphere on the Medinah campus. That day for the grads has served to bring out the best in many floundering outfits through the years.

Kielar exploded for 64 yards on a trap play against Thornton for the only Lancer touchdown of the season. Johnson added three other points on a 38-yard field goal and can be expected to shoot for those uprights Saturday if the situation dictates. He has a talented toe.

Lake Park is hungry. They haven't tasted victory since 1962 and would like nothing better than to snap this frustrating skid on the day set aside for the grads.

ST. VIATOR'S Gliwa expects another interesting tussle Saturday, admitting that "you couldn't tell much from that game last weekend."

The Lions pushed over two touchdowns and pulled out a 13-0 victory over Crane Tech in a rain-hindered contest. "It was a game of fumbles," Gliwa said. "They like a passing game and couldn't get anything going in that rain. Actually, their biggest gains came on our penalties."

St. Viator emerged from the non-conference scuffle without any serious injuries and will be at full strength for Lake Park.

On offense Gliwa will open with Jim Hawley and Chuck Heinrich at the ends, Gary Forston and John Kidd at tackles, Gary Drabant and Don Wilkinson at guards, and Pat Kennedy at center.

A sophomore game will precede the varsity encounter with a 12 noon kickoff.

Cardinals Split

Brunner Cops 2 More Firsts

John Brunner continued to collect individual honors and Arlington's varsity Cardinals picked up their first victory of the season in the latest week of cross country competition.

Brunner, the slender Arlington senior who finished fourth in the state harrier finals as a junior, topped the fields in meets against both Notre Dame of Niles and Riverside-Brookfield.

Brunner covered the Notre Dame course in 9:49 as Russ Attis' varsity squad posted a one-sided 21-41 victory. John was followed across the line by teammate Tom Taylor.

ALSO SCORING for the Cardinals were Tom Thornton in fifth, Dave Schimpf in sixth, and Pete Barker in seventh.

The Arlington sophs also emerged victorious, dumping the host Dons 25-35. The Cards' top five finishers were Art Weidner (2), Jim Bergstrom (3), Jeff Johansen (5), Jack Finch (7), and Jim Kussow (8).

Brunner again took top honors Saturday morning in a meet at Riverside, but the Cardinals dropped decisions at both levels.

R-B triumphed in the varsity division 20-35 and in the frosh-soph class 21-35.

was second.

BRUNNER covered the hilly Swan Pond Course at Riverside in 8:21, finishing ten seconds ahead of the Bulldogs' Jim Press. Press held the lead until the final 300 yards when Brunner pulled in ront with one of his patented kicks.

Barker was the next Cardinal across the line, finishing seventh. Other locals scoring were Taylor in eighth, Bob Yeazel in ninth, and Schimpf in 10th.

Weidner's third was the top frosh-soph finish. He was followed by Bargstrom (5), Kussow (7), Johansen (9), and Mike Mills (11).

Arlington will host York Friday afternoon at 4:15 at Pioneer Park and Palatine next Tuesday, Oct. 6.

Lions Post 13-0 Win

St. Viator Handles Crane Tech in Rain

by STEVE BROWN

On a muddy, rain-soaked field, the St. Viator eleven managed to push over two scores Saturday to defeat Crane Tech, 13-0.

Although the wind was blowing a stiff 25 m.p.h., and it was only 45 degrees, the spirit of both teams did not seem to be affected, as could be seen by the flaring of tempers toward the end of the game.

With only two pass attempts and one completion by the Lions, it seemed that neither team could hold on to the slippery pigskin for very long.

EARLY IN THE first quarter the Lions were the first to fumble but quickly got the ball back on a Crane Tech bobble.

Good running by Steve McNamara and Tim Walinski carried the ball down to the Crane Tech 15 yard line where their first threat was fumbled away.

Again gaining possession of of the ball, Crane Tech did a lot of slipping and sliding before deciding to let the Lions have another try.

However, the Crane Tech kicker was just not having his day and could punt the ball only 15 yards.

THIS TIME the Lions were able to capitalize on the many Crane Tech errors. Mike Campana, quarterbacking throughout the game, brought the ball down to the Crane Tech fire.

Then McNamara carried the ball over for the score. Wilkinson got the extra point, making it 7-0 at the close of the quarter.

Crane Tech, controlling the ball early in the second quarter ran into some strong oppostion on the part of the Lions' 160-pound guard Gary Drabant who recovered a fumble on the Crane Tech ten. McNamara carried for two, bringing the ball down close to another score.

HOWEVER, Crane dug in to stop attempts by Campana and Wilkinson, who could not score from the one yard line. Crane Tech again took possession but could not move.

With another bad kick by Crane, and an end sweep by Wilkinson, the ball wound up on the Crane Tech 15. Campana funbled for the third time to check the threat.

Paul Carroll the Lions' tackle, kicked off to open the third quarter. The ball bounced off a Crane Tech lineman and into the hands of another lineman who fumbled. St. Viator, trying to recover, could not hold on to the ball which kept rolling and changing hands until Drabant pounced upon it. The ball rolled 20 yards before being retained by the Lions.

THERE WERE more fumbles in the third quarter than there were yards gained. First Campana fumbled and recovered. Then Crane Tech fumbled.

Good defensive work by Crane Tech on the part of Robinson, combined with several roughing the kicker penalties, saw Crane threatening late in this quarter. Steve Gown led the attack by Tech which was finally stopped by Jack Helmer, who recovered a blocked Crane kick.

St. Viator again threatened. Aided by an off-sides penalty against Crane, the Lions set up for the score only to have the ball again stolen by way of another fumble. The fourth quarter ended with the Lions on top, 7-0.

Again the poor kicking on the part of Crane Tech led to the threatening of St. Viator on the Crane Tech 29 yard line. After an off-sides penalty, Walinski carried the ball twice; one on a pass (the first completion of the game), leading the Lions' charge deep into Crane Tech territory.

A 15 YARD penalty on Crane for grabbing the face mask put the ball on the 15 yard line. St. Viator was unable to hang on to the football and Crane Tech recovered.

Drabant intercepted the second pass of the game and then went over for the score. After this play was over a personal foul penalty was called on Crane Tech, giving the Lions a score of 13-0 and forcing Crane to kick off from the 45 yard line. The game ended after a beautiful interception by the Lions' Dennis Wilkinson.

Nelson Paces Wildcat Win Over Niles

The passing combination of Pat McGuire to Tom Nelson paced a second half comeback that saw the Wheeling freshman "A" team rout Niles North 33-13 last Saturday on the Viking field.

The Wildcat "B" team made it a sweep for Wheeling by scoring in every quarter en route to an easy 27-0 victory.

Nelson scored all five Wheeling touchdowns as the Wildcats battled back from a 7-6 deficit to turn the game into a rout. Three of Nelson's scores came on passes from McGuire, one covering 55 yards.

John Haas paced the "B" victory by running for one touchdown and passing to Keith Vaskovsky for another. Len Eaton and Don Danhour also scored for Wheeling, Eaton's coming on a 55 yard dash.

Card Sophs Win

Defensive Unit Praised by Coach

Praise for the entire defensive unit was in order this week as Tom Pitchford, head sophomore football coach at Arlington, looked back on a 6-2, weather-hampered victory over Riverside-Brookfield.

"We showed a lot of improvement over the previous week," Pitchford said. Arlington had toppled Barrington in the opener, 18-13.

Earning plaudits for their work on defense were linemen Karl Pingel, Jim Huegerich, Jim Donchess, Bob Ungaro, and Guy Davis and linebackers Mike Wadzita, Herb Irlbacker, and Bruce Weber.

ARLINGTON scored its only touchdown in the West Suburban opener in the first quarter on a 10-yard run by quarterback Brad Somers. The payoff dash terminated a long march.

A high pass from center on a punt attempt went over Somers' head out of the end zone in the third quarter for an automatic safety and the two R-B points.

Riverside threatened late in the first half but Ron Horcher picked off an R-B aerial at the 19. The Cards penetrated to the Riverside 30 in the third quarter only to have a fumble check this threat.

The Cardinals will entertain York's Barons Friday evening at six o'clock. York dropped its opening league game to Dwners Grove, 19-12.

Record Crowd

The Illinois-Ohio State football game here Oct. 10 will establish a new crowd record for an Illini home opener. The present mark of 64,819 was established in 1959, with Army as the opponent.

Hoffman Elevens Defeat Addison On Homecoming

The Commandoes and the Raiders both battled back from early deficits to whip Addison on Homecoming day for the Hoffman Estates teams last Sunday.

In the opener the Commandoes came off a 7-6 halftime deficit to earn a 13-7 victory. In the nightcap, the Raiders spotted the Cowboys an early touchdown, then bounced back to rout the Addison club 39-6.

Bob Reck's 29 yard touchdown run late in the third quarter gave the Commandoes their victory. The winner's first score came on a one yard plunge by John Fortney. Eddie Marcoski set up the score with an 18 yard sweep.

THE RAIDERS nullified an early Cowboy score on a pass play from Larry Sichler to Dennis McGlory. Jim Farinosi put the Raiders in scoring position with a 45 yard run.

Hoffman's second score came on a nine yard bootleg by Sichler. Tackle Pat Dwyer raced 55 yards with a Cowboy fumble later in the second period to give the Raiders a 19-6 halftime lead.

Farinosi scored two more touchdowns in the second half. The second one came on a lateral from Jim Button after Button received a pass from Sichler. The play covered 50 yards.

The Hoffman teams play the Downers Grove elevens next week at the American Legion Field, 4200 S. Saratoga in Downers Grove.

Falcons' Sophs Edge Glenbrook

Halfback Dick Lynch and quarterback Rich Gillespie combined to lead Forest View's sophomores to a 7-6 football win over Glenbrook North.

In the game played last Saturday at Glenbrook, Lynch broke loose on a 64 yard third quarter romp for the Falcons' only touchdown. Moments later Gillespie plunged into the end zone, providing the vital extra point which gave Forest View its slim victory margin.

Glenbrook North missed a tie when its running extra point bid, following a fourth quarter score, was halted just inches short of pay dirt.

"We made too many mistakes to move consistently," said Falcon soph coach Bob Walther of his offense. On defense, he tabbed Dave Kaspari, Craig Smith and Ned Zeman as being instrumental in the second consecutive victory for the Falcons.

To aid in further victories, quarterback Frank Calvello, injured last week, may return to the line-up for the next Forest View game. That next contest is this Saturday, at home, against Deerfield.

Cardinal Harriers Triumph

Arlington's varsity and frosh-soph cross country teams recorded victories over Prospect Tuesday afternoon in meets at the Knights' course.

The Cardinal varsity claimed a 25-33 decision with John Brunner the individual winner, and the Cards' frosh-sophs pulled out a tight 27-28 victory.

Brunner set a course record of 9:22 in winning his fourth straight meet. He was followed across the line by Prospect's Gary York (9:32).

Tom Taylor (4) and Bob Yeazel (5) also cracked the top five for Russ Attis' Cardinals.

Also scoring for Dick Calisch's entry were Jack Pollard in third, Gust Filantres in sixth, Ed Schneider in 11th, and George Schneider in 12th.

Steve Holmes of Prospect was the individual winner on a soph level.

Scoreless Deadlock in Jayvee Tilt

The Prospect and Deerfield junior varsity football squads fought each other and the weather elements in a preliminary contest last Saturday afternoon on the Prospect gridiron.

The end result was a scoreless tie, as neither unit could put together what could be considered a serious scoring drive.

The 0-0 tie game was played in a continuous rain, with the caliber of play being further hampered by gale-like winds.

The tie gave Coach Chuck Aldrich's Knights a record of one tie and one loss for the first two games of the season.

Falcons Score Early And Dominate League Game With Spartans

by MICHAEL HESS

Know what it's like to play football in a hurricane? No? Well to find out, just ask the Forest View football team. Last Saturday, in hurricane-like weather, the Falcons swamped Glenbrook North 25-0.

Only fifty hardy fans braved the gale force winds and torrential rains to witness Coach Bob Scott's eleven achieve its initial victory in Mid-Suburban League action and second straight win of the young '64 season.

The Falcon offense decided the contest early by scoring twice before Glenbrook had its hands on the ball. Glenbrook's Spartans, under Coach Harold Samorian, never really started an offense as a fired-up Falcon defense, and the weather, repeatedly cost the visiting squad its scoring chances.

IN ITS SPLASH to victory, Forest View wasted little time. The home eleven took the opening kick-off on its own 29 yard line. Short gainers moved the ball to the 44. On the next play, halfback Pat Dunnigan burst over right guard and raced, nearly untouched, 56 yards into the Spartan end zone.

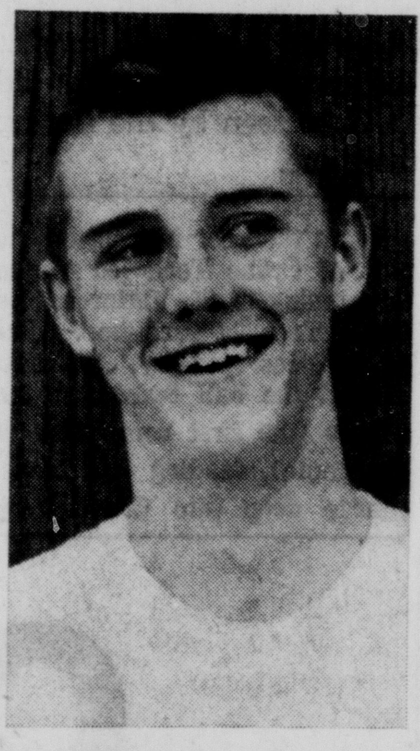
The extra point attempt failed as the wind pushed Charles Boesenberg's kick twenty yards wide of the goal post. At 6-0, the Falcons had a lead that was never in danger.

On the ensuing kick-off, the wind again stepped into the contest and presented Forest View with its second scoring opportunity. The kick was caught in the gale, sent straight into the air and twisted down, spinning and wet, into the arms of a surprised Glenbrook lineman just fifteen yards away. He couldn't hold on and Boesenberg recovered the fumble for Forest View.

SEVEN PLAYS later the Falcons had moved in close to the Spartan goal line. Fullback Bob Coon tried to move the ball inside the Glenbrook five yard line but the soaked pigskin squirted from his hands.

A Falcon lineman, Bill Grunwald, scored the first TD of his football career by leaping on the ball as it flopped across the goal line. Again the wind sailed Boesenberg's extra point try far off course. Forest View now led 12-0 and the visitors had yet to run a play from scrimmage.

Regardless of later scores, it was Scott's defensemen, the "Chinese Bandits," who dominated the rest of the game. Time and again the Falcons' defense stopped Glenbrook North when one more yard might have led to a touchdown.



PAT DUNNIGAN
Busy Afternoon

THE GLENBROOK forces were held to a mere 14 offensive plays and one first down in the first half. Time and again FV's defenders threw the harassed Spartans for sizable losses. The visitors were stopped with a composite total of just seven yards gained during the entire game. In the rain and wind, when it was easy for anyone to make mistakes, Forest View's defense never failed.

Against both the weather and the battling Falcon defense, the Glenbrook North backfield had little success but could be given an "A" for effort. Quarterback Barth Morreale and fullback Don Forgione tried repeatedly to make a dent in the opposition's defending wall. The slippery turf and surging defenders were just too much to overcome on this particular Saturday.

Quarterback Steve Mueller and fullback Chester Lowiec added the scoring clinchers for the Falcons. With only ten seconds left in the second quarter, Mueller plunged three yards for the home eleven's third TD which was followed by another wind-blown point kicking failure by Boeseneberg.

Lowiec carried six straight times in the fourth quarter, his final run resulting in a score from the 5 yard line. Instead of again trying to kick in the wind, a seventh consecutive carry by Lowiec accounted for the extra point which completed the Falcon's offense.

In last Saturday's clash, Glenbrook North had to struggle against both the opposition and the weather. For the Spartans it never stopped raining. They lost. But, despite the hurricane conditions, for the Forest View Falcons it didn't rain at all. They won.

Cat Sophs Rout Niles

The Wheeling sophomores raced to a 21-0 halftime lead and rolled over Niles North 34-0 Saturday for their second straight shutout win. The Cats topped Maine South 29-0 in their opener.

Five Wildcats shared in the scoring with Peet, DeVito, Hittman, Haddock and Ryan all scoring touchdowns for Bob Tipsword's squad.

Prospect's Sophs Drop 13-6 Game

A second straight loss was handed to Prospect High School's sophomore football team last Saturday by Deerfield who beat the visitors 13 to 6.

Prospect opened the scoring when quarterback John Phillips passed 35 yards to end Greg Christenson in the second quarter. A 42 yard run by Vince Curry, the Knights' left halfback, had put the sophs in scoring position.

The two Deerfield scores covered long distances. The Deerfield eleven counted on a pass of over fifty yards in the second period and on a third quarter, 72 yard punt return. Deerfield ran for the lone extra point of the ballgame after its second TD.

A penalty called back a 12 yard touchdown run by the Knights' Phillips early in the game and a later fumble on the opponent's 30 halted another Prospect scoring drive.

Air Strike

Michigan State's 88-yard scoring pass play against Southern California in 1963 was the longest in Spartan history. The Steve Juday-to-Sherman Lewis strike surpassed an 83-yard throw from Gene Glick to Lynn Chandnois in the 1949 Notre Dame game.

Cards, Hood Better 'Mudders' Than R-B In Conference Game

by BOB FRISK

The rain came down and a drought ended.

Arlington High School battled high winds and a driving rain Saturday afternoon and pulled out its first varsity football victory since Nov. 3, 1962.

With Charley Hood supplying 160 yards rushing and two touchdowns and earning recognition as the best "mudder" on the field, Al Allen's Cardinals turned back a host Riverside-Brookfield eleven 26-19 to snap a frustrating nine-game losing streak.

The victory was the first for Allen as the Cardinals' football boss.

IT WAS A day best suited for sitting in an easy chair watching television, but a few hardy souls braved the elements and witnessed the opening West Suburban Conference game for both schools.

What's unfortunate about Arlington's victory is that is was achieved before such a small crowd. You always hope for a packed house when you finally put the brakes to an agonizing skid, but the weatherman took care of that Saturday.

What the weatherman couldn't handle in the first half of this West Suburban contest was the running of Arlington's Hood, a 175-pound senior halfback who had authored only 52 yards in 21 tries as a junior.

HOOD PROSPERED on the muddy field with two long touchdown gallops and 159 of his 160 yards rushing in the first two quarters. Chuck only carried three times in the final half but the damage had been done. Riverside never recovered.

Chuck shot through the Bulldogs' line for a 32-yard scoring scamper late in the first period to put the Cardinals on the scoreboard for the first time.

Hood's initial touchdown was the equalizer for an eight yard payoff dash by Riverside's Otto Zeman early in the stanza, but R-B nursed a shaky 7-6 lead when Arlington's extra point attempt failed.

A low pass from center that got by Cardinal punter Rich Hoppe had set up Riverside's first touchdown.

ARLINGTON moved into the lead on the first play of the second quarter when junior Steve Ewart covered six yards around his own right end after quarterback Steve Allen had executed a beautiful fake to fullback Hoppe.

Ewart's scoring maneuver was set up by a blocked punt which Ken Butcher covered at the Riverside one yard line. A penalty moved the ball back to the six and Hood was nailed for no gain before Ewart counted.

Butcher converted to give Arlington a 13-7 lead.

HOOD WAS OFF to the races again after Riverside was forced to punt. The Cards took over on their own 32 and Chuck found daylight on a crowd-pleasing 68-yard dash. Butcher added the extra point.

Riverside moved within seven points when Dan Opper picked off an Allen pass and scampered 67 yards. A smashing block by R-B quarterback Jimmy O'Toole cleared the way for Opper on the long run.

Arlington moved into a 26-13 lead late in the third period after Scott Somers, who gave the Bulldog kicker fits all afternoon, broke through to block a punt at the R-B 18.

ALLEN CARRIED to the 17, and Ewart bolted to the 12. Ewart added another yard to the 11 and a penalty gave Arlington a first down at the seven. Hood penetrated to the six, and Allen carried in for the touchdown after catching the Bulldog defense with a nifty fake to fullback Mike Frase. Butcher's kick was off the mark.

Riverside scored its final six-pointer late in the game on a five-yard pitch from O'Toole to Otto Zeman. The R-B counter was set up by a recovered fumble at the Arlington eight.

Vikings Edge Cat Harriers

Wheeling runners grabbed the individual honors, but Niles North won a pair of close decisions in varsity and frosh-soph duals between the Mid-Suburban schools at Wheeling last Friday. The Vikes copped the varsity match 26-33 and won 23-33 at the sophomore level.

Wheeling's Bill Lytle won the varsity race in 9:47, edging Bill Kuhnle of Niles by five seconds. Wildcat Doug Steinman finished third, followed by teammates Paul Fiegan (6), Karl Meisenheimer (12) and Dave Eaton (15).

Greg Shornden won the underclass race for Wheeling in 10:52, but the Cats claimed only one of the next five places.

Rain Hits, Falcon Unit Falters, 12-6

"Once the rains came, nothing went our way." This was Paul Jordan's comment on his Forest View junior-varsity football loss to Glenbrook North.

Quarterback Bob Arnold ran two yards for the F. V. score in the first quarter. The Falcon extra point run failed but the JV squad held their own for the rest of the half.

During the halftime break however, the skies opened and everything was wetness and mud. The tide turned in favor of Glenbrook North and Forest View never got back in the ballgame.

Repeated fumbles, costly mistakes and bad breaks plagued the Falcons in the second half and led to single touchdowns for Glenbrook in the third and fourth quarters.

The Forest View squad will look for its second victory in its third contest against Deerfield, this Saturday, on the opponents field.

Deerfield's Frosh Blank Knights, 7-0

Prospect High School's freshman football team was shut out by Deerfield in its season opener 7-0.

In the game played last Saturday on the Deerfield site, Coach Dave Ziemek's offense could never quite reach an end zone. Deerfield found paydirt once. The Deerfield score came in the second quarter.

Voted best offensive lineman for Prospect's frosh in their losing effort was Mike Sanders. Joe Martin received the best defensive back award.

The freshmen are at home to Glenbrook South in their next game this Saturday morning at 9:30.

Card Jayvees Top Riverside

Rick Engleson carried over on a quarterback sneak with two minutes remaining Monday afternoon to give Arlington's jayvee football team a 12-6 victory over Riverside-Brookfield.

The win was the first for Brendan Flynn's outfit in two outings.

Terry Clark tallied Arlington's opening touchdown on a seven-yard run in the first quarter. Riverside kjnotted the count on a 25-yard pass play in the second stanza.

Hoffman Elevens Defeat Addison On Homecoming

The Commandoes and the Raiders both battled back from early deficits to whip Addison on Homecoming day for the Hoffman Estates teams last Sunday.

In the opener the Commandoes came off a 7-6 halftime deficit to earn a 13-7 victory. In the nightcap, the Raiders spotted the Cowboys an early touchdown, then bounced back to rout the Addison club 39-6.

Bob Reck's 29 yard touchdown run late in the third quarter gave the Commandoes their victory. The winner's first score came on a one yard plunge by John Fortney. Eddie Marcoski set up the score with an 18 yard sweep.

THE RAIDERS nullified an early Cowboy score on a pass play from Larry Sichler to Dennis McGlory. Jim Farinosi put the Raiders in scoring position with a 45 yard run.

Hoffman's second score came on a nine yard bootleg by Sichler. Tackle Pat Dwyer raced 55 yards with a Cowboy fumble later in the second period to give the Raiders a 19-6 halftime lead.

Farinosi scored two more touchdowns in the second half. The second one came on a lateral from Jim Button after Button received a pass from Sichler. The play covered 50 yards.

The Hoffman teams play the Downers Grove elevens next week at the American Legion Field, 4200 S. Saratoga in Downers Grove.

Falcons' Sophs Edge Glenbrook

Halfback Dick Lynch and quarterback Rich Gillespie combined to lead Forest View's sophomores to a 7-6 football win over Glenbrook North.

In the game played last Saturday at Glenbrook, Lynch broke loose on a 64 yard third quarter romp for the Falcons' only touchdown. Moments later Gillespie plunged into the end zone, providing the vital extra point which gave Forest View its slim victory margin.

Glenbrook North missed a tie when its running extra point bid, following a fourth quarter score, was halted just inches short of pay dirt.

"We made too many mistakes to move consistently," said Falcon soph coach Bob Walther of his offense. On defense, he tabbed Dave Kaspari, Craig Smith and Ned Zeman as being instrumental in the second consecutive victory for the Falcons.

To aid in further victories, quarterback Frank Calvello, injured last week, may return to the line-up for the next Forest View game. That next contest is this Saturday, at home, against Deerfield.

Cardinal Harriers Triumph

Arlington's varsity and frosh-soph cross country teams recorded victories over Prospect Tuesday afternoon in meets at the Knights' course.

The Cardinal varsity claimed a 25-33 decision with John Brunner the individual winner, and the Cards' frosh-sophs pulled out a tight 27-28 victory.

Brunner set a course record of 9:22 in winning his fourth straight meet. He was followed across the line by Prospect's Gary York (9:32).

Tom Taylor (4) and Bob Yeazel (5) also cracked the top five for Russ Attis' Cardinals.

Also scoring for Dick Calisch's entry were Jack Pollard in third, Gust Filantres in sixth, Ed Schneider in 11th, and George Schneider in 12th.

Steve Holmes of Prospect was the individual winner on a soph level.

Scoreless Deadlock in Jayvee Tilt

The Prospect and Deerfield junior varsity football squads fought each other and the weather elements in a preliminary contest last Saturday afternoon on the Prospect gridiron.

The end result was a scoreless tie, as neither unit could put together what could be considered a serious scoring drive.

The 0-0 tie game was played in a continuous rain, with the caliber of play being further hampered by gale-like winds.

The tie gave Coach Chuck Aldrich's Knights a record of one tie and one loss for the first two games of the season.

Falcons Score Early And Dominate League Game With Spartans

by MICHAEL HESS

Know what it's like to play football in a hurricane? No? Well to find out, just ask the Forest View football team. Last Saturday, in hurricane-like weather, the Falcons swamped Glenbrook North 25-0.

Only fifty hardy fans braved the gale force winds and torrential rains to witness Coach Bob Scott's eleven achieve its initial victory in Mid-Suburban League action and second straight win of the young '64 season.

The Falcon offense decided the contest early by scoring twice before Glenbrook had its hands on the ball. Glenbrook's Spartans, under Coach Harold Samorian, never really started an offense as a fired-up Falcon defense, and the weather, repeatedly cost the visiting squad its scoring chances.

IN ITS SPLASH to victory, Forest View wasted little time. The home eleven took the opening kick-off on its own 29 yard line. Short gainers moved the ball to the 44. On the next play, halfback Pat Dunnigan burst over right guard and raced, nearly untouched, 56 yards into the Spartan end zone.

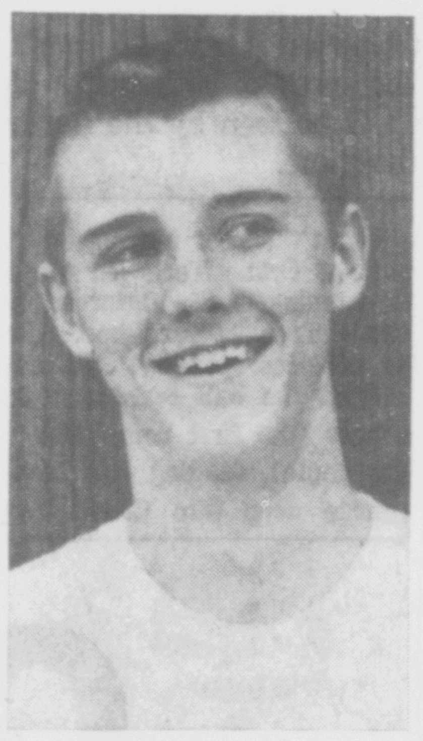
The extra point attempt failed as the wind pushed Charles Boesenberg's kick twenty yards wide of the goal post. At 6-0, the Falcons had a lead that was never in danger.

On the ensuing kick-off, the wind again stepped into the contest and presented Forest View with its second scoring opportunity. The kick was caught in the gale, sent straight into the air and twisted down, spinning and wet, into the arms of a surprised Glenbrook lineman just fifteen yards away. He couldn't hold on and Boesenberg recovered the fumble for Forest View.

SEVEN PLAYS later the Falcons had moved in close to the Spartan goal line. Fullback Bob Coon tried to move the ball inside the Glenbrook five yard line but the soaked pigskin squirted from his hands.

A Falcon lineman, Bill Grunwald, scored the first TD of his football career by leaping on the ball as it flopped across the goal line. Again the wind sailed Boesenberg's extra point try far off course. Forest View now led 12-0 and the visitors had yet to run a play from scrimmage.

Regardless of later scores, it was Scott's defensemen, the "Chinese Bandits," who dominated the rest of the game. Time and again the Falcons' defense stopped Glenbrook North when one more yard might have led to a touchdown.



PAT DUNNIGAN
Busy Afternoon

THE GLENBROOK forces were held to a mere 14 offensive plays and one first down in the first half. Time and again FV's defenders threw the harassed Spartans for sizable losses. The visitors were stopped with a composite total of just seven yards gained during the entire game. In the rain and wind, when it was easy for anyone to make mistakes, Forest View's defense never failed.

Against both the weather and the battling Falcon defense, the Glenbrook North backfield had little success but could be given an "A" for effort. Quarterback Barth Morreale and fullback Don Forgione tried repeatedly to make a dent in the opposition's defending wall. The slippery turf and surging defenders were just too much to overcome on this particular Saturday.

Quarterback Steve Mueller and fullback Chester Lowiec added the scoring clinchers for the Falcons. With only ten seconds left in the second quarter, Mueller plunged three yards for the home eleven's third TD which was followed by another wind-blown point kicking failure by Boeseneberg.

Lowiec carried six straight times in the fourth quarter, his final run resulting in a score from the 5 yard line. Instead of again trying to kick in the wind, a seventh consecutive carry by Lowiec accounted for the extra point which completed the Falcon's offense.

In last Saturday's clash, Glenbrook North had to struggle against both the opposition and the weather. For the Spartans it never stopped raining. They lost. But, despite the hurricane conditions, for the Forest View Falcons it didn't rain at all. They won.

Cat Sophs Rout Niles

The Wheeling sophomores raced to a 21-0 halftime lead and rolled over Niles North 34-0 Saturday for their second straight shutout win. The Cats topped Maine South 29-0 in their opener.

Five Wildcats shared in the scoring with Peet, DeVito, Hittman, Haddock and Ryan all scoring touchdowns for Bob Tipsword's squad.

Prospect's Sophs Drop 13-6 Game

A second straight loss was handed to Prospect High School's sophomore football team last Saturday by Deerfield who beat the visitors 13 to 6.

Prospect opened the scoring when quarterback John Phillips passed 35 yards to end Greg Christenson in the second quarter. A 42 yard run by Vince Curry, the Knights' left halfback, had put the sophs in scoring position.

The two Deerfield scores covered long distances. The Deerfield eleven counted on a pass of over fifty yards in the second period and on a third quarter, 72 yard punt return. Deerfield ran for the lone extra point of the ballgame after its second TD.

A penalty called back a 12 yard touchdown run by the Knights' Phillips early in the game and a later fumble on the opponent's 30 halted another Prospect scoring drive.

Air Strike

Michigan State's 88-yard scoring pass play against Southern California in 1963 was the longest in Spartan history. The Steve Juday-to-Sherman Lewis strike surpassed an 83-yard throw from Gene Glick to Lynn Chandnois in the 1949 Notre Dame game.

Cards, Hood Better 'Mudders' Than R-B In Conference Game

by BOB FRISK

The rain came down and a drought ended.

Arlington High School battled high winds and a driving rain Saturday afternoon and pulled out its first varsity football victory since Nov. 3, 1962.

With Charley Hood supplying 160 yards rushing and two touchdowns and earning recognition as the best "mudder" on the field, Al Allen's Cardinals turned back a host Riverside-Brookfield eleven 26-19 to snap a frustrating nine-game losing streak.

The victory was the first for Allen as the Cardinals' football boss.

IT WAS A day best suited for sitting in an easy chair watching television, but a few hardy souls braved the elements and witnessed the opening West Suburban Conference game for both schools.

What's unfortunate about Arlington's victory is that is was achieved before such a small crowd. You always hope for a packed house when you finally put the brakes to an agonizing skid, but the weatherman took care of that Saturday.

What the weatherman couldn't handle in the first half of this West Suburban contest was the running of Arlington's Hood, a 175-pound senior halfback who had authored only 52 yards in 21 tries as a junior.

Butcher converted to give Arlington a 13-7 lead.

HOOD WAS OFF to the races again after Riverside was forced to punt. The Cards took over on their own 32 and Chuck found daylight on a crowd-pleasing 68-yard dash. Butcher added the extra point.

Riverside moved within seven points when Dan Opper picked off an Allen pass and scampered 67 yards. A smashing block by R-B quarterback Jimmy O'Toole cleared the way for Opper on the long run.

Arlington moved into a 26-13 lead late in the third period after Scott Somers, who gave the Bulldog kicker fits all afternoon, broke through to block a punt at the R-B 18.

Riverside scored its final six-pointer late in the game on a five-yard pitch from O'Toole to Otto Zeman. The R-B counter was set up by a recovered fumble at the Arlington eight.

Midget Football

49ers, Lions Tied For Division Lead

They're only into the second week of the season, but there's a dandy race shaping up in the Senior League of the Arlington Heights Midget Football program.

With four games in the record book the 49'ers and Lions are tied for the top slot with identical records. The Redskins are in third at 1-1 and the Rams are fourth at 0-2.

The 49'ers showed some class in an impressive 13-0 victory over the Redskins, the latter a 12-0 victor on opening day.

DENNIS MEACHAM carried around end for eight yards and the first 49ers score, and he also picked up the second counter on a 10-yard gallop. Dan Selleck added the extra point.

Sparkling on defense for the winners were Dan Roche, Jim Ulrick, Scott Walker, and Steve Proebstle.

The Lions scored single touchdowns in each of the last three quarters for a 19-7 victory over the Rams. Steve Stratton scored on a five-yard run and added the extra point for the first tallies.

IN THE THIRD quarter Dave Ewart completed a 15-yard pass play to Stratton for another score. In the fourth stanza Ewart flipped a 12-yard pass to Bob Kelly.

Tim Shannon and Bob Kelly were defensive standouts for the winners.

There were no details on how the Rams scored.

In Junior League action the Eagles have taken the lead with two straight victories.

THE LEAGUE-leaders whipped the Giants 20-13 with the decisive touchdown coming in the fourth quarter on a pass from Conley to Mike Pettenuzzo with four minutes remaining.

Pettenuzzo scored on a 50-yard run and Rick Parkin also counted for the winners. Parkin was praised for his offensive blocking, and Kulla, Bratner, McGrath, Turner, Quade, and Locascio were cited for their defensive work.

(Ed. note: Please print all names.)

THE CARDINALS scored in the final quarter to pull out a 6-0 victory over the Colts. Tim Trummer counted with two minutes remaining on a 55-yard reverse.

Offensive standouts for the winners were Trummer, Bruce Frase, John Oldenburg, Jim Chauncey, Mike Maybee, and Mike Musien. On defense the coaching staff praised Tom Surge, Bill Kieck, Eric Tollefson, Rick Laub, Mark Pritchard, and Charles Oldenburg.

Harris, Wolod, Roeing, Rossi and Harth were defensive standouts for the Colts.

The Bears and Packers battled to a 6-6 deadlock with both clubs scoring in the second half.

DON LEWIS tallied the only Bear touchdown on a 30-yard pass from Gene Elsberg. Tom Cannon turned in some fine runs for the Bears and Doug Rose, Tom Will and John Heitz were standouts on defense.

The Packers utilized an intercepted pass by Scott Lloyd and a sustained march to tie the score in the final period. Terry Ormsbee picked up the six points on a two-yard smash.

Offense standouts for the Packers were Scott Tremberth and Charles Donchess. Scott Swanezy, John Hilton, Tremberth, and Greg Watland were the stars on defense for the Packers.

59ers Hold Awards Luncheon

The annual awards luncheon of the Hoffman 59ers Ladies Golf League was held at Golden Acres Country Club.

Trophes were awarded to the members of the first place team, Frank's Beauty Salon. The team was led by Captain Joy Keesee, whose team-mates were Jean Witt, Sibyl Mann, Doris Morrissey, and Betty Schultz. Mrs. Frank Vaccaro accepted the trophy for Frank's Beauty Salon.

Clara Gerker was presented with a trophy for Most Valuable Player in the league for 1964. Named as the most improved golfer for the year was Pat Vancel.

Prizes were given to all members for the 18 hole tournament. A special plaque was placed in the clubhouse naming the player who scored low gross in the tournament. The honor went to Jean Witt for her gross score of 106.

New officers for the 59ers were elected for the 1965 season. President Clara Gerker was re-elected and Mary Sayad and Joy Keesee were named secretary and treasurer respectively.

Boedicker's 77-76 Takes Golf Honors

Bob Boedicker fired 18-hole totals of 77 and 76 to capture top honors in the Golden Acres Country Club golf tournament.

Boedicker, representing the Hoffman Men's division, finished six strokes in front of Bob Powell, who carded a 159.

Eli Sargis was third with 161. John Milke, John Andrup, and Len Haines, Sr. tied for fourth with 163s and Andrup won the playoff.

The Hoffman Estates Men's league took team honors with a unit of Boedicker, Powell, Roger Leland, Harry Grover, and Milke.

Buicks Roll 3rd Straight Shutout Win

Stretch PCTL Lead With Win Over Casares

Come on fellas, cut it out.

The way Bill Cook Buick is trouncing the rest of the Paddock Classic Bowling League, the first half race may soon develop into one for second place.

After three weeks of play in the PCTL the Buicks have a 'perfect' total of 21 points. Shutout number three came last Saturday evening at the expense of the Casares Pro Bowlers.

Other action found Gunnell's, a solid contender for first last week, fighting to hold onto second after dropping a 4-3 decision to Country Lanes. Gunnell's second place standing is in peril because The Brass Rail Restaurant lashed Pioneer Lanes 5-2 to move within one point of second.

THE FINAL match of the evening saw improved Jeffery Lanes whip Morton Pontiac, 5-2.

John Kmety, a talented newcomer on the Jeffery team, and Hal Norum, a Morton veteran, shared individual honors for the evening. Kmety claimed high game with the first leg of a snappy 267-177-209—653. Norum edged Kmety and George Schmidt of Pioneer (also 653) for top series with a consistent 206-229-226—661.

The Buicks had no prolific scoring to match these, but Paul Borvig gave them a 623 and Al Haase chipped in with a 610 as the leaders survived close calls in the second and third games to remain unscored upon. Match honors went to Don Oberg, who rolled a 624 for Casares.

BOTH COUNTRY Lanes and Gunnell's suffered through off nights as CL copped the first and third games but lost the point for total pins to an 84 point Gunnell edge in the second game. Tom Kouros of Gunnell's led both teams with a 618.

The Brass Rail displayed superior balance in its victory over Pioneer. Fred Des Jardin paced the win with a 622. Schmidt's match topping 653 featured a 257 in the first game.

Kmety got lots of help from Don Christensen (208-205-225 — 638) and Ted Zimmerman (159-225-225—609) as the Jeffery team posted 3061 total, highest in the league this year. The winners needed it because the Pontiacs led by Norum and Les Zikes (628), came up with their best effort of the season, a 2916.

Glenbrook Frosh Tip Falcons

A third period safety proved to be the margin of victory as the Glenbrook North football freshmen slipped past Forest View's frosh "A" squad 8 to 7 last Saturday on the winner's field.

The FV freshman "B" team whipped Prospect's B's 6 to 2.

Against Glenbrook, Forest View's A's scored first on a first quarter pass from quarterback Mike Otto to end Bob Savage which covered 17 yards. Spencer Driescharf ran in the extra point and the game was scoreless for the rest of the half.

A third quarter recovery of a fumbled punt in the Falcon end zone gave Glenbrook its safety and the two resultant points, combined with a later touchdown, were all that Glenbrook North needed for its win over the Frosh A's.

The Forest View B squad used a touchdown run by Raymond Baur for its victory score over Prospect. The Prospect tally came on a second quarter safety.

This Saturday the frosh A's are at home to Deerfield while the B team meets Winnetka, also at home. Both teams will be playing their second games which will start at 9:30 a.m.

At Beverly Lanes

Women's Classic

Pontiacs Gain Tie for Lead

Penny Smith and Joan Lindahl fired the big series Saturday evening to lead Morton Pontiac to a 4-0 blitz of Country Lanes and share of first place in the Paddock Women's Classic League.

Penny fashioned a 586 and Joan chipped in with a 565 as the Pontiacs pushed their record to 7-1 in the six-team gals division.

Morton had to be tough to keep pace with Steve's Restaurant as Steve's, the first week's leader with a 4-0 whitewashing of Bill Cook Buick, took three points from Owens Plastics.

IN OTHER action Saturday River Rand Bowl picked up three points from Bill Cook Buick and climbed into third place in the women's league.

Penny Smith's 218 was the big game for Morton Pontiac as it rolled past Country Lanes 4-0. Penny opened with a modest 177 but was red-hot in her two final games with efforts of 191 and 218.

Nancy Dietz was high for Country Lanes with a 494 series.

Steve's Restaurant continued to roll along thanks to some strong performances by LaVerne Rosset (571) and Bonnie Kuhn (565). Both gals had 210 games.

ROSE KRAFT topped Owens Plastics with a 543 series. Hellen Kijak fashioned a 221 game but had to settle for a 510 series. Peggy Harris had a 210 game and 512 series.

Ethel Juenger contributed the top series of the evening, a booming 590, in pacing River Rand Bowl past Bill Cook Buick, 3-1. Ethel had games of 198 and 224 before slipping to 168.

Marlene Smith was the only Cook Buick competitor able to eclipse 500. She fired a 534 with high game of 187.

Falcons' Harriers Roll Past League Champion, 19-42

"Fours" were wild for the Forest View cross country teams last Friday.

The Falcon varsity harriers won their fourth consecutive meet, crushing defending Mid-Suburban Conference champion Glenbrook North, 19 to 42.

Sophomore Ted Lambert was the individual winner for the fourth time as he set a new Forest View course record of 10:15. The soph harriers of Forest View also found their fourth win as they trounced Glenbrook's sophomore Spartans 15 to 50.

Coach Bob Rees' varsity runners captured all but second place among the top six finishers over their two mile run. Craig Brown (10:32), Jerry Potter (10:39), Bob Prucha (10:44) and Howard Hogle (10:49) took third through sixth for the undefeated sprinters.

The soph victory was even more decisive. The young Falcons captured the first eight places against Glenbrook North and nineteen of the squad bested the Spartans fifth runner. Dick Appleton was the Forest View lower level winner in 11:13. Eleven seconds in back of Appleton was Bucky Jones in 2nd place. Jerry Patterson, Bill Grabitt and Mike Ancona completed the sophomore sweep.

The next goal for Bob Rees runners is to change all of the "fours" into "fives."

At Arlington Lanes

Elmer's Restaurant is the leader in the Lazy Lofters division with a 6½-2½ mark, but A & A Body Shop (6-3) is right behind . . . Millie Winkelman fashioned the high series with a 488, and LaCerne Hambrecht had a 212 game . . . Capt. Jack O'Brian's "insurance brokers" maintained their lead in the Arlington Sportsman division as they swept four points from Arlington Produce . . . Nelson Realty's attempt to stap within striking distance was thwarted as Schimming Oil gained a two-point split.

Casares

Northern Industrial Supply bagged high team series (1795), high team game (624), and most pins (3343) in the Gutter Gals league . . . Muriel Ford fashioned six straight strikes in her third game and finished at 224 with a 562 series . . . R Lange Floriht and City Welding are second and third.

At Elk Grove Bowl

In the Wednesday Industrial Handicap league Harry Chase of Lehman's Trailers was tops with 593 . . . Other outstanding efforts were turned in by J. Kopiak with 590 and L.Frink with 584 . . . Jeanne's Bunny Hugs boast a 9-3 mark for a two-game lead in the Elkettes division . . . Dolly's Hully Gullies are in second place at 7-5.

Midget Football

49ers, Lions Tied For Division Lead

They're only into the second week of the season, but there's a dandy race shaping up in the Senior League of the Arlington Heights Midget Football program.

With four games in the record book the 49'ers and Lions are tied for the top slot with identical records. The Redskins are in third at 1-1 and the Rams are fourth at 0-2.

The 49'ers showed some class in an impressive 13-0 victory over the Redskins, the latter a 12-0 victor on opening day.

DENNIS MEACHAM carried around end for eight yards and the first 49ers score, and he also picked up the second counter on a 10-yard gallop. Dan Selleck added the extra point.

Sparkling on defense for the winners were Dan Roche, Jim Ulrick, Scott Walker, and Steve Proebstle.

The Lions scored single touchdowns in each of the last three quarters for a 19-7 victory over the Rams. Steve Stratton scored on a five-yard run and added the extra point for the first tallies.

IN THE THIRD quarter Dave Ewart completed a 15-yard pass play to Stratton for another score. In the fourth stanza Ewart flipped a 12-yard pass to Bob Kelly.

Tim Shannon and Bob Kelly were defensive standouts for the winners.

There were no details on how the Rams scored.

In Junior League action the Eagles have taken the lead with two straight victories.

THE LEAGUE-leaders whipped the Giants 20-13 with the decisive touchdown coming in the fourth quarter on a pass from Conley to Mike Pettenuzzo with four minutes remaining.

Pettenuzzo scored on a 50-yard run and Rick Parkin also counted for the winners. Parkin was praised for his offensive blocking, and Kulla, Bratner, McGrath, Turner, Quade, and Locascio were cited for their defensive work.

(Ed. note: Please print all names.)

THE CARDINALS scored in the final quarter to pull out a 6-0 victory over the Colts. Tim Trummer counted with two minutes remaining on a 55-yard reverse.

Offensive standouts for the winners were Trummer, Bruce Frase, John Oldenburg, Jim Chauncey, Mike Maybee, and Mike Musien. On defense the coaching staff praised Tom Surge, Bill Kieck, Eric Tollefson, Rick Laub, Mark Pritchard, and Charles Oldenburg.

Harris, Wclod, Roeing, Rossi and Harth were defensive stickouts for the Colts.

The Bears and Packers battled to a 6-6 deadlock with both clubs scoring in the second half.

DON LEWIS tallied the only Bear touchdown on a 30-yard pass from Gene Elsberg. Tom Cannon turned in some fine runs for the Bears and Doug Rose, Tom Will and John Heitz were standouts on defense.

The Packers utilized an intercepted pass by Scott Lloyd and a sustained march to tie the score in the final period. Terry Ormsbee picked up the six points on a two-yard smash.

Offense standouts for the Packers were Scott Tremberth and Charles Donchess. Scott Swanezy, John Hilton, Tremberth, and Greg Watland were the stars on defense for the Packers.

59ers Hold Awards Luncheon

The annual awards luncheon of the Hoffman 59ers Ladies Golf League was held at Golden Acres Country Club.

Trophes were awarded to the members of the first place team, Frank's Beauty Salon. The team was led by Captain Joy Keesee, whose team-mates were Jean Witt, Sibyl Mann, Doris Morrissey, and Betty Schultz. Mrs. Frank Vaccaro accepted the trophy for Frank's Beauty Salon.

Clara Gerker was presented with a trophy for Most Valuable Player in the league for 1964. Named as the most improved golfer for the year was Pat Vancel.

Prizes were given to all members for the 18 hole tournament. A special plaque was placed in the clubhouse naming the player who scored low gross in the tournament. The honor went to Jean Witt for her gross score of 106.

New officers for the 59ers were elected for the 1965 season. President Clara Gerker was re-elected and Mary Sayad and Joy Keesee were named secretary and treasurer respectively.

Boedicker's 77-76 Takes Golf Honors

Bob Boedicker fired 18-hole totals of 77 and 76 to capture top honors in the Golden Acres Country Club golf tournament.

Boedicker, representing the Hoffman Men's division, finished six strokes in front of Bob Powell, who carded a 159.

Eli Sargis was third with 161. John Milke, John Andrup, and Len Haines, Sr. tied for fourth with 163s and Andrup won the playoff.

The Hoffman Estates Men's league took team honors with a unit of Boedicker, Powell, Roger Leland, Harry Grover, and Milke.

At Jeffery Lanes

Don Roach fashioned high series (587) and Dukje Ross had high game (223) in the Friday night Men's . . . Paced by Ron Weiland's 635, Capri Builders shot high series in the Northwest Suburban Industrial with a 3039 . . . Bill Harris had the night's high game with a 248 . . . Wheeling Blackhawks captured three games with a high series of 2613 . . . Art Horcher had high series with 568, and Dick Cowell had high game of 216.

Congratulating them is Tom Coward (left), president of Tom Coward Lincoln-Mercury, Inc. of Oak Park, sponsor of the annual event in which 54 amateurs and 18 professionals from Illinois and Michigan participated

Buicks Roll 3rd Straight Shutout Win

Stretch PCTL Lead With Win Over Casares

Come on fellas, cut it out.

The way Bill Cook Buick is trouncing the rest of the Paddock Classic Bowling League, the first half race may soon develop into one for second place.

After three weeks of play in the PCTL the Buicks have a 'perfect' total of 21 points. Shutout number three came last Saturday evening at the expense of the Casares Pro Bowlers.

Other action found Gunnell's, a solid contender for first last week, fighting to hold onto second after dropping a 4-3 decision to Country Lanes. Gunnell's second place standing is in peril because The Brass Rail Restaurant lashed Pioneer Lanes 5-2 to move within one point of second.

THE FINAL match of the evening saw improved Jeffery Lanes whip Morton Pontiac, 5-2.

John Kmety, a talented newcomer on the Jeffery team, and Hal Norum, a Morton veteran, shared individual honors for the evening. Kmety claimed high game with the first leg of a snappy 267-177-209—653. Norum edged Kmety and George Schmidt of Pioneer (also 653) for top series with a consistent 206-229-226—661.

The Buicks had no prolific scoring to match these, but Paul Borvig gave them a 623 and Al Haase chipped in with a 610 as the leaders survived close calls in the second and third games to remain unscored upon. Match honors went to Don Oberg, who rolled a 624 for Casares.

BOTH COUNTRY Lanes and Gunnell's suffered through off nights as CL copped the first and third games but lost the point for total pins to an 84 point Gunnell edge in the second game. Tom Kouros of Gunnell's led both teams with a 618.

The Brass Rail displayed superior balance in its victory over Pioneer. Fred Des Jardin paced the win with a 622. Schmidt's match topping 653 featured a 257 in the first game.

Kmety got lots of help from Don Christensen (208-205-225 — 638) and Ted Zimmerman (159-225-225—609) as the Jeffery team posted 3061 total, highest in the league this year. The winners needed it because the Pontiacs led by Norum and Les Zikes (628), came up with their best effort of the season, a 2916.

Glenbrook Frosh Tip Falcons

A third period safety proved to be the margin of victory as the Glenbrook North football freshmen slipped past Forest View's frosh "A" squad 8 to 7 last Saturday on the winner's field.

The FV freshman "B" team whipped Prospect's B's 6 to 2.

Against Glenbrook, Forest View's A's scored first on a first quarter pass from quarterback Mike Otto to end Bob Savage which covered 17 yards. Spencer Driescharf ran in the extra point and the game was scoreless for the rest of the half.

A third quarter recovery of a fumbled punt in the Falcon end zone gave Glenbrook its safety and the two resultant points, combined with a later touchdown, were all that Glenbrook North needed for its win over the Frosh A's.

The Forest View B squad used a touchdown run by Raymond Baur for its victory score over Prospect. The Prospect tally came on a second quarter safety.

This Saturday the frosh A's are at home to Deerfield while the B team meets Winnetka, also at home. Both teams will be playing their second games which will start at 9:30 a.m.

At Beverly Lanes

Wandering minstrels Sundling, Lampert, Wallstrom and Pearson returned to competition in the Parkway league with the latter vaulting into the division lead with a 179 average . . . Ruthmary Baurhyte took all scoring honors in the Arlington Women's Keglers loop with a booming 584 . . . She had a 211 and 209 . . . "Toots" Horcher fashioned a 205 game, and Joan Lindahl had a 202 . . . Meyer Construction is on top of the Faith Lutheran men's league with seven points . . . Roselle Auto Leasing and Meyer Cartage are tied for second with six each.

Thunderbird

A luncheon was served in honor of the new members in the St. Raymond's Women's league . . . Meeske's took high series.

At Gunnell's Lanes

Harold Voight, bowling for Mount Prospect Bank in the St. Paul Men's Club league, picked up the 5-7 and 4-7-9-10 in a memorable night of bowling. . . The gals were a little slow starting this season in the Hits'n Misses division although L. Hugo rolled a 467 with 87 handicap . . . Van Driel's tok three games. Scots Restaurant had high game of 912, and Alanson's had high series of 2447.

Women's Classic

Pontiacs Gain Tie for Lead

Penny Smith and Joan Lindahl fired the big series Saturday evening to lead Morton Pontiac to a 4-0 blitz of Country Lanes and share of first place in the Paddock Women's Classic League.

Penny fashioned a 586 and Joan chipped in with a 565 as the Pontiacs pushed their record to 7-1 in the six-team gals division.

Morton had to be tough to keep pace with Steve's Restaurant as Steve's, the first week's leader with a 4-0 whitewashing of Bill Cook Buick, took three points from Owens Plastics.

IN OTHER action Saturday River Rand Bowl picked up three points from Bill Cook Buick and climbed into third place in the women's league.

Penny Smith's 218 was the big game for Morton Pontiac as it rolled past Country Lanes 4-0. Penny opened with a modest 177 but was red-hot in her two final games with efforts of 191 and 218.

Nancy Dietz was high for Country Lanes with a 494 series.

Steve's Restaurant continued to roll along thanks to some strong performances by LaVerne Rosset (571) and Bonnie Kuhn (565). Both gals had 210 games.

ROSE KRAFT topped Owens Plastics with a 543 series. Hellen Kijak fashioned a 221 game but had to settle for a 510 series. Peggy Harris had a 210 game and 512 series.

Ethel Juenger contributed the top series of the evening, a booming 590, in pacing River Rand Bowl past Bill Cook Buick, 3-1. Ethel had games of 198 and 224 before slipping to 168.

Marlene Smith was the only Cook Buick competitor able to eclipse 500. She fired a 534 with high game of 187.

Falcons' Harriers Roll Past League Champion, 19-42

"Fours" were wild for the Forest View cross country teams last Friday.

The Falcon varsity harriers won their fourth consecutive meet, crushing defending Mid-Suburban Conference champion Glenbrook North, 19 to 42.

Sophomore Ted Lambert was the individual winner for the fourth time as he set a new Forest View course record of 10:15. The soph harriers of Forest View also found their fourth win as they trounced Glenbrook's sophomore Spartans 15 to 50.

Coach Bob Rees' varsity runners captured all but second place among the top six finishers over their two mile run. Craig Brown (10:32), Jerry Potter (10:39), Bob Prucha (10:44) and Howard Hogle (10:49) took third through sixth for the undefeated sprinters.

The soph victory was even more decisive. The young Falcons captured the first eight places against Glenbrook North and nineteen of the squad bested the Spartans fifth runner. Dick Appleton was the Forest View lower level winner in 11:13.

Eleven seconds in back of Appleton was Bucky Jones in 2nd place. Jerry Patterson, Bill Grabitt and Mike Ancona completed the sophomore sweep.

The next goal for Bob Rees runners is to change all of the "fours" into "fives."

At Arlington Lanes

Elmer's Restaurant is the leader in the Lazy Lofters division with a 6½-2½ mark, but A & A Body Shop (6-3) is right behind . . . Millie Winkelman fashioned the high series with a 488, and LaCerne Hambrecht had a 212 game . . . Capt. Jack O'Brian's "insurance brokers" maintained their lead in the Arlington Sportsman division as they swept four points from Arlington Produce . . . Nelson Realty's attempt to stap within striking distance was thwarted as Schimming Oil gained a two-point split.

Casares

Northern Industrial Supply bagged high team series (1795), high team game (624), and most pins (3343) in the Gutter Gals league . . . Muriel Ford fashioned six straight strikes in her third game and finished at 224 with a 562 series . . . R Lange Floriht and City Welding are second and third.

At Elk Grove Bowl

In the Wednesday Industrial Handicap league Harry Chase of Lehman's Trailers was tops with 593 . . . Other outstanding efforts were turned in by J. Kopiak with 590 and L.Frink with 584 . . . Jeanne's Bunny Hugs boast a 9-3 mark for a two-game lead in the Elkettes division . . . Dolly's Hully Gullies are in second place at 7-5.

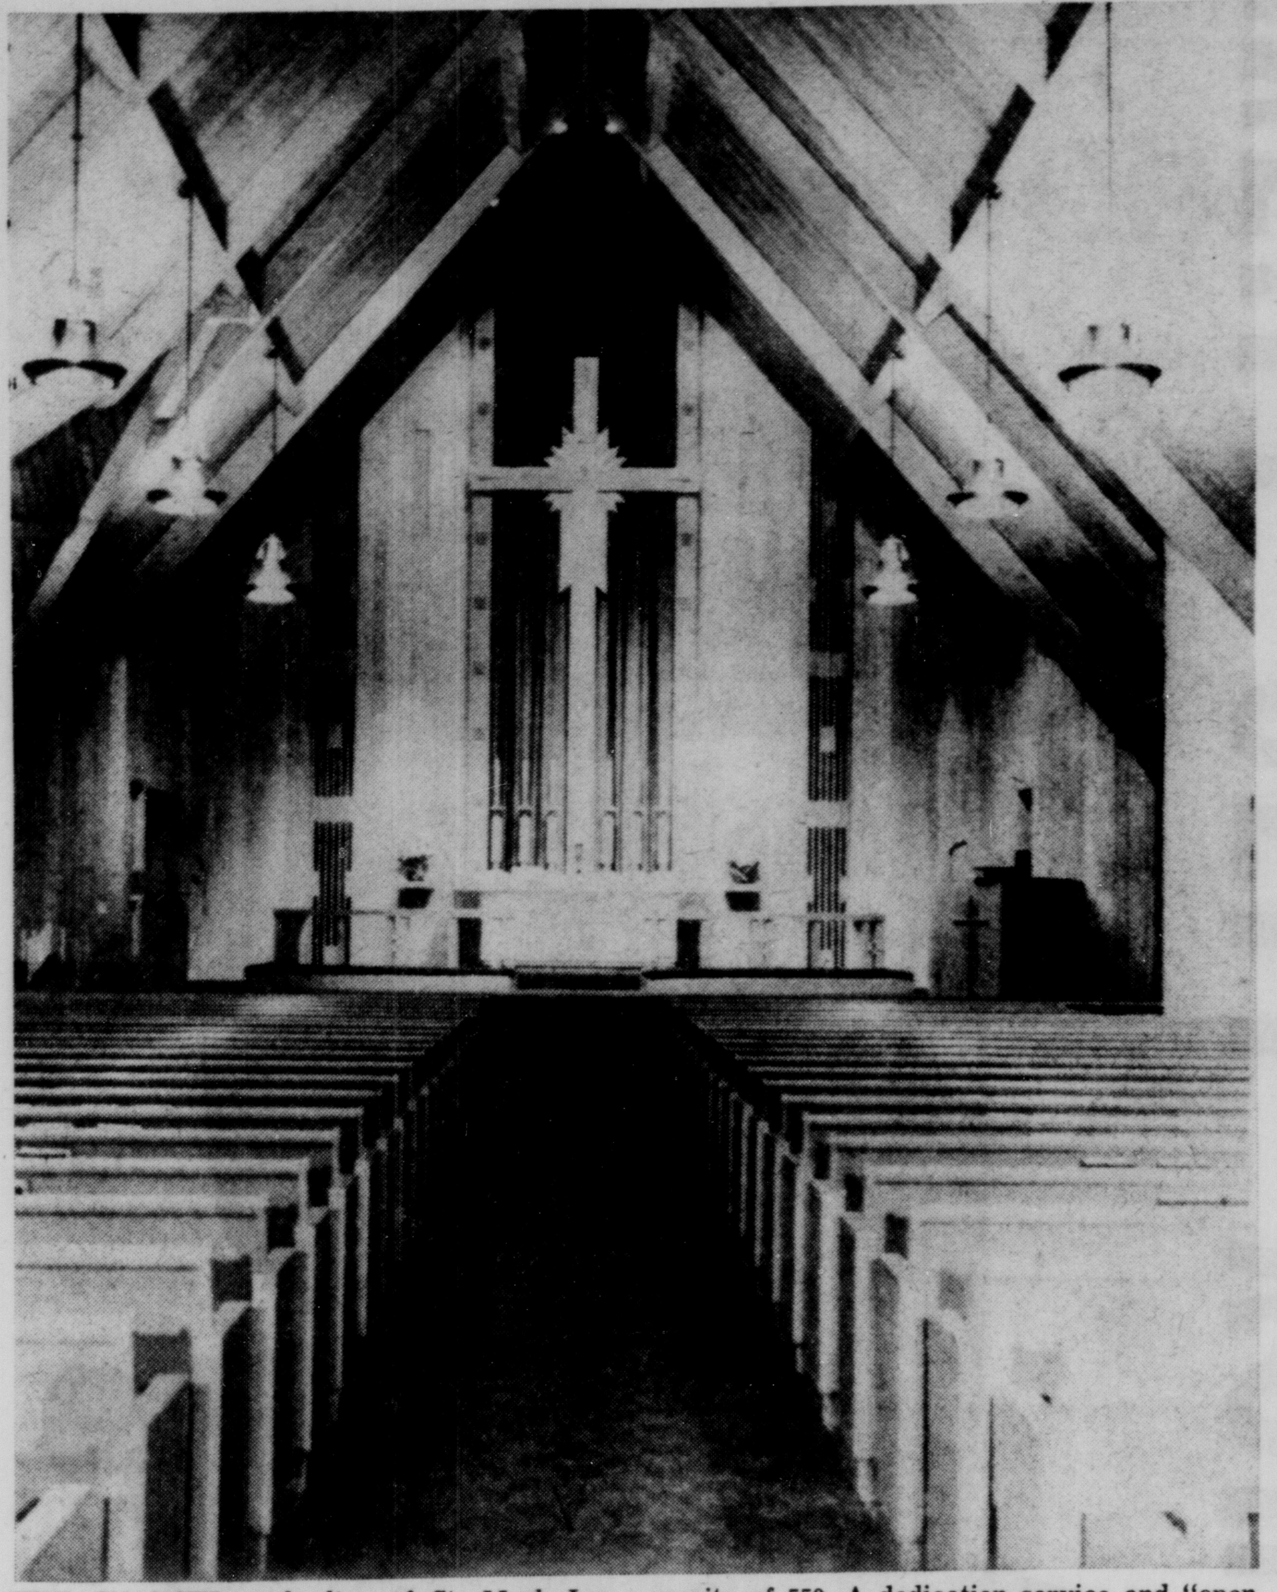
St. Mark's to Hold Dedication Service



THE CHANCEL and altar of St. Mark Lutheran Church have been moved back and a transept added to provide a total seating capacity of 550. A dedication service and "open church" takes place at 3 p.m. on Sunday in the church at 200 S. Wille, Mount Prospect.

A dedication service and "open church" takes place at St. Mark Lutheran Church, Mount Prospect, at 3 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 4.

It will be 19 years ago on that very date that a first meeting was held to lay plans for what is now St. Mark Lutheran Church.

The $120,000 expansion project for the enlargement of the church has been completed. Church members and friends are invited to tour the new rooms and examine the facilities.

With 10 members of the clergy participating, the solemn rite of dedication will begin with a processional, including the junior and senior choirs, with members of the church council and building committee.

Besides Pastor David J. Quill and Philip L. Ramsey and Ingolf Kronstad of the staff, other participants will be Pastor W. E. Bartell of Mary and Martha Lutheran Church; Pastor Karl Brevik of Trinity Lutheran in Evanston; Pastors Arne Jessen and Martin Zulauf of Lutheran General Hospital; Pastor L. Myron Lindblom of Christ Lutheran Church in Palatine, Pastor Jack Olson of Bethel Lutheran in Palatine and Pastor A. Gordon Nasby of Edison Park Lutheran Church, who will preach the sermon.

FOLLOWING the dedication service, refreshments will be served by the ladies of the church.

Seating capacity in St. Mark was increased by 200 with the expansion project. Seating capacity was formerly 350. The chancel and altar were moved back in the nave and a transept was added to give the church its present 550 seats. Additional office space has also been provided.

In the lower level, beneath the transept, a "fireside room" was added. This is a large meeting room with a stone fireplace on one wall.

Ground was broken for the enlargement project in June, 1963 and completed early this year. Furniture, decorating, draperies, landscaping, etc., have now been completed for the dedication.

General contractor for the expansion project was Ray L. Lantz, who built the previous-existing church and educational units.

THE INITIAL meeting to discuss possible church organization was held on Oct. 4, 1945 in a private home. Pastor B. T. Anderson served as the first pastor of the church, then named the Mount Prospect Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Ground was broken for the first unit of the church on May 4, 1947 and the first service was held in the church building in May, 1948. Pastor H. J. Rasmussen came to serve the church in November, 1951.

In December, 1953, ground was broken for a new church building. In January, 1954 the name of the congregation became St. Mark Lutheran Church.

A large educational unit was added in 1957.

Pastor David J. Quill came to serve the church in 1961.

Scout Troop Holds Court of Honor

Boy Scout Troop 23 of Mount Prospect held a court of honor at Fairview School Sept. 25.

Prior to the presentation of awards, a model troop meeting was conducted. Richard Seligmann, the troop's new scoutmaster, showed a movie taken last summer during the troop's stay at Camp Napowan, Wild Rose, Wis.

The following awards were presented:

Life Scout to Sam Adkins; Star Scout to Gary McMorrow and Mike Adkins; First Class to Glen Bottje; Second Class to Richard Seligmann, Ted Gross and Don Rogers; Tenderfoot to Gary Bottje.

ALSO SENIOR patrol leader to Sam Adkins; assistant senior patrol leader to McMorrow and Greg Hahn; scribe to Bruce Burkhardt; bugler to Jim Johnson; librarian to Mike Ritschdorff and quartermaster to Marc Tillinghast;

Patrol leader to Jim Merritt, Buzz Massengale and Tillinghast; assistant patrol leader to Burkhardt, Glen Bottje and Mike Adkins; merit badges to Jim Johnson, Gary McMorrow, Jim Merritt, Mike Adkins, Sam Adkins, Terry Strey, Marc Tillinghast, Bruce Burkhardt, Greg Hahn, Richard Seligmann and Don Rogers.

H. J. Reilly represented the Northwest suburban Council at the Court of Honor. He led the troop in calisthentics and then challenged them to take part in various advanced scouting activities offered by the scouting movement.

Reilly introduced Ralph Hauptly, institutional representative for American Legion Post 525, which sponsors Troop 23, and presented the current charter.

HAUPTLY WAS himself a member of Troop 23 as a boy. The award ceremony was brought to a close with the presentation of scoutmster and assistant scoutmaster patches to Seligmann and Roland Webb, respectively.

This weekend the trooop will be camping out at its own Camp Rogers in preparation for the district fall camporee Oct. 17 and 18.

Troop 23 meets each Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. at Fairview School, Mount Prospect. Any boy wishing to visit or join may obtain further information by calling CL 5-5958 or 392-2871.

Anything this homely has got to be good.

The VW Station Wagon may look silly.

But it's so sensible, it makes all the others look even sillier.

We started by chipping away at every senseless old idea we could find.

Hoods didn't seem to be doing anything useful, for example, so we don't have one.

The engine is tucked in back instead.

We saved an inch here and an inch there and got a machine that holds nearly twice what regular wagons hold: over a ton.

The VW holds 9 people, not 6. When you take out the middle seat, it holds 6 anyway.

Plus a piano.

You like windows? There are 21.

Doors? 2 huge and 3 very huge.

The VW runs for next to nothing, and you don't have to go into hock for life to buy one.

You just can't find anything frivolous or flimsy or merely for the sake of looks.

Because the rule works both ways:

Anything this good has got to be homely.

Teaching Aid for Handicapped Bought

A teaching machine for the perceptually handicapped children will be purchased by the Mount Prospect school district.

The machine, known as a language master, is made by Bell and Howell Co. and sells for $315. The administration has asked to pay for the machine from the construction fund at Westbrook School which has a balance of about $10,000.

The motion was defeated by the school board Monday on grounds it could better be purchased from another account and the construction fund monies saved for another time.

ROBERT WOOD, a board member, suggested the administration could buy the machine from the $1,000 in the account for piano purchase.

L. R. Murphy, superintendent, had wanted to buy two pianos. He said Monday he had found two pianos without spending the money.

When Wood suggested buying the machine from that fund, Murphy said he didn't want to do it. However, it was left up to his discretion what fund to use.

Shop Center Permit Not Issued Yet

No building permit has been issued for the Elk Ridge Villa Shopping Center, but will be when the owner asks for it, the Mount Prospect building department said this week.

Plans for the four-store, one-building center to be located north of Striking Lanes and south of Golf Road on Elmhurst Road, have been checked and approved, a department spokesman said. The owner, Salvatore DiMucci, builder, need only request the permit and fill out the necessary papers to begin construction.

Although no building permit has been issued, a permit for the large sign advertising the center has been issued. According to a department official, $100 has been placed on deposit by the builder.

Boy Escapes Injury When Hit by Car

An 8-year-old Mundelein boy was struck by an auto driven by a 43-year-old Bensenville man early Sunday in Mount Prospect.

Driver of the car was Merlin Kalloway, 1012 W. Brookwood, who told Mount Prospect police he was leaving the Cinema Theatre shortly after midnight when the boy, William Blanschfi'., darted from a parked car.

The Kalloway auto was stopped by the time of impact, police said. There were no injuries.

2 Youths Accused Of Stealing Auto

Mount Prospect police investigating a suspicious auto early Tuesday arrested two youths wanted by DeKalb County authorities on car theft charges.

They were Fred Rodriguez Jr., 19, and Ken Amedio, 18, both of 1004 Elm St., Prospect Heights.

Officer William Broderick spotted the youths sitting in a car. They said they were awaiting some clothing to deliver to Randy Virgle in the Des Plaines jail.

Des Plaines police advised Mount Prospect the youths were wanted by DeKalb County authorities on the car theft charge. The latter authorities arrested the youths and took them back to DeKalb County later Tuesday.

AMEDIO TOLD officers he stole the car and that Roriguez accompanied him. Rodriguez said he and Amedio went to a farm near Genoa City where he had worked during the summer.

Rodriguez said he went to get the money owed him and some of his cothing. He said he could raise no one at the farm house and added that Amedio stole the auto.

He claimed he had nothing to do with the theft but merely rode with Amedio back to Mount Prospect. The car was later abandoned in Northbrook.

Public Address System Silenced

A Mount Prospect ordinance against public address systems was enforced against Busse Buick last Friday night.

The firm was playing music over the system and had not obtained a permit to do so. In addition, the firm is located within 1,000 feet of a residentially zoned area, which would preclude the issuance of a permit for the sound system.

TRUSTEE FRANK Bergen, who complained, was advised by Village Manager Harold G. Appleby to call police into the matter. Bergen advised George R. Busse, chairman of the police committee, about the situation and suggested he handle it, but Busse declined.

Bergen called police and Lt. Newell Esmond advised the firm of the law. A representative said the firm would secure the necessary permit on Saturday.

The noise stopped Friday, no permit was issued and the public address system was not used for music after that.

Modern Etiquette

Q. When a young girl has spent a weekend in the home of a girl friend, to whom does she address her "bread-and-butter" letter, to the girl friend or to her mother?

A. She may address the letter to her friend, but she must surely include a message of appreciation to the girl's mother, who usually deserves much of the credit for a pleasant visit.

Damage to Equipment Reported

Mount Prospect police Monday investigated damage to a back hoe, owned by the Cucci Plumbing Co., of Mundelein, which apparently was inflicted during the weekend.

The company told police the construction equipment was in the Elk Ridge Village subdivision on Golf Road.

All wiring was removed and all gauges were broken, police said.

St. Mark's to Hold Dedication Service

THE CHANCEL and altar of St. Mark Lutheran Church have been moved back and a transept added to provide a total seating capacity of 550. A dedication service and "open church" takes place at 3 p.m. on Sunday in the church at 200 S. Wille, Mount Prospect.

A dedication service and "open church" takes place at St. Mark Lutheran Church, Mount Prospect, at 3 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 4.

It will be 19 years ago on that very date that a first meeting was held to lay plans for what is now St. Mark Lutheran Church.

The $120,000 expansion project for the enlargement of the church has been completed. Church members and friends are invited to tour the new rooms and examine the facilities.

With 10 members of the clergy participating, the solemn rite of dedication will begin with a processional, including the junior and senior choirs, with members of the church council and building committee.

Besides Pastor David J. Quill and Philip L. Ramsey and Ingolf Kronstad of the staff, other participants will be Pastor W. E. Bartell of Mary and Martha Lutheran Church; Pastor Karl Brevik of Trinity Lutheran in Evanston; Pastors Arne Jessen and Martin Zulauf of Lutheran General Hospital; Pastor L. Myron Lindblom of Christ Lutheran Church in Palatine, Pastor Jack Olson of Bethel Lutheran in Palatine and Pastor A. Gordon Nasby of Edison Park Lutheran Church, who will preach the sermon.

FOLLOWING the dedication service, refreshments will be served by the ladies of the church.

Seating capacity in St. Mark was increased by 200 with the expansion project. Seating capacity was formerly 350. The chancel and altar were moved back in the nave and a transept was added to give the church its present 550 seats. Additional office space has also been provided.

In the lower level, beneath the transept, a "fireside room" was added. This is a large meeting room with a stone fireplace on one wall.

Ground was broken for the enlargement project in June, 1963 and completed early this year. Furniture, decorating, draperies, landscaping, etc., have now been completed for the dedication.

General contractor for the expansion project was Ray L. Lantz, who built the previous-existing church and educational units.

THE INITIAL meeting to discuss possible church organization was held on Oct. 4, 1945 in a private home. Pastor B. T. Anderson served as the first pastor of the church, then named the Mount Prospect Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Ground was broken for the first unit of the church on May 4, 1947 and the first service was held in the church building in May, 1948. Pastor H. J. Rasmussen came to serve the church in November, 1951.

In December, 1953, ground was broken for a new church building. In January, 1954 the name of the congregation became St. Mark Lutheran Church.

A large educational unit was added in 1957.

Pastor David J. Quill came to serve the church in 1961.

Scout Troop Holds Court of Honor

Boy Scout Troop 23 of Mount Prospect held a court of honor at Fairview School Sept. 25.

Prior to the presentation of awards, a model troop meeting was conducted. Richard Seligmann, the troop's new scoutmaster, showed a movie taken last summer during the troop's stay at Camp Napowan, Wild Rose, Wis.

The following awards were presented:

Life Scout to Sam Adkins; Star Scout to Gary McMorrow and Mike Adkins; First Class to Glen Bottje; Second Class to Richard Seligmann, Ted Gross and Don Rogers; Tenderfoot to Gary Bottje.

ALSO SENIOR patrol leader to Sam Adkins; assistant senior patrol leader to McMorrow and Greg Hahn; scribe to Bruce Burkhardt; bugler to Jim Johnson; librarian to Mike Ritschdorff and quartermaster to Marc Tillinghast;

Patrol leader to Jim Merritt, Buzz Massengale and Tillinghast; assistant patrol leader to Burkhardt, Glen Bottje and Mike Adkins; merit badges to Jim Johnson, Gary McMorrow, Jim Merritt, Mike Adkins, Sam Adkins, Terry Strey, Marc Tillinghast, Bruce Burkhardt, Greg Hahn, Richard Seligmann and Don Rogers.

H. J. Reilly represented the Northwest suburban Council at the Court of Honor. He led the troop in calisthentics and then challenged them to take part in various advanced scouting activities offered by the scouting movement.

Reilly introduced Ralph Hauptly, institutional representative for American Legion Post 525, which sponsors Troop 23, and presented the current charter.

HAUPTLY WAS himself a member of Troop 23 as a boy. The award ceremony was brought to a close with the presentation of scoutmster and assistant scoutmaster patches to Seligmann and Roland Webb, respectively.

This weekend the trooop will be camping out at its own Camp Rogers in preparation for the district fall camporee Oct. 17 and 18.

Troop 23 meets each Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. at Fairview School, Mount Prospect. Any boy wishing to visit or join may obtain further information by calling CL 5-5958 or 392-2871.

Early Homemaker Entries Arrive

1963 Choice Was Difficult

Selection of last year's National Suburban Homemaker was a difficult task for the national judging board which included a juvenile court judge, a sociologist, a nutritionist and the national vice-president of the League of Women Voters.

The annual selection of the American Dairy Association $5,000 award recipient is made difficult by the fact that the judges must choose from among women who are top homemakers in their own communities and judging must be on the basis of the total woman rather than on the basis of one outstanding achievement or characteristic.

The 1963 national award winner was Mrs. Owen Welles of Glendora, Calif., a Los Angeles suburb.

Mrs. Welles' interests and endeavors were indeed diverse. An Easterner and a Smith College graduate, she, with her husband and four children, entered enthusiastically into the California way of life when the space age took her mechanical engineer husband westward to work with the Space General Corporation.

MRS. WELLES took an active interest in her children's schools by serving as vice president of the Glendora Board of Education. Fascinated by the desert, new to Eastern eyes, she and her family bought a jeep for desert camping and weekend explorations.

As a member of the American Field Service Mrs. Welles took into her home a 16-year-old Jordan student. An ability to speak a few Arabic phrases and some Arabic recipes in her cooking repertoire were by-products of this interesting experience.

Mrs. Welles' clear and realistic convictions as to the responsibilities as well as the privileges of the suburban homemaker were revealed in her reply to a question posed by the national judges.

Asked what she believed was the major civic duty of the suburban woman her succinct response was, "A woman's first community responsibility is recognizing that she has one. Once acknowledged, this responsibility is met in different ways determined by talent, time and conscience."

OTHER organizations which receive a full measure of Mrs. Welles' time and talents are the League of Women Voters, the PTA and her church. All of these activities are carried on with a sense of humor and a deep sense of humility.

Mrs. Welles was a worthy National Suburban Homemaker of 1963. The 1964 Award recipient may be a very different kind of person—and she may be one of the northwest suburbs' fine homemakers.

Paddock Publications readers have a voice in choosing our northwest area Suburban Homemaker of the Year and through her, in selecting the national award winner. We're anxious to know who she will be—aren't you?

Suburban Living
Especially for Women

Prizes Await Area Winner

"Just a perfect grandma and wife," wrote a Palatine husband.

A friend describes a Mount Prospect mother of three children as an active worker in civic, school, and church work. "But she manages to keep in mind that time for her family comes first, and although she makes a generous contribution of thought and energy to many causes, she has a warm, wonderful, and hospitable home and family."

"I have a winner and I'm positive you will have one, too!" exlaims a Roselle husband in behalf of his wife, mother of three children.

From Arlington Heights comes praise from a friend of a mother of four children, described as "the first to welcome a newcomer to the neighborhood, the first to comfort a sorrowing friend, the first to dispel the 'blues' of an acquaintance."

THESE ARE but a few of the early nominations received this week in Paddock Publications search for the northwest area's 1964 Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

The local winner will represent this area at the National Suburban Homemaker of the Year conference in November and compete for the national honor and $5,000 cash award from the American Dairy Association.

The Northwest Suburban Homemaker of the year will also receive area-wide recognition at an honors ceremony, a handsome trophy and certificates from leading northwest suburban merchants cooperating with Paddock Publications in this annual search.

A PANEL of local judges will select the Paddock winner, basing the selecton on these qualifications:

—How has she contributed to creating a good family relationship, including mutual love, respect, child training, mental and emotional health;

—How has she revealed her spiritual and moral strength for her home, church, community, the world at large;

—To what extent has she participated in civic and community affairs—local, state, national or international;

—How skillful is she in preparing meals, handling the family clothing, housekeeping and appearance of home, shopping and money management; and

—What are her habits, personal appearance, and attitudes toward physical fitness and well-being for herself and family.

NOMINATORS as well as nominees have an opportunity to reap rewards.

Paddock Publications will award $50 to the individual or organization nominating the local Suburban Homemaker of the Year winner. And if she is selected as the national award winner, the nominator will receive an additional $500 award.

Awards of $100 cash will also be given to the first and second runner-up nominees in the national competition.

This community search for northwest suburbs' most representative homemaker is conducted by Paddock Publications in cooperation with the Suburban Press Foundation, Inc. and its newspaper members from coast to coast. It is strictly noncommercial and free of any "gimmicks." It is not a beauty contest.

Closing date for nominations is midnight Saturday, Oct. 24, 1964.

Nominations Are Simple

It's easy to make a nomination for Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

An official entry blank is printed each week in Paddock Publications Suburban Living section.

The entry form may be filled out and submitted by any individual over age 15—friend, relative, neighbor—or organization. Attach to the entry blank a short statement offering facts or comment supporting the worth of the nominee, based on the major characteristics included on the entry form.

Entries are to be mailed to Suburban Homemaking Editor, Paddock Publications, Inc., 217 W. Campbell St., Arlington Heights, Ill.

The third annual search for Suburban Homemaker of the Year is designed as a tribute to and recognition of the important role of the homemaker in the family, civic, and economic life of the suburban community.

Entry blanks for the third annual Suburban Homemaker of the Year search will be inserted today (Thursday), Friday, and Saturday in shopping bags at 41 food stores throughout northwest suburbs.

The forms will be distributed by six A&P stores, 11 Jewel stores, eight National stores, three IGA stores, and two Eagle stores. Also handing out blanks will be Dominick's and Sanitary Market in Palatine; Hillman Foods, Kroger, Wieboldt's, and Meeske's Foods in Mount Prospect; Pik-Kwik Foods in Roselle; Green St. Market and Center Foods in Bensenville; Elms Grocerland in Arlington Heights; and Itasca Basket and Pick-N-Save Foods in Itasca.

The Herd Instinct?

It's a Woman's World

By BETTY AINSLIE

Luncheons are strictly a women's world. It's seldom you see men at such a meal unless they happen to be the waiters or the speakers.

Any luncheon will gather together all the minks and fox furs. The best apparel from miladies closet, a wild assortment of hats and a style show all for a usually expensive ticket.

Spring and fall are the times when clubs or benefit groups pool talents to offer an exciting and enticing luncheon.

WE'RE MOVING away from chicken in a patty shell accompanied by a few dried peas and a small ball of ice cream for dessert. Nowadays, the more exotic the meal the more in attendance. The more foreign sounding names that can be attached to the dishes, the more successful the luncheon.

Women will go to a luncheon and eat things they'd question in a restaurant, because we're strictly at the mercy of the committee in charge of food selecting. Just take a swift glance over the plates in front of women at a luncheon — most will have a great deal of food remaining when the waiters pick them up.

"Men usually eat all put befor them at a banquet," said a waitress friend of mine. "But the women—oh boy, the fuss over the food—they pick at it, leave most of it, and constantly ask for more rolls."

WOMEN probably think more about the clothes surrounding them than the actual food served.

For instance, a woman would not think of attending a luncheon in anything but her best attire, and the clothes often rival those shown in the style show.

Every bowling or golfing group ends up their season with a luncheon. Money is often collected at monthly bridge club meetings so members may attend a special luncheon free at the end of the year.

I guess we gals are all suckers for a luncheon. Remember the last one you attended? The hours it took to bathe and dress just so, and the struggle to discover a hat and dress that were companionable and gloves—we must at least make an appearance with our hands covered.

THE HATS this fall at the last luncheon I attended recently were really a blaze of tree-turned colors. It seems everything will go with anything, so color doesn't matter; and those jockey caps in autumn leave shades were perched on many a young head. Youth and extremes in dress can be companionable.

There were minks in capes and jackets (it's too early for the full length ones) from darkest hues to the pale champagne shade. Everyone wore heels and carried giant purses to complement their outfit.

Women met women and there was this constant and persistent buzz of the female gathered in groups. The smell of perfumes mingled with the flower odors from the bouquets on the speakers table.

NEIGHBORS talked to neighbors and you met that acquaintance you hadn't seen for months.

There was the chance to admire Jane's feathered hat or inwardly squirm at Mildred's choice of color combinations.

There was the chance to admire the tables and surroundings, as a luncheon isn't really a luncheon unless it is served in a special place and with attractive and different decorations. If you're paying a lot for your ticket you like to feel you're eating someplace you wouldn't ordinarily go for your lunch.

COULD IT BE the herd instinct that has women enjoying eating in groups? We seldom go out to a noon meal alone and we really enjoy these special big, social luncheons or ticket sales to such affairs wouldn't be successful.

Maybe we like these affairs because it gives us a chance to gather together and show off our clothes. To admire Susie's new suit and Ann's knit dress.

No wonder men don't care for luncheons. Imagine admiring David's new blue serge or Harry's choice of a pin stripe. That's why they call their eating together, banquets. Men are naturally more interested in the food than the clothes.

Experts See More Convenience Foods

Forecasts of still more convenience foods for the American homemaker, and more convenient stores in which to shop for them, highlighted closing sessions Monday of the annual convention of Associated Food Retailers of Illinois.

Widespread use of vertical, multi-decked frozen-food cases will enable grocers to display many more new frozen products, a panel of experts told the food retailers, meeting in Peoria.

The trend to shelved frozen foods may force a revolution in package design, declared Rene ens, Inc., Chicago designers. He pointed out that most packages now are designed to lay in the "well" type freezer cases with the customer looking down at them, but that on shelves the customer is sometimes forced to crane a neck at a 45-degree angle and perform other "visual gymnastics." For the time being, packages may have to be designed for boty cases, to be designed for both cases, RICHARD H. Gromer, president, Gromer Super Markets, Elgin, said the vertical cases made it possible for him to display 202 frozen food items in his stores, compared to under 50 products displayed 10 years ago. Customer response has been overwhelming, Gromer said.

Russell Hatten, division sales manager of the Hussmann Refrigerator Company, said the new-type freezers were more expensive to operate, but that increased sales more than made up for the higher cost.

HOMEMAKERS will see more delicatessen departments in retail food stores as income and leisure hours increase, Edward Claussen, president, C. F. Claussen & Sons, Chicago pickle processors, told the convention.

"One out of every three American wives is working at a job, either full time or part time, and they will patronize a delicatessen counter in their favorite grocery if the food is top-quality — the kind they can serve their family with satisfaction," he told the grocers.

Another prediction, that housewives are becoming more knowledgeable about meat, came from Vern Watson, director of merchandising, National Live Stock and Meat Board. He showed the food retailers how to sell customers primal cuts, then carve them into a number of different meat dishes.

Hospital Exec Will Address Secretaries

Park-Plaines Chapter of the National Secretaries Association will meet Wednesday, Oct. 7, at Arlington Park Golf Club, Euclid and Rohlwing Roads, Arlington Heights. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Charles Lundberg, assistant executive secretary of Lutheran General Hospital, whose topic will be "Human Ecology." He will show a short film to help describe the hospital of the future, a total medical complex in which medical resources will be available for all types of illness in the surrounding community.

Secretaries living or working in northwest Chicago and the neighboring suburbs are welcome. Further information is available from Miss Donna L. Doughty, CL 3-7745.

Hayride Set For Saturday

An old-fashioned "Happy Hayride Party" is planned for Saturday, Oct. 3, at 8:15 at Fleetwing Farm, Central Road, Palatine.

Sponsored by the Hoffman Estates Woman's Club, proceeds will benefit the club's scholarship fund.

Mrs. Donald Totten, chairman, will accept reservations at 529-7379.

Fiesta Ball Promises To Be Festive Party

A gourmet dinner, floor show entertainment by top Latin-American artists and dancing to the American and Latin-American music of Neto Quiroga is in store for couples planning to attend the First Fiesta Ball Friday, Oct. 9, at the Post and Paddock Club at Arlington Park. The ball, sponsored by the Inter-American Friendship Program, will benefit Arlington Heights' sister city, Comas, Peru.

Guests of honor will be the Consul General of Peru, the Hon. Gustavo Barreda Moller and Mrs. Barreda, Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Gomez of Evanston and Arlington Heights Village President John Woods and Mrs. Woods. Invitations have been extended to the entire consular Corps of all Latin countries who reside in the Chicago area as well as civic and social leaders in the area.

A FORMAL dress occasion, guests will be arriving at the Post and Paddock Club at 7 p.m. for the cocktail and social hour. The 8 o'clock dinner will feature steak or lobster tails prepared by the club's chef. Dancing will continue until 1 a.m.

The affair is being held on the evening before the Fiesta which is set for Saturday, Oct. 10, at the Race Track Grandstand area.

On the ball committee are Mrs. John E. Gessert, Mrs. Laddie Janda, Miss Carol Garman, Richard A. Patton and Anthony Biancardi.

Nurses Change By-Laws

Modernizing the club constitution and by-laws was the main order of business for the Rolling Meadows Nurses Club on Sept. 23. Mrs. Robert Rink, president, was hostess.

Members voted on a change in the ruling concerning scholarship money, which is given each year to a deserving student about to enter nurse's training. It was decided that the check will be given after the probationary period of training has been passed successfully, instead of at the beginning of the term, as has been done in the past.

A GUEST for the evening was Mrs. Paul Puhl, representing the Junior Woman's Club of Rolling Meadows, who invited the nurses and their husbands to the 10th anniversary ball to be sponsored by the Juniors later this month.

The evening concluded with a coffee hour, during which one of the members, Mrs. Sam Chereskin, gave a demonstration on ballroom dancing.

Bus Tour Is Next For Trinity WSCS

A chartered bus tour of Methodist institutions in Chicago is scheduled for Trinity Church WSCS members on Wednesday, Oct. 7. The women will meet at the church, 605 W. Golf Road, Mount Prospect, at 9 a.m. to leave for the tour.

Visits will be made to the Chicago Temple, which is the First Methodist Church in the Loop; Newberry Center, now in a new location at 1073 Maxwell St., Marcy Center and Esther Hall, a Methodist home for working girls living away from home.

RESERVATIONS for the tour may be made by calling Mrs. Paul DeLoid, 259-3339, woman's society vice president.

The Trinity churchwomen will hold their second fall meeting at the church Tuesday, Oct. 13, at one o'clock. Mrs. Harry Stinespring Jr. of McHenry will tell of her recent trip to the Holy Land.

Early Homemaker Entries Arrive

1963 Choice Was Difficult

Selection of last year's National Suburban Homemaker was a difficult task for the national judging board which included a juvenile court judge, a sociologist, a nutritionist and the national vice-president of the League of Women Voters.

The annual selection of the American Dairy Association $5,000 award recipient is made difficult by the fact that the judges must choose from among women who are top homemakers in their own communities and judging must be on the basis of the total woman rather than on the basis of one outstanding achievement or characteristic.

The 1963 national award winner was Mrs. Owen Welles of Glendora, Calif., a Los Angeles suburb.

Mrs. Welles' interests and endeavors were indeed diverse. An Easterner and a Smith College graduate, she, with her husband and four children, entered enthusiastically into the California way of life when the space age took her mechanical engineer husband westward to work with the Space General Corporation.

MRS. WELLES took an active interest in her children's schools by serving as vice president of the Glendora Board of Education. Fascinated by the desert, new to Eastern eyes, she and her family bought a jeep for desert camping and weekend explorations.

As a member of the American Field Service Mrs. Welles took into her home a 16-year-old Jordan student. An ability to speak a few Arabic phrases and some Arabic recipes in her cooking repertoire were by-products of this interesting experience.

Mrs. Welles' clear and realistic convictions as to the responsibilities as well as the privileges of the suburban homemaker were revealed in her reply to a question posed by the national judges.

Asked what she believed was the major civic duty of the suburban woman her succinct response was, "A woman's first community responsibility is recognizing that she has one. Once acknowledged, this responsibility is met in different ways determined by talent, time and conscience."

OTHER organizations which receive a full measure of Mrs. Welles' time and talents are the League of Women Voters, the PTA and her church. All of these activities are carried on with a sense of humor and a deep sense of humility.

Mrs. Welles was a worthy National Suburban Homemaker of 1963. The 1964 Award recipient may be a very different kind of person—and she may be one of the northwest suburbs' fine homemakers.

Paddock Publications readers have a voice in choosing our northwest area Suburban Homemaker of the Year and through her, in selecting the national award winner. We're anxious to know who she will be—aren't you?

Prizes Await Area Winner

"Just a perfect grandma and wife," wrote a Palatine husband.

A friend describes a Mount Prospect mother of three children as an active worker in civic, school, and church work. "But she manages to keep in mind that time for her family comes first, and although she makes a generous contribution of thought and energy to many causes, she has a warm, wonderful, and hospitable home and family."

"I have a winner and I'm positive you will have one, too!" exlaims a Roselle husband in behalf of his wife, mother of three children.

From Arlington Heights comes praise from a friend of a mother of four children, described as "the first to welcome a newcomer to the neighborhood, the first to comfort a sorrowing friend, the first to dispel the 'blues' of an acquaintance."

THESE ARE but a few of the early nominations received this week in Paddock Publications search for the northwest area's 1964 Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

The local winner will represent this area at the National Suburban Homemaker of the Year conference in November and compete for the national honor and $5,000 cash award from the American Dairy Association.

The Northwest Suburban Homemaker of the year will also receive area-wide recognition at an honors ceremony, a handsome trophy and certificates from leading northwest suburban merchants cooperating with Paddock Publications in this annual search.

A PANEL of local judges will select the Paddock winner, basing the selecton on these qualifications:

—How has she contributed to creating a good family relationship, including mutual love, respect, child training, mental and emotional health;

—How has she revealed her spiritual and moral strength for her home, church, community, the world at large;

—To what extent has she participated in civic and community affairs—local, state, national or international;

—How skillful is she in preparing meals, handling the family clothing, housekeeping and appearance of home, shopping and money management; and

—What are her habits, personal appearance, and attitudes toward physical fitness and well-being for herself and family.

NOMINATORS as well as nominees have an opportunity to reap rewards.

Paddock Publications will award $50 to the individual or organization nominating the local Suburban Homemaker of the Year winner. And if she is selected as the national award winner, the nominator will receive an additional $500 award.

Awards of $100 cash will also be given to the first and second runner-up nominees in the national competition.

This community search for northwest suburbs' most representative homemaker is conducted by Paddock Publications in cooperation with the Suburban Press Foundation, Inc. and its newspaper members from coast to coast. It is strictly noncommercial and free of any "gimmicks." It is not a beauty contest.

Closing date for nominations is midnight Saturday, Oct. 24, 1964.

Nominations Are Simple

It's easy to make a nomination for Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

An official entry blank is printed each week in Paddock Publications Suburban Living section.

The entry form may be filled out and submitted by any individual over age 15—friend, relative, neighbor—or organization. Attach to the entry blank a short statement offering facts or comment supporting the worth of the nominee, based on the major characteristics included on the entry form.

Entries are to be mailed to Suburban Homemaking Editor, Paddock Publications, Inc., 217 W. Campbell St., Arlington Heights, Ill.

The third annual search for Suburban Homemaker of the Year is designed as a tribute to and recognition of the important role of the homemaker in the family, civic, and economic life of the suburban community.

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

As Rah Rahs Fill the Air, Plan a Touchdown Tackler

The rah rah rahs are filling the air not only at all the colleges but over the TV anda t the local parks where the bantams are playing touch football No matter where the game, the fun is still the same and why not treat the team, or the cheerleaders, to a Touchdown Tackler.

INVITATIONS

Choose the colors of your team for the theme of the decor. We will choose royal blue and white as our colors but you can be sure the colors of your team will look just as good. Cut a brown double fold football from construction paper. Lace it with black and inside write the following:

Give a cheer! Give a shout!
We are yelling this news out,
There is going to be a dinner
Served in honor of the winner.
One - Two - Three - Four
Here is the number on the door
Address
Hold that line and this date too
Come on team this party's for you.
State time and date and RSVP so that you may plan for the right number of people.

DECORATIONS

The decorations may be elaborate, inviting the team to bring their colorful helmets, the cheerleaders to bring their megaphones and pom poms. Inside one of the helmets place a flower arrangement using the team colors. If you can't find flowers in season, dye carnations simply by letting them stand in water which has been tinted with dye, ink or food coloring. These must absorb the color so allow at least 24 hours for this action.

Use bright crepe paper for streamers over the table and around the room. Fringe crepe paper to cover the lamps and ceiling fixtures. Balloons in team colors add a lot to the room and if you have team member names in team colors this adds that personal touch to the party. Pennants with the name of the team may be inserted into the flowers to add color also.

Use white plates and use the tablecoth in the darkest of your chosen colors. Accent with the lighter color and your table or buffet will be a huge success.

MENU

Start with hot mulled cider as most of the team and cheerleaders will be cold. Use stick cinnamon for a stirrer or a pennant on a straw. A cream cheese football striped with pimento and scored with green pepper laces surrounded by crackers, pretzels or chips will hold the hungry group until supper. Allow plenty of time to re-live the game.

The main course may be "sloppy Joes" or choose the name of the team's star and name the sandwiches after him. Have the salad and all courses named for members of the team. No matter how old people get they still love to hear their names.

The dessert may be a football field. Make a rectangular cake and frost in chocolate. Make goal posts and have a large but proportioned football in the center. All around the sides insert miniature pennants on toothpicks. On each side of the top of the cake mark the score.

This dinner is truly a winner, so kick off to a touchdown. It is really easy to tackle. Show 'em you know the score. (S

'Peanuts' Gospel For Hoffman WSCS

"The Gospel According to Peanuts" is the title of the program to be presented by Robert Short, for the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Our Saviour's Methodist Church, Hoffman Estates, Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 8:30 p.m.

Mr. Short received his B. A. degree from the University of Oklahoma, his B.D. from Southern Methodist, and his M.A. in English from Texas University. He is currently working toward his Ph.D. at the University of Chicago.

USING HIS background of radio, TV and drama, the speaker became aware of the possibilities of drama as a means of communicating religious truths. While responsible for a daily morning devotional series, he began using the Peanuts carotons as a type of modern-day parable. His idea found its way into book form, and "The Gospel According to Peanuts," will be purlished in February.

Devotions for the evening will be given by Mrs. John Ferguson, and hostesses will be Mrs. Chester Garrison, Mrs. Allan Noehre and Mrs. William Allen Johnson. (S

Campaign for Fashion Set by Wayside Women

Keeping with the trend and excitement of an election year, "Campaign for Fashion" will be the theme for Our Lady of the Wayside's annual fall fashion show. This event, sponsored by the Catholic Women's Club, will be held in the parish hall on Wednesday, Oct. 14 at 8 p.m.

Muriel Mundy will show her new winter line, with Mrs. Robert Wilson as commentator. The collection will be modeled by the following members of the club: Mesdames Gerald Beauvais, Ralph Bruns, Joseph Foreman, Joseph Franz, Leonard Hanson, William Johnston, C. Joseph Kaskie, Merlin Kingsley, Herbert Klein, John Knauf, Jerry Marchese, James Murphy, Philip Nash, William Pfeifer, and George Prochaska.

WAYS AND MEANS committee chairman, Mrs. Daniel O'Meara and her co-chairman, Mrs. Robert Oates, have announced that hair styling for the evening will be done by Clip and Curl Beauty Salon, and cosmetics by Merle Norman. The Art Van Damme Studios will provide the music.

Ticket and chairmen for the evening are Mrs. Bernard Guentner, and Mrs. Glenn Wilpolt, and decorating will be done by Mrs. Donald Zabel and her committee.

The fashion show will be the first big event of the club's calendar this year. The season officially opens on Thursday, Oct. 8, at 8:30 p.m. in the parish hall, when Mrs. William Henn, president will welcome members at a "get-acquainted meeting." All are invited, especially the new members.

Tuesday evening, Oct. 20, the library and literature committee will hold its first book review in the home of Mrs. William Hemphill, 1331 W. Park. "The Vine and the Olive," by Margaret Banning, will be reviewed by Mrs. Robert Cole, and "Black Like Me," by John Howard Griffin, will be Mrs. Raymond Munro's topic. (S

FLOWER SHOW

A SURREY WITH THE fringe on top provides "play" transportation for youngsters whose mothers are planning the Arlington Heights Garden Club's flower show this weekend at Pioneer Park. There will be artistic and horticulture classes for adults and juniors. Pretending they are going to the show, which features an election theme, are Kathy Renner, foreground, Judy and Betsy Hesch, Paul Platte and Tom Reinhard. All are from Arlington Heights except the Hesch girls who are from Rolling Meadows.

Election Theme Heads Weekend Flower Show

Arlington Heights Garden Club is arranging its sixth annual flower show for Saturday and Sunday at Pioneer Park Field House, 500 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights. Saturday's hours will be 2 to 8 p.m.; Sunday's 2 to 7 p.m.

"Campaign to Champagne" is the theme of the show, and colorful political posters will decorate the walls of the exhibits.

There will be nine classes in the artistic division as follows: Back the Native Son, Wave the Banner, TV Press Conference, Meet the Candidate, World Peace, Farm Bloc, International Trade, Vote a Straight Ticket and We Won.

SEVERAL LOCAL businessmen, The Chandelier Shop, Robert Schwake Stone Co. and Hollenbach's Country Gardens will provide backgrounds for the show, and Lake-Cook Farm Supply Co. will display an educational exhibit.

The club will have a special display of spring bulbs, such as daffodils, crocus and tulips, for sale as this is the ideal time to plant them.

THE HORTICULTURE division is open to the public. Entries should be at the fieldhouse between 8:30 and 10 p.m. on Saturday.

All interested gardeners in the area are welcome to exhibit roses, chrysanthemums, other perennials including tuberous, bulbonus plants and corms (such as dahlias and Cannas), all annuals, shrubs and/or trees, vines, potted plants, fruits and vegetables.

Anyone interested in entering a prize plant in horticulture may call the flower show chairman, Mrs. E. Saunders Reinhard, CL 5-3226, for details.

A refreshment table decorated in a red, white and blue patriotic theme will be in charge of Mrs. Donald Castella.

THERE WILL also be a junior section in both artistic and horticulture divisions. The three classes in the artistic division are: Getting to the Polls, Win or Lose and Tribute to the Winner. These classes are for ages 6 to 10 and 10 to 16.

Five classes for juniors in the horticulture division are as follows: specimen flowers, vegetables, fruits, potted plants and cacti, and any collection of plant materials that has been dried, six or more, such as seeds, leaves and/or flowers.

All horticulture exhibits must be grown by the exhibitor, but the artistic arrangements need not. Mrs. F. V. Schlexer, CL 9-3433, may be called for further information. (S

HOW TO NOMINATE

In a few sentences in your own words, tell why you think your nominee is a good candidate. Fancy language is not important. Judging will be based entirely on these five points . . .

1. How she contributes to creating a good family relationship which includes mutual love, respect, child training, mental and emotional health.
2. How she reveals her spiritual and moral strength—for her home, church, community, the world at large.
3. To what extent she has participated in civic and community affairs—local, state, national or international.
4. How skillful she is in:
   a. Preparing meals
   b. Handling the family clothing
   c. Housekeeping and appearance of home
   d. Shopping and money management
5. Personal appearance, habits, and attitudes toward physical fitness and well-being for herself and family.

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

As Rah Rahs Fill the Air, Plan a Touchdown Tackler

The rah rah rahs are filling the air not only at all the colleges but over the TV and at the local parks where the bantams are playing touch football No matter where the game, the fun is still the same and why not treat the team, or the cheerleaders, to a Touchdown Tackler.

INVITATIONS

Choose the colors of your team for the theme of the decor. We will choose royal blue and white as our colors but you can be sure the colors of your team will look just as good. Cut a brown double fold football from construction paper. Lace it with black and inside write the following:

Give a cheer! Give a shout!
We are yelling this news out,
There is going to be a dinner
Served in honor of the winner.
One - Two - Three - Four
Here is the number on the door
Address
Hold that line and this date too
Come on team this party's for you.
State time and date and RSVP so that you may plan for the right number of people.

DECORATIONS

The decorations may be elaborate, inviting the team to bring their colorful helmets, the cheerleaders to bring their megaphones and pom poms. Inside one of the helmets place a flower arrangement using the team colors. If you can't find flowers in season, dye carnations simply by letting them stand in water which has been tinted with dye, ink or food coloring. These must absorb the color so allow at least 24 hours for this action.

Use bright crepe paper for streamers over the table and around the room. Fringe crepe paper to cover the lamps and ceiling fixtures. Balloons in team colors add a lot to the room and if you have team member names in team colors this adds that personal touch to the party. Pennants with the name of the team may be inserted into the flowers to add color also.

Use white plates and use the tablecoth in the darkest of your chosen colors. Accent with the lighter color and your table or buffet will be a huge success.

MENU

Start with hot mulled cider as most of the team and cheerleaders will be cold. Use stick cinnamon for a stirrer or a pennant on a straw. A cream cheese football striped with pimento and scored with green pepper laces surrounded by crackers, pretzels or chips will hold the hungry group until supper. Allow plenty of time to re-live the game.

The main course may be "sloppy Joes" or choose the name of the team's star and name the sandwiches after him. Have the salad and all courses named for members of the team. No matter how old people get they still love to hear their names.

The dessert may be a football field. Make a rectangular cake and frost in chocolate. Make goal posts and have a large but proportioned football in the center. All around the sides insert miniature pennants on toothpicks. On each side of the top of the cake mark the score.

This dinner is truly a winner, so kick off to a touchdown. It is really easy to tackle. Show 'em you know the score. (S

Campaign for Fashion Set by Wayside Women

Keeping with the trend and excitement of an election year, "Campaign for Fashion" will be the theme for Our Lady of the Wayside's annual fall fashion show. This event, sponsored by the Catholic Women's Club, will be held in the parish hall on Wednesday, Oct. 14 at 8 p.m.

Muriel Mundy will show her new winter line, with Mrs. Robert Wilson as commentator. The collection will be modeled by the following members of the club: Mesdames Gerald Beauvais, Ralph Bruns, Joseph Foreman, Joseph Franz, Leonard Hanson, William Johnston, C. Joseph Kaskie, Merlin Kingsley, Herbert Klein, John Knauf, Jerry Marchese, James Murphy, Philip Nash, William Pfeifer, and George Prochaska.

WAYS AND MEANS committee chairman, Mrs. Daniel O'Meara and her co-chairman, Mrs. Robert Oates, have announced that hair styling for the evening will be done by Clip and Curl Beauty Salon, and cosmetics by Merle Norman. The Art Van Damme Studios will provide the music.

Ticket and chairmen for the evening are Mrs. Bernard Guentner, and Mrs. Glenn Wilpolt, and decorating will be done by Mrs. Donald Zabel and her committee.

'Peanuts' Gospel For Hoffman WSCS

"The Gospel According to Peanuts" is the title of the program to be presented by Robert Short, for the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Our Saviour's Methodist Church, Hoffman Estates, Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 8:30 p.m.

Mr. Short received his B. A. degree from the University of Oklahoma, his B.D. from Southern Methodist, and his M.A. in English from Texas University. He is currently working toward his Ph.D. at the University of Chicago.

USING HIS background of radio, TV and drama, the speaker became aware of the possibilities of drama as a means of communicating religious truths. While responsible for a daily morning devotional series, he began using the Peanuts carotons as a type of modern-day parable. His idea found its way into book form, and "The Gospel According to Peanuts," will be purlished in February.

Devotions for the evening will be given by Mrs. John Ferguson, and hostesses will be Mrs. Chester Garrison, Mrs. Allan Noehre and Mrs. William Allen Johnson. (S

Everything to be in Orbit At October Blast-Off Ball

"We plan to have just about everything in orbit," says Mrs. Robert Atcher, of Schaumburg, president of Countryside Auxiliary of the Illinois Children's Home & Aid Society. Mrs. Atcher is speaking of the auxiliary's third annual Blast-Off Ball to be held this Saturday at Itasca Country Club.

The Ball is a dinner dance this year which even features an "out of this world" menu. The bill of fare, as listed in the program, is celestial fruit cup, solar sirloin of beef, baked potato en space jacket, vegetables au Canaveral, garden salad a la moon shot, and planet parfait.

"All that glitters will be gold," states Mrs. Roger Sullivan, decorations chairman. She and her committee have coordinated decorations with the gold and shrimp color scheme of the club.

Star-burst golden centerpieces have been fashioned by Mrs. James Holman and Mrs. Steven Grimm, both of Palatine, who are on the decorating committee.

Proceeds from the benefit will aid the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society in care of foster children and in placing adoptive children. The society also sponsors three group homes, the Evanston Home for emotionally disturbed children, the Amy Brewster Home for teen-age girls also in Evanston and the Chauncy McCormick home for teen-age boys in Chicago.

THOUGHTS OF OUTER SPACE are in the minds of Michelle DiOrio, Colleen Sullivan and Billy Heise, all of Palatine, whose mothers are completing plans for the third "Blast-off Ball." The event, sponsored by the Countryside Auxiliary of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, will be held Saturday, Oct. 10, in Itasca Country Club. Cocktails will be at 6:30, followed by dinner at 8 and dancing to the music of Lester Amack and his orchestra.

Hilarious Fashion Show at St. Emily

Hilarity and surprise were the passwords as the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Emily's Church, Mount Prospect, held its first meeting of the season Tuesday night.

After new officers and chairmen were introduced Mrs. Robert Wagener of Mount Prospect conducted the business session and then introduced Mrs. Dennis B. O'Connell, program chairman and a former fashion commentator. Mrs. O'Connell gave a description of what will be seen on the fashion horizon this season, stressing the importance of fur and boots of all heights.

SEVERAL eyebrows raised as the honky-tonk piano music started to play, but as the first model made her entrance, an audible gasp went up from the audience of 100 women. Mrs. O'Connell and her committee had neglected to mention that all the fashions were circa 1890 to 1920 and that the boots she had mentioned so prominently were everything from cowboy boots to gym shoes to paratrooper flight boots. The costumes ranged from a floor-length black velvet coat to chemises to bathing suits.

The finale of the show was the appearance of the society's president in a wine-colored midcalf length dress, dripping with rhinestones and carrying a feather fan to match the feathers in her hair. To top off her ensemble, she wore a bedraggled fur, 5-inch long eyelashes and the aforementioned flight boots.

Models included Mesdames John Kruer, Raymond Bernicchi, William McGary, Joseph O'Leary and Robert Wagener, all of Mount Prospect, and Mrs. Richard Myers and Mrs. Fred Turner of Des Plaines. (S

Fetes Grand Officers

Honored guests at last week's meeting of Arlington Heights OES were the worthy grand matron of Illinois and her official family. Eight grand officers and seven grand representatives were present.

Worthy Grand Matron Emma Ansley spoke on the aims and achievements of the organization which includes the support of two institutions, Rockford Home for Women and Macon Sanitorium for ill and aged women.

GEORGE K. VOLZ was honored with a 50-year pin signifying his half-century membership in the order.

The OES day card party of Oct. 5 will be held in Mrs. Lillian Adam's home, 210 E. Thomas St., Arlington Heights.

Job's Daughers will exemplify their work at the next chapter meeting of Oct. 8. (S

Trend to Wood

A number of the FHA offices around the country report a definite trend towards wood kitchen cabinets and wood windows in homes presently being planned and built. (S

NEW RESIDENTS of Rolling Meadows, the Stanley Kopernys, who moved to 2101 Flicker Lane from Braidwood, Ill. three months ago, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sept. 12. The occasion was marked with a family party in Arlington Park Restaurant, and guests included their three children, five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Pakistan Is Topic For Heights AAUW

A teacher who spent three years in Pakistan will be the speaker at the Oct. 8 meeting of Arlington Heights branch of the American Association of University Women. The session begins at 8 p.m. in Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan building.

The teacher is Miss Ruth Beck of Maywood, a member of the faculty at Proviso East High School. Her topic will be "Pakistan — a New Nation in an Ancient Land."

MISS BECK, who served as an educational consultant while in Pakistan, will be introduced by Mrs. Robert Nelson of Rolling Meadows, AAUW branch program chairman.

Mrs. William H. Werner, hostess chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Conrad Berube, Mrs. Frederick Johnson, Mrs. William Dillon and Mrs. R. J. Schlott.

Meetings of study groups ranging from education to literature to human relations will be announced at the branch meeting.

THE FIRST MEETING of a new AAUW study group, this one for couples, will take place at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 9, in the home of the chairman, Mrs. Gaylor Jones, 703 E. Euclid, Arlington Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will lead a discussion of a magazine article, "Let's Stop Exhalting the Punks."

Membership in AAUW is open to women who are graduates of accredited colleges and universities. Interested persons should contact the membership chairman, Mrs. B. E. H. Waring, at 392-3599. (S

25th Dance Oct. 3 For Carousel Club

The 25th dance of the Carousel Club of Arlington Heights will be held Saturday evening at Rolling Green Country Club. Founded in 1952, the club has met regularly during the 12-year span.

In honor of the special date, the group's first president, Mrs. Carl Gran, will act as hostess and her husband as host for the Saturday dance. Also greeting members will be Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ekstrom.

THE EVENING will begin with cocktails at 7 p.m., followed by dinner at 8. Jules Ryan's orchestra will play for dancing.

Officers for the 1964-65 season are Mrs. Frank Kroll, president; Mrs. Henry Moore, treasurer; Mrs. Sam L. Miller, secretary; Mrs. Robert Mitchell, membership chairman. (S

Accent Window

To give a room real character, you might have a tall, narrow window designed so that it fits right alongside the fireplace. You can frame this window in a wood like West Coast hemlock and try and retain the natural color of the wood.

Everything to be in Orbit At October Blast-Off Ball

THOUGHTS OF OUTER SPACE are in the minds of Michelle DiOrio, Colleen Sullivan and Billy Heise, all of Palatine, whose mothers are completing plans for the third "Blast-off Ball." The event, sponsored by the Countryside Auxiliary of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, will be held Saturday, Oct. 10, in Itasca Country Club. Cocktails will be at 6:30, followed by dinner at 8 and dancing to the music of Lester Amack and his orchestra.

"We plan to have just about everything in orbit," says Mrs. Robert Atcher, of Schaumburg, president of Countryside Auxiliary of the Illinois Children's Home & Aid Society. Mrs. Atcher is speaking of the auxiliary's third annual Blast-Off Ball to be held this Saturday at Itasca Country Club.

The Ball is a dinner dance this year which even features an "out of this world" menu. The bill of fare, as listed in the program, is celestial fruit cup, solar sirloin of beef, baked potato en space jacket, vegetables au Canaveral, garden salad a la moon shot, and planet parfait.

"All that glitters will be gold," states Mrs. Roger Sullivan, decorations chairman. She and her committee have coordinated decorations with the gold and shrimp color scheme of the club.

Star-burst golden centerpieces have been fashioned by Mrs. James Holman and Mrs. Steven Grimm, both of Palatine, who are on the decorating committee.

Proceeds from the benefit will aid the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society in care of foster children and in placing adoptive children. The society also sponsors three group homes, the Evanston Home for emotionally disturbed children, the Amy Brewster Home for teen-age girls also in Evanston and the Chauncy McCormick home for teen-age boys in Chicago.

Hilarious Fashion Show at St. Emily

Hilarity and surprise were the passwords as the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Emily's Church, Mount Prospect, held its first meeting of the season Tuesday night.

After new officers and chairmen were introduced Mrs. Robert Wagener of Mount Prospect conducted the business session and then introduced Mrs. Dennis B. O'Connell, program chairman and a former fashion commentator. Mrs. O'Connell gave a description of what will be seen on the fashion horizon this season, stressing the importance of fur and boots of all heights.

SEVERAL eyebrows raised as the honky-tonk piano music started to play, but as the first model made her entrance, an audible gasp went up from the audience of 100 women. Mrs. O'Connell and her committee had neglected to mention that all the fashions were circa 1890 to 1920 and that the boots she had mentioned so prominently were everything from cowboy boots to gym shoes to paratrooper flight boots. The costumes ranged from a floor-length black velvet coat to chemises to bathing suits.

The finale of the show was the appearance of the society's president in a wine-colored mid-calf length dress, dripping with rhinestones and carrying a feather fan to match the feathers in her hair. To top off her ensemble, she wore a bedraggled fur, 5-inch long eyelashes and the aforementioned flight boots.

Models included Mesdames John Kruer, Raymond Bernicchi, William McGary, Joseph O'Leary and Robert Wagener, all of Mount Prospect, and Mrs. Richard Myers and Mrs. Fred Turner of Des Plaines. (S

Fetes Grand Officers

Honored guests at last week's meeting of Arlington Heights OES were the worthy grand matron of Illinois and her official family. Eight grand officers and seven grand representatives were present.

Worthy Grand Matron Emma Ansley spoke on the aims and achievements of the organization which includes the support of two institutions, Rockford Home for Women and Macon Sanitorium for ill and aged women.

GEORGE K. VOLZ was honored with a 50-year pin signifying his half-century membership in the order.

The OES day card party of Oct. 5 will be held in Mrs. Lillian Adam's home, 210 E. Thomas St., Arlington Heights.

Job's Daughers will exemplify their work at the next chapter meeting of Oct. 8. (S

Trend to Wood

A number of the FHA offices around the country report a definite trend towards wood kitchen cabinets and wood windows in homes presently being planned and built. (S

NEW RESIDENTS of Rolling Meadows, the Stanley Kopernys, who moved to 2101 Flicker Lane from Braidwood, Ill. three months ago, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sept. 12. The occasion was marked with a family party in Arlington Park Restaurant, and guests included their three children, five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Pakistan Is Topic For Heights AAUW

A teacher who spent three years in Pakistan will be the speaker at the Oct. 8 meeting of Arlington Heights branch of the American Association of University Women. The session begins at 8 p.m. in Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan building.

The teacher is Miss Ruth Beck of Maywood, a member of the faculty at Proviso East High School. Her topic will be "Pakistan — a New Nation in an Ancient Land."

MISS BECK, who served as an educational consultant while in Pakistan, will be introduced by Mrs. Robert Nelson of Rolling Meadows, AAUW branch program chairman.

Mrs. William H. Werner, hostess chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Conrad Berube, Mrs. Frederick Johnson, Mrs. William Dillon and Mrs. R. J. Schlott.

Meetings of study groups ranging from education to literature to human relations will be announced at the branch meeting.

THE FIRST MEETING of a new AAUW study group, this one for couples, will take place at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 9, in the home of the chairman, Mrs. Gaylor Jones, 703 E. Euclid, Arlington Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will lead a discussion of a magazine article, "Let's Stop Exhalting the Punks."

Membership in AAUW is open to women who are graduates of accredited colleges and universities. Interested persons should contact the membership chairman, Mrs. B. E. H. Waring, at 392-3599. (S

25th Dance Oct. 3 For Carousel Club

The 25th dance of the Carousel Club of Arlington Heights will be held Saturday evening at Rolling Green Country Club. Founded in 1952, the club has met regularly during the 12-year span.

In honor of the special date, the group's first president, Mrs. Carl Gran, will act as hostess and her husband as host for the Saturday dance. Also greeting members will be Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ekstrom.

THE EVENING will begin with cocktails at 7 p.m., followed by dinner at 8. Jules Ryan's orchestra will play for dancing.

Officers for the 1964-65 season are Mrs. Frank Kroll, president; Mrs. Henry Moore, treasurer; Mrs. Sam L. Miller, secretary; Mrs. Robert Mitchell, membership chairman. (S

Accent Window

To give a room real character, you might have a tall, narrow window designed so that it fits right alongside the fireplace. You can frame this window in a wood like West Coast hemlock and try and retain the natural color of the wood.

Four-Year College Romance Leads to August '64 Marriage

A 4-year college romance which began in Fall 1960 on the first day of freshman classes at Wisconsin State College at Whitewater, culminated in marriage Aug. 22 for Miss Julienne Dee Cartwright, daughter of the Julian E. Cartwrights, 603 Forest Ave., Mount Prospect, and Auitus Ripp, son of the Nick Ripps of Middleton, Wis.

Now as Mr. and Mrs., the newlyweds are residing in Racine where the bride is teaching in the Hansche School and the groom is coaching in St. Catherine's High School.

Their marriage took place in St. Raymond's Catholic Church Mount Prospect, during the 11 o'clock mass. Baskets of white glads and summer flowers decorated the church as Rev. Donald J. Fenske read the nuptial rites.

A floor-length sheath of bouquet taffeta was chosen by the bride for her marriage. The gown was fashioned with chapel train, beaded cummerbund and bead trim on the edge of the below-elbow sleeves and also on the skirt of the gown. Her silk illusion veil, scattered with pearls was held in place with a pearl headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white roses and ivy.

MR. CARTWRIGHT gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's four attendants were in aqua linen empire gowns styled with A-line floor-length skirts and a strip of turquoise velvet ribbon under the bodice. Short sleeves and deep scooped backs were also features of their gowns. Headpieces for the attendants were aqua linen bows with bouffant veils, and they carried cascades of asters in shades of lavender and purple.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Roxanne Cartwright, and bridesmaids, all Alpha Sigma Sorority sisters of the bride, were Janice Ames of Darien, Wis., Mrs. Robert Aldrich of Wauwatosa, Wis. and Karen Koenings of Racine.

THE GROOM'S brother, Marvin Ripp, was best man and ushers were Jim Potochick of West Allis, Wis, Don Thompson, Nona Grove, Wis., and Bill Cartwright, brother of the bride. bride.

Itasca Country Club was the scene of a reception for 150 guests. Mrs. Cartwright received in a champagne crepe gown with chiffon cowl neckline and long sleeves. Green cymbidiums made up her corsage. Mrs. Ripp chose a lavender silk ensemble and corsage of purple cymbidiums.

The couple honeymooned briefly at the O'Hare Inn, and will take a longer honeymoon later this year in California and Mexico.

The bride was graduated from Arlington High School in 1960.

Sisterhood Plans Six Discussions

Beth Tikvah Sisterhood of Hoffman Estates is holding the first of six discussion group meetings Monday, Oct. 5, at the temple library from 1 to 3 p.m. The remaining five discussions will be held the first Monday of each month at the same time.

This year's discussion will come from the book of Deuteronomy, the fifth book of Torah and a summary of the story of the Hebrew people from exodus from Egypt until the giving of the ten commandments on Mount Sinai, according to Mrs. Hillel Gamoran, who will lead the discussion.

Chairman of adult education for the Sisterhood is Mrs. Marvin Azriel, HE 7-0326, who may be contacted for further information.

The group's first fund-raiser of the year, a progressive dinner, was held Sept. 19 with Mrs. Stanley Samuels and Mrs. Richard Weisz as chairmen. (S

Amy Seehausen Wed On Silk Persian Rug

A silk Persian wedding rug, a family heirloom on which all brides in her family have been married, had an important role in the marriage of Miss Amy Seehausen, daughter of the Howard Carl Seehausens of Inverness Countryside, Palatine, and Dr. Louis L. Watson Jr., son placed at the altar of Immanual Lutheran Church in Palatine for the Sept. 12 double ring service at which Pastor Robert Sauer officiated.

Flowers in the church were white stock and glads and the pews were marked with white satin bows and ferns.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a simply-styled gown of white satin with velvet flowers defining the empire bodice and bracelet-length sleeves. The A-line skirt featured a detachable bouffant train which fell from leaves and flowers just above the back waistline, and her French silk illusion veil fell from a tiara of lace, pearls and crystals. White roses made up her bridal bouquet.

MISS CAROL O'Rourke of Chicago served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Susan Anderson of Inverness, Mary McAndrews of Clarendon Hills, Margaret Salinsky of Youngstown, Ohio and Mrs. Robert Hamor of Oak Park.

The attendants were attired in matching sapphire satin gowns styled with scooped necklines, elbow-length sleeves and detachable overskirts. Matching pompons with matching sapphire blue bows completed their ensembles.

John Watson of Utah served as the groom's best man, and ushers were Dr. Robert Hamor of Oak Park, Dr. Patrick Hogan of Milwaukee, Dr. Donald Sullivan of Chicago, Dennis Scully of Peoria, John Seehausen of Inverness, Dan Seiler of Chicago Heights and Dr. Fred Ewald of St. Paul.

THE RECEPTION, which featured a champagne fountain, was held in Inverness Golf Club. Mrs. Seehausen received the 225 guests in a golden green shantung gown with lace bodice and corsage of cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Watson chose a soft green satin gown with lace and net bodice and a corsage of cymbidiums.

Dr. Watson took his bride on a 10-day Jamaica wedding trip followed by a weekend at Watson's Lake in Vincennes, Ind. As of Oct. 1, the newlyweds will be making their home in Montgomery, Ala. where the groom is stationed as a general surgeon at Maxwell Air Force Base. He is a graduate of DePauw University and Northwestern Medical School.

The new Mrs. Watson was graduated from Palatine High School and also studied at Bowling Green State University. Until her marriage she was employed in the reservation department of United Air Lines. (S

Historical Headgear Is Arlington Club Program

Arlington Heights Woman's club begins its 78th year of activity next Wednesday at 1:15 p.m. at Recreation Park Field House. Mrs. Albert C. Peters is president.

Mrs. Peter McAndrew, a member of the membership committee, will introduce 57 new members and Mrs. Stephen Jurco is to present the 27 chairmen of the standing committees. Mrs. Charles Innocentini is the new treasurer with Mrs. Ralph Lidge as her assistant.

Mrs. Joseph Svoboda as program chairman has obtained Mme. Edmonde Baldine who will model her own hat collection. "Headgear" Fashions through the Centuries" traces fashions in head coverings with 22 hats beginning with the style of the 12th century. The collection of styles is introduced by stories of the beauties who might have worn them.

MME. BALDINE was born in La Rochelle, France, and came to this country in 1939. She continued her millinery career in Chicago. After study and research she started to design this collection in the early 50's. During two trips abroad she toured England, France and Italy studying needlework and artistry in museums. Materials and jewels used in the hats were obtained in Europe and here in America, accumulated over a period of years. (S

MME. BALDINE models one of the historical headpieces she will show Wednesday to members of Arlington Heights Woman's Club when she presents "Headgear Fashions through the Centuries." The Oct. 7 meeting of the club will begin the club's 78th season.

Double Dydee Closes Summer With Gay Luau

The Double Dydee Mothers of Twins Club bade farewell to summer at a recent Hawaiian luau held in the gayly decorated garden of the past president, Mrs. Donald Nellessen. Chilly breezes blew and a light drizzle dampened the grounds but not the spirits of the guests, who came garbed in original Hawaiian costumes.

The group's first fall meeting, set for 8 p.m., Oct. 8 in the Lauterburg and Oehler Building, Arlington Heights, will feature a white elephant and rummage sale. The group meets the second Thursday of each month from October through June and is open to all mothers of twins, according to Mrs. Frank Kuzel, CL 9-2631. Several of the club members will be attending the annual convention of the Illinois Organization of Mothers of Twins Club, Inc. set for Oct. 16 in Decatur. (S

Pi Phi's Offer Handmade Articles as Fund-Raiser

PI BETA PHI

The public is invited to the display of handwoven linens, handcarved woodenware, fireplace brooms, pottery, and other gifts which will be presented Oct. 1 by the Arlington Heights Alumnae Club of Pi Beta Phi. The display and sale of handmade artices from the fraternity's philanthropic project in the Smoky Mountains will be held Thursday, Oct. 1 in Mount Prospect Country Club and Thursday, Oct. 8 at the Plum Grove Country Club, Palatine. Both sales will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

A film presentation on uterine cancer will be the program presented to members of Northwest Suburban Alumnae Club of Alpha Gamma Delta when they meet Tuesday, Oct. 6 at 7:45 p.m. at the Mount Prospect home of Mrs. Arthur Grundberg. Co-hostesses will incude Mrs. William Davis of Buffalo Grove and Mrs. Philip Ehlers of Palatine.

Dr. Peter Pleotis, recently of Minnesota, featured speaker for the evening, will give an explanation of the film. A diplomate of the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Dr. Pleotis is presently serving on the Board of the Mount Prospect Cancer Drive.

Alpha Gams in the area who have not been contacted and are interested in attending meetings, may call Mrs. James Smith of Mount Prospect, 255-4011, for information.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Both the color and the accomplishments of Alpha Chi Omega's 1964 convention will be recounted by Mrs. Paul Heal when the fraternity's Northwest Suburban Alumnae Club holds its first fall meeting Oct. 5 in the home of Mrs. James R. Clarke, 605 S. Lincoln Lane, Arlington Heights. Co-hostess will be Mrs. Lowell Olson.

Mrs. Heal, who serves as a finance and housing adviser for Alpha Chi Omega, was a committee delegate to the convention, held this past summer in Colorado Springs.

New-season spirit for the local alumnae club was bolstered Sept. 19 when Mr. and Mrs. D. Glenn Ofsthun of Barrington entertained members and their husbands at an evening potluck dinner.

SIGMA ALPHA IOTA

Three area women will be installed as officers during a formal chartering and installation of the Park Ridge Alumnae Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota. The service will take place Friday, Oct. 2, in the Barrington home of Mrs. Henry Beard.

Installed as secretary of the group, a national music fraternity for women, will be Mrs. Gerald Robinson, 820 Wilshire, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Dale Wilke, 217 N. Elmhurst, Mount Prospect, and Miss Sandra Wilkins, 11 N. Kenilworth, Mount Prospect, will be installed as chaplain and editor. President of the fraternity is a Park Ridge resident, Mrs. Farlin Caufield.

Preceding the installation, members of the executive board will entertain the installing officer, Mrs. Jeanette Kirk, national president of the organization, at a dinner in Park Ridge. A musicale and reception will follow the installation and among soloists will be Mrs. Robinson, soprano, and Miss Wilkins, flutist.

In charge of the reception is Mrs. George Galvin, 2324 N. LaFayette, Arlington Heights, who may be contacted for further information.

BETA SIGMA PHI

Mrs. John Trecker of Palatine was hostess for the Sept. 23 meeting of Lambda Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. A report of the Chicago-Metropolitan Area Council meeting was given by the chapter president, Mrs. Lester Turman of Mount Prospect, who attended the meeting with Palatine members, Mrs. John Rolfe, Mrs. Thomas McLaughlin and Mrs. Donald Schmittzeke. Mrs. Schmittzeke was again elected to the office of treasurer for the Area Council.

The Ways and Means committee has scheduled several candle parties to be held this Fall to finance charitable projects the group undertakes in the area.

Members voted to donate proceeds from the forthcoming Sweetheart Dance to the Beta Sigma Phi Hope School in Springfield. The dance is set for Feb. 20 in Old Orchard Country Club and will be co-sponsored by the Palatine chapter and chapters in Park Ridge and Des Plaines.

The chapter's annual fall pledge party will take place at the Oct. 7 meeting for which Mrs. Walter Pitney of Mount Prospect will be hostess. The program, "Everyday Social Graces," will be presented by Mrs. Turman and Mrs. McLaughlin. All members and guests have been requested to attend wearing "crazy" hats. (S

A 4-year college romance which began in Fall 1960 on the first day of freshman classes at Wisconsin State College at Whitewater, culminated in marriage Aug. 22 for Miss Julienne Dee Cartwright, daughter of the Julian E. Cartwrights, 603 Forest Ave., Mount Prospect, and Auitus Ripp, son of the Nick Ripps of Middleton, Wis.

Now as Mr. and Mrs., the newlyweds are residing in Racine where the bride is teaching in the Hansche School and the groom is coaching in St. Catherine's High School.

Their marriage took place in St. Raymond's Catholic Church Mount Prospect, during the 11 o'clock mass. Baskets of white glads and summer flowers decorated the church as Rev. Donald J. Fenske read the nuptial rites.

A floor-length sheath of bouquet taffeta was chosen by the bride for her marriage. The gown was fashioned with chapel train, beaded cummerbund and bead trim on the edge of the below-elbow sleeves and also on the skirt of the gown. Her silk illusion veil, scattered with pearls was held in place with a pearl headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white roses and ivy.

MR. CARTWRIGHT gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's four attendants were in aqua linen empire gowns styled with A-line floor-length skirts and a strip of turquoise velvet ribbon under the bodice. Short sleeves and deep scooped backs were also features of their gowns. Headpieces for the attendants were aqua linen bows with bouffant veils, and they carried cascades of asters in shades of lavender and purple.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Roxanne Cartwright, and bridesmaids, all Alpha Sigma Sorority sisters of the bride, were Janice Ames of Darien, Wis., Mrs. Robert Aldrich of Wauwatosa, Wis. and Karen Koenings of Racine.

THE GROOM'S brother, Marvin Ripp, was best man and ushers were Jim Potochick of West Allis, Wis, Don Thompson, Nona Grove, Wis., and Bill Cartwright, brother of the bride. bride.

Itasca Country Club was the scene of a reception for 150 guests. Mrs. Cartwright received in a champagne crepe gown with chiffon cowl neckline and long sleeves. Green cymbidiums made up her corsage. Mrs. Ripp chose a lavender silk ensemble and corsage of purple cymbidiums.

The couple honeymooned briefly at the O'Hare Inn, and will take a longer honeymoon later this year in California and Mexico.

The bride was graduated from Arlington High School in 1960.

Sisterhood Plans Six Discussions

Beth Tikvah Sisterhood of Hoffman Estates is holding the first of six discussion group meetings Monday, Oct. 5, at the temple library from 1 to 3 p.m. The remaining five discussions will be held the first Monday of each month at the same time.

This year's discussion will come from the book of Deuteronomy, the fifth book of Torah and a summary of the story of the Hebrew people from exodus from Egypt until the giving of the ten commandments on Mount Sinai, according to Mrs. Hillel Gamoran, who will lead the discussion.

Chairman of adult education for the Sisterhood is Mrs. Marvin Azriel, HE 7-0326, who may be contacted for further information.

The group's first fund-raiser of the year, a progressive dinner, was held Sept. 19 with Mrs. Stanley Samuels and Mrs. Richard Weisz as chairmen. (S

Amy Seehausen Wed On Silk Persian Rug

A silk Persian wedding rug, a family heirloom on which all brides in her family have been married, had an important role in the marriage of Miss Amy Seehausen, daughter of the Howard Carl Seehausens of Inverness Countryside, Palatine, and Dr. Louis L. Watson Jr., son placed at the altar of Immanuel Lutheran Church in Palatine for the Sept. 12 double ring service at which Pastor Robert Sauer officiated.

Flowers in the church were white stock and glads and the pews were marked with white satin bows and ferns.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a simply-styled gown of white satin with velvet flowers defining the empire bodice and bracelet-length sleeves. The A-line skirt featured a detachable bouffant train which fell from leaves and flowers just above the back waistline, and her French silk illusion veil fell from a tiara of lace, pearls and crystals. White roses made up her bridal bouquet.

MISS CAROL O'Rourke of Chicago served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Susan Anderson of Inverness, Mary McAndrews of Clarendon Hills, Margaret Salinsky of Youngstown, Ohio and Mrs. Robert Hamor of Oak Park.

The attendants were attired in matching sapphire satin gowns styled with scooped necklines, elbow-length sleeves and detachable overskirts. Matching pompons with matching sapphire blue bows completed their ensembles.

John Watson of Utah served as the groom's best man, and ushers were Dr. Robert Hamor of Oak Park, Dr. Patrick Hogan of Milwaukee, Dr. Donald Sullivan of Chicago, Dennis Scully of Peoria, John Seehausen of Inverness, Dan Seiler of Chicago Heights and Dr. Fred Ewald of St. Paul.

THE RECEPTION, which featured a champagne fountain, was held in Inverness Golf Club. Mrs. Seehausen received the 225 guests in a golden green shantung gown with lace bodice and corsage of cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Watson chose a soft green satin gown with lace and net bodice and a corsage of cymbidiums.

Dr. Watson took his bride on a 10-day Jamaica wedding trip followed by a weekend at Watson's Lake in Vincennes, Ind. As of Oct. 1, the newlyweds will be making their home in Montgomery, Ala. where the groom is stationed as a general surgeon at Maxwell Air Force Base. He is a graduate of DePauw University and Northwestern Medical School.

The new Mrs. Watson was graduated from Palatine High School and also studied at Bowling Green State University. Until her marriage she was employed in the reservation department of United Air Lines. (S

Historical Headgear Is Arlington Club Program

Arlington Heights Woman's club begins its 78th year of activity next Wednesday at 1:15 p.m. at Recreation Park Field House. Mrs. Albert C. Peters is president.

Mrs. Peter McAndrew, a member of the membership committee, will introduce 57 new members and Mrs. Stephen Jurco is to present the 27 chairmen of the standing committees. Mrs. Charles Innocentini is the new treasurer with Mrs. Ralph Lidge as her assistant.

Mrs. Joseph Svoboda as program chairman has obtained Mme. Edmonde Baldine who will model her own hat collection. "Headgear" Fashions through the Centuries" traces fashions in head coverings with 22 hats beginning with the style of the 12th century. The collection of styles is introduced by stories of the beauties who might have worn them.

MME. BALDINE was born in La Rochelle, France, and came to this country in 1939. She continued her millinery career in Chicago. After study and research she started to design this collection in the early 50's. During two trips abroad she toured England, France and Italy studying needlework and artistry in museums. Materials and jewels used in the hats were obtained in Europe and here in America, accumulated over a period of years. (S

MME. BALDINE models one of the historical headpieces she will show Wednesday to members of Arlington Heights Woman's Club when she presents "Headgear Fashions through the Centuries." The Oct. 7 meeting of the club will begin the club's 78th season.

Double Dydee Closes Summer With Gay Luau

The Double Dydee Mothers of Twins Club bade farewell to summer at a recent Hawaiian luau held in the gayly decorated garden of the past president, Mrs. Donald Nellessen. Chilly breezes blew and a light drizzle dampened the grounds but not the spirits of the guests, who came garbed in original Hawaiian costumes.

The group's first fall meeting, set for 8 p.m., Oct. 8 in the Lauterburg and Oehler Building, Arlington Heights, will feature a white elephant and rummage sale. The group meets the second Thursday of each month from October through June and is open to all mothers of twins, according to Mrs. Frank Kuzel, CL 9-2631. Several of the club members will be attending the annual convention of the Illinois Organization of Mothers of Twins Club, Inc. set for Oct. 16 in Decatur. (S

Pi Phi's Offer Handmade Articles as Fund-Raiser

PI BETA PHI

The public is invited to the display of handwoven linens, handcarved woodenware, fireplace brooms, pottery, and other gifts which will be presented Oct. 1 by the Arlington Heights Alumnae Club of Pi Beta Phi. The display and sale of handmade artices from the fraternity's philanthropic project in the Smoky Mountains will be held Thursday, Oct. 1 in Mount Prospect Country Club and Thursday, Oct. 8 at the Plum Grove Country Club, Palatine. Both sales will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

A film presentation on uterine cancer will be the program presented to members of Northwest Suburban Alumnae Club of Alpha Gamma Delta when they meet Tuesday, Oct. 6 at 7:45 p.m. at the Mount Prospect home of Mrs. Arthur Grundberg. Co-hostesses will incude Mrs. William Davis of Buffalo Grove and Mrs. Philip Ehlers of Palatine.

Dr. Peter Pleotis, recently of Minnesota, featured speaker for the evening, will give an explanation of the film. A diplomate of the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Dr. Pleotis is presently serving on the Board of the Mount Prospect Cancer Drive.

Alpha Gams in the area who have not been contacted and are interested in attending meetings, may call Mrs. James Smith of Mount Prospect, 255-4011, for information.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Both the color and the accomplishments of Alpha Chi Omega's 1964 convention will be recounted by Mrs. Paul Heal when the fraternity's Northwest Suburban Alumnae Club holds its first fall meeting Oct. 5 in the home of Mrs. James R. Clarke, 605 S. Lincoln Lane, Arlington Heights. Co-hostess will be Mrs. Lowell Olson.

Mrs. Heal, who serves as a finance and housing adviser for Alpha Chi Omega, was a committee delegate to the convention, held this past summer in Colorado Springs.

New-season spirit for the local alumnae club was bolstered Sept. 19 when Mr. and Mrs. D. Glenn Ofsthun of Barrington entertained members and their husbands at an evening potluck dinner.

SIGMA ALPHA IOTA

Three area women will be installed as officers during a formal chartering and installation of the Park Ridge Alumnae Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota. The service will take place Friday, Oct. 2, in the Barrington home of Mrs. Henry Beard.

Installed as secretary of the group, a national music fraternity for women, will be Mrs. Gerald Robinson, 820 Wilshire, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Dale Wilke, 217 N. Elmhurst, Mount Prospect, and Miss Sandra Wilkins, 11 N. Kenilworth, Mount Prospect, will be installed as chaplain and editor. President of the fraternity is a Park Ridge resident, Mrs. Farlin Caufield.

Preceding the installation, members of the executive board will entertain the installing officer, Mrs. Jeanette Kirk, national president of the organization, at a dinner in Park Ridge. A musicale and reception will follow the installation and among soloists will be Mrs. Robinson, soprano, and Miss Wilkins, flutist.

In charge of the reception is Mrs. George Galvin, 2324 N. LaFayette, Arlington Heights, who may be contacted for further information.

BETA SIGMA PHI

Mrs. John Trecker of Palatine was hostess for the Sept. 23 meeting of Lambda Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. A report of the Chicago-Metropolitan Area Council meeting was given by the chapter president, Mrs. Lester Turman of Mount Prospect, who attended the meeting with Palatine members, Mrs. John Rolfe, Mrs. Thomas McLaughlin and Mrs. Donald Schmittzeke. Mrs. Schmittzeke was again elected to the office of treasurer for the Area Council.

The Ways and Means committee has scheduled several candle parties to be held this Fall to finance charitable projects the group undertakes in the area.

Members voted to donate proceeds from the forthcoming Sweetheart Dance to the Beta Sigma Phi Hope School in Springfield. The dance is set for Feb. 20 in Old Orchard Country Club and will be co-sponsored by the Palatine chapter and chapters in Park Ridge and Des Plaines.

The chapter's annual fall pledge party will take place at the Oct. 7 meeting for which Mrs. Walter Pitney of Mount Prospect will be hostess. The program, "Everyday Social Graces," will be presented by Mrs. Turman and Mrs. McLaughlin. All members and guests have been requested to attend wearing "crazy" hats. (S

Apricot Egg Nog Is Easy Dessert

DELICATELY FLAVORED with apricots and grated lemon peel, golden Apricot Egg Nog is a nutritious snack for parties. It is made with a dry instant non-dairy coffee creamer. (SH

Fall is the time of year when most homemakers can expect at least one impromptu party, especially during the holidays. Or if she has teen-age or college-age children, she generally can plan on her home becoming the center of never ending jazz sessions and Beatles' rocks.

The wise woman who wants her children and friends to enjoy the warmth of home and family always makes sure she is prepared for such unexpected festivities. She keeps the larder stocked with foods that can be whipped up instantly as party refreshments.

THE HOME economists at Carnation Company suggest easy-to-prepare Apricot Egg Nog for fall or year-round entertaining. The velvety smooth drink features a dry instant non-dairy coffee creamer that stays fresh without refrigeration.

Though a versatile recipe ingredient, the product was developed for use in hot beverages. It enhances the flavor of coffee, is perfect for packing in luggage for travel, in camping or skiing supplies and in a sportsman's kit for hunting and fishing.

APRICOT EGG NOG
(Makes 1½ quarts)

1 can (1 pound, 1 ounce) apricot halves
2 eggs
¼ cup sugar
3 cups instant dry milk crystals
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1-1/3 cups coffee creamer
2 teaspoons vanilla

Drain apricots; reserve syrup. Blend apricots in electric blender or force through food mill; set aside. Beat eggs with 1 tablespoon of the sugar until thick and light yellow. Chill 2/3 cup of reserved syrup. Combine remaining syrup with reliquefied instant crystals and beat into egg mixture with apricots, lemon peel and juice.

Meanwhile, chill bowl and beaters in refrigerator 15 minutes. Combine chilled syrup, remaining 3 tablespoons sugar, non-dairy coffee creamer and vanilla in chilled bowl. Whip at high speed with electric mixer until soft peaks form (3 to 5 minutes).

Beat half of the topping into egg mixture. Top with mounds of remaining topping. Sprinkle with mace, if desired. (SH

Elegant Touches

Apple juice, well chilled before serving, takes on party manners when you top with a scoop of lemon sherbet.

Crumble cooked bacon and add to thousand island dressing. Serve this over an open-faced liver sausage sandwich with sliced tomatoes and onion rings as a garnish.

Having rice? Pile it up like a cone and then place thin slivers of processed cheese on top and around the cone to allow them to melt.

For a Scandinavian hamburger, use both ground beef and pork. Season with chopped parsley, nutmeg, salt and pepper.

Like creamed onions? After frying hamburgers or cube steak, place sliced onions in skillet and cook in the drippings. Sprinkle them with flour, salt and pepper and add a little cream before cooking is finished.

Sliced water chestnuts and kumquats threaded on a small wooden pick make a nice kabob garnish for the meat platter.

Helen's Favorite:
Old-Fashioned Slaw
(Serves 6)

4 Cups finely shredded cabbage
½ cup seedless raisins
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
4 tablespoons creamy salad dressing
1 tablespoon vinegar

Combine cabbage, raisins, sugar and salt. Let stand for 1 hour. Drain off liquid. Blend together salad dressing and vinegar. Spoon into cabbage mixture; toss to mix well.

A Lunchbox Treat

Hidden treasures make lunchboxes a tasty treat. And the treasure-hunters on your list will go for Treasure Island Cakes in a big way! Hidden in top and bottom of each vanilla cupcake are two cream-filled chocolate cookies.

These easy-to-make cupcakes are delicious afternoon snacks, too, served with a scoop of ice cream. Here's how to make them:

TREASURE ISLAND CAKES

24 Sunshine Hydrox Cookies
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1¼ teaspoons baking powder
1/8 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon mace
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/3 cup milk

Lightly grease the bottoms of 12 three-inch muffin cups. Place a Hydrox cookie in each; set aside. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and mace together; set aside.

Cream butter or margarine with sugar; beat in eggs, one at a time, until mixture is smooth and light. Stir in vanilla. Add flour mixture and milk alternately in 2 or 3 portions, beginning and ending with dry material; stir gently until smooth.

SPOON BATTER into muffin cups over cookies. Top each with remaining cookies. Bake in moderately hot oven (375° F) about 15 minutes until golden and cakes begin to shrink from sides. Cool on rack in cups for about 5 minutes. Remove with spatula and continue cooling on rack. Store in air-tight container.

YIELD: 12 cup cakes.

Sunday Special—Duckling Roast

This Sunday when the family is gathered together is the perfect time to serve roast duckling. It is truly a Sunday special and is bound to excite the appetites of everyone, especially when you fill the duck with this savory stuffing. Quick and easy to make, the packaged herb-seasoned stuffing is already prepared with just the right amoun of spices, and when you add your own personal touch of celery and oranges you'll have a meal fit for a king.

1 (4 to 5 pound) duckling
Salt
1 package herb-seasoned stuffing
1½ cups finely chopped celery
2/3 cup diced orange sections
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
Orange slices

Clean and thoroughly dry duckling. Then rub with salt inside and out.

Prepare stuffing according to package directions. Add celery, orange sections, and rind to prepared stuffing mixture. Toss together lightly. Then stuff duck and secure opening with skewers.

Prick bird well with a sharp fork. Place, breast side up, on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Roast in moderate oven (325 F.) 2 to 2 ½ hours. Garnish with orange slices.

Makes 4 to 5 servings. (SH

Cranberry Juice Adds New Flair to Cookery

Sparkling ruby-red cranberry juice can be one of your greatest cooking assets in creating interesting dishes with new flavor combinations. Its bright cheery color and tart flavor lift an ordinary recipe right into the gourmet class.

Next time you're serving fruit for breakfast or as dessert — grapefruit, bananas, peaches, pears, pineapple, prunes — pour cranberry juice over them for a glamorous flavor accent. Fresh berries of all types are equally delicious when you substitute cranberry juice for the more ordinary milk or cream.

WHEN OVEN-cooking meat, fish, fowl or ham, try a cranberry juice glaze as a baste or marinade — the juice will enhance the flavor and tenderize the meat. Pep up vegetables or salads by adding this affable mixer to the sauce or salad dressing.

Desserts? Ices, gelatines, cakes, cookies, baked apples, ice cream sodas — add a dash of cranberry juice for beautiful color and a sharpened flavor.

And don't forget — cranberry juice on the rocks makes a wonderful-energy pick-up any time of the year.

Tip for weight watchers: Try the dietetic cranberry juice; it's a low calorie pure juice.

BROILED VEAL CHOPS WITH DANISH MEAT SAUCE

(Makes 8 servings)

8 veal chops
Salt and pepper
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
1¼ cups beef bouillon
1 cup cranberry juice cocktail
½ cup heavy cream

Sprinkle veal chops with salt and pepper. Broil or barbecue over hot coals until golden brown and tender. Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Stir in flour. Gradually stir in bouillon and cranberry juice. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil and thickens.

Simmer for 5 minutes. Remove from flame and stir in cream. Spoon sauce over chops before serving.

From Ocean Spray Company.

PERK-UP YOUR RECIPES by trying cranberry juice as a flavor and color accent next time you're creating a company menu, whether it be pheasant, ham, green vegetables or crisp salad. Cranberry juice is also refreshing "over-the-rocks."

Apricot Egg Nog Is Easy Dessert

DELICATELY FLAVORED with apricots and grated lemon peel, golden Apricot Egg Nog is a nutritious snack for parties. It is made with a dry instant non-dairy coffee creamer. (SH

Fall is the time of year when most homemakers can expect at least one impromptu party, especially during the holidays. Or if she has teen-age or college-age children, she generally can plan on her home becoming the center of never ending jazz sessions and Beatles' rocks.

The wise woman who wants her children and friends to enjoy the warmth of home and family always makes sure she is prepared for such unexpected festivities. She keeps the larder stocked with foods that can be whipped up instantly as party refreshments.

THE HOME economists at Carnation Company suggest easy-to-prepare Apricot Egg Nog for fall or year-round entertaining. The velvety smooth drink features a dry instant non-dairy coffee creamer that stays fresh without refrigeration.

Though a versatile recipe ingredient, the product was developed for use in hot beverages. It enhances the flavor of coffee, is perfect for packing in luggage for travel, in camping or skiing supplies and in a sportsman's kit for hunting and fishing.

APRICOT EGG NOG
(Makes 1½ quarts)

1 can (1 pound, 1 ounce) apricot halves
2 eggs
¼ cup sugar
3 cups instant dry milk crystals
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1-1/3 cups coffee creamer
2 teaspoons vanilla

Drain apricots; reserve syrup. Blend apricots in electric blender or force through food mill; set aside. Beat eggs with 1 tablespoon of the sugar until thick and light yellow. Chill 2/3 cup of reserved syrup. Combine remaining syrup with reliquefied instant crystals and beat into egg mixture with apricots, lemon peel and juice.

Meanwhile, chill bowl and beaters in refrigerator 15 minutes. Combine chilled syrup, remaining 3 tablespoons sugar, non-dairy coffee creamer and vanilla in chilled bowl. Whip at high speed with electric mixer until soft peaks form (3 to 5 minutes).

Beat half of the topping into egg mixture. Top with mounds of remaining topping. Sprinkle with mace, if desired. (SH

Family Pot Luck

BY HELEN HALE

Elegant Touches

Apple juice, well chilled before serving, takes on party manners when you top with a scoop of lemon sherbet.

Crumble cooked bacon and add to thousand island dressing. Serve this over an open-faced liver sausage sandwich with sliced tomatoes and onion rings as a garnish.

Having rice? Pile it up like a cone and then place thin slivers of processed cheese on top and around the cone to allow them to melt.

For a Scandinavian hamburger, use both ground beef and pork. Season with chopped parsley, nutmeg, salt and pepper.

Like creamed onions? After frying hamburgers or cube steak, place sliced onions in skillet and cook in the drippings. Sprinkle them with flour, salt and pepper and add a little cream before cooking is finished.

Sliced water chestnuts and kumquats threaded on a small wooden pick make a nice kabob garnish for the meat platter.

Helen's Favorite:
Old-Fashioned Slaw
(Serves 6)

4 Cups finely shredded cabbage
½ cup seedless raisins
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
4 tablespoons creamy salad dressing
1 tablespoon vinegar

Combine cabbage, raisins, sugar and salt. Let stand for 1 hour. Drain off liquid. Blend together salad dressing and vinegar. Spoon into cabbage mixture; toss to mix well.

A Lunchbox Treat

Hidden treasures make lunchboxes a tasty treat. And the treasure-hunters on your list will go for Treasure Island Cakes in a big way! Hidden in top and bottom of each vanilla cupcake are two cream-filled chocolate cookies.

These easy-to-make cupcakes are delicious afternoon snacks, too, served with a scoop of ice cream. Here's how to make them:

TREASURE ISLAND CAKES

24 Sunshine Hydrox Cookies
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1¼ teaspoons baking powder
1/8 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon mace
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/3 cup milk

Lightly grease the bottoms of 12 three-inch muffin cups. Place a Hydrox cookie in each; set aside. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and mace together; set aside.

Cream butter or margarine with sugar; beat in eggs, one at a time, until mixture is smooth and light. Stir in vanilla. Add flour mixture and milk alternately in 2 or 3 portions, beginning and ending with dry material; stir gently until smooth.

SPOON BATTER into muffin cups over cookies. Top each with remaining cookies. Bake in moderately hot oven (375° F) about 15 minutes until golden and cakes begin to shrink from sides. Cool on rack in cups for about 5 minutes. Remove with spatula and continue cooling on rack. Store in air-tight container.

YIELD: 12 cup cakes.

Sunday Special–Duckling Roast

This Sunday when the family is gathered together is the perfect time to serve roast duckling. It is truly a Sunday special and is bound to excite the appetites of everyone, especially when you fill the duck with this savory stuffing. Quick and easy to make, the packaged herb-seasoned stuffing is already prepared with just the right amoun of spices, and when you add your own personal touch of celery and oranges you'll have a meal fit for a king.

1 (4 to 5 pound) duckling
Salt
1 package herb-seasoned stuffing
1½ cups finely chopped celery
2/3 cup diced orange sections
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
Orange slices

Clean and thoroughly dry duckling. Then rub with salt inside and out.

Prepare stuffing according to package directions. Add celery, orange sections, and rind to prepared stuffing mixture. Toss together lightly. Then stuff duck and secure opening with skewers.

Prick bird well with a sharp fork. Place, breast side up, on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Roast in moderate oven (325 F.) 2 to 2 ½ hours. Garnish with orange slices.

Makes 4 to 5 servings. (SH

Cranberry Juice Adds New Flair to Cookery

Sparkling ruby-red cranberry juice can be one of your greatest cooking assets in creating interesting dishes with new flavor combinations. Its bright cheery color and tart flavor lift an ordinary recipe right into the gourmet class.

Next time you're serving fruit for breakfast or as dessert — grapefruit, bananas, peaches, pears, pineapple, prunes — pour cranberry juice over them for a glamorous flavor accent. Fresh berries of all types are equally delicious when you substitute cranberry juice for the more ordinary milk or cream.

WHEN OVEN-cooking meat, fish, fowl or ham, try a cranberry juice glaze as a baste or marinade — the juice will enhance the flavor and tenderize the meat. Pep up vegetables or salads by adding this affable mixer to the sauce or salad dressing.

Desserts? Ices, gelatines, cakes, cookies, baked apples, ice cream sodas — add a dash of cranberry juice for beautiful color and a sharpened flavor.

And don't forget — cranberry juice on the rocks makes a wonderful-energy pick-up any time of the year.

Tip for weight watchers: Try the dietetic cranberry juice; it's a low calorie pure juice.

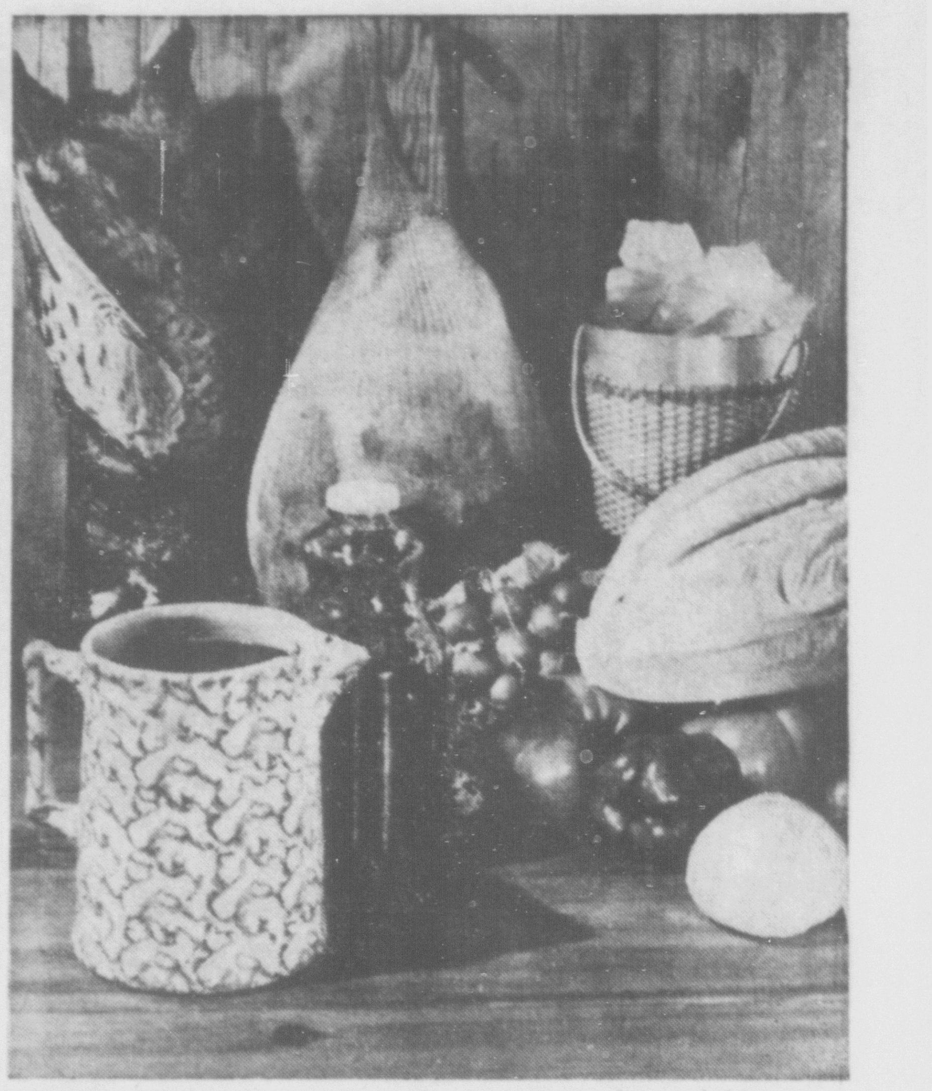
BROILED VEAL CHOPS WITH DANISH MEAT SAUCE
(Makes 8 servings)

8 veal chops
Salt and pepper
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
1¼ cups beef bouillon
1 cup cranberry juice cocktail
½ cup heavy cream

Sprinkle veal chops with salt and pepper. Broil or barbecue over hot coals until golden brown and tender. Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Stir in flour. Gradually stir in bouillon and cranberry juice. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil and thickens.

Simmer for 5 minutes. Remove from flame and stir in cream. Spoon sauce over chops before serving.

From Ocean Spray Company.



PERK-UP YOUR RECIPES by trying cranberry juice as a flavor and color accent next time you're creating a company menu, whether it be pheasant, ham, green vegetables or crisp salad. Cranberry juice is also refreshing "over-the-rocks."

Gala Benefit Nets $8400 for Northwest Hospital

MISS ILLINOIS, Pat Quillen of North Aurora, modeled this black and white jumper ensemble during the annual luncheon and fashion show presented by the Women's Auxiliary to Northwest Community Hospital. Benefit was held in the Post and Paddock Club at Arlington Park.

Northwest Community Hospital
SEPT 15

OBVIOUSLY HAPPY with the sixth annual luncheon-fashion show staged by the Women's Auxiliary to Northwest Community Hospital were Mrs. Read Chalfont of Palatine and Mrs. William Currie of Arlington Heights. Mrs. Chalfont was one of the committee chairmen, working on the benefit which was held Sept. 15 in the Post and Paddock Club.

VOLUNTEER DEPARTMENT of Northwest Community Hospital was represented at the Auxiliary's fall benefit by Mrs. Arthur Traulsen of Palatine, chairman of the teen program, Mrs. Eugene Barnes of Arlington Heights, chairman of the volunteer department, and Miss Jean Kerwin, a candy striper who is entering nurses' training at Wesley Memorial Hospital this week.

SPECIAL GUESTS at the recent benefit presented by the Women's Auxiliary to Northwest Community Hospital were Mrs. William Peterson of Palatine, immediate past president of the Auxiliary, Nicholas Lattof of Barrington, a member of the hospital board, and Mrs. Lattof. Proceeds from the benefit totaled $8400 to equal the amount raised at last year's affair. (S

Dramatist To Review 'Julian'

Herbert H. Duenow will review Gore Vidal's "Julian" Oct. 5, at 1 p.m., for the opening of the fall Book Review series of the Plum Grove Club Women's Auxiliary.

Mr. Duenow, pastor of Washburn Congregational Church in Half Day, makes it a practice to review the best sellers after literary critics have accepted particular books as legitimate literature. "He is not really a book reviewer in the usual sense but a book dramatist and appears before his audiences without notes of any kind," commented Mrs. Robert Muchow, one of the hostesses. Also serving as hostesses will be Mrs. Carl Nagel and Mrs. Earl Ogier.

HERBERT H. DUENOW

The book review program began at the Plum Grove Club last year and is again being planned for all members and their friends. The series will consist of six reviews presented by various reviewers. (S

Bridge Group Begins Play

Prospect Heights Woman's Club Junior Bridge Tournament will be starting its third year and those interested may contact Pat Anderson at Lehigh 7-0532.

This tournament was formed by a group of women who were beginning and wanted to get in a tournament for the experience of playing bridge in a more relaxed atmosphere, and others who wished to brush up on their play.

One does not need a partner to join, as individual scores are kept, and no lessons are given.

Deadline for registering is Oct. 15. (S

Engagements

Marian Sinclair

Mr. and Mrs. Chester M. Sinclair, 622 Mayfair, Arlington Heights, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Marian Ruth Sinclair, to John Gilbert Liebenow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert I. Liebenow, 131 S. Kenilworth, Mount Prospect.

Miss Sinclair attended high school in Appleton, Wis. and also studied at Georgetown College. She is now employed by an Arlington Heights doctor.

Her fiance is a graduate of Arlington High School and Lake Forest College. He is with Continental Casualty Co., Chicago.

The couple will marry Nov. 28. (S

Jeanne Cole

Announcing the engagement of their daughter, Jeanne Elizabeth, to Robert George Poloway, son of George Poloway of Chicago and Mrs. Albert Semanyk of Philadelphia, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Cole, 1142 Perry Drive, Lake Park Estates, Palatine.

Miss Cole is 'a graduate of Palatine High School and the Illinois Masonic School of Nursing, and is employed by Northwest Community Hospital. Mr. Poloway is a graduate of Schurz High School in Chicago and has attended Wright Junior College and DeVry Institute. He is employed by Nuclear of Chicago Corp.

A March wedding is being planned.

Karen Kurth

Miss Karen Kurth's engagement and approaching marriage is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Kurth, 408 N. Fairview, Mount Prospect. She and David Ingvoldstad, son of Captain and Mrs. Orlando Ingvoldstad of Alexandria, Va., have chosen Oct. 3 for their wedding date.

Miss Kurth is a graduate of Prospect High School and is now attending Cook County School of Nursing. Her fiance, a St. Olaf College graduate, is working for the Chicago Daily News in Chicago.

Carla Anderson

Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Anderson of Long Grove announce the engagement of their daughter, Carla Christina, to Emilio Menendez Angulo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Miguel Menendez of Miranda de Ebro, Spain.

Miss Anderson was graduated from Ripon College, Wisconsin and received her M.A. degree in Spanish from Middlebury College, Vermont. Her fiance received his degree in architecture from the University of Madrid, where they met while both were studying.

The wedding will take place in December in Madrid.

Barbara Brown

The engagement of Barbara Charlene Brown to Charles L. Pine, son of Mrs. Emma Silloti of Terre Haute, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Brown, 1346 Kensington Road, Arlington Heights.

Miss Brown, a Prospect High School graduate, is a senior at Northern Illinois University. Her fiance attended Indiana University and is now serving in the U. S. Navy, stationed at Glenview Naval Air Station.

The couple plans to be married next July.

Macaroni Hint

When cooking macaroni or spaghetti, add a tablespoon or two of Spanish olive oil to the water. This prevents water from boiling over and keeps the strands of macaroni separate.

THE BLACK HILLS were chosen as a honeymoon haven for Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. Cole, recent newlyweds now residing in Rolling Meadows. The bride is the former Mary Lou Johnson, daughter of the Earl A. Johnsons of Wheeling, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Esther Cole of Villa Park. Both are employed by Arlington High School District 214.

Spring Color, Countryside Topic Oct. 1

"Planning Spring Color" will be the program theme when Countryside Garden Club meets Thursday, Oct. 1. at the Salt Creek Rural Park Building, 530 Williams St., Palatine, at 8 p.m.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Walter Juengling of Hollenbach Country Garden and Nursery, Arlington Heights. He will show a series of color slides on tulips and other spring flowering bulbs in which Hollenbach Nursery specializes.

Other pointers to be covered will be the proper planting time and depth for this area and the care these bulbs require to give maximum yearly bloom.

Anyone in the area interested in this program may attend and those wishing further information on the program or directions to the Park Building may call Mrs. Robert Lichner, 392-1112. (S

Diana DeWilde, Paul Otto Wed in Aug. 22 Ceremony

A reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John DeWilde, 205 Audrey Lane, Mount Prospect, followed the Aug. 22 wedding of their daughter, Diana Alynne, and Paul Alfred Otto of Arlington Heights. The groom's parents are the Alfred Ottos of 204 N. Patton Ave.

All-white arrangements of glads, snapdragons and tuberoses decorated the altar of Our Lady of the Wayside for the afternoon rites. Mrs. Harriet Jenkins of Mount Prospect played appropriately at the organ as Fr. Harold O'Hara officiated.

FOR HER WEDDING the bride wore a floor-length gown of chalk white, styled of point d'esprit with appliques of imported re-embroidered alencon lace forming a petal neckline and accenting the full skirt. Her matching headpiece held an elbow-length veil in place, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white glamellias, stephanotis and ivy.

Her attendants were Mrs. Kenneth Ternberg of McHenry as matron of honor and two bridesmaids, Jacque DeWilde, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Joyce Graetz of Des Plaines.

They chose matching gowns of gold velvet and yellow crepe. The bodices were of the gold velvet and the floor-length skirts were fashioned of the yellow crepe, caught at the waistline with gold satin bands and bows to form an empire line. They carried cascading bouquets of orange and yellow glamellias.

CHARLES OTTO, brother of the groom, came from Memphis, where he is serving with the U.S. Navy Air Force, to be best man. Groomsmen were Ronald Alheim, cousin of the groom from Worth, Ill., and James Smalley of Arlington Heights. David DeWilde, the bride's twin brother, served as usher.

A pink brocade dress was worn by Mrs. DeWilde for her daughter's wedding. She wore a matching corsage of pink and white glamellias. Mrs. Otto wore a beige lace dress with matching jacket and had an orange and yellow glamellia corsage.

THE BRIDAL pair were graduated from Arlington High School. The bride then attended Southern Illinois University for a year, majoring in retail buying and merchandising, and is now employed at Carson Pirie Scott and Co. in Chicago.

The groom served in the U.S. Navy for four years and has been attending Kansas State University for three years, studying architecture.

The couple will live in Manhattan, Kan., while he finishes school. They honeymooned in Wisconsin for two weeks before going to Kansas to make their home. (S

Prospect Heights Woman's Club Junior Bridge Tournament will be starting its third year and those interested may contact Pat Anderson at Lehigh 7-0532.

This tournament was formed by a group of women who were beginning and wanted to get in a tournament for the experience of playing bridge in a more relaxed atmosphere, and others who wished to brush up on their play.

One does not need a partner to join, as individual scores are kept, and no lessons are given.

Deadline for registering is Oct. 15. (S

Engagements

Marian Sinclair

Mr. and Mrs. Chester M. Sinclair, 622 Mayfair, Arlington Heights, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Marian Ruth Sinclair, to John Gilbert Liebenow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert I. Liebenow, 131 S. Kenilworth, Mount Prospect.

Miss Sinclair attended high school in Appleton, Wis. and also studied at Georgetown College. She is now employed by an Arlington Heights doctor.

Her fiance is a graduate of Arlington High School and Lake Forest College. He is with Continental Casualty Co., Chicago.

The couple will marry Nov. 28. (S

Jeanne Cole

Announcing the engagement of their daughter, Jeanne Elizabeth, to Robert George Poloway, son of George Poloway of Chicago and Mrs. Albert Semanyk of Philadelphia, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Cole, 1142 Perry Drive, Lake Park Estates, Palatine.

Miss Cole is 'a graduate of Palatine High School and the Illinois Masonic School of Nursing, and is employed by Northwest Community Hospital. Mr. Poloway is a graduate of Schurz High School in Chicago and has attended Wright Junior College and DeVry Institute. He is employed by Nuclear of Chicago Corp.

A March wedding is being planned.

Karen Kurth

Miss Karen Kurth's engagement and approaching marriage is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Kurth, 408 N. Fairview, Mount Prospect. She and David Ingvoldstad, son of Captain and Mrs. Orlando Ingvoldstad of Alexandria, Va., have chosen Oct. 3 for their wedding date.

Miss Kurth is a graduate of Prospect High School and is now attending Cook County School of Nursing. Her fiance, a St. Olaf College graduate, is working for the Chicago Daily News in Chicago.

Carla Anderson

Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Anderson of Long Grove announce the engagement of their daughter, Carla Christina, to Emilio Menendez Angulo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Miguel Menendez of Miranda de Ebro, Spain.

Miss Anderson was graduated from Ripon College, Wisconsin and received her M.A. degree in Spanish from Middlebury College, Vermont. Her fiance received his degree in architecture from the University of Madrid, where they met while both were studying.

The wedding will take place in December in Madrid.

Barbara Brown

The engagement of Barbara Charlene Brown to Charles L. Pine, son of Mrs. Emma Silloti of Terre Haute, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Brown, 1346 Kensington Road, Arlington Heights.

Miss Brown, a Prospect High School graduate, is a senior at Northern Illinois University. Her fiance attended Indiana University and is now serving in the U. S. Navy, stationed at Glenview Naval Air Station.

The couple plans to be married next July.

Macaroni Hint

When cooking macaroni or spaghetti, add a tablespoon or two of Spanish olive oil to the water. This prevents water from boiling over and keeps the strands of macaroni separate.

OBVIOUSLY HAPPY with the sixth annual luncheon-fashion show staged by the Women's Auxiliary to Northwest Community Hospital were Mrs. Read Chalfont of Palatine and Mrs. William Currie of Arlington Heights. Mrs. Chalfont was one of the committee chairmen, working on the benefit which was held Sept. 15 in the Post and Paddock Club.

Spring Color, Countryside Topic Oct. 1

"Planning Spring Color" will be the program theme when Countryside Garden Club meets Thursday, Oct. 1. at the Salt Creek Rural Park Building, 530 Williams St., Palatine, at 8 p.m.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Walter Juengling of Hollenbach Country Garden and Nursery, Arlington Heights. He will show a series of color slides on tulips and other spring flowering bulbs in which Hollenbach Nursery specializes.

Other pointers to be covered will be the proper planting time and depth for this area and the care these bulbs require to give maximum yearly bloom.

Anyone in the area interested in this program may attend and those wishing further information on the program or directions to the Park Building may call Mrs. Robert Lichner, 392-1112. (S

Diana DeWilde, Paul Otto Wed in Aug. 22 Ceremony

A reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John DeWilde, 205 Audrey Lane, Mount Prospect, followed the Aug. 22 wedding of their daughter, Diana Alynne, and Paul Alfred Otto of Arlington Heights. The groom's parents are the Alfred Ottos of 204 N. Patton Ave.

All-white arrangements of glads, snapdragons and tuberoses decorated the altar of Our Lady of the Wayside for the afternoon rites. Mrs. Harriet Jenkins of Mount Prospect played appropriately at the organ as Fr. Harold O'Hara officiated.

FOR HER WEDDING the bride wore a floor-length gown of chalk white, styled of point d'esprit with appliques of imported re-embroidered alencon lace forming a petal neckline and accenting the full skirt. Her matching headpiece held an elbow-length veil in place, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white glamellias, stephanotis and ivy.

Her attendants were Mrs. Kenneth Ternberg of McHenry as matron of honor and two bridesmaids, Jacque DeWilde, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Joyce Graetz of Des Plaines.

They chose matching gowns of gold velvet and yellow crepe. The bodices were of the gold velvet and the floor-length skirts were fashioned of the yellow crepe, caught at the waistline with gold satin bands and bows to form an empire line. They carried cascading bouquets of orange and yellow glamellias.

CHARLES OTTO, brother of the groom, came from Memphis, where he is serving with the U.S. Navy Air Force, to be best man. Groomsmen were Ronald Alheim, cousin of the groom from Worth, Ill., and James Smalley of Arlington Heights. David DeWilde, the bride's twin brother, served as usher.

A pink brocade dress was worn by Mrs. DeWilde for her daughter's wedding. She wore a matching corsage of pink and white glamellias. Mrs. Otto wore a beige lace dress with matching jacket and had an orange and yellow glamellia corsage.

THE BRIDAL pair were graduated from Arlington High School. The bride then attended Southern Illinois University for a year, majoring in retail buying and merchandising, and is now employed at Carson Pirie Scott and Co. in Chicago.

The groom served in the U.S. Navy for four years and has been attending Kansas State University for three years, studying architecture.

The couple will live in Manhattan, Kan., while he finishes school. They honeymooned in Wisconsin for two weeks before going to Kansas to make their home. (S

THE BLACK HILLS were chosen as a honeymoon haven for Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. Cole, recent newlyweds now residing in Rolling Meadows. The bride is the former Mary Lou Johnson, daughter of the Earl A. Johnsons of Wheeling, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Esther Cole of Villa Park. Both are employed by Arlington High School District 214. (Jenart Studio)

Chicken Cacciatore is from Grandma's Time

Recipe Ranks High With Rizzio Clan

by LOIS SEILER

Artichokes, considered a delicacy by most, are commonplace in the Richard Rizzio household.

"Because I serve them frequently, even the children, as tiny tots, cultivated a taste for them and artichokes have become their favorite vegetable," Mrs. Rizzio explained.

It is not surprising that these flowers of herb plants are appealing to youngsters as well as adults when they are prepared by Mrs. Rizzio's special recipe. The recipe is authentically Italian and has been in her family for several generations.

Time-consuming to make, there is an art to both preparing and eating these baked artichokes. After trimming and cleaning them, Mrs. Rizzio spreads the petals and spoons a flarvorful bread and cheese stuffing between the leaves so that the artichokes resemble filled flowers. Oil is drizzled over each and they are baked for a little over an hour.

The succulent tidbit at the base of each leaf is eaten with the stuffing, and the heart of the choke is eaten last of all.

MRS. RIZZIO especially likes to serve these delectable stuffed artichokes with a meat loaf and stewed tomatoes. They are also good with hamburger patties and a salad.

Often this good cook boils artichokes, removing the coarse leaves and leaf tips first. These are eaten by pulling off the leaves and dipping them in an oil and vinegar dressing seasoned with salt and pepper.

Another excellent, authentic Italian recipe that Mrs. Rizzio received from her mother is for savory chicken Cacciatore.

Marie Rizzio uses cut-up fryers which she browns in oil with onion, green pepper and garlic. Tomatoes and tomato sauce, Chianti wine and seasonings are added, and the chicken is simmered until tender.

This recipe makes a generous amount of flavorful sauce, which is delicious served over buttered egg noodles or mashed potatoes. French bread and a green salad tossed with an oil and vinegar dressing makes an appealing accompaniement.

For dessert, homemakers will be tempted to try this good cook's rich and creamy Speedy Cheese Cake.

QUICK AND EASY to make, a lemon-flavored cream cheese filling is mixed together and poured into a graham cracker crust. Baked for 30 minutes, a sour cream topping is spread over the cake and it is baked again.

Mrs. Rizzio often doubles the recipe and bakes it in a 9 by 13-inch pan. She suggests spooning strawberries over each serving, and recommends this cake as a bridge or dinner dessert. "It is good for picnics too," she said.

All of these recipes are great favorites of the Rizzios' four children: Richard, 12½; Kenneth, 11, Lynn, 7½ and Michael, 4½.

The Rizzio family moved from Crystal Lake to their home at 1808 N. Kennicott Court in Arlington Heights 2½ years ago. Mrs. Rizzio is a member of the WSCS of the First Methodist Church and the PTA.

STUFFED ARTICHOKES

1½ cups bread crumbs
¾ cup grated Romano cheese
¼ cup chopped fresh parsley or dry parsley flakes
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
1/8 teaspoon pepper
6 tablespoons salad oil
6 medium-size artichokes

Mix bread crumbs, parsley, cheese, garlic powder, salt and pepper in a small bowl. Cut stems from artichokes to make the base flat; trim leaf tips with scissors.

Wash artichokes under cold running water and drain well. Spread petals slightly with fingers. Spoon stuffing into spacing between leaves. Repeat until all artichokes are filled and resemble filled flowers.

Drizzle one tablespoon salad oil over each filled artichoke. Stand artichokes up and put into a large casserole containing ¼ cup salad oil. Bake, covered, in a 350 degree oven for one hour and 15 minutes.

To eat, pull away one leaf at a time (stuffing will cling to leaves) and bite into succulent tidbit at base of each. After all the leaves are eaten, cut out fuzzy part of artichoke and eat the heart.

CHICKEN CACCIATORE

2 2½-3 pound frying chickens, cut up
6 tablespoons salad oil
1 cup minced onion
¾ cup minced green pepper
2 minced, peeled cloves garlic
1 No. 2½ can tomatoes (3½ cups)
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
½ cup Chianti wine
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon ground allspice
1 teaspoon sugar
1 bay leaf
½ teaspoon leaf thyme

Clean, wash and dry chicken. Heat oil in a large skillet or Dutch oven. Fry chicken in it until golden brown on all sides.

Add onion, green pepper and garlic and brown lightly. Add remaining ingredients and simmer, uncovered, for one hour until chicken is tender.

Serve with buttered egg noodles or mashed potatoes. Serves 6.

SPEEDY CHEESE CAKE PIE

1¼ cups graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
1 8-ounce package cream cheese
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon vanilla
Dash of salt
2 eggs

Make crust by comibning crumbs and melted butter. Press into a buttered, 8-inch pie plate.

Soften cheese and beat until fuffy. Gradually blend in sugar, lemon juice, vanilla and dash of salt. Add the eggs, one at a time, and beat well after each addition.

Pour filling into crust. Bake in a slow oven, 325 degrees, until set, 25 to 30 minutes.

Prepare the following topping:
1 cup commercial sour cream
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla

Mix ingredients together and spread over top of baked filling. Return to oven and bake 10 minutes longer. Cool and chill several hours. Serves 6.

Strawberries may be spooned over the top of this dessert. The recipe may also be doubled and made in a 9 by 13-inch pan.

CHICKEN CACCIATORE, made by an authentic Italian recipe which belonged to their grandmother, is one of Richard, Kenneth, Lynn and Mike Rizzio's favorite dinners. Their mother, Mrs. Richard Rizzio of Arlington Heights, accompanies this savory chicken with butter noodles, over which she serves the rich and flavorful cacciatore sauce. The recipe for this dish and another of Mrs. Rizzio's Italian specialties, Baked Artichokes, are featured in the adjoining column. (SH

Raisin Toasties

This very flavorful but not too sweet raisin bar cooky has a new tasty flavor achieved by baking the oats and walnuts in a hot oven before stirring them into the dough.

The California raisins are chopped lightly to let the taste surprising flavor distribute throughout the bars. Notice the simple directions for shaping and cutting the raisin toasties. If you prefer, the same dough may be used for drop cookies.

FROSTED RAISIN TOASTIES

1 cup seedless raisins
2 cups rolled oats
1 cup broken walnuts
1 cup shortening (part butter or margarine)
2 cups brown sugar (packed)
3 eggs
2½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup milk
Glaze

Chop raisins lightly. Spread oats and walnuts on baking sheet; toast lightly in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 8 minutes. Blend together shortening and sugar; beat in eggs one at a time. Sift together flour, soda, salt and cinnamon.

ADD TO SUGAR mixture alternately with milk; stir in raisins, toasted oats and walnuts. Divide into 6 parts; chill dough. Roll each piece into long roll 1-inch in diameter and about 15 inches long. Place two strips on each lightly greased baking sheet. Press to flat 4-inch strip with rolling pin.

Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. While still warm brush with glaze made by combining 2 cups sifted powdered sugar with 2 tablespoons hot water. Sprinkle with raisins; turn raisins to coat with frosting. Cool.

Cut each strip into 12 diagonal slices. Makes 6 dozen. (SH

Nurses Plan Sidewalk Sale Of Used Books and Patterns

"MRS. CHASE," patient familiar to most student nurses and aides, receives care from Nurses' aide Miss Janice Hall at Northwest Community Hospital as Mrs. Franklin Van Dyke of Elk Grove Village Nurses Club looks on. A recent gift of the local club and permanent addition to the hospital, the life size doll can expect the best of care in her role as patient for the teaching and practice of nursing procedures.

Saturday, Oct. 3, is the day to obtain new reading material and fashion patterns the used book and pattern sale of the Elk Grove Village Nurses Club. The sidewalk of the Park and Shop will be the site of the sale.

The sale, between 10 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., is the club's first fund-raising activity of the year with proceeds going to various philanthropic projects. Recent projects were the presentation of a Mary Chase doll to Northwest Community Hospital and the gift of two tumbling mats to the Clearbrook School. Plans are also in the making for a scholarship fund.

In lieu of a regular meeting in October, the Club will attend the combined meeting of the Northwest Nurses Roundtable to be held on Wednesday, Oct. 21, at Charles A. Bruning, Inc., Mount Prospect. Speaker will be Sister Mary Edwin, S.C.C., reading coordinator of the Chigram. Her topic will be "Neurological Organization," an explanation of the Doman-Delacato neurological approach to reading problems. (S

Orchid and White Is Theme For Williams-Szerlong Rites

An orchid and white color scheme highlighted the double ring service Sept. 5 in which Miss Mary Dianne Williams, daughter of former Bartlett residents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville H. Williams, now of 1304 Dorothy Drive, Palatine, became the bride of Robert H. Szerlong, son of the Henry Szerlongs of Elmhurst.

The wedding took place in St. Thomas of Villanova Church, Palatine, where the altar was decorated with white mums and lavender glads. Rev. John T. McEnroe officiated at the 3:30 o'clock service and Mr. Williams gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's chantilly-type lace gown featured an 8-tier bouffant skirt with chapel train. Iridescent sequins and tiny mock pearls trimmed the portrait neckline, and each tier of the skirt was also trimmed with sequins. Her 3-tiered veil was of English silk illusion and was held in place by a crown of lace encrusted with pearls and sequins to match her gown. She wore a pearl necklace, a gift from her groom, and carried a cascade of white phalaenopsis and white carnations with a detachable lavender orchid.

GOWNS MATCHING the bride's lavender orchid were worn by the attendants, her sister, Jeannine Williams as maid of honor and Patricia Schabel of Barrington and Peggy Shea, a cousin from Alton, as bridesmaids. Their floor-length chiffon gowns were made with bell skirts, detachable sleeves and watteau trains. Their juliet headpieces and veils were of matching lilac as were their shoes, and they carried crescents of orchid pompons. White rose buds were added to the pompons in the maid of honor's bouquet.

Also in a floor-length lilac gown with hooped skirt was 4-year-old Roxanne Tatar of Chicago, cousin of the groom, who served as flower girl. Topping her gown was a tiny white bolero, and her headpiece and slippers matched her gown. Roxanne carried a basket of petals.

Brian Bell of Palatine, 4, served as ring bearer.

THE GROOM'S best man was his brother, Allen Szerlong of Elmhurst, and ushers were a cousin, Ronald Szerlong of Elmhurst, and Wayne Piper of Addison.

Arlington Heights Elks Club was the scene of the reception where Mrs. Williams greeted the 150 guests wearing a periwinkle blue crepe and Mrs. Szerlong a mint green silk organza. Both wore accessories to match their gowns, and complemented their ensembles with corsages of off white cymbidiums.

The newlyweds honeymooned in northern Minnesota and Canada and are now at home at 304 N. Brockway, Palatine. The new Mrs. Szerlong attended Palatine High School and is now employed by General Electric Credit Corp. The bridegroom attended York High School in Elmhurst and is with Dicks Inc., Rolling Meadows. Carleton Graduates Make First Home in Missouri

First home for newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Scot McConachie, who were married Aug. 22 in Wichita, is University City, Mo. where the groom is studying for his Ph.D. in History at Washington University in St. Louis, and his bride is teaching high school in Webster Groves. The couple met while studying at Carleton College in Northfield, Minn.

The bride is the former Miss Marilyn Tompkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Tompkins of Wichita and the groom, a graduate of Palatine High School, is the son of the Alex H. McConachies, 1067 Ela Road, Inverness Countryside, Palatine.

The candlelight service took place at 8 p.m. in East Heights Methodist Church with Dr. George M. Richards officiating. The church chancel was decorated with tiered candelabra and sprays of white glads, and candles tied with white satin bows marked the aisle.

FOR HER WEDDING, in which she was given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of pure silk organza over taffeta designed with a modified scoop neckline and three-quarter sleeves. Trimming the bodice was re-embroidered alencon lace and seed pearl applique which cascaded down the controlled bell skirt. A self rosette of organza caught a modified bustle above the chapel train. Her pearl crown held her fingertip illusion veil and she carried a cascade of ivy and daisies, centered with glamellias, stock and stephanotis.

Miss Helen Bates of Columbus, Ohio was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Hammond of Wichita and Miss Ann McConachie of Palatine. All wore identical floor-length gowns of avocado green organza over taffeta with empire waistlines. They wore matching organza bows as headpieces, with matching illusion veiling, and carried ivy and daisies cascading from giant fuji mums.

MRS. TOMPKINS chose an aqua silk crepe sheath with matching velour hat and shoes and a corsage of yellow tea roses. Mrs. McConachie chose a pink peau de soie sheath with bodice of re-embroidered alencon lace, pink shoes and hat, and a corsage of orchids.

Bruce McConachie of Palatine served as his brother's best man and ushers were Joe Stoneking and Joel Brooks of Palatine and David Tompkins and Mike McKee of Wichita.

A reception for 200 guests was held in the church. (S

Mount Prospect Women To Hear League Speaker

Mount Prospect Woman's Club members will hear Mrs. Bruce Bremberg, a speaker from the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights, discuss state election issues at their meeting Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 1 p.m., in the Chestnut Room of the Mount Prospect Community Center, 600 SeeGwun. This meeting will be the first of the new club year.

"It's Your Vote!" is the title of Mrs. Bremberg's talk. It will be nonpartisan and in it she will explain the unprecedented House of Representatives at-large election ballot and give pros and cons on the two proposed state constitutional amendments.

Mrs. Bremberg has recently moved to Mount Prospect from Minneapolis, where she was president of the League of Women Voters, serving on the board for nine years. She is now Cook County Council representative from the Arlington Heights League.

MOUNT PROSPECT Woman's Club chorus, under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Kadlec, will open the meeting.

Mrs. Kay Miller, club president, announces the following appointments for 1964-65; Mrs. H. P. Harnden and Mrs. H. W. Carlson, board advisors; Mrs. Arthur Emanuele, ways and means; Mrs. L. G. Runge, social hostess; Mrs. W. E. Lyman, publicity; Mrs. W. B. Barger and Mrs. P. M. Tsolinas, American home; Mrs. D. H. Doane, art; Mrs. T. G. Rickard, audit and budget; Mrs. E. G. Miller and Mrs. E. J. Majercik Jr., bridge tournament; Mrs. D. R. Schurman, couples bridge.

Also Mrs. T. E. Kelch, education; Mrs. Roy Duda and Mrs. G. O. Larsson, garden; Mrs. Paul Lauschke, hospitality; Mrs. Edward Keeney, mental health; Mrs. Paul A. Berg, music; Mrs. A. D. Ballerinas Are Decor For 103 Advance Night

Two life-sized sketches of ballerinas were used as decorations Sept. 23 when Bethel 103, Job's Daughters, Arlington Heights, observed its Advance Night. The sketches were chosen as decorations as Miss Bonnie Birch, N. Stratford, Arlington Heights, Senior Princess and a dancer, was Acting Queen for the evening. As she was introduced, members of the Bethel sang "Dance, Ballerina, Dance."

Miss Jean Huizenga, Junior Princess of the Bethel advanced to the station of Senior Princess; Miss Sue Heilig, guide, advanced to Junior Princess; and Miss Debbie Deehring, Marshal, advanced to Guide for the evening. Other offices were taken by junior and senior princesses from neighboring Bethel groups.

MRS. LOIS NESS, one of Bethel 103's council members, was soloist, and Olav Larsen, Associate Guardian of Bethel 103, was organist. Miss Birch chose as her guests of honor, Mrs. Virginia Beed, her aunt; and Miss Dixie Alletto of Prospect Heights, Past Honored Queen of Bethel 103.

Mrs. Richard Heilig, Guardian of the Bethel, announced that there will be a meeting Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Miss Sue Livingston, 1429 St. James, Arlington Heights, to plan for the ceremony to be presented Oct. 8 at the Arlington Heights Eastern Star Chapter, and also to practice music for the initiation taking place Wednesday, Oct. 14.

Miss Livingston, Honored Queen, has scheduled Oct. 18 as "Go To Church Sunday." She also stated that Bethel 103 will have a roast beef dinner Saturday, Oct. 24, at the Arlington Heights Masonic Temple. (S

'Que Passa?' Is Circle Topic

Set Second Dunton Doorsteps Tour for Wednesday, Oct. 14

"Dunton Doorsteps," a tour of Arlington Heights homes built before 1874 when Arlington Heights was known as Dunton, has been set for Wednesday, Oct. 14, from 1 to 5 p.m. The tour is sponsored by Eli Skinner Chapter, National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The premiere of Dunton Doorsteps was held last year, and because of the enthusiastic response by those who made the tour and those who missed it, the tour is being repeated.

First home on the tour will be the home of Mrs. Milton F. Daniels, curator of the Arlington Heights Historical Society. Located at 805 N. Dunton, the Daniels home houses the growing museum of the Historical Society.

Also incuded in the tour will be the James Dunton home at 619 N. State Road. The house was built in 1871 by James Dunton, one of the family for which Arlington Heights was originally named. It is said that neighbors gathered on the roof of this home to watch the flames of the Chicago Fire in 1871. In 1891 the Dunton home was the home of William H. Sisson, an early mayor of Arlington Heights.

IN 1903 IT became the home of Dr. Janet Gunn, who used the property as a sanitarium. Later the house was the home of V. I. Brown, a principal of Arlington High School. Mrs. Brown lived there as a widow until very recently, and the house is now the home of the Reinert family.

Oldest home on the tour is the John Carson home, 1034 S. Pine. Now owned by the Leonard Weidner family, this house was built in 1847 on Kirchoff Road west of Wilke Road just about opposite the Rolling Meadows Shopping Center. John Carson's home was a pretentious house surrounded by 200 acres of the best farm land around. A few years ago the house was moved to its present location in Arlington Heights.

Two homes on N. Highland will also be incuded in this year's Dunton Doorsteps program. One at 638 N. Highland was built by Rudolph Nehls in 1895 and is now the home of John Kehe family. The other, the present home of Harry C. Knaack, was built in 1897 by Louis Magers, a retired farmer. In remodeling this house, the doorway was changed so that the present address is 202 W. Euclid.

THE OLD J. E. Best home at 412 N. Dunton is also on the tour. Built in 1897, this building at present belongs to the Evangelical Church.

Tickets for the tour, which will also incude other homes in Arlington Heights, may be obtained from any Eli Skinner chapter member or from Mrs. Douglas F. Gutzman, CL 3-0787. Tickets, which include refreshments, will also be available the day of the tour at the Daniels home.

ELI SKINNER members are meeting today, Oct. 1, in the home of Mrs. Gutzman, 344 S. Windsor Drive, to view a color film on conservation, "Birds of the Doorways." Prospective members of the chapter are invited to this meeting for which Mrs. William Doty and Mrs. Norman H. Deunk will be cohostesses.

Chapter officers recently elected and installed are Mrs. John L. Oster, Arlington Heights, regent; Mrs. A. G. Cubley, Palatine, vice regent; Mrs. Harold Lussow, chaplain; Mrs. Frederick D. Pfeff, Mount Prospect, secretary; Mrs. Douglas Gutzman, Arlington Heights, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Maurice Garland, Rolling Meadows, treasurer; Mrs. H. W. Post, registrar; Mrs N. H. Deunk, historian; Mrs. L. W. Kester, Mount Prspect, librarian.

Directors of the chapter are Mrs. Arthur J. Mally, Palatine, Mrs. John A. Gustitus, Arlington Heights, and Mrs. J. J. Hutchinson, Prospect Heights.

Marilyn Nelson Weds College Sweetheart in Evening Rites

(Bak Studio

Grinnell College graduates were married in St. Simon's Episcopal Church Aug. 29, uniting an Arlington Heights girl and a boy from Mesa, Ariz. The former Marilyn Anne Nelson, daughter of the Willard N. Nelsons, 701 E. Davis St., became the bride of Robert J. McIntyre, whose parents, the George McIntyres, reside in Mesa.

The 8:30 p.m. ceremony was performed by Rev. Samuel N. Keys, with Robert Howard at the organ. Soloist Mrs. Herbert Tosch sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer" for the double ring rites.

FOUR GIRLS attended the bride, all gowned alike in floor-length beige chiffon dresses with matching circle hats. The dresses had long-sleeved chiffon jackets trimmed with satin cuffs and waistbands.

Maid of honor was Linda Christy of Arlington Heights. Bridesmaids were Janet Sandberg of Park Ridge, Janet Rodemeyer of Sheffield, Iowa, and Ruth Ann Mosback of East Marion, N. Y.

Each of them carried bouquets of wood roses with orange rosebuds on a background of large green leaves.

THE BRIDE entered the sanctuary on the arm of her father and wore a traditional wedding gown of chantilly lace and silk organza. The bodice was of the lace, and lace also formed insets at the sides the organza skirt. A small pillbox of chantilly lace held her silk net veil in place, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

The bride's only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift from the groom.

John Karraker of Chicago served him as best man, and seating the guests were Richard Ernst of Barrington, Stephen Blackwell and the bride's brother, Douglas Nelson of Arlington Heights.

ITASCA COUNTRY Club was the setting for a buffet reception later in the evening at which 200 guests greeted the pair. The bride's mother received them in an aqua chiffon sheath dress with matching accessories. Her over-the-shoulder corsage was fashioned of white baby mums and red rosebuds.

Mrs. McIntyre wore pink chiffon in a sheath style with a matching hat and white accessories. Her corsage was of white mums and pink rosebuds.

SEATED WITH the bride's immediate family was Mrs. Alvin C. Sandberg of Arlington Heights, her grandmother, who wore copen blue and had a white mum corsage for the day's festivities.

The newlyweds are now living in Ithaca, N. Y., where Mr. McIntyre is in his second year of graduate work at Cornell University. The bride, a graduate of Arlington High School as well as Grinnell, is working in the English department of Ithaca College.

College Sweethearts Wed in Aug. 22 Rites

A romance which bloomed at Eureka College, Illinois culminated in the Aug. 22 marriage of Sharon Dolores Annel of Prospect Heights and Richard D. Lansdowne, whose parents, the Harvey Lansdownes, reside in Oak Lawn. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome W. Annel of 810 E. Camp McDonald Road, Prospect Heights.

The double ring ceremony took place at 5 o'cock in Southminster United Presbyterian Church, Arlington Heights, with Dr. William Jones officiating, assisted by Rev. William Alexander of Hickory Hills.

Later 100 guests greeted the couple at a dinner reception in Old Orchard Country Club.

EUREKA WILL BE the couple's home while the groom finishes his senior year at the college. The bride has her BA degree, and both will be doing social work at Neighborhood House in Peoria during the year.

A traditional gown of ivory alencon lace and net was worn by the bride as she came down the aisle on the arm of her father. The gown's bodice was fashioned of the lace with a scooped neckline and long sleeves. The net skirt flowed from a slightly dropped waistline into a chapel train.

The bride's French silk illusion veil cascaded from a crown of alencon lace frosted with seed pearls. Her bouquet was composed of a long line crescent of white gardenias.

THREE ATTENDANTS preceded her down the aisle, all gowned alike in floor-length peach organza over taffeta and wearing peach headpieces with butterfly veils. They carried sprays of orange Circus roses and carnations.

Maid of honor was Victoria Zanaglia of Hennepin, Ill., a Delta Delta Pi Sorority isster of the bride. The other two attendants were Mary Mortimore of Cary and Joan Lansdowne, the groom's sister.

A FRIEND OF the groom, Carl Beehn of Oak Lawn, was his best man, while LeRoy Neitzel of Urbana and Jerome Annel, the bride's brother, ushered. Mr. Annel and the groom are Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity brothers.

For the day's festivities the bride's mother wore a cocoa beige lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of orange roses. The groom's mother chose a bright blue lace sheath dress with beige accessories and a corsage of pale yellow roses.

Before going back to the college town, the newlyweds had a short honeymoon near Rapid River in Upper Michigan. (S

Elk Grove Juniors Set Benefit Date

Elk Grove Village Junior Woman's Club rolls out the red carpet for its seventh annual fashion show-luncheon to be held Saturday, Oct. 17. The benefit will be held at the Brass Rail of the Sheraton-O'Hare beginning at noon. Fashions and professional models will be from Saks Fifth Avenue.

All proceeds will go to the village library which the club helped establish and to which it has contributed over $5,000, to the recreation program for the village's more than 6,000 children and to Northwest Mental Health Clinic.

A SPECIAL feature will be the selection of one of the guests as "Queen for a Day."

Tickets to the benefit may be obtained from Mrs. William Sobaski, 437-4071, and table reservations from Mrs. Joseph Markech, 437-0092. (S

HOSTS FOR RECENT Mary Crane League Benefit party were Mr. and Mrs. S. Robert Price of Arlington Heights. Guests were committee members and husbands of the women who are planning a production of "Off the Ground" to support the nursery school at the Julia C. Lathrop Homes, Chicago.

Valparaiso Graduates Married August 22nd

(Jenart Studio

Two Valparaiso University graduates, Sharon Rae Garlisch, daughter of the Arnold W. Garlisches, 1320 E. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village, and Gary Wallace Grams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Grams of Rockford, were married Aug. 22 and are now residing in Evanston where the groom is a graduate student at Northwestern University. Their wedding took place in St. John's Lutheran Church in Mount Prospect, at 5:30 p.m. with Rev. W. B. Streufert officiating.

The double ring service was followed by a buffet supper in the Bensenville Fire Hall, where 400 guests greeted the couple.

The bride's Kappa Psi Omega sorority sister, Ann Schnitta, served as soloist for the service, and organist was Ed Sandersfeldt. Four baskets of white glads and mums served as the church decorations.

THE BRIDE'S gown was a floor-length peau de soie sheath with elbow-length sleeves, bateau neckline and chapel court train. The bodice of the gown was trimmed in alencon lace, and a peau de soie pillbox headpiece with applique held her silk illusion veil. The headpiece and veil were made by the groom's mother.

A crescent of white phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis with ivy completed the bride's ensemble. She was given in marriage by her father.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Dennis Ledwon of Elk Grove, served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were the groom's sister, Miss Sharyl Grams of Rockford, the bride's cousin, Miss Sandy Busse of Elk Grove, and another sorority sister, Miss Jan Sass of Park Ridge. All wore identical floor-length gowns of floral print in blues, green and lavender, fashioned with bell skirts with court back and bateau neckline. They carried cascades of bachelor buttons, corn flowers and lavender mums.

YOUNGER SISTERS of the bridal couple, Shirlee Grams, 8, and Gail Garlisch, 6, served as flower girls and wore white chiffon over taffeta with blue cummerbunds. They carried nosegays of the bachelor buttons, corn flowers and mums.

Mrs. Garlisch chose a light blue crepe sheath with blue lace overblouse and Mrs. Grams chose a pale pink, 2-piece lace sheath. Both wore white orchid corsages to complete their ensembles.

The groom's brother, Jack Grams, served as best man and ushers were the groom's Theta Chi fraternity brother, Bert Schulze of Saginaw, Mich., Norm Linstead of Rockford and the bride's brother, Gregg Garlisch of Elk Grove.

The couple honeymooned at the Wagon Wheel before taking up residence at 1940 Sherman, Evanston, and while her husband is at the university, the bride, also a graduate of Arlington High School, is working at the Sunbeam Corp. (S

Elk Grove Juniors Set Benefit Date

Elk Grove Village Junior Woman's Club rolls out the red carpet for its seventh annual fashion show-luncheon to be held Saturday, Oct. 17. The benefit will be held at the Brass Rail of the Sheraton-O'Hare beginning at noon. Fashions and professional models will be from Saks Fifth Avenue.

All proceeds will go to the village library which the club helped establish and to which it has contributed over $5,000, to the recreation program for the village's more than 6,000 children and to Northwest Mental Health Clinic.

A SPECIAL feature will be the selection of one of the guests as "Queen for a Day."

Tickets to the benefit may be obtained from Mrs. William Sobaski, 437-4071, and table reservations from Mrs. Joseph Markech, 437-0092. (S

HOSTS FOR RECENT Mary Crane League Benefit party were Mr. and Mrs. S. Robert Price of Arlington Heights. Guests were committee members and husbands of the women who are planning a production of "Off the Ground" to support the nursery school at the Julia C. Lathrop Homes, Chicago.

Smorgasbord At St. John

The seventh annual smorgasbord of St. John Lutheran School is planned for Sunday, Oct. 11, with serving from noon to 3 p.m. The school is located at 1100 Linneman Road, Mount Prospect.

A variety of dishes, including roast turkey and Swedish meat balls, are being prepared. Tickets will be sold at the door and the public is invited. (S

Past President Club Aids Vets

Mrs. George Ury will be hostess to the next meeting of Palatine Legion Auxiliary's Past President Club. The date is Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Elizabeth Haemker was elected president of the club at the last meeting, and Mrs. Henry Miller became secretary-treasurer.

EACH MONTH the women work on rehabilitation projects for the veterans' craft program In September carpet rags were cut and sewn to be sent to hospitalized veterans for their craft use.

Various items are also requested each month from auxiliary units to be sent to women patients in veteran hospitals. The local Presidents Club helps to fill these needs, which range from brush rollers, playing cards, hair set to stamps and stationery. (S

(Jenart Studio

Two Valparaiso University graduates, Sharon Rae Garlisch, daughter of the Arnold W. Garlisches, 1320 E. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village, and Gary Wallace Grams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Grams of Rockford, were married Aug. 22 and are now residing in Evanston where the groom is a graduate student at Northwestern University. Their wedding took place in St. John's Lutheran Church in Mount Prospect, at 5:30 p.m. with Rev. W. B. Streufert officiating.

The double ring service was followed by a buffet supper in the Bensenville Fire Hall, where 400 guests greeted the couple.

The bride's Kappa Psi Omega sorority sister, Ann Schnitta, served as soloist for the service, and organist was Ed Sandersfeldt. Four baskets of white glads and mums served as the church decorations.

THE BRIDE'S gown was a floor-length peau de soie sheath with elbow-length sleeves, bateau neckline and chapel court train. The bodice of the gown was trimmed in alencon lace, and a peau de soie pillbox headpiece with applique held her silk illusion veil. The headpiece and veil were made by the groom's mother.

A crescent of white phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis with ivy completed the bride's ensemble. She was given in marriage by her father.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Dennis Ledwon of Elk Grove, served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were the groom's sister, Miss Sharyl Grams of Rockford, the bride's cousin, Miss Sandy Busse of Elk Grove, and another sorority sister, Miss Jan Sass of Park Ridge. All wore identical floor-length gowns of floral print in blues, green and lavender, fashioned with bell skirts with court back and bateau neckline. They carried cascades of bachelor buttons, corn flowers and lavender mums.

YOUNGER SISTERS of the bridal couple, Shirlee Grams, 8, and Gail Garlisch, 6, served as flower girls and wore white chiffon over taffeta with blue cummerbunds. They carried nosegays of the bachelor buttons, corn flowers and mums.

Mrs. Garlisch chose a light blue crepe sheath with blue lace overblouse and Mrs. Grams chose a pale pink, 2-piece lace sheath. Both wore white orchid corsages to complete their ensembles.

The groom's brother, Jack Grams, served as best man and ushers were the groom's Theta Chi fraternity brother, Bert Schulze of Saginaw, Mich., Norm Linstead of Rockford and the bride's brother, Gregg Garlisch of Elk Grove.

The couple honeymooned at the Wagon Wheel before taking up residence at 1940 Sherman, Evanston, and while her husband is at the university, the bride, also a graduate of Arlington High School, is working at the Sunbeam Corp. (S REHEARSING THEIR roles as fashion models are Mrs. N. J. Geiser, Mrs. Arthur Szczepanski (seated) and Mrs. Robert Caliento, members of St. Colette Woman's Club, who will come down the runway Oct. 21 when the club presents "Our Fair Lady" showing of winter styles in the church auditorium. Tickets for the showing of apparel from Crawford's ready-to-wear and Poise 'n Ivy shops may be obtained from Mrs. George Thoma, CL 9-4599, ticket chairman. (S

Palatine Juniors Plan Operalogue as 'Opener'

An operalogue of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" is to be the highlight of the first official meeting for 1964-65 of the Palatine Junior Woman's Club when members meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 6, in the Gray Sanborn School, 101 S. Oak. Guests are invited for this special evening.

Lois Fehr Palermo of Barrington has written and directed the operalogue program. Artistic director of the newly-formed Northwest Opera Showcase, members of which belong to the northwest chapter of the Lyric Opera Guild of Chicago, Mrs. Palermo trained for two years under the direction of Kurt Adler, impresario of the San Francisco Opera Company. She also starred on Theatre of the Air and Percy Faith's show.

Appearing as Butterfly will be Mrs. Loren Bartling, a soprano of Biltmore, with Mrs. Walter Stroh, contralto, of Tower Lakes as Suzuki, her servant.

ACCOMPANIST WILL be Mrs. Chester B. Shockley, who organized the northwest chapter of the Lyric Opera Guild and helped to promote the formation of the Opera Showcase. She is a graduate of the Northwestern University School of Music.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Lester Yerger, chairman, Mrs. R. O. Berg, Mrs. Dan Bush, Mrs. Harry Carlon, Mrs. Joseph Fanchi, Mrs. Loren Galbraith, Mrs. William Hodge and Mrs. Robert Meissner. The program is being presented by the literature and drama department of the club, chairmanned by Mrs. Arthur Traulsen.

Inaugurating the social season for the Juniors was the annual potluck dinner, with members' husbands as guests, held Sept. 15 at the Winston Park School. Directed by the vice president, Mrs. Robert Stanat, the event featured an original skit presented by the entertainment committee, chairmanned by Mrs. William Murphy. Members were welcomed by Mrs. Carl Teutsch, president.

SOCIAL LEAGUES for the Juniors, supplementing their objectives in service and cultural activities, are beginning for the current club year. Book clubs have organized under Mrs. William Heise, Mrs. Robert Bowles and Mrs. Bruce Altergott. Bowling league, with Mrs. Herbert Weihs as chairman, began Sept. 14; bridge parties, Mrs. Walter Honigman, Sept. 24; and hatmaking classes, Mrs. John Lammey and Mrs. Edward Sperr, Sept. 28. Windows of the World

Importance of Proper Eye Care, Safety Is Stressed

(This is the first in a series on eye health and safety by John W. Ferree, M. D., Executive Director, National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Ind.)

Every 20 minutes an American goes blind. Three times every hour some man, woman or child — blindness knows no age limits — forfeits the precious gift of vision forever. They enter the world of permanent shadow, tragic victims of disease, accidents and neglect.

Your eyes are your windows on the world. Marvelous windows that enable you to see color, motion, form, tiny particles, distant panoramas. You wouldn't sell your eyes for all the money in the world, nor would all the money in the world ever buy you a new pair.

NEVERTHELESS, most of us pay more attention to things far less valuable. For example, the chances are good that your car has been to the garage for inspection or a tune-up during the past year. When was the last time you had your eyes and those of your family members examined completely?

America now has an estimated blind population of more than 400,000, just about the same number of people as in Newark, N. J. To understand the immediate need for preventing blindness, try to form the terrifying idea of every man, woman and child in Newark suddenly struck sightless. Disaster would be the cry. That our blind are numbered in every community across the nation rather than a single one makes the national toll no less calamitous.

It is doubly tragic to realize that half of these Americans need never have lost their sight. Half of all blindness is preventable. No new miraculous cures or scientific cures are needed, just the simple practical application of the sight-saving knowledge — the detection of eye problems, their correction, and eye safety — that our nation already possesses.

TIME CAN run out in the race to save sight. There is a point of no return for the imperiled eyes of young and old alike. More than 11,600,000 American school children need some form of eye care. And 1,355,000 Americans over 40 years of age are threatened with blindness from glaucoma — but half don't know it. What is the remedy? Detection programs coupled with public education to identify these people so they may gain treatment while there is still time to save their good vision.

Some Americans must work harder to see than others. In our country today there are thousands of young and old alike with diminished eyesight, some even within the legal limits of blindness, who are capable of living near-normal lives with special help.

However, only 10 per cent of the 92,000 partially seeing students in the country benefit from the proper educational facilities they need to use vision as their chief means of learning. Countless numbers of elderly citizens could regain useful lives through cataract surgery or low vision lenses. These people must be helped.

TEAMWORK is the key to vision safety — in the home, in schools, and in factories. More than 153,000 school-age youngsters are threatened with blindness in eye accidents every year, and another 1,000 eye accidents strike employes in industry every working day of the calendar!

Complete 100 per cent eye safety programs are the answer in schools and factories, and a constant vigilance against eye accident possibilities must be brought into play in our nation's homes.

The individual, the community, the country, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, all must band together. Blindness for even one is a loss for many.

Desk Provides Ideal Hideout

Did you ever long for a tiny hide-away where you could get away from the hustle and bustle of a busy family, and yet be at home?

Some architects are giving to heads of the family just such a retreat in the form of a small, screened wood-decked patio opening off the master bedroom.

THE FLOOR DECK needn't be very large, just enough for a couple of easy chairs or maybe a chaise lounge for ded and mom.

It needn't cost much because wood decks are simple and easily built.

To insure maximum privacy, a high wooden screen can be installed around the sides of the deck exposed to the street or to activity in the family yard.

HOW DO YOU BUILD the deck! Use a sturdy lumber like Douglas fir which will last for years when exposed to the weather. The frame should be of small timbers and the deck can be of 2x4s spaced slightly to permit runoff.

The screening fence can be any pattern desired, but a louvered patterns will give good circulation and yet provide privacy.

You can use western red cedar, a lightweight wood which will last for many years.

THE DECK and screen need not be painted or stained, but can be allowed to weather to a soft silvery color. However, these woods will take any paint or stain with ease in case color is desired.

Use Angles

If you want to be different, you might want to design your wood deck so that the floor plan is in the form of a diamond, a trapezoid or even a circle. Wood, such as Douglas fir, is so flexible you can cut it to any shape.

Palatine Juniors Plan Operalogue as 'Opener'

An operalogue of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" is to be the highlight of the first official meeting for 1964-65 of the Palatine Junior Woman's Club when members meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 6, in the Gray Sanborn School, 101 S. Oak. Guests are invited for this special evening.

Lois Fehr Palermo of Barrington has written and directed the operalogue program. Artistic director of the newly-formed Northwest Opera Showcase, members of which belong to the northwest chapter of the Lyric Opera Guild of Chicago, Mrs. Palermo trained for two years under the direction of Kurt Adler, impresario of the San Francisco Opera Company. She also starred on Theatre of the Air and Percy Faith's show.

Appearing as Butterfly will be Mrs. Loren Bartling, a soprano of Biltmore, with Mrs. Walter Stroh, contralto, of Tower Lakes as Suzuki, her servant.

ACCOMPANIST WILL be Mrs. Chester B. Shockley, who organized the northwest chapter of the Lyric Opera Guild and helped to promote the formation of the Opera Showcase. She is a graduate of the Northwestern University School of Music.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Lester Yerger, chairman, Mrs. R. O. Berg, Mrs. Dan Bush, Mrs. Harry Carlon, Mrs. Joseph Fanchi, Mrs. Loren Galbraith, Mrs. William Hodge and Mrs. Robert Meissner. The program is being presented by the literature and drama department of the club, chairmanned by Mrs. Arthur Traulsen.

Inaugurating the social season for the Juniors was the annual potluck dinner, with members' husbands as guests, held Sept. 15 at the Winston Park School. Directed by the vice president, Mrs. Robert Stanat, the event featured an original skit presented by the entertainment committee, chairmanned by Mrs. William Murphy. Members were welcomed by Mrs. Carl Teutsch, president.

SOCIAL LEAGUES for the Juniors, supplementing their objectives in service and cultural activities, are beginning for the current club year. Book clubs have organized under Mrs. William Heise, Mrs. Robert Bowles and Mrs. Bruce Altergott. Bowling league, with Mrs. Herbert Weihs as chairman, began Sept. 14; bridge parties, Mrs. Walter Honigman, Sept. 24; and hatmaking classes, Mrs. John Lammey and Mrs. Edward Sperr, Sept. 28. Other groups are being set up for knitting, Mrs. Arthur Traulsen; and flower arranging, Mrs. Daniel Vrabec.

New members welcomed into the Juniors for the new year include Mrs. George Downs, Mrs. Thomas Geraghty, Mrs. Curtis Gowen, Mrs. Richard Herrell, Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. Raymond Rackow and Mrs. Clark W. Sanford. (S

Windows of the World

Importance of Proper Eye Care, Safety Is Stressed

(This is the first in a series on eye health and safety by John W. Ferree, M. D., Executive Director, National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Ind.)

Every 20 minutes an American goes blind. Three times every hour some man, woman or child — blindness knows no age limits — forfeits the precious gift of vision forever. They enter the world of permanent shadow, tragic victims of disease, accidents and neglect.

Your eyes are your windows on the world. Marvelous windows that enable you to see color, motion, form, tiny particles, distant panoramas. You wouldn't sell your eyes for all the money in the world, nor would all the money in the world ever buy you a new pair.

NEVERTHELESS, most of us pay more attention to things far less valuable. For example, the chances are good that your car has been to the garage for inspection or a tune-up during the past year. When was the last time you had your eyes and those of your family members examined completely?

America now has an estimated blind population of more than 400,000, just about the same number of people as in Newark, N. J. To understand the immediate need for preventing blindness, try to form the terrifying idea of every man, woman and child in Newark suddenly struck sightless. Disaster would be the cry. That our blind are numbered in every community across the nation rather than a single one makes the national toll no less calamitous.

It is doubly tragic to realize that half of these Americans need never have lost their sight. Half of all blindness is preventable. No new miraculous cures or scientific cures are needed, just the simple practical application of the sight-saving knowledge — the detection of eye problems, their correction, and eye safety — that our nation already possesses.

TIME CAN run out in the race to save sight. There is a point of no return for the imperiled eyes of young and old alike. More than 11,600,000 American school children need some form of eye care. And 1,355,000 Americans over 40 years of age are threatened with blindness from glaucoma — but half don't know it. What is the remedy? Detection programs coupled with public education to identify these people so they may gain treatment while there is still time to save their good vision.

Some Americans must work harder to see than others. In our country today there are thousands of young and old alike with diminished eyesight, some even within the legal limits of blindness, who are capable of living near-normal lives with special help.

However, only 10 per cent of the 92,000 partially seeing students in the country benefit from the proper educational facilities they need to use vision as their chief means of learning. Countless numbers of elderly citizens could regain useful lives through cataract surgery or low vision lenses. These people must be helped.

TEAMWORK is the key to vision safety — in the home, in schools, and in factories. More than 153,000 school-age youngsters are threatened with blindness in eye accidents every year, and another 1,000 eye accidents strike employes in industry every working day of the calendar!

Complete 100 per cent eye safety programs are the answer in schools and factories, and a constant vigilance against eye accident possibilities must be brought into play in our nation's homes.

The individual, the community, the country, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, all must band together. Blindness for even one is a loss for many.

Desk Provides Ideal Hideout

Did you ever long for a tiny hide-away where you could get away from the hustle and bustle of a busy family, and yet be at home?

Some architects are giving to heads of the family just such a retreat in the form of a small, screened wood-decked patio opening off the master bedroom.

THE FLOOR DECK needn't be very large, just enough for a couple of easy chairs or maybe a chaise lounge for ded and mom.

It needn't cost much because wood decks are simple and easily built.

To insure maximum privacy, a high wooden screen can be installed around the sides of the deck exposed to the street or to activity in the family yard.

HOW DO YOU BUILD the deck! Use a sturdy lumber like Douglas fir which will last for years when exposed to the weather. The frame should be of small timbers and the deck can be of 2x4s spaced slightly to permit runoff.

The screening fence can be any pattern desired, but a louvered patterns will give good circulation and yet provide privacy.

You can use western red cedar, a lightweight wood which will last for many years.

THE DECK and screen need not be painted or stained, but can be allowed to weather to a soft silvery color. However, these woods will take any paint or stain with ease in case color is desired.

Use Angles

If you want to be different, you might want to design your wood deck so that the floor plan is in the form of a diamond, a trapezoid or even a circle. Wood, such as Douglas fir, is so flexible you can cut it to any shape.

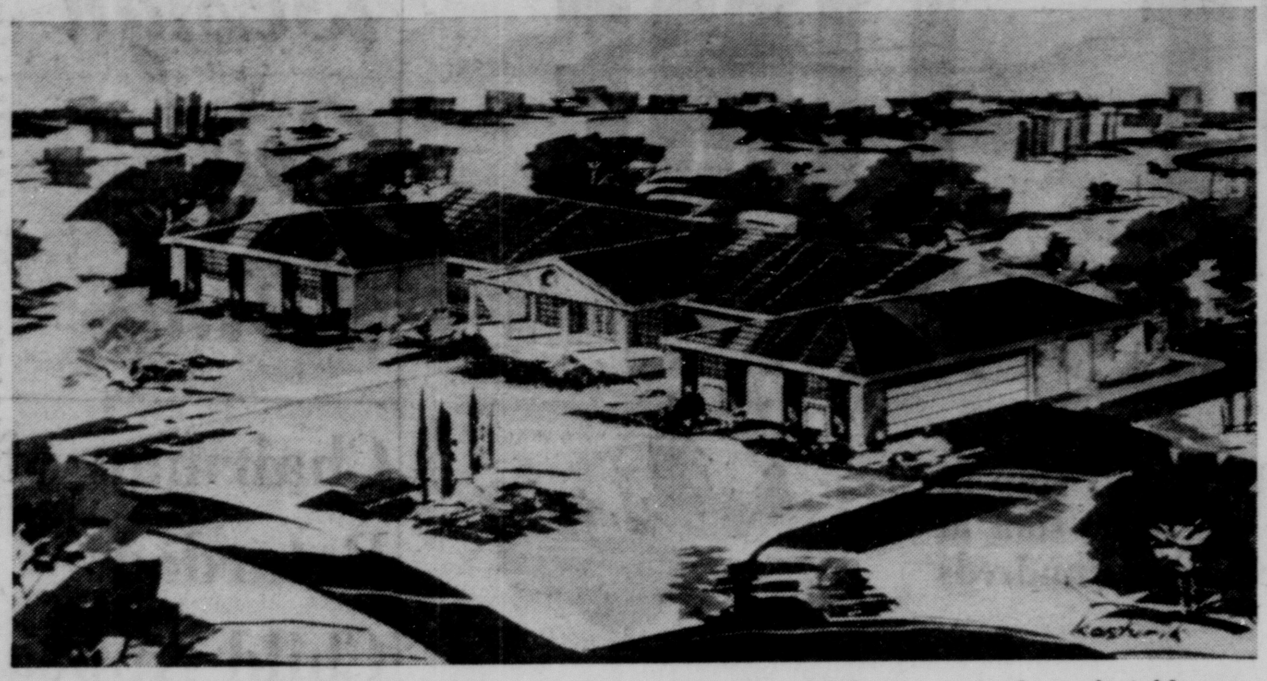
Business Building Improving



THIS SWEEPING Colonial ranch home, built by C. Richard Stade, can be seen in Long Grove Country Club Estates on State Route 53 about two miles west of Route 83. The four-bedroom, two-and-a-half bath home is designed in the classic concept of comfortable, uncrowded estate living. It has a big, enclosed porch at the rear overlooking lake and golf course. (10BB

Long Grove Estates Stress Country Living

A tribute to careful, original planning and practical imagination is Long Grove Country Club Estates, located on Route 53, in the century-old Village of Long Grove.

Primary appeal to residents is plenty of room for a fine custom home, and full enjoyment of healthful country living. Along with eye-catching views and rolling terrain, the basic traditions of this famed area are very much a part of this desirable and growing community.

The 270 homesites of this unusual plan parallel and surround a chain of three lakes, streams and the fairways of Long Grove Country Club. The par 72 course offers three different yardage counts for playing, including the championship 7,015-yard course.

WHEN THE community is completed, approximately half the homes will border on fairway, lake or stream. Of the remaining sites — each a minimum one acre in size—most are within one block of the course.

The three Estates lakes, six to twelve acres in size, have been developed according to Illinois State Conservation Commission specifications, and two will soon be stocked under state supervision.

Mark Powell, vice president and sales director for R. J. Anderson, Inc., the developing firm, commented: "It won't be long before residents can take some nice bass from their own backyard landing. Meantime, we've fished out some nice golf balls along the course, and they're available to any golfing visitor who's interested in a good place to play, or build a home."

Bob Anderson personally checks out each home built in Long Grove Country Club Estates. Individuality of plan is encouraged, but each design is qualified as to harmony of styling—and the over-all concept must fit in with the long-established traditions of the general area.

A LARGE, attractive colonial ranch design by C. Richard Stade Construction Co., is an example of Long Grove Estates homes. It can be seen at the junction of Shiloh Drive and Sheridan Court.

The home has a centered front entry, with a wide, columned front porch. Stately balance of elevation is achieved by extending the opposite wings of the house at each side.

Inside the large foyer opens directly back into the living room, which is over 22'x14' in size. Features here include a curving bay window, almost room-wide, and a big fireplace. An enclosed rear porch overlooks the golf course and Yankee Lake.

In the sleeping wing are the four bedrooms, one of which may be a study or guest room—and two baths, one of them private to the master bedroom. In the opposite wing are the two-car garage, powder room, dining room and the combined breakfast room and kitchen. Among the features here are a built-in desk for the lady of the house, an island range and an L-shaped work and cabinet layout.

LONG GROVE Country Club Estates is open to visitors daily from 10 a.m. till dusk. Its location on Route 53 is just west of Route 83.

More Americans will be able to buy better homes with the help of a section of the recently-enacted housing law of 1964, Jack V. Keller, president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, pointed out this week.

The portion of the new law referred to by Keller is an amendment to Sec. 203 (b) of the program of the Federal Housing Administration. It increases the maximum home mortgage limits which may be insured by the agency from $25,000 to $30,000 for one-family houses, from $27,500 to $32,500 two- and three-family houses and from $35,000 to $37,500 for four-family houses.

This part of the new law was among those sections of the 1964 bill supported by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, of which the Northwest Suburban Board is a member.

"The most significant thing about this new provision is that it will make it possible for purchasers to buy a better house for a lower down payment," the president of the local Realtors said.

"UNDER THE OLD law, a family buying a home valued at $29,000 had to make a down payment of $4,000 in order to qualify for FHA-insured financing; under the new law, the minimum down payment on the same home can be as low as $3,200.

"Under the new law, a family seeking a house valued at $34,600 may purchase it with a down payment of $5,000 lower than under the old law which required anything in excess of the $25,000 mortgage to be added to the down payment. The down payment, under the new law, would be $4,600 as compared to $9,600."

Many families are now enjoying current incomes that will easily sustain the higher monthly mortgage costs, although they may not have had the time to accumulate the higher lump sum down payments required under the old law, Keller explained. The new provision will enable them to put their home purchase plans into effect without the delay that might have been necessary up to now.

If home purchases under the new FHA section follow the recent pattern, Keller observed, existing houses will dominate buyer choices. According to the latest figures, more than three out of every four home mortgages insured by the agency had existing homes as security.

"A WELL-MAINTAINED existing home in a good neighborhood has proven its value. It has been through the 'shake down' period and any flaws that may have existed originally usually have long since been spotted and remedied," Keller said.

"In addition, many such homes offer real values in living amenities in the form of larger lots and rooms, established shrubbery and landscaping and a complete array of civic services such as schools, roads, shopping centers, and churches," he added. (10BB

Sponsor Essay Contest

For the fourth consecutive year, the Cook County Council of Insured Savings Associations is sponsoring the annual "Thrift Essay Contest" in Chicago and Cook County suburbs during October, offering a grand total of more than $1,000 in prizes.

The contest will be open to youngsters in grades 4 through 6 as well as students in junior high and high schools. The grade school category was eliminated last year in accordance with an experiment by the National Thrift Committee but was reinstated this year.

Despite the inclusion of grammar school pupils, the Council is retaining the increased Cook County prizes adopted last year, said E. Clifford Marquardt, president. Cash awards in each of the three categories are first prize, $100; second prize, $50; third prize, $25.

TO ENTER THE contest, a student may obtain an official entry blank from an insured savings and loan association in Chicago or Cook County suburb.

All essays must be submitted to the savings and loan association from which the blank was obtained by Saturday, Oct. 31.

Duplicate prizes will be awarded to schools and other organizations that actively promote the contest and sponsor a winner. In addition to schools, sponsors may include PTAs, individual teachers, church youth groups, Boy or Girl Scout troops, YMCAs, 4-H clubs and the like.

Winners in the Cook County Council contest will have opportunities to capture additional awards totaling $1,500 in the state and national thrift essay contests. 10BB

Doughboy Enters Turkey Business

Doughboy Industries, the parent firm of Televiso Electronics of Wheeling, has announced that it has branched out into the turkey raising business.

The Wisconsin corporation has acquired Faribo Turkeys and formed a Food Products Group of Doughboy. Last year Faribo produced more than five million turkeys, it was reported. (10BB

New Law Aids Home Buyer; Requires Less Down Payment

More Americans will be able to buy better homes with the help of a section of the recently-enacted housing law of 1964, Jack V. Keller, president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, pointed out this week.

The portion of the new law referred to by Keller is an amendment to Sec. 203 (b) of the program of the Federal Housing Administration. It increases the maximum home mortgage limits which may be insured by the agency from $25,000 to $30,000 for one-family houses, from $27,500 to $32,500 two- and three-family houses and from $35,000 to $37,500 for four-family houses.

This part of the new law was among those sections of the 1964 bill supported by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, of which the Northwest Suburban Board is a member.

"The most significant thing about this new provision is that it will make it possible for purchasers to buy a better house for a lower down payment," the president of the local Realtors said.

"UNDER THE OLD law, a family buying a home valued at $29,000 had to make a down payment of $4,000 in order to qualify for FHA-insured financing; under the new law, the minimum down payment on the same home can be as low as $3,200.

"Under the new law, a family seeking a house valued at $34,600 may purchase it with a down payment of $5,000 lower than under the old law which required anything in excess of the $25,000 mortgage to be added to the down payment. The down payment, under the new law, would be $4,600 as compared to $9,600."

Many families are now enjoying current incomes that will easily sustain the higher monthly mortgage costs, although they may not have had the time to accumulate the higher lump sum down payments required under the old law, Keller explained. The new provision will enable them to put their home purchase plans into effect without the delay that might have been necessary up to now.

If home purchases under the new FHA section follow the recent pattern, Keller observed, existing houses will dominate buyer choices. According to the latest figures, more than three out of every four home mortgages insured by the agency had existing homes as security.

"A WELL-MAINTAINED existing home in a good neighborhood has proven its value. It has been through the 'shake down' period and any flaws that may have existed originally usually have long since been spotted and remedied," Keller said.

"In addition, many such homes offer real values in living amenities in the form of larger lots and rooms, established shrubbery and landscaping and a complete array of civic services such as schools, roads, shopping centers, and churches," he added. (10BB

THIS SWEEPING Colonial ranch home, built by C. Richard Stade, can be seen in Long Grove Country Club Estates on State Route 53 about two miles west of Route 83. The four-bedroom, two-and-a-half bath home is designed in the classic concept of comfortable, uncrowded estate living. It has a big, enclosed porch at the rear overlooking lake and golf course. (10BB

Long Grove Estates Stress Country Living

A tribute to careful, original planning and practical imagination is Long Grove Country Club Estates, located on Route 53, in the century-old Village of Long Grove.

Primary appeal to residents is plenty of room for a fine custom home, and full enjoyment of healthful country living. Along with eye-catching views and rolling terrain, the basic traditions of this famed area are very much a part of this desirable and growing community.

The 270 homesites of this unusual plan parallel and surround a chain of three lakes, streams and the fairways of Long Grove Country Club. The par 72 course offers three different yardage counts for playing, including the championship 7,015-yard course.

WHEN THE community is completed, approximately half the homes will border on fairway, lake or stream. Of the remaining sites — each a minimum one acre in size—most are within one block of the course.

The three Estates lakes, six to twelve acres in size, have been developed according to Illinois State Conservation Commission specifications, and two will soon be stocked under state supervision.

Mark Powell, vice president and sales director for R. J. Anderson, Inc., the developing firm, commented: "It won't be long before residents can take some nice bass from their own backyard landing. Meantime, we've fished out some nice golf balls along the course, and they're available to any golfing visitor who's interested in a good place to play, or build a home."

Bob Anderson personally checks out each home built in Long Grove Country Club Estates. Individuality of plan is encouraged, but each design is qualified as to harmony of styling—and the over-all concept must fit in with the long-established traditions of the general area.

A LARGE, attractive colonial ranch design by C. Richard Stade Construction Co., is an example of Long Grove Estates homes. It can be seen at the junction of Shiloh Drive and Sheridan Court.

The home has a centered front entry, with a wide, columned front porch. Stately balance of elevation is achieved by extending the opposite wings of the house at each side.

Inside the large foyer opens directly back into the living room, which is over 22'x14' in size. Features here include a curving bay window, almost room-wide, and a big fireplace. An enclosed rear porch overlooks the golf course and Yankee Lake.

In the sleeping wing are the four bedrooms, one of which may be a study or guest room—and two baths, one of them private to the master bedroom. In the opposite wing are the two-car garage, powder room, dining room and the combined breakfast room and kitchen. Among the features here are a built-in desk for the lady of the house, an island range and an L-shaped work and cabinet layout.

LONG GROVE Country Club Estates is open to visitors daily from 10 a.m. till dusk. Its location on Route 53 is just west of Route 83.

Sponsor Essay Contest

For the fourth consecutive year, the Cook County Council of Insured Savings Associations is sponsoring the annual "Thrift Essay Contest" in Chicago and Cook County suburbs during October, offering a grand total of more than $1,000 in prizes.

The contest will be open to youngsters in grades 4 through 6 as well as students in junior high and high schools. The grade school category was eliminated last year in accordance with an experiment by the National Thrift Committee but was reinstated this year.

Despite the inclusion of grammar school pupils, the Council is retaining the increased Cook County prizes adopted last year, said E. Clifford Marquardt, president. Cash awards in each of the three categories are first prize, $100; second prize, $50; third prize, $25.

TO ENTER THE contest, a student may obtain an official entry blank from an insured savings and loan association in Chicago or Cook County suburb.

All essays must be submitted to the savings and loan association from which the blank was obtained by Saturday, Oct. 31.

Duplicate prizes will be awarded to schools and other organizations that actively promote the contest and sponsor a winner. In addition to schools, sponsors may include PTAs, individual teachers, church youth groups, Boy or Girl Scout troops, YMCAs, 4-H clubs and the like.

Winners in the Cook County Council contest will have opportunities to capture additional awards totaling $1,500 in the state and national thrift essay contests. 10BB

Helps Students to Find Part-time Jobs

A Des Plaines personnel consultant firm is accepting what it terms "a civic responsibility" to help high school and college students fill job openings in business and industry.

Donald P. Rietz, manager of Snelling and Snelling in Des Plaines, said that his firm does not handle temporary employment but is taking on this task as a "needed public service."

He explained that business firms and industries in the greater Chicago area are being solicited and encouraged to evaluate their company needs and to list with his office those part-time openings that might be filled by students.

HE THINKS they will be anxious to cooperate to help "our future leaders find a way to earn means to stay in school."

Snelling and Snelling will serve only as a clearing house between schools and business and industry. By next spring, Rietz said, his firm hopes to expand its program to include summer jobs.

Openings will be posted on a bulletin board at the Snelling and Snelling office, 1415 Ellinwood St., one of 158 firms of a franchised chain.

"THE WILLIAMSBURG" is a four bedroom home being built in Arlington Heights by Arthur J. Green Construction Co., developer of Hickory Lane in the same suburb. It is close to schools, shopping and transportation facilities.

Arthur J. Greene Home Is Designed for Growing Family

Windsor Crest, an Arthur J. Greene Construction Co. development in the heart of Arlington Heights, has the answer for the growing family.

The "Williamsburg" is a traditional split-level home featuring four large bedrooms with master bedroom 16 by 21½ feet.

TWO CERAMIC-TILED baths have decorator-colored fixtures; the powder room off the recreation room is convenient to the basement. The elevated living room is 20¼ by 14½ feet, and the oversized kitchen has a separate large breakfast room.

Other features include a separate laundry room, removable wood windows, raised hearth fireplace, fiberglas insulation, two-car garage with sculptured-panel overhead doors and thermopane glass sliding wall from family room to patio area.

The foyer floor is slate. Decorative wood shutters trim the brick and frame home.

Windsor Crest offers the advantages of the latest environment planning combined with unusual accessibility to all conveniences. Windsor and Miner Schools are at the end of the block, Prospect High, St. Viator and St. James are within easy walking distance. Transportation and shopping are only one minute away.

WINDSOR CREST is located just off Foundry Road (Kensington) three blocks east of Dryden and just south of Miner.

Arthur J. Greene also developed Hickory Lane in Arlington Heights. 10BB

Electronic Buying Theme of Seminars

About 75 industrial distributors of electrical supplies, steel, stationery and office supplies in the Chicago metropolitan area recently attended the first of a series of seminars on the efficiencise of electronic purchasing being conducted by DoALL Co., Des Plaines.

Similar sessions were held for industrial users of cutting tools, gauges and industrial supplies.

Distributors attending Tuesday's meeting saw how the electronic equipment comprising DoALL's new Telematic ordering system is used to automate order processing. An IBM Data-Transmitter and a Bell System Data-Phone are the equipment used in the customer's purchasing department to transmit orders from prepunched inventory cards. At DoALL an IBM 026 receiver duplicates the order from this card in a matter of seconds. Within 24 hours the order is delivered to the customer.

SPEAKERS, at the seminar contrasted this system of rapid buying with the conventional process which takes several days between the decision to buy and the delivery of the order. Whereas the conventional process takes 21 separate and time-consuming steps, the new Telematic System requires only three. The result, it was pointed out, is a saving in the cost of purchasing industrial tools and supplies of at least 50 per cent. In some cases saving runs as high as 70 per cent.

In addition to speeding deliveries and eliminating paper work, DoALL's Telematic System reduces the customer's need for maintaining large tool crib inventories. Such large inventories are unnecessary when tools and supplies can be obtained in 24 hours.

DoALL already has installed its Telematic Ordering System in its stores in Los Angeles, Chicago, Des Plaines, Rockford and Minneapolis. Soon it will be installed in other stores in Milwaukee, Cleveland, Cincinnati, New York and Philadelphia. Ultimately it will go into all 43 DoALL sales-service stores in the United States and Canada.

Five-Figure Incomes Increase

One in five American families now has a five-figure income, compared with one in 17 families as recently as 1954.

This growth in family annual incomes of $10,000 or more was disclosed in a recent study by Meinhard - Commercial Corp., one of the nation's oldest and largest factoring and commercial financing concerns and a subsidiary of C.I.T. Financial Corporation. Based on U. S. Census Bureau statistics, it showed that 19.9 per cent of U. S. families had incomes of $10,000 or more last year compared with 5.8 per cent in 1954.

THE NUMBER of families in the five-figure bracket nearly quadrupled in nine years, reaching 9,439,000 in 1963, against 2,432,000 in 1954. With 10,673,000 families in the $7,000 to $9,999 per year bracket in 1963, some 42.4 per cent of American families — better than four out of every ten — now have annual incomes of $7,000 or more.

According to the study, the median income of U. S. families rose to $6,249 in 1963 from $4,173 in 1954, a gain of 48.7 per cent. This gain compared with a rise of only 14 per cent in the cost of living.

The over-all increase in consumer buying power, which the firm says shows every indication of continuing in the years ahead has far reaching implications for all companies engaged in the production, distribution and financing of consumer goods.

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by Richard H. DeLano, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

The old saying, "Good things come in small packages," also applies to certain trees. Three of the smallest of the flowering crab apple trees are also among the most attractive.

The Bechtel Crab, the Sargent Crab and the Tea Crab all have qualities that make them unusually attractive in the small city yard. They are of compact size, unquestionably hardy, produce attractvie spring flowers and quickly reach their mature height. Planted near a patio, they give a flowering accent in spring and welcome shade in summer.

The Bechtel Crab can be considered a native of Illinois. It was discovered as a chance seedling in a fence row sometime before the Civil War by E. A. Bechtel, a nurseryman near Staunton, Ill.

Compared to many crab tree varieties which may reach 40 feet, the Bechtel Crab is small. The usual mature height is 10 feet, although specimens up to 20 feet have been observed. Its most spectacular character is the bloom of double fragrant light pink flowers that hang in clusters along the outer branches. Although the bloom is showy, only a small number of pea-sized apples are formed.

FOR colorful half-inch red apples the Sargent Crab can be planted. If not consumed by wildlife, the apples lend color to the landscape from September to December. This fall color is further enhanced by its orange-red foliage, a feature not common in the crab apples.

The six to eight-foot Sargent Crab is the smallest of the flowering crabs. It's so small that it is almost shrub-like in character. In fact, it grows as wide or wider than its height. In spite of its small overall size, the blooms are very showy. Fragrant half inch white blossomes literaly make the tree a mound of flowers.

The last member of this trio of dwarf crabs is the Tea Crab. Strictly speaking, the Tea Crab is not a dwarf since isolated branches may reach 18 feet. However, the upper two-thirds of the tree is loose and open while the lower third is compact, thus creating the impression of a dwarf.

As with the Bechtel Crab, the fruit is usually of little interest, but the bloom more than compensates for this lack. The large fragrant blooms start as deep pink buds that change color as they mature. As the buds open, the color is diluted by the expanding petals to a final white with just a hint of pink.

BECAUSE of its shape, the Tea Crab is useful for planting close to walks, patios and driveways. Its upright non-spreading "V" shape doesn't interfere with traffic.

If you cannot decide which of this trio to use in your landscape, resolve the problem by planting the trio as a unit. They can be arranged as tall, medium and short if you plant in this order: Tea Crab, Bechtel Crab and Sargent Crab. They can also be arranged in order of bloom. The Tea Crab blooms in mid-spring, the Sargent Crab in late spring and the Bechtel Crab in very late spring. (15BB

About 75 industrial distributors of electrical supplies, steel, stationery and office supplies in the Chicago metropolitan area recently attended the first of a series of seminars on the efficiencise of electronic purchasing being conducted by DoALL Co., Des Plaines.

Similar sessions were held for industrial users of cutting tools, gauges and industrial supplies.

Distributors attending Tuesday's meeting saw how the electronic equipment comprising DoALL's new Telematic ordering system is used to automate order processing. An IBM Data-Transmitter and a Bell System Data-Phone are the equipment used in the customer's purchasing department to transmit orders from prepunched inventory cards. At DoALL an IBM 026 receiver duplicates the order from this card in a matter of seconds. Within 24 hours the order is delivered to the customer.

SPEAKERS at the seminar contrasted this system of rapid buying with the conventional process which takes several days between the decision to buy and the delivery of the order. Whereas the conventional process takes 21 separate and time-consuming steps, the new Telematic System requires only three. The result, it was pointed out, is a saving in the cost of purchasing industrial tools and supplies of at least 50 per cent. In some cases saving runs as high as 70 per cent.

In addition to speeding deliveries and eliminating paper work, DoALL's Telematic System reduces the customer's need for maintaining large tool crib inventories. Such large inventories are unnecessary when tools and supplies can be obtained in 24 hours.

DoALL already has installed its Telematic Ordering System in its stores in Los Angeles, Chicago, Des Plaines, Rockford and Minneapolis. Soon it will be installed in other stores in Milwaukee, Cleveland, Cincinnati, New York and Philadelphia. Ultimately it will go into all 43 DoALL sales-service stores in the United States and Canada.

Five-Figure Incomes Increase

One in five American families now has a five-figure income, compared with one in 17 families as recently as 1954.

This growth in family annual incomes of $10,000 or more was disclosed in a recent study by Meinhard - Commercial Corp., one of the nation's oldest and largest factoring and commercial financing concerns and a subsidiary of C.I.T. Financial Corporation. Based on U. S. Census Bureau statistics, it showed that 19.9 per cent of U. S. families had incomes of $10,000 or more last year compared with 5.8 per cent in 1954.

THE NUMBER of families in the five-figure bracket nearly quadrupled in nine years, reaching 9,439,000 in 1963, against 2,432,000 in 1954. With 10,673,000 families in the $7,000 to $9,999 per year bracket in 1963, some 42.4 per cent of American families — better than four out of every ten — now have annual incomes of $7,000 or more.

According to the study, the median income of U. S. families rose to $6,249 in 1963 from $4,173 in 1954, a gain of 48.7 per cent. This gain compared with a rise of only 14 per cent in the cost of living.

The over-all increase in consumer buying power, which the firm says shows every indication of continuing in the years ahead has far reaching implications for all companies engaged in the production, distribution and financing of consumer goods.

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by Richard H. DeLano, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

The old saying, "Good things come in small packages," also applies to certain trees. Three of the smallest of the flowering crab apple trees are also among the most attractive.

The Bechtel Crab, the Sargent Crab and the Tea Crab all have qualities that make them unusually attractive in the small city yard. They are of compact size, unquestionably hardy, produce attractvie spring flowers and quickly reach their mature height. Planted near a patio, they give a flowering accent in spring and welcome shade in summer.

The Bechtel Crab can be considered a native of Illinois. It was discovered as a chance seedling in a fence row sometime before the Civil War by E. A. Bechtel, a nurseryman near Staunton, Ill.

Compared to many crab tree varieties which may reach 40 feet, the Bechtel Crab is small. The usual mature height is 10 feet, although specimens up to 20 feet have been observed. Its most spectacular character is the bloom of double fragrant light pink flowers that hang in clusters along the outer branches. Although the bloom is showy, only a small number of pea-sized apples are formed.

FOR colorful half-inch red apples the Sargent Crab can be planted. If not consumed by wildlife, the apples lend color to the landscape from September to December. This fall color is further enhanced by its orange-red foliage, a feature not common in the crab apples.

The six to eight-foot Sargent Crab is the smallest of the flowering crabs. It's so small that it is almost shrub-like in character. In fact, it grows as wide or wider than its height. In spite of its small overall size, the blooms are very showy. Fragrant half inch white blossomes literaly make the tree a mound of flowers.

The last member of this trio of dwarf crabs is the Tea Crab. Strictly speaking, the Tea Crab is not a dwarf since isolated branches may reach 18 feet. However, the upper two-thirds of the tree is loose and open while the lower third is compact, thus creating the impression of a dwarf.

As with the Bechtel Crab, the fruit is usually of little interest, but the bloom more than compensates for this lack. The large fragrant blooms start as deep pink buds that change color as they mature. As the buds open, the color is diluted by the expanding petals to a final white with just a hint of pink.

BECAUSE of its shape, the Tea Crab is useful for planting close to walks, patios and driveways. Its upright non-spreading "V" shape doesn't interfere with traffic.

If you cannot decide which of this trio to use in your landscape, resolve the problem by planting the trio as a unit. They can be arranged as tall, medium and short if you plant in this order: Tea Crab, Bechtel Crab and Sargent Crab. They can also be arranged in order of bloom. The Tea Crab blooms in mid-spring, the Sargent Crab in late spring and the Bechtel Crab in very late spring. (15BB

Amateurs Prove They Can Handle Williams

by JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

Masque and Staff of Elk Grove Village stretched to the challenge of a Tennessee Williams play, "The Glass Menagerie" and provided some memories for its audience to carry home.

The memory play dependent on four characters made its impact Friday evening in spite of weaknesses that included the miscasting of one of its characters.

Considered one of Williams' most sensitive and best dramas, the play tells a simple story. Tom Wingfield seeks to escape a nagging mother and a fragile sister dependent on him.

The stage action revolves around Amanda Wingfield's preparation for a caller for her daughter, Laura, and the actual event. Tom provides the gentleman caller, Jim, a friend who works with him in the shoe factory.

Liz Brodersen as Amanda, the mother, carries the play. Her characterization of the role Laurette Taylor opened on Broadway is superb. She shifts from petty nagging to coyness to compassion with the control of a professional. All the time she maintains the naturalness of a southern accent.

Mrs. Brodersen manages to reveal a woman caught between the memory of her past in Blue Mountain when she had 17 callers in one day and the present—dingy living in Depression-era St. Louis.

TOM WINGFIELD, both narrator and character in the play that Williams made autobiographical, is well handled by Jim Spahr. The few line flubs and unsteady start in the last act should be eliminated in this weekends' performances.

Spahr's narration has a relaxed ease. He moves moothly from narrator into actor in the play. He builds the effect that allows an audience to see his tie to his mother and sister and his the growing desperation foreshadowing a break.

Spahr's weakest scene is the one where he is a drunk. He fails to maintain the loose posture needed throughout the scene.

Somehow Liz Romero was badly miscast as Laura, the fragile daughter, and one of Williams' more difficult roles since it is not clearly defined. Miss Romero fails to produce the pathos so apparent with a girl too delicate to fight a world that forces her to a haven of music and little glass figures.

SHE LIFTS her generally stilted performance from the doldrums only briefly as she creates the moments when she is transfused with love.

Miss Romero's costuming and harddo of the first act add another distracting not for which she is not responsible. This was an incongruous costuming job, and it cannot even be justified as dowdy ugliness in keeping with the play.

The portrayal of the only character in touch with the world, the brash gentleman caller played by Fred Brodersen, lacks a necessary flippancy. By this failure, the relief Williams intended is lost. Brodersen plays the caller as a low keyed character. But his performance can be considered adequate.

Director Sollace Hotze has put together a unified stage vehicle with good pacing.

ON THE technical level it seemed the lighting was slow to fade-out in some of the scenes. For example, the actors were frozen by the lighting to a mood too long in a scene when Tom's coat hits his sister's glass fiures.

Settings by Patt Gersdorf leaned to realism but kept with the play's mood that Williams considered expressionistic.

It was disappointing to see the small audience—a benefit for Northwest Mental Health Association—backing this commendable undertaking by Masque and Staff. Those who miss this production will miss some fine theatre.

Williams' dramas are never easy to stage. But Masque and Staff's overall effort disproved anyone who says they should not be tried by an amateur group.

The "Glass Menagerie" will be performed at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday in Dempster Junior High School at Dempster Road west of Route 83.

Simon Surveys Cook County Problems

Puts Finance At Top of List

by DAN PRIBILSKI
Staff Writer

"Our most serious problem in Cook County is financing the works that need to be done.

"The most important tasks we face are welfare tasks. Cook County is a welfare county.

"In no way has federal assistance come to me as federal control.

"Paradoxically, these same seekers of state authority are the loudest discreditors of the one measure designed to make the states more responsible and responsive: I speak of the recent Supreme Court decision on reapportionment."

These statements were the highlights of a talk delivered recently by Seymour Simon, Cook County board president, before the Cook County Council of the League of Women Voters.

The Cook County Council is composed of 32 member leagues including the chapters in Arlington Heights and Palatine.

SIMON EMPHASIZED that the job of the county is to find ways of financing county functions without raising the tax ceilings.

He said the Citizens Committee which he had appointed suggested that Cook County be permitted to retain all that was collected at the hospitals.

The suggestion was implemented and the net gain in revenue for 1964 was $4 million.

Two items were suggested by Simon which he believes will produce even more revenue:

First, more vigorous collection for care received by patients at county hospitals; and second, increasing the per diem rate for care to a level that reflects more realistically the actual expenditures at the hospitals.

IN REGARDS to Cook County being a welfare county, Simon declared that over 50 per cent of the county corporate budget is spent on welfare functions and over two-thirds of that amount goes to County Hospital alone.

"Our ingenuity in financing these works cannot stop at ferreting out ways to wring the last drop from local property taxpayers; we must turn to the federal and state government for help on a larger scale than we are doing at present," Simon said.

Simon recognized that a great bugaboo exists about federal control coming with federal aid.

"Our country's system of government has been based on cooperation among all levels of government.

"The federal government is not a foreign power plotting a coup to wrest power from local authorities; it is here to work with us and help us better the lot of all our citizens."

SIMON CITED federal aid to the County Hospital, the Hektoen Institute and the highway system of Illinois as items where the federal government has helped but places no controls on the local authorities.

"I have been president of the County Board for two years and I've received no directive from anyone in Washington telling me that since federal money is helping us to buy land to expand our Forest Preserve, Washington will tell us where to put picnic groves and our baseball fields.

"All the federal government wants is for us to capture land to enhance our Forest Preserve before that land becomes a concrete jungle."

Simon said the federal government is helping the local authorities get the jobs done that need to be done.

BUT, HE SAID, and without naming specific men, there are those "today in public life who choose to divert the public's attention. . ."

He said, "They cry that the state should exercise more power, more control, that the solutions to pressing problems must be funneled through the state government."

Yet, Simon declared, it is these same people who block Illinois reapportionment.

Illinois is dominated by rural interests, he said, and Cook County, the most heavily populated county in the country with the second largest metropolitan area in the country, is not adequately represented in the state legislature.

Until Illinois adopts the "one man, one vote" principle of apportionment, Cook County will not be properly represented, Simon said.

HE ASKED, "Can we subscribe to any theory of government that rallies around the cry of 'state action' when what it really means is 'no action'?

"If your local leaders delayed undertaking necessary program until the state legislature initiated them, we would be abandoning our responsibility to drown in a sea of inactivity."

Other things the county must make further progress on, Simon said, are in the area of clean air and clean streams.

And the county must expand and improve the medical services at County Hospital and Fantus Clinic.

THE COUNTY must expand its recreational facilities in the Forest Preserve. And efforts must be intensified in the area of public health and a program of community planning must be furthered.

Simon paid tribute to the League of Women Voters for pushing the idea of Herrick House, a summer home for underprivileged children which treats them to a way of living with grass and ponds and sunshine instead of dismal concrete. (B10

Puts Finance At Top of List

by DAN PRIBILSKI
Staff Writer

"Our most serious problem in Cook County is financing the works that need to be done.

"The most important tasks we face are welfare tasks. Cook County is a welfare county.

"In no way has federal assistance come to me as federal control.

"Paradoxically, these same seekers of state authority are the loudest discreditors of the one measure designed to make the states more responsible and responsive: I speak of the recent Supreme Court decision on reapportionment."

These statements were the highlights of a talk delivered recently by Seymour Simon, Cook County board president, before the Cook County Council of the League of Women Voters.

The Cook County Council is composed of 32 member leagues including the chapters in Arlington Heights and Palatine.

SIMON EMPHASIZED that the job of the county is to find ways of financing county functions without raising the tax ceilings.

He said the Citizens Committee which he had appointed suggested that Cook County be permitted to retain all that was collected at the hospitals.

The suggestion was implemented and the net gain in revenue for 1964 was $4 million.

Two items were suggested by Simon which he believes will produce even more revenue:

First, more vigorous collection for care received by patients at county hospitals; and second, increasing the per diem rate for care to a level that reflects more realistically the actual expenditures at the hospitals.

IN REGARDS to Cook County being a welfare county, Simon declared that over 50 per cent of the county corporate budget is spent on welfare functions and over two-thirds of that amount goes to County Hospital alone.

"Our ingenuity in financing these works cannot stop at ferreting out ways to wring the last drop from local property taxpayers; we must turn to the federal and state government for help on a larger scale than we are doing at present," Simon said.

Simon recognized that a great bugaboo exists about federal control coming with federal aid.

"Our country's system of government has been based on cooperation among all levels of government.

"The federal government is not a foreign power plotting a coup to wrest power from local authorities; it is here to work with us and help us better the lot of all our citizens."

SIMON CITED federal aid to the County Hospital, the Hektoen Institute and the highway system of Illinois as items where the federal government has helped but places no controls on the local authorities.

"I have been president of the County Board for two years and I've received no directive from anyone in Washington telling me that since federal money is helping us to buy land to expand our Forest Preserve, Washington will tell us where to put picnic groves and our baseball fields.

"All the federal government w[illegible] us to capture land to enhance our Forest Pre[illegible]ore that land becomes a concrete jungle."

Simon said the federal government is helping the local authorities get the jobs done that need to be done.

BUT, HE SAID, and without naming specific men, there are those "today in public life who choose to divert the public's attention. . ."

He said, "They cry that the state should exercise more power, more control, that the solutions to pressing problems must be funneled through the state government."

Yet, Simon declared, it is these same people who block Illinois reapportionment.

Illinois is dominated by rural interests, he said, and Cook County, the most heavily populated county in the country with the second largest metropolitan area in the country, is not adequately represented in the state legislature.

Until Illinois adopts the "one man, one vote" principle of apportionment, Cook County will not be properly represented, Simon said.

HE ASKED, "Can we subscribe to any theory of government that rallies around the cry of 'state action' when what it really means is 'no action'?

"If your local leaders delayed undertaking necessary program until the state legislature initiated them, we would be abandoning our responsibility to drown in a sea of inactivity."

Other things the county must make further progress on, Simon said, are in the area of clean air and clean streams.

And the county must expand and improve the medical services at County Hospital and Fantus Clinic.

THE COUNTY must expand its recreational facilities in the Forest Preserve. And efforts must be intensified in the area of public health and a program of community planning must be furthered.

Simon paid tribute to the League of Women Voters for pushing the idea of Herrick House, a summer home for underprivileged children which treats them to a way of living with grass and ponds and sunshine instead of dismal concrete. (B10

Hungarian-Born Engineer's Wandering Ends

Chosen for Honor As a New Citizen

by JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

"In a strange way, maybe we've come home," said Laszlo Pavel.

Hungarian born Pavel and his family of 435 E. Baldwin Road, Palatine, became American citizens this summer.

Sitting in the Pavel living room decorated with objects from Hungary, Brazil, and the United States, Pavel was commenting on the noticeable similarity in motif of two pieces of weaving — one American Indian, the other Hungarian. Some ethnologists speculate that the American Indians and Hungarians share common ancestry, he continued.

Whether this theory is valid, for Pavel, living in the United States as an American citizen does mean a "coming home." But the "coming home" took about 15 years and was finally decided by a challenge from a University of Budapest professor.

"You go, I go," challenged a former professor of Pavel's as the two talked of coming to the United States where both had in-laws who had fled Hungary after the Hungarian Revolution of 1956. "Louis, 19 years my senior, stretched out his hand and we shook on it," recalls Pavel.

The next day Pavel visited the American consulate and had himself put on the Hungarian quota list for entry into the United States.

THAT ACTION started the change from the "comfortable and nice life" Pavel had established in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Pavel originally had planned to come to the United States when he and his wife left Hungary after World War II to seek "a nicer, calmer world not under Communism." They lived at refugees in the American sector of Germany for four years. But from there they moved to Brazil instead of the United States. A friend convinced Pavel, an engineer, that Brazil offered many opportunities to engineers.

He continued in the same pattern for the Pavels after quota listing though a periodic visit to the consulate to check their status of the quota list was added to the routine.

When the Pavels were expecting their third child Pavel wrote a letter to the President of the United States. He asked if the President could do anything to hurry the process allowing him and his family U. S. entry.

"I want my son who will bear my name to be born in the United States," he wrote. A polite letter from the office of the President informed him the President could not help, Pavel recalls. The son was born on Brazilian soil.

After this waiting, Pavel admits discouragement and less determination to go to the U.S.

When he finally visited the consulate after a long absence, the staff could not find his papers filed for entry. When his file was found, the word "Destroy" was stamped across it. Pavel's quota number had come up but he never received the mailed notice.

PAVEL BELIEVES his folder was not destroyed because it contained the copy of the return letter from the President.

"It was quite an occasion," said Pavel when his family arrived on American soil. Three months after their arrival a son, their fourth child, was born.

"Changing your citizenship is not like changing your linen," believes Pavel who did not become a Brazilian citizen. "You have to have good reasons. . . and the country scrutinizes your background.

"The human ideal of democracy does work and it is a reality," said the articulate new citizen. "There is a pretty good chance it will continue to work." This conclusion decided the Pavels to initiate citizenship proceedings to "the flag to which our heart was tied" for a new one.

Pavel was honored Sept. 17 with outstanding citizen citation given to 15 of 12,000 new citizens in the Northern Illinois Federal Court District. The Citizens' Council of Metropolitan Chicago's citation declared Pavel "an outstanding new citizen of the year, demonstrating appreciation of American citizenship." He "provided a positive contribution to the advancement of knowledge and has given good service to the community."

PAVEL'S EYES light when he talks of American citizenship which meant material sacrifice for him and has family. Though he never worded it thus one got the impression he believes the Biblical injunction that "man does not live by bread alone."

His American citizenship is desirable from the standpoint of identification with a philosophical ideal and because Americans lead what he considers a "clean religious life."

He describes Americans as more likely to live their religion and comments that many religious practices in Brazil are nominal only.

Pavel sees three other major trails that mark Americans: a business - like attitude that means avoidance of formalities in "let's get things done" spirit; economy minded — knowing the worth of the dollar; and a cultivation of a hobby that involves building, the outdoors, or "do it yourself" projects.

EACH OF THE countries in which he has lived has given him insight into different ways of life, said Pavel, who speaks Hungarian, Portuguese, Spanish, German, Italian, English. and a smattering of Dutch.

He found Brazilians typically Latin — enthusiastic, outgoing, and lovers of big words and gestures. They do not worry about meticulous detail and organization, he said.

He considers Brazil a beautiful country and does not regret his time there. To illustrate Brazilian temperment he tells an anecdote of a reunion of a refugee family from Europe with their Brazilian relatives. The Brazilian family typically brought fire works to celebrate, oblivious to the need for necessities.

His Hungarian heritage has made him learn to live and appreciate the diversity of a society of people, Pavel explained. "Hungary composed of many minorities has learned to live in peace with them," he points out. Hungarians traditionally fight for their freedom and human rights, he adds.

The University of Budapest-educated Pavel considers his early years in Hungary also prepared him to communicate with others and not specialize too narrowly. A believer in education he enrolled in post-graduate work at the University of Munich; he took psychology courses at the medical school of Sao Paulo; and he took a doctrinal course to teach religion at Roosevelt University.

Life represents an amalgam of European, Latin, and American traditions to Pavel and his family. (B10

GOP Headquarters Open House Sunday

Oct. 4 will be open house at the northwestern suburban office of Citizens for Goldwater-Miller, 104 S. State Road, Arlington Heights.

The public is invited from 3 to 5 p.m. to meet local leaders of the citizens group supporting Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., for President and U. S. Rep. William Miller, R-N. Y., for Vice President. Several Republican candidates plan to attend, and refreshments will be served.

HOSTESSES for the event will be volunteers helping to staff the headquarters. They are headed by Mrs. Robert Milligan, 515 S. Ioka, Mount Prospect, with assistance from Nita Dahl, Frances Tsolinas, Betty Smith, Rosalie Jones, all of Mount Prospect, and Dorie Burke, Hal Trowe, Carolyn Crowner, Eloise Zonsius, all of Arlington Heights.

Present at the affair will be northwest township chairmen of the Citizens for Goldwater-Miller and leaders of regular Republican organizations.

The Arlington Heights headquarters has a full supply of bumper stickers, literature and other Goldwater material and is open to the public Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Way We See It

Land Needed for Future Public Use

Some prompt action is needed on acquiring land in the metropolitan area for future use.

The need was highlighted by several news stories printed in the last few days.

Most conspicuous is the dispute over a proposed site for a sanitary landfill near Northbrook which would serve several north suburban communities.

Most of these communities favor the project, because their present facilities for disposing of rubbish and garbage are rapidly being used up.

Residents living near the proposed site are intensely opposed to the project, believing their homes will become less desirable if located near a garbage disposal operation, no matter how sanitary it is, although properly operated landfill can be an asset.

We are not close enough to the details of this particular situation to pass judgment on the merits of the dispute. We are sure, however, that a calmer and perhaps a better solution to the problem would be possible if land use planning had provided refuse disposal site well in advance of need.

In another development, the need was announced for five additional airports in the Chicago metropolitan area within 10 years.

Airports, like sanitary landfills, are sensitive operations as far as neighborhood relations are concerned. They cannot be plumped down in the midst of a built-up area without harm to adjacent residents. They must be planned in advance and land for them must be acquired in advance if injustice, delay, controversy and expense are to be avoided.

A third item: Charles G. "Cap" Sauers, recently retired long-time superintendent of the Cook County Forest Preserve District, once again warned that time is running out on acquiring the land for recreational use that the growing metropolitan area will certainly need. Land for recreation is disappearing year by year and what remains becomes ever more expensive.

All this, and other evidence that could be cited, supports the need for over-all metropolitan area planning, with the state involved as well as counties and municipalities.

But perhaps action to acquire more land for some of these purposes cannot wait until all the "t's" are crossed in a master plan.

This is a matter in which the governor of the state should act vigorously to give leadership.

If he does not act, who will, among the many governmental agencies involved? And the danger, then, would be great that the metropolitan area would drift into one expensive crisis after another involving refuse disposal, airports, recreation areas and other public services.

Beyond the Backyards

This month our news columns have been crowded with stories about young people either returning from or embarking on work and study in foreign lands. Finland, Morocco, Columbia, Togo — you name it, and chances are that someone from our area has been there or is on his way.

This is a marked change from the relative isolation from foreign lands of typical Americans of even a generation ago.

It is a good thing — a necessary thing — because technological change has made the world one big neighborhood. If preceding generations had experienced as much direct contact with foreign lands as this one, surely the nation would have been better able to cope with complexities of foreign relations.

The student exchange programs, the Peace Corps, the universities which provide study abroad for qualified students — all are contributing something to equipping America to play its part in the world of today.

Of similar importance is the work of the Inter-American Friendship Committee in Arlington Heights, which is striving to aid the people of Comas, Peru, a vast and poverty-stricken suburb of Lima.

All these programs deserve citizen support. We must learn to see beyond our own backyard fences because that is where vital decisions affecting everyone's future will be made.

Hazard for Children

Some state officials who are in a position to know believe that many children in the state are being transported to and from schools, day camps, churches and other places in unsafe buses, Paddock reporter Ben Burns has discovered.

A gap exists in the state law which exempts buses operated solely on a charter basis from the usual inspection and regulation by the Illinois Commerce Commission, according to Fred Petit, chief of the motor bus division of the ICC.

"I will say I would be very surprised if all the buses now used solely on charter work on Illinois highways would be able to pass our inspection," Petit said. "There are some companies with outstanding records while others apparently don't even use a grease gun."

Perhaps this gap in the state law results from the wish to give small business and religious organizations "a break." Perhaps it is simply an oversight. In either case, the gap should be closed in the next session of the legislature.

The safety of children must come before any other concern.

Citizens 'Speak Up!'

Apartments Favored

By DON HEINE
Staff Writer

Who's against apartments in the suburbs? Many village and school board members, perhaps. But not the average citizens, or so it appears from a "Speak Up" survey by Paddock Publications.

Men and women who had any strong objection to apartment construction were the exceptions.

HEINE

One of the objectors was a man who works in a store in Rolling Meadows, but lives in his own house in Norwich. "They may be different here," he commented, "But where I live there are apartments a block away. There isn't any policing. The children aren't watched. The apartments aren't kept up. The people are too transient. For suburbs, apartments just aren't appealing. They are just a money making thing for a few enterprises . . ." But, he added, apartments might be acceptable if kept up.

HIS REACTION was contrasted with that of a Rolling Meadows housewife who was selling peanuts for a Kiwanis Club charity. "I don't see why they shouldn't have them (apartments)," she said. "People have to live some where. I lived in the city all of my life in an apartment, but now I live in a house in the suburbs and like it. I need a house, but wouldn't mind living in an apartment here."

Another housewife, from Arlington Heights, said the community should offer all types of housing, even though single-family residences will continue to predominate.

More enthusiastic yet was a supermarket employe. "If they are nicely run," she remarked, "I don't know why they should bother any one. Some of them are beautiful. I wouldn't mind living in them myself." She too lived in her own house.

A SERVICE station attendant in unincorporated area on Golf Road labeled himself "opinionated." He explains that he commutes to the suburbs every day from Chicago, where he lives in an apartment, just as he has all his life, and he likes it. Advantages he mentioned are no snow to shovel, no lawn to mow, no furnace to watch.

When the question; Do you favor construction of apartment buildings in suburbia?, was put to a Hoffman Estates merchant, he asserted "I think there is a definite need for them." But his reasons remained unknown as he hurried to wait on a customer.

A housing salesman in Schaumburg was more explicit as he relaxed in a barber's chair. He said a lot of newcomers to the Chicago area go out to the suburbs looking for an apartment to rent for a year or two before they buy a house. This helps the entire area grow. He said most of these families want a one or two bedroom apartment and wouldn't have children who would place an added burden on schools.

ONE OF THE barbers in the half empty shop said apartments would help business.

A landscaper drew a distinction between types of multi-family dwellings, as to the effect they would have on the community. "Duplexes I'm not against," he said, because they will have about the same tax worth to the community as a ranch. Some three-bedroom ranch houses, he noted, have six children, all of whom will be an expense to the local school system. But, he added, "If you said a 50-foot high apartment building, I'm against it."

One airline employe said he preferred to stay out of the apartment issue because he lives in a trailer house on a farm near one of the villages. "If they keep out apartment houses, they might do the same for trailers." He said for him his choice of housing was a matter of cost and he supposes the same is true for many persons who live in apartments.

PERSONS interviewed tended to stress convenience and way of life in defense of apartments. Few touched on the tax revenue and public expense questions which village and school officials frequently raise.

The "Speak Up" survey is intended to reflect varying viewpoints, although it isn't considered as a scientific measurement of public opinion.

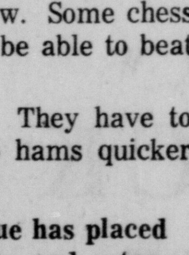
Inefficiency—Hope for Future

Machines May Be Masters

By BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

Beginning with Mary Shelley, lots of people have been concerned with increasing emphasis on technology and the possibility that the machines man has created may someday become his master.

The situation doesn't seem to be getting any better. Of course, Paul Brown doesn't call the Cleveland Browns' plays from the sidelines anymore, since Paul Brown isn't in Cleveland any longer. That is one machine that was ousted but almost the only one. I saw a walkie-talkie in use on the sidelines at a high school football game the other night, indicating that electronics has got its foot in another door.



CUMMINS

An endless flow of evidence confirms the growing power of technology. Machines are making business decisions, forecasting the election results, beating the blackjack game at Las Vegas.

They're teaching computers to play chess now. Some chess masters predict that before long computers will be able to beat most players.

Pigs never get to wade in mud any more. They have to live all their lives on concrete. They turn into hams quicker that way, you know. Poor pigs!

A French author has claimed that technique has placed itself beyond good and evil and has such "power and autonomy that it, in turn, has become the judge of what is moral, the creator of a new morality."

How long will it be before we go to church on Sunday morning and find in the pulpit as guest preacher—a computer? Yes, a computer which has been programmed with the gospel as well as a complete catalog of the sins of the congregation. With incredible rapidity the guest preacher will calculate who is in church that Sunday morning and what their sins are and will take as its text precisely that chapter and verse best suited to turn worshippers away from the paths that lead to eternal torment.

Thus will the machine become "the creator of a new morality."

Perhaps so, but I don't like it.

I thought of asking the technologists to create machines that would demote machines that were getting too big for their britches but of course that would require machines to check on the checking machines and so on, ad infinitum. It would lead to nothing.

The root of the problem is that almost everyone believes so much in efficiency. That is what gave the machines their big chance. The only hope, as I see it, is to teach the younger generation the virtues of inefficiency.

Why should children believe that Lansing is the capital of Michigan when Algonac and Saginaw and Manistee are much more appealing names?

Why should we insist that shoe be spelled that way when shu or shue or shew or shoo seem just as good? I propose that the criterion of correct spelling be "suit your spelling to your mood" instead of to some dry and arbitrary textbook dictum.

And why should 2 and 2 always make 4? Here I have a confession to make: I always thot that 2 and 2 makes 5 was moar poetic. Now I'm going to fyte to get 2 and 2 makes 5 established, at least as an acceptable alternative.

Believe me, the machines won't be able to digest the new inefficiency curriculum. We will all be saved and even the pigs may get "a day off" to wade in the mud.

How Superior Is Mankind?

by TOM EDWARDS
Staff Writer

Man has long since learned that Earth is only one planet among millions gyrating in space in an assortment of solar systems, rather than the center of the Universe.

Yet it seems he still clings to the old belief that he is the supreme form of life, the image of God.

He accords to himself this highest position, and blithely assumes all life should exist for him. Only he has a "soul."

HE RARELY views his social problems in relation to his over-all environment, but only in relation to other men and man-created living conditions.

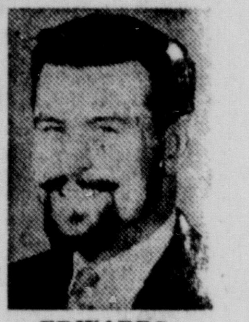
Man revels in what he calls his ability to reason, claiming this and his soul, or divinity, set him apart, are the something "different" between himself and other forms of life.

Exalting the brain and castigating the physical, he asserts that concepts such as right and wrong, law and order, exist only in his mind, and that he only can create beyond the bounds of nature, can develop concepts that transcend the universe.

AT THE SAME time the promontories of his educational centers are football stadia, and the heroes on his campuses are the athletes. Therefore, does he truly believe in the intellect as he expounds?

Still man looks at the age of the dinosaurs that he has unearthed and says here is proof that physical is inferior to mental.

But is there proof that man has improved upon the dinosaur? The proof of man's geologic span of "dominance" is still in the making. And extinction by whatever means is still extinction.



EDWARDS

It is plain enough for man to see that the brain he exalts has led him to a point in evolution where his extinction is an odds on favorite to occur—by his own hand. The supreme test of man will be whether or not he can adjust his evolution away from his own extinction—and maybe that of his planet as well, something the dinosaur didn't achieve.

PERHAPS MAN has overemphasized the brain. It has an extreme physical limitation; it as well as other parts of the nervous system are not regenerative as are other tissues of the body. This maybe explains why thinking can become rigid and reason become impossible.

It might be wise for man to take into greater account what faculties make it possible for bees and ants to build amazing colonies, and birds to migrate unerringly.

Until the recent discovery of the apparent ability of porpoises to converse, man used to think that his ability of speech also set him apart, thinking that other animals are dumb because they don't learn to communicate with man in his language.

IT SEEMS QUITE possible that everything already exists or has existed, and that man hasn't really accomplished or thought anything new. Engineering, finer than that of man, was already there in the body mechanisms of plants and animals. and architecture in their design.

Is any thought or emotion experienced by man more than an elaboration or intensification of embryonic pulses in other forms of life? Is the law of energy, that none is ever lost or gained, only redistributed, also true of man's mental exertions?

Did man or birds learn that it is possible to fly?

Man dams rivers and bulldozes away hills. If this gives him a feeling of superiority, then let him remember that one day those dams must fall, and by leveling hills he is only hastening the inevitable erosion of his continents into the sea.

If he feels glorified at being at the top of the food chain, then let him also understand and humbly respect those "lower" forms of life on which he depends.

IF HE FEELS he is creative among animals, let him remember that he is the only animal that eats the berry without returning its seed to the ground in a viable form-that he is probably the only animal that doesn't promulgate life to a degree equal to what he takes from life.

Because he eats without being eaten, the principal threat to his life, besides himself, is other men, hardly a creative situation at present.

As man places himself on top and apart from the phyla of the world, so does he abrogate to himself within the family of man. He thinks in terms of supremacy, of God, kings, presidents, dictators and premiers in the same light. With no chance to become a school superintendent, the second best a teacher can aspire to is to be a good teacher, no matter how we may try to rationalzie this fact.

SO ALSO HAS man thought of race, putting one above the other.

He doesn't reflect that when he elevates one or some to a superior position, he is in effect downgrading the remainder.

'Monster' on Front Porch Haunts Suburban Housewife

The only thing different about Saturday, Sept. 26, 1964, was the horoscope prediction for Gemini—I was entering a benefic period.

True to my interpretation of benefic, we had a family argument, I developed a headache and backache, a dear friend was unexpectedly taken to the hospital and it rained gloomy rain all day long.

But—to get to the meat (how neauseating a thought) of my text. . .

Rather than sit through "Alexander the Great" again, my husband headed for bed, after my usual nagging, because the doctor said he's not getting enough rest. The highs and lows of his snores drifted down the hallway, adding a peaceful background to the Grecian struggles on television.

But then I watched my daughter coming home, and her antics on the front porch were just too strange, as though a dreaded creature was guarding our front door and she could not gain entrance. She rushed into me and screamed there was a monster on our porch.

Mustering my courage, which refused to be mustered, I LOOKED. Yes it was a nine-inch lizard out there, which looked like a junior version of an alligator. It was black, spotted with yellow. Well, it might have been.

Since our shrieks and screams didn't awaken my husbad, I decided to let him continue on with Morpheus, because it would take more nagging to get him back in bed again.

So, we decided someone was playing a joke on us. Halloween sometimes comes early with lively suburban kiddies. Surely, this was a realistic toy.

We picked up some stones to toss at this creature. From 10 feet away, it was hard to hit it, but we did AND IT MOVED! We crashed into the house. What to do? Our Elk Grove gendarmes are the bravest in the world. . .so I called them.

I started out sheepishly, saying it was Saturday night and all that, but there was this monster on our front porch, see. . .Well, it could have escaped from the Lincoln Park Zoo, or have been someone's pet, or poisonour or something. We had looked up "lizard" in the encyclopedia and there seem to be no lizards indigenous to this area.

By then a neighbor (male) wandered over and bravely offered to dispose of the creature. But then our village finest arrived armed with a flashlight. With usual alacrity, he took in the situation with a glance and tromped on the creature!

The neighbor fled to his home. My daughter and I dashed behind our screen door and that brave policeman just stood there and stomped.

I must say, he did look a little disgusted before he stomped, but I think the disgust was directed at me and not the task he set for himself. Because, you see, he asked me where my husband was. He kicked the thing off the porch and said we should put it in the garbage, then took off to braver deeds in the blackness of the unknown.

Now my problem. . .what was this thing? Has it escaped from the "Addams Family" or "The Monsters" or TV land? Or is there an underground "coney of crocodiles" in our crawl space? Does it have relatives in the vicinity"—perhaps lurking in other areas awaiting to wreak venegeance? Everytime I open a closet or walk into a room the specter haunts me.

What lies ahead for us? Can your readers help me?

Letters to the Editor

Sees Leaders Conspiring for World Agency

Has the current national political campaign left you confused, bewildered and discouraged? It should have; it's planned that way!

There are people planning this confusion for the sole purpose of preventing you and I from understanding what is going on.

It's not my purpose to tell you all of what is happening, but rather to set the guide line for understanding what is to come.

There are many side issues in this campaign, but most of them are relative to one basic issue; that is—shall we continue to be conditioned to a system of World Government or shall we preserve our National Heritage!—this is the issue of this campaign, all others are secondary.

Assume that there exists a group of men; influential businessmen, labor leaders, clergy, republicans and democrats, who have joined together over a period of years with one common interest—establish a world agency to control trade, production, hostilities, populations, economics, immigration, and all other aspects of society—call them the Council on Foreign Relations. (CFR).

Suppose that this influential group of men formed a pool from which government officials and political parties would choose cabinet members, ambassadors, UN delegates, advisors, judges and other administrators.

Suppose then the CFR undertakes the task of establishing a world agency—call it the United Nations. What must they do? What are their problems?—

Problem: To convince the people of the value of the U.N.

Solution: Say many nice things about it; finance it and keep it together at all costs.

Problem: To convince other nations to participate in the U.N.

Solution: Promise that the great military might and wealth of the U.S. will be given to the U.N. and shared by all.

Problem: Communism

Solution: Avoid conflict at all costs. Co-exist until the two systems grow compatible.

Problem: To teach people to live together in a world society.

Solution: Education; teach only the best aspects of each group; teach only similarities, not differences; develop cultural exchanges with other nations; teach tolerance of other nations and eliminate national pride and national diversity.

The greatest task of the CFR would necessarily be to obtain the full commitment of the U.S., the most powerful, wealthiest nation on the earth. How to transform this nation steep in tradition, abounding in pride, wallowing in freedom, and diverse in its customs into a society subservient to a World Agency, able to be moved and maneuvered to meet the many crises and demands of the changing world?—

Problem: To establish control in a central authority.

Solution: Diminish the influence of state governments and transfer authority to the executive and appointed officials.

Problem: To eliminate diversity of customs.

Solution: Promote integration of the races; unity of religions and equalization of classes.

Problem: To eliminate nationalism.

Solution: Minimize patriotic institutions and expression; emphasize world cooperation.

Problem: To eliminate traditions.

Solution: Education; revise text books and other teaching materials. Emphasize common "social" aspects of religion.

To accomplish these tasks the CFR would have to grow in numbers and expand its area of influence to all major population centers of the country. To be successful the CFR would have to establish many front organizations with CFR members maintaining control. Its greatest threat would be exposure before its job had progressed sufficiently. The source of this threat would most likely come from those Americans having the knowledge of and respect for the American institutions.

To be successful, both nationally and internationally, the CF would have to work in closer conjunction with the communist empire. Any open break would arouse national concern and anti-communist sentiment and would cause a set-back in all the progress thus achieved. It would necessarily follow that anti-communist sentiment be discredited and the people isolated from it. How to achieve this?—

Problem: Military conflicts.

Solution: Avoid "victory" for either side; compromise solutions.

Problem: Trade

Solution: Give authority to executive to negotiate unilateral trade agreements.

Problem: Captive nations.

Solution: Give economic assistance to captive nations thereby avoiding internal unrest and U.S. involvement.

Problem: Military alliances

Solution: Unilateral agreements with the Soviets thereby circumventing free world alliances.

Problem: Anti-communism.

Solution: Emphasize peace and disarmament; discredit anti-communists as radicals, warmongers, witch-hunters, etc.

Therein briefly stated, lies the issue of this campaign—Shall we continue to be conditioned to World Government or shall we preserve our National Heritage?

Keep your eyes and ears open and put the pieces of the puzzle together. Next time you hear the words—"Great Society"—you won't need a dictionary.

Pleased by Quick Action on Township Road

Three cheers to a man who kept. his word.

I had a conversation with the newly appointed Wheeling Township road commissioner, Mr. William W. Luehring about taking care of Lancaster Road and all the problems that were involved for the past eight years, and how little was done for the people who reside on and use this road to get in and out of their homes and of the children who must also walk on it to get to the bus to take them to school.

It was only last week, Sept. 16, when I spoke to him and he promised he would take care of it the following week. To my surprise he sure did show up with action on the road which is so unusual.

Finds Meaning In Workman's Kind Gesture

I would like to take this opportunity to express a public thank you to the gentleman who extended a kindness to my three-year-old.

We were at the September Fest in Rolling Meadows and while I was looking at the sidewalk displays my little girl ran ahead and hopped on the horse ride in front of Crawfords. It took me a while to reach her and when I got there the horse was going and she was thrilled as only a little girl on one of those horses can be thrilled. She quickly pointed out the "nice man" with the "black face" who put the 10 cents in for her. I looked up and caught a glimpse of a Negro workman going around the corner of Crawfords.

I waved a thank you and he noded an acknowledgement. By his attire, he apparently was a stockman at some store and worked hard for his money. To throw 10 cents into a machine for a little white girl was really a very kind act.

As this "summer of unrest" comes to an end with its riots all over the country, I found myself getting a little bitter and coming to some hasty generalizations. But this "nice man" with the "black face" made me put my thinking back in line.

There are good and bad in every race and I just want to put this little note in the paper to help balance all the front page publicity given to the Dixmoor and Brooklyn riots.

Thank you again, sir, for your kind act and the next time my three-year-old sees a member of your race she will think only kindly of them. I assure you I will say nothing to warp this image.

Also, I will say a little prayer that by the time she gets old enough to read the front page headlines, there will only be stories about people of your race like yourself who prove that man's humanity to man knows no color line.

What's black and white and read all over?

Our newsprint is white . . . our ink is black and our 15 weekly newspapers are read all over the great northwest suburban area.

Our circulation is at an all time high . . . and growing. In the past year, our circulation increased 8%, proof positive that we now reach 85% of homes in the northwest suburbs.

Here's why we continue to enjoy such popularity:

Editorial impact — we keep readers notified and satisfied.

Pride and integrity — we adhere to journalistic principals that instill community pride and integrity in our readers.

Quality — we insist on modern printing processes and methods that give our readers the quality product they deserve.

Value — your newspaper is still America's greatest value. It is a necessary part of your life, your principal, your democracy and, of course, your great American tradition to always keep learning.

We are happy to serve you with newspapers that do these things and thank you for your acceptance of our product.

At Paddock — we feel our increased circulation means we have made more friends; and for your continued friendship, we say . . . thanks.

'Monster' on Front Porch Haunts Suburban Housewife

The only thing different about Saturday, Sept. 26, 1964, was the horoscope prediction for Gemini—I was entering a benefic period.

True to my interpretation of benefic, we had a family argument, I developed a headache and backache, a dear friend was unexpectedly taken to the hospital and it rained gloomy rain all day long.

But—to get to the meat (how neauseating a thought) of my text. . .

Rather than sit through "Alexander the Great" again, my husband headed for bed, after my usual nagging, because the doctor said he's not getting enough rest. The highs and lows of his snores drifted down the hallway, adding a peaceful background to the Grecian struggles on television.

But then I watched my daughter coming home, and her antics on the front porch were just too strange, as though a dreaded creature was guarding our front door and she could not gain entrance. She rushed into me and screamed there was a monster on our porch.

Mustering my courage, which refused to be mustered, I LOOKED. Yes it was a nine-inch lizard out there, which looked like a junior version of an alligator. It was black, spotted with yellow. Well, it might have been.

Since our shrieks and screams didn't awaken my husbad, I decided to let him continue on with Morpheus, because it would take more nagging to get him back in bed again.

So, we decided someone was playing a joke on us. Halloween sometimes comes early with lively suburban kiddies. Surely, this was a realistic toy.

We picked up some stones to toss at this creature. From 10 feet away, it was hard to hit it, but we did AND IT MOVED! We crashed into the house. What to do? Our Elk Grove gendarmes are the bravest in the world. . .so I called them.

I started out sheepishly, saying it was Saturday night and all that, but there was this monster on our front porch, see. . .Well, it could have escaped from the Lincoln Park Zoo, or have been someone's pet, or poisonour or something. We had looked up "lizard" in the encyclopedia and there seem to be no lizards indigenous to this area.

By then a neighbor (male) wandered over and bravely offered to dispose of the creature. But then our village finest arrived armed with a flashlight. With usual alacrity, he took in the situation with a glance and tromped on the creature!

The neighbor fled to his home. My daughter and I dashed behind our screen door and that brave policeman just stood there and stomped.

I must say, he did look a little disgusted before he stomped, but I think the disgust was directed at me and not the task he set for himself. Because, you see, he asked me where my husband was. He kicked the thing off the porch and said we should put it in the garbage, then took off to braver deeds in the blackness of the unknown.

Chicagoan Is Chosen 'Gazebo' Director

Tom Baldacchini of Chicago, has been invited to direct "The Gazebo," the opening production of Village Theatre of Arlington Heights, it was announced by Richard Tyler, resident director.

A copywriter for Sears Roebuck and Co., Baldacchini has been associated with the Old Town Garden Players. He attended Goodman Theatre, Wright Junior College, Northwestern University and William and Mary College.

"The Gazebo" will open Friday, Oct. 9, and be repeated Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 10 and 11, and again Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 16, 17, and 18, with all performances at Forest View High School.

DESIGNING the set for "The Gazebo" is Joyce Zeller, 808 W. Thomas, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Zeller's set for "Ali Baba and the 40 Thieves," last year's children's play, was considered as both imaginative and colorful. She has previously designed scenery for BOB.

Chris Bauske, 102 E. Orchard, Arlington Heights, one of Village Theatre's most experienced backstage workers, is production manager.

Gladys Pownall, 722 E. Euclid, Arlington Heights, chairman of this year's playreading committee, is stage manager. She has handled this position previously and has appeared on stage as well. Her assistants are Dorothy Watkins, 446 S. Banbury, Arlington Heights, and Alice Linde, 3605 Fremont, Rolling Meadows.

Though Village Theatre has already enrolled more than 1,300 season ticket holders for 1964-65, more can still be accommodated. Mary Estrella, CL 3-1819, may be called for further informaton. Tickets for this production only may be obtained by calling the box office, CL 9-3200, mornings from 9 to 12.

Crazy Plot, Technical Woes Hamper Wheeling Production

by JIM PHILLIPS
Paddock Drama Critic

Wheeling Community Treatre opened the portals of the suburb's new high school Friday evening with the second production of its newfound season, "If A Man Answers."

WCT proved two points: all that titters is not sold, and amateurs are as eager and courageous and prone to pitfalls as they can be.

"If A Man Answers," like any playwright's comedy apple, is written to the core. It's not so much that it is totally bad play with totally disorganized plot; it's just that in being totally bad, it provides a hangman's noose for those victims who are attempting to make it better.

"IF A MAN Answers" ties the craziest, mixed up plot knot I've ever seen. In one minute, the heroine, named Chantel Stacey, is a cross pollination of Boston prude and French ohh-love-love—the next minute she's Tuesday Welded herself to the roles of juvenile neurotic. Judy Trunda "Chanteled" the best she could, and that wasn't bad at all.

Her stage parents were played by Jon Donahue and Ruth Wambach. Donahue was stiff, self-conscious and, like nearly all of his major role colleagues, played forget-me-lots with many of the idiotic lines written for him. Miss Wambach was, in contrast, a very poised mother, making good use of a French-doused English.

Lee Shorten was easy to look at as the girl friend turned husband-hunter. She also had good delivery, good presence. Ron Krantz as the hero knew his role, but he insisted upon rushing line delivery every so often, resulting in a loss of expression and characterization—especially in the scenes with Miss Trunda. His photographic models were Connie Becker as Conchita, Jo Ann May as Salome, Mona Olson as Belladonna and Carol Paul as Europa. The girls were cute, but I was surprised that despite the few lines given them, they still went huff-and-puff in the fluff department. Chalk it up to nervousness.

Miss Paul's particular talent, however, should get mention. She's very funny. From Europa's moments to the cocktail party scene in the second act, you couldn't avoid her. She has a fine library of facial expressions and motions which force me to admit I can't remember a word of what was said by the principals in the cocktail party scene—I was too busy watching Miss Paul, who proceeded to drop cigarette ashes into her champagne glass, then play with them. As if that wasn't enough burlesque, she tossed a few more ashes into her—well, that's when she really got laughs! Miss Paul should be considered for a major comedy role in the future.

THE REMAINDER of the cast performed with a self-consciousness attributed to little or no experience on stage. You can expect this with an amateur group, but respect it with a theatre group that makes no pretense at being anything but amateur. WCT's actors and actresses were doing the best they could to entertain. You can't take that away from them.

Director Rick Paul could have saved a number of scenes by paying more attention to generalities instead of specifics. I'm certain he was worried about who was turning which way on exit, who was not emphasizing a certain word and who was walking slow or fast across the stage. He could well have spent more time worrying about how his actors were doing in the departments of line memorization, gesture and pick-up-your-cue.

Paul also committed the cardinal scene-sin of allowing a group of background characters to steal the spotlight right from under the leads, who were intended to have the full focus of audience attention. You can guess which scene this was, cocktails, Carol Paul and all.

Technical aspects of the show brought frustration from all sides. Lights were not on time, curtains were late, then early, then late again. Props were brought on and off the stage in the middle of scenes—from the apron, yet! The format of the play was the bug that brought on most of the productionitis.

WCT'S DO-OR-DIE dramatists can't be blamed for many of Friday evening's troubles, however. They didn't even get on the Wheeling High School stage until two days before the actual show. They were disappointed by carpenters and had to brace flats at the last moment by themselves. They were forced to have rehearsals in living rooms, and even after they acquired the high school auditorium, they faced such obstacles as unfamiliar lighting and sound systems that worked and then didn't work.

All this, plus the fact that few businessmen or organizations in Wheeling or its surrounding community seem to be willing to lend the group a hand when it comes to providing some facility for rehearsals preceding use of the Wheeling High theater. Granted, WCT is largely composed of amateurs, on, off and backstage. But they can produce a play, from hectic beginning to hair-pulling finale.

There's no reason why Wheeling can't get behind these hard-working people—boost them to a point where their productions get better, and box office receipts get larger. They are ceratinly trying to boost Wheeling. (Bill

Art Spoof Program For Countrysiders

The Countryside Art Center will hold its regular membership meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in Pioneer Park Fieldhouse, 500 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights.

Guest speaker for the evening will be internationally known artist-lecturer George Buehr, who will offer an artistic spoof on art and artists in our modern world.

Membership meetings are held on the first Thursday of the month and feature outstanding figures of the art profession. Next month's guest will be Whitney Halsted, instructor in history of art at the Chicago Art Institute.

The Center operates the Gallery at 10 W. Miner St., Arlington Heights, which exhibits its 41 stable artists on a continuing basis, provides art classes and arranges art shows by exhibiting members outside the Gallery.

Information on the operation of the center may be obtained by phoning the Gallery, 255 2718, Tuesday through Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.

FEATURED artists for the month of October have been announced by exhibit chairman Mary McDonald.

The Arlington Theatre will show collages by Ruth Cournoyer; the Cinema Theatre, oils by Marge Brockman; the Country Club Theatre and Wood Dale Medical Center, paintings by Myrna Barnidge.

Oils by Patricia Laslo and Janice Wetzel will be on display at Baird & Warner in Mount Prospect. Pearl M. Kuhn shows watercolors at Borg-Warner Research; Louise Elam, paintings at Northwest Community Hospital; Lorraine Schiebel at the Rolling Medical Center, Hedvig Vlasek at the Maitre D' Restaurant and Norma Simone at the Bank of Arlington Heights. Artist to Lecture, Demonstrate Casein

Russian-born artist Alex F. Yaworski will give a demonstration - lecture in casein for the Mount Prospect Art League at its 8 p.m. meeting Tuesday.

The meeting will be held at the Mount Prospect Country Club, 800 Shabonee Trail.

Yaworski, a graduate of and former instructor at American Academy of Art in Chicago, started out in the commercial art field, his first job being in the art departent of the Chicago Tribune. He specialized in posters and humorous illustration.

MORE RECENTLY he has free lanced, painting picutres for publication, and his framed prints may be purchased in stores throughout the country. He resides and has studios in Chicago.

Yaworski is a member of the American Watercolor Society, a fellow of the International Institute of Arts and Letters and a member of the Society of Painters in Casein. A long-time council member of the Artists Guild of Chicago, he was its president in 1947-48 and again in 1961.

He has exhibited at many shows and won many awards, the most recent the top award in the Chicago Artists Guild's watercolor exhibit, which opened Monday and will continue through October. He also has had many one-man shows of his watercolors and caseins and has done demonstrations for art groups. (Bill

HERB BRADEN, as Elliott Nash, leading man of the Village Theatre production, "The Gazebo," views Tom Plant (the body) in this mystery-spoof by Alec Copell. "The Gazebo" will be presented Oct. 9 and 10, 16, 17 and 18 at Forest View High School. It is the first 1964-65 production for this Arlington Heights theatre group. (Bill

Chicagoan Is Chosen 'Gazebo' Director

Tom Baldacchini of Chicago, has been invited to direct "The Gazebo," the opening production of Village Theatre of Arlington Heights, it was announced by Richard Tyler, resident director.

A copywriter for Sears Roebuck and Co., Baldacchini has been associated with the Old Town Garden Players. He attended Goodman Theatre, Wright Junior College, Northwestern University and William and Mary College.

"The Gazebo" will open Friday, Oct. 9, and be repeated Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 10 and 11, and again Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 16, 17, and 18, with all performances at Forest View High School.

DESIGNING the set for "The Gazebo" is Joyce Zeller, 808 W. Thomas, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Zeller's set for "Ali Baba and the 40 Thieves," last year's children's play, was considered as both imaginative and colorful. She has previously designed scenery for BOB.

Chris Bauske, 102 E. Orchard, Arlington Heights, one of Village Theatre's most experienced backstage workers, is production manager.

Gladys Pownall, 722 E. Euclid, Arlington Heights, chairman of this year's playreading committee, is stage manager. She has handled this position previously and has appeared on stage as well. Her assistants are Dorothy Watkins, 446 S. Banbury, Arlington Heights, and Alice Linde, 3605 Fremont, Rolling Meadows.

Though Village Theatre has already enrolled more than 1,300 season ticket holders for 1964-65, more can still be accommodated. Mary Estrella, CL 3-1819, may be called for further informaton. Tickets for this production only may be obtained by calling the box office, CL 9-3200, mornings from 9 to 12.

Crazy Plot, Technical Woes Hamper Wheeling Production

by JIM PHILLIPS
Paddock Drama Critic

Wheeling Community Treatre opened the portals of the suburb's new high school Friday evening with the second production of its newfound season, "If A Man Answers."

WCT proved two points: all that titters is not sold, and amateurs are as eager and courageous and prone to pitfalls as they can be.

"If A Man Answers," like any playwright's comedy apple, is written to the core. It's not so much that it is totally bad play with totally disorganized plot; it's just that in being totally bad, it provides a hangman's noose for those victims who are attempting to make it better.

"IF A MAN Answers" ties the craziest, mixed up plot knot I've ever seen. In one minute, the heroine, named Chantel Stacey, is a cross pollination of Boston prude and French ohh-love-love—the next minute she's Tuesday Welded herself to the roles of juvenile neurotic. Judy Trunda "Chanteled" the best she could, and that wasn't bad at all.

Her stage parents were played by Jon Donahue and Ruth Wambach. Donahue was stiff, self-conscious and, like nearly all of his major role colleagues, played forget-me-lots with many of the idiotic lines written for him. Miss Wambach was, in contrast, a very poised mother, making good use of a French-doused English.

Lee Shorten was easy to look at as the girl friend turned husband-hunter. She also had good delivery, good presence. Ron Krantz as the hero knew his role, but he insisted upon rushing line delivery every so often, resulting in a loss of expression and characterization—especially in the scenes with Miss Trunda. His photographic models were Connie Becker as Conchita, Jo Ann May as Salome, Mona Olson as Belladonna and Carol Paul as Europa. Juried Show Opens Sunday

New Exhibit at Countryside

A new showing of juried representative art work will open Sunday and continue through Thursday, Oct. 29, at the Countryside Gallery, 10 W. Miner St., Arlington Heights.

The exhibit, featuring the work of four painters and one sculptor, is titled "4 + 1," and the public is cordially invited to view the show and meet the artists at a reception to be held at the Gallery on opening day from 1 to 4 p.m. Watercolors, prints, oil paintings and sculpture wil be shown.

Max Fleisher of Winnetka will be the sculptor represented. His bronzes, metal-on-plaster pieces and collages have been widely shown in the Chicago area, most recently at the Old Orchard Festival of Art sponsored by the North Shore Art League, of which Fleisher is president.

He has also been represented in the Chicago Art Institute Rental and Sales Gallery for the past three years. Born in Austria, the sculptor is also a practicing attorney.

ETCHINGS AND paintings by Helen Goldfus of Lincolnwood will also be exhibited. Active in the Evanston Art Center and the North Shore Art League, Mrs. Goldfus has participated in many group shows and has won two first prizes and a second prize with these groups as well as ribbon awards at the Highland Park Art Fairs.

She is represented in the Art Rental and Sales Gallery at the Art Institute.

Sallie Gracey of Park Ridge, another of the featured artists, will have watercolors on view.

Mrs. Gracey has been a Countryside Gallery artist since the gallery's inception in November, 1962. She has participated in numerous area art shows, and has traveled extensively throughout the United States gathering new impressions for her paintings, working largely on the spot out of doors.

Maribe Hill, a resident of Barrington, will have oil paintings and etchings on disply. A teacher for two years in the Barrington Adult Education Program, Mrs. Hill has also exhibited her work in the Chicago area and in galleries in New York City and Washington, D.C.

SHE WON first prize for graphics at the Virginia State Fair last year and will be represented in 1964-65 in the Art Institute Rental and Sales Gallery.

Oil paintings by Ruth Meyers, Skokie, may also be seen in the new show. Mrs. Meyers has participated in numerous juried group shows and has had one-man shows at the Merchandise Mart, the Palmer House, Old Orchard Bank and the Bismarck Hotel. She has studied at the North Shore Art League and the Art Institute of Chicago.

There are 41 juried artists associated with the Countryside Gallery this year, including the five featured in this month's show. The public is invited to see their work during gallery hours, 1 to 4 p.m. daily, except Monday. Call 255-9718 for further information. (Bill

Orchestra Rebroadcast Scheduled

Chicago-area music lovers will be able to see a performance of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in their own homes on Friday, Oct. 9, at 10 p.m.

In the fourth of 13 concerts to be presented in the National Educational Television Network's "Festival of the Arts," WTTW/Channel 11 will rebroadcast last season's closing subscription program which was taped that night at Orchestra Hall.

The hour-long concert under the direction of Jean Martinon will include Blacher's Variations for Orchestra on a Theme of Paganini and Brahms' Symphony No. 2, D major.

Another concert by the Chicago Symphony will be rebroadcast later in the season. (Bill

Plan Reception for Art Patrons Aboard Train

A reception and art show for patrons of Countryside Art Gallery, 10 W. Miner St., Arlington Heights, will be held Sunday, Oct. 25, aboard a special North Western Railway car being sent to Arlington Heights for the event.

Mrs. Francis McDonald, patron chairman, who announced the reception, said patrons will have opportunity on that date to meet the Gallery artists.

New patrons are being sought to give a financial boost to the gallery, now in its third year of operation. Operated by the nonprofit Countryside Art Center, Inc., the gallery exhibits, sells and rents works of art by artists whose works have passed a jury of prominent professional artists.

At the present time 41 artists are represented in the gallery, including painters, printmakers, sculptors, and craftsmen. Included are many award-winning artists from the Chicagoland area as well as new names with promising talent. Each month new shows are presented at the gallery, featuring small groups of the juried artists as well as occasional well-known guest artists.

Patrons who give their support to the Countryside Gallery, represent men and women from many walks of life, Mrs. McDonald explained. One thing they have in common, however, is their desire to promote fine art within their suburban communities.

"I believe art is important in our culture and that it should have a place in our homes and lives," Mrs. McDonald quoted one patron as saying. To me, the gallery is an exciting center of fine art, and I'm grateful to have it within easy accessibility."

Individuals, couples, business and civic organizations who wish to help the gallery by becoming patrons are asked to visit the gallery, open from 1 to 4 p.m. daily except Monday, or call the patron chairman, Mrs. McDonald, at CL 3-5300.

TO THE SKIRL OF bagpipes, Chicago's first Grouse Festival was ushered in at Maxim's de Paris in Astor Tower Hotel when guests dined on birds flown from Scotland. Richard Eaton of Mount Prospect pipes for stage and screen star Phyllis Kirk, who will open in "Bell, Book and Candle" at Pheasant Run Playhouse Tuesday. (Bill

Juried Show Opens Sunday

New Exhibit at Countryside

A new showing of juried representative art work will open Sunday and continue through Thursday, Oct. 29, at the Countryside Gallery, 10 W. Miner St., Arlington Heights.

The exhibit, featuring the work of four painters and one sculptor, is titled "4 + 1," and the public is cordially invited to view the show and meet the artists at a reception to be held at the Gallery on opening day from 1 to 4 p.m. Watercolors, prints, oil paintings and sculpture wil be shown.

Max Fleisher of Winnetka will be the sculptor represented. His bronzes, metal-on-plaster pieces and collages have been widely shown in the Chicago area, most recently at the Old Orchard Festival of Art sponsored by the North Shore Art League, of which Fleisher is president.

He has also been represented in the Chicago Art Institute Rental and Sales Gallery for the past three years. Born in Austria, the sculptor is also a practicing attorney.

ETCHINGS AND paintings by Helen Goldfus of Lincolnwood will also be exhibited. Active in the Evanston Art Center and the North Shore Art League, Mrs. Goldfus has participated in many group shows and has won two first prizes and a second prize with these groups as well as ribbon awards at the Highland Park Art Fairs.

She is represented in the Art Rental and Sales Gallery at the Art Institute.

Sallie Gracey of Park Ridge, another of the featured artists, will have watercolors on view.

Mrs. Gracey has been a Countryside Gallery artist since the gallery's inception in November, 1962. She has participated in numerous area art shows, and has traveled extensively throughout the United States gathering new impressions for her paintings, working largely on the spot out of doors.

Maribe Hill, a resident of Barrington, will have oil paintings and etchings on disply. A teacher for two years in the Barrington Adult Education Program, Mrs. Hill has also exhibited her work in the Chicago area and in galleries in New York City and Washington, D.C.

SHE WON first prize for graphics at the Virginia State Fair last year and will be represented in 1964-65 in the Art Institute Rental and Sales Gallery.

Oil paintings by Ruth Meyers, Skokie, may also be seen in the new show. Mrs. Meyers has participated in numerous juried group shows and has had one-man shows at the Merchandise Mart, the Palmer House, Old Orchard Bank and the Bismarck Hotel. She has studied at the North Shore Art League and the Art Institute of Chicago.

There are 41 juried artists associated with the Countryside Gallery this year, including the five featured in this month's show. The public is invited to see their work during gallery hours, 1 to 4 p.m. daily, except Monday. Call 255-9718 for further information. (Bill

Chicago-area music lovers will be able to see a performance of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in their own homes on Friday, Oct. 9, at 10 p.m.

In the fourth of 13 concerts to be presented in the National Educational Television Network's "Festival of the Arts," WTTW/Channel 11 will rebroadcast last season's closing subscription program which was taped that night at Orchestra Hall.

The hour-long concert under the direction of Jean Martinon will include Blacher's Variations for Orchestra on a Theme of Paganini and Brahms' Symphony No. 2, D major.

Another concert by the Chicago Symphony will be rebroadcast later in the season. (Bill

Plan Reception for Art Patrons Aboard Train

A reception and art show for patrons of Countryside Art Gallery, 10 W. Miner St., Arlington Heights, will be held Sunday, Oct. 25, aboard a special North Western Railway car being sent to Arlington Heights for the event.

Mrs. Francis McDonald, patron chairman, who announced the reception, said patrons will have opportunity on that date to meet the Gallery artists.

New patrons are being sought to give a financial boost to the gallery, now in its third year of operation. Operated by the non-profit Countryside Art Center, Inc., the gallery exhibits, sells and rents works of art by artists whose works have passed a jury of prominent professional artists.

At the present time 41 artists are represented in the gallery, including painters, printmakers, sculptors, and craftsmen. Included are many award-winning artists from the Chicagoland area as well as new names with promising talent. Each month new shows are presented at the gallery, featuring small groups of the juried artists as well as occasional well-known guest artists.

Patrons who give their support to the Countryside Gallery, represent men and women from many walks of life, Mrs. McDonald explained. One thing they have in common, however, is their desire to promote fine art within their suburban communities.

"I believe art is important in our culture and that it should have a place in our homes and lives," Mrs. McDonald quoted one patron as saying. To me, the gallery is an exciting center of fine art, and I'm grateful to have it within easy accessibility."

Individuals, couples, business and civic organizations who wish to help the gallery by becoming patrons are asked to visit the gallery, open from 1 to 4 p.m. daily except Monday, or call the patron chairman, Mrs. McDonald, at CL 3-5300.

TO THE SKIRL OF bagpipes, Chicago's first Grouse Festival was ushered in at Maxim's de Paris in Astor Tower Hotel when guests dined on birds flown from Scotland. Richard Eaton of Mount Prospect pipes for stage and screen star Phyllis Kirk, who will open in "Bell, Book and Candle" at Pheasant Run Playhouse Tuesday. (Bill

Present 'Gigi'

Lombard Park Players will present "Gigi" as its first production of the season. The two-act comedy will be given Nov. 6 and 7 at the Little Theater at Glenbard East High School in Lombard. Anyone interested in tickets may contact Mrs. Seton Handville, MA 7-5683. (Bill

'Pajama Game' Performers Long on Height, Experience

DIRECTOR RICHARD TYLER, center, offers advice to "Pajama Game" stars George Palmer and Rita Reinert on one of the musical numbers in the Best-Off-Broadway production. (Bill

Tall in talent might describe the two stars of "Pajama Game," the fall opener for the Best-off-Broadway Players. George Palmer of 44 E. Wilson, Palatine, stands a towering 6 feet 7 over leading lady Rita Reinert of River Grove who herself measures 5 feet 10.

Both performers are also deep in theatrical experience. Mrs. Reinert appeared in "Guys and Dolls" and "Wonderful Town" for the Elmhurst Theatre Company, played Rosemary in "Picnic" for the Ridgwood Players, appeared in "Carnival" and sang and acted the demanding role of Hugette in "The Vagabond King" for St. Cyprian's Church in River Grove.

This mother of four children has directed talent shows for St. Cyprian's and the Hines Hospital and staged "Mother Was A Freshman" with a teenaged group from the United Church of Christ.

Palmer, a founder of the B.O.B. Players and its first president, has sung leads in the northwest suburban area for the past seven years. His major roles have included Curly in "Oklahoma," Frank Butler in "Annie Get Your Gun," Emile de Becque in "South Pacific," Sandor in "The Fortune Teller" and the burgermeister in "The Red Mill."

He currently holds the office of treasurer-business manager with the B.O.B. Players.

"Pajama Game" will be staged at the new Wheeling High School Thursday through Sunday, Oct. 22 to 25, and Friday and Saturday, Oct. 31 and Nov. 1. Ticket information is available at 392-3190 or CL 9-3189.

Couple Opens New Restaurant

The Inn Between, new restaurant at 3 E. McDonald Road, Prospect Heights, will have its formal opening today (Thursday), tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday.

The establishment is owned by Bud and Jean Dietz, operators of Dietz Village Bakery and the So Rare Studio, and gets its name from its location between the two businesses.

Decor of the new restaurant is rustic with rough, knotty paneling, "newspapering" on the walls, coach lamps and red and white checked tablecloths. The menu features steaks, sea food, chicken, sandwiches, salads and soda fountain specialties. (Bill

Directs Players' Opener

Directing the Guild Players in their season opener, "The Third Best Sport," is Cliff Mensing, a member of the Crystal Lake Theater Group for many years.

This is Mensing's second directorial assignment with the Guild Players, whose opening night is Friday, Oct. 16, at Parkside School.

An actor himself, Mensing has starred in productions of "The Bat," "Caught in the Spider's Web" and "Command Decision" with the Twilight Ridge summer stock theatre. For two years he had a commentary show on hadio station WRMN.

PATRON TICKETS for this season are available for a short time only due to the large advance sale and limited seating space, a Guild Players spokesman said.

The theatre group welcomes new members. Its meetings are held in the Pure Oil building, Golf and Meachem Roads, the second Tuesday of each month. Ticket and other information may be obtained by calling the box office number, TW 4-6710.

The first of its four productions of the 1964-65 season is a comedy about the general manager of a machine tool firm who takes his bride to a convention for their honeymoon. The nonconformist bride nearly bugaboos the dog sale. Lorraine Howe and Dick Linnell play the leads. (Bill

Sculptor Wins at Two Fairs

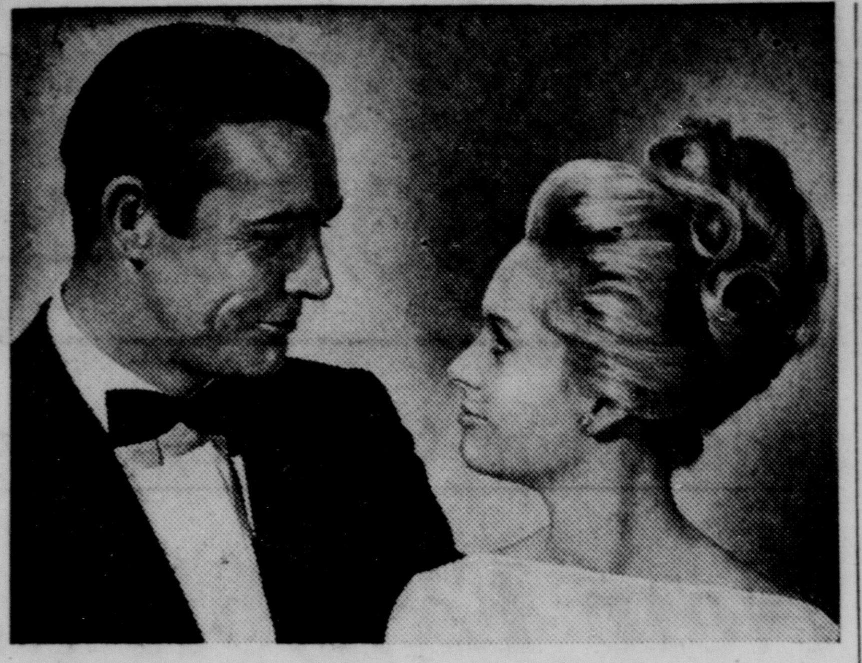
Sculptor Orville Bolte, 1314 W. Euclid, Arlington Heights, was the recipient of two purchase awards at separate art fairs over the last two weekends.

A bronze abstract entitled "Conversation," won the purchase award at the Village Art Fair held at Oak Park Sept. 13 and will become part of the permanent art collection of the Oak Park and River Forest Communities.

ON SEPT. 20 at the Park Forest Art Fair Bolte's "Pony Tail in Profile," a study in bronze, received the purchase award from jurors Cosmo Compoli, Chicago sculptor and instructor at Illinois Institute of Technology; Herbert Panier, painter, writer, instructor and master of fine arts at the Art Institute and Ross Edman, director of the Richard Feigen Gallery and holder of a B.A. and M.A. from Oberlin.

Bolte, an industrial designer by profession, is on the product staff of Montgomery Ward Association. He received his B.A. at the University of Illinois and had the honor while still a student, of having a wooden sculpture selected for a national tour along with works of 50 contemporary sculptors.

Winner of numerous awards, Bolte prefers to cast his work in bronze and aluminum and uses a non-representational art form. He is founding director of Countryside Art Center and Gallery, and his pieces were represented in the Gallery show in August. (Bill



SEAN CONNERY AND "Tippi" Hedren do the finest work of their careers in the Alfred Hitchcock suspenseful sex-mystery, "Marnie," which revolves around Miss Hedren's strange psychological compulsion to steal. In Technicolor, the Universal release starts tomorrow (Friday) at the Oasis Drive-In Theatre. (Bill

At Golf Mill

The film version of Tennessee Williams' play, "The Night of the Iguana," will be shown at the Golf Mill Theatre as an exclusive northwest suburban attraction, starting tomorrow (Friday).

Williams' drama, dealing with a defrocked minister and three women who play a vital part in his life, won the New York Drama Critics' Award.

THE CAST OF the John Huston production is headed by Richard Burton, Ava Gardner, Deborah Kerr and Sue Lyon in her first role since her debut in "Lolita."

The children's matinee on Saturday will feature an hour of cartoons plus the film, "Wackiest Ship in the Army," starring Ricky Nelson.

In the theatre's modern art gallery during October will be a collection of paintings by Carol Rubin of Chicago, holder of the "Miss Chicago" title in the 1960 Miss America pageant. A bachelor of arts graduate of Boston University, she is currently in a master's program at the University of Chicago. (Bill

Palatine Soprano to Sing in 'La Boheme'

Mrs. Winifred Nelson, 306 Firth Road, Inverness, will be singing the leading role of Mimi when the Northwest Countryside Chapter of the Lyric Opera Guild presents "La Boheme" today (Thursday).

The Puccini opera will be given in the barn on the Charles H. Shaner country estate on Kelsey Road north of Barrington at 1:15 p.m.

A lyric soprano, Mrs. Nelson is a graduate of Knox College in Galesburg, Ill., and studied with Harriet Case, Richard DeYoung and Hermanus Baer. She has appeared in opera productions at Elmhurst College and Northwestern University Opera Workshop. She has also sung in concerts and oratorios in the Chicago area.

PREVIOUSLY Mrs. Nelson has sung roles in Lyric Guild presentations of "Othello" and "Carmen."

MRS. NELSON

Today's opera also will feature Mrs. Lois Palermo of Barrington as Musetta and Dolph Zielinski and Earl Marks of the Lyric Opera Company of Chicago in the male roles. The chorus is made up of area residents.

Any persons interested in becoming members of the Lyric Opera may attend today's performance shich will be staged in a Bohemian setting with guests seated at small tables. The opera will be sung in English with the performers in costume.

Truck Gardeners

Local 7 of the Cook County Truck Gardeners and Farmers Association will hold its annual fall dance Saturday at the Firemen's Hall in Bensenville. Hardt's Melodiers will furnish the music for dancing to start at 9 p.m. Leonard Holmberg, dance chairman, invited everyone to attend. (Bill

Couple Opens New Restaurant

The Inn Between, new restaurant at 3 E. McDonald Road, Prospect Heights, will have its formal opening today (Thursday), tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday.

The establishment is owned by Bud and Jean Dietz, operators of Dietz Village Bakery and the So Rare Studio, and gets its name from its location between the two businesses.

Decor of the new restaurant is rustic with rough, knotty paneling, "newspapering" on the walls, coach lamps and red and white checked tablecloths. The menu features steaks, sea food, chicken, sandwiches, salads and soda fountain specialties. (Bill

Directs Players' Opener

Directing the Guild Players in their season opener, "The Third Best Sport," is Cliff Mensing, a member of the Crystal Lake Theater Group for many years.

This is Mensing's second directorial assignment with the Guild Players, whose opening night is Friday, Oct. 16, at Parkside School.

An actor himself, Mensing has starred in productions of "The Bat," "Caught in the Spider's Web" and "Command Decision" with the Twilight Ridge summer stock theatre. For two years he had a commentary show on hadio station WRMN.

PATRON TICKETS for this season are available for a short time only due to the large advance sale and limited seating space, a Guild Players spokesman said.

The theatre group welcomes new members. Its meetings are held in the Pure Oil building, Golf and Meachem Roads, the second Tuesday of each month. Ticket and other information may be obtained by calling the box office number, TW 4-6710.

The first of its four productions of the 1964-65 season is a comedy about the general manager of a machine tool firm who takes his bride to a convention for their honeymoon. The nonconformist bride nearly bugaboos the dog sale. Lorraine Howe and Dick Linnell play the leads. (Bill

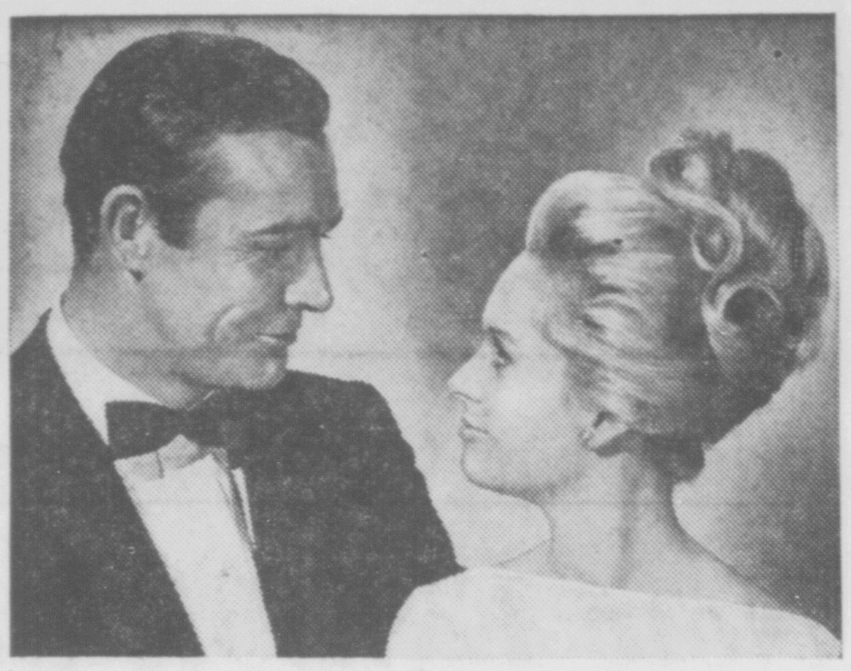
Sculptor Orville Bolte, 1314 W. Euclid, Arlington Heights, was the recipient of two purchase awards at separate art fairs over the last two weekends.

A bronze abstract entitled "Conversation," won the purchase award at the Village Art Fair held at Oak Park Sept. 13 and will become part of the permanent art collection of the Oak Park and River Forest Communities.

ON SEPT. 20 at the Park Forest Art Fair Bolte's "Pony Tail in Profile," a study in bronze, received the purchase award from jurors Cosmo Compoli, Chicago sculptor and instructor at Illinois Institute of Technology; Herbert Panier, painter, writer, instructor and master of fine arts at the Art Institute and Ross Edman, director of the Richard Feigen Gallery and holder of a B.A. and M.A. from Oberlin.

Bolte, an industrial designer by profession, is on the product staff of Montgomery Ward Association. He received his B.A. at the University of Illinois and had the honor while still a student, of having a wooden sculpture selected for a national tour along with works of 50 contemporary sculptors.

Winner of numerous awards, Bolte prefers to cast his work in bronze and aluminum and uses a non-representational art form. He is founding director of Countryside Art Center and Gallery, and his pieces were represented in the Gallery show in August. (Bill



SEAN CONNERY AND "Tippi" Hedren do the finest work of their careers in the Alfred Hitchcock suspenseful sex-mystery, "Marnie," which revolves around Miss Hedren's strange psychological compulsion to steal. In Technicolor, the Universal release starts tomorrow (Friday) at the Oasis Drive-In Theatre. (Bill

At Golf Mill

The film version of Tennessee Williams' play, "The Night of the Iguana," will be shown at the Golf Mill Theatre as an exclusive northwest suburban attraction, starting tomorrow (Friday).

Williams' drama, dealing with a defrocked minister and three women who play a vital part in his life, won the New York Drama Critics' Award.

THE CAST OF the John Huston production is headed by Richard Burton, Ava Gardner, Deborah Kerr and Sue Lyon in her first role since her debut in "Lolita."

The children's matinee on Saturday will feature an hour of cartoons plus the film, "Wackiest Ship in the Army," starring Ricky Nelson.

In the theatre's modern art gallery during October will be a collection of paintings by Carol Rubin of Chicago, holder of the "Miss Chicago" title in the 1960 Miss America pageant. A bachelor of arts graduate of Boston University, she is currently in a master's program at the University of Chicago. (Bill

Palatine Soprano to Sing in 'La Boheme'

MRS. NELSON

Mrs. Winifred Nelson, 306 Firth Road, Inverness, will be singing the leading role of Mimi when the Northwest Countryside Chapter of the Lyric Opera Guild presents "La Boheme" today (Thursday).

The Puccini opera will be given in the barn on the Charles H. Shaner country estate on Kelsey Road north of Barrington at 1:15 p.m.

A lyric soprano, Mrs. Nelson is a graduate of Knox College in Galesburg, Ill., and studied with Harriet Case, Richard DeYoung and Hermanus Baer. She has appeared in opera productions at Elmhurst College and Northwestern University Opera Workshop. She has also sung in concerts and oratorios in the Chicago area.

PREVIOUSLY Mrs. Nelson has sung roles in Lyric Guild presentations of "Othello" and "Carmen."

Today's opera also will feature Mrs. Lois Palermo of Barrington as Musetta and Dolph Zielinski and Earl Marks of the Lyric Opera Company of Chicago in the male roles. The chorus is made up of area residents.

Any persons interested in becoming members of the Lyric Opera may attend today's performance shich will be staged in a Bohemian setting with guests seated at small tables. The opera will be sung in English with the performers in costume.

Truck Gardeners

Local 7 of the Cook County Truck Gardeners and Farmers Association will hold its annual fall dance Saturday at the Firemen's Hall in Bensenville. Hardt's Melodiers will furnish the music for dancing to start at 9 p.m. Leonard Holmberg, dance chairman, invited everyone to attend. (Bill

KNITTERS
We looked at the calendar today and find there are 85 knitting days until Christmas. So, if you're thinking of making this a "knitted" Christmas, it's time to begin.
Why not stop in and start a luxurious furry angora earwarmer or one of those frothy mohair "Whimsies." They're fun to make. They'll be treasured for years to come.
See you soon.

KNITTERS

We looked at the calendar today and find there are 85 knitting days until Christmas. So, if you're thinking of making this a "knitted" Christmas, it's time to begin.
Why not stop in and start a luxurious furry angora earwarmer or one of those frothy mohair "Whimsies." They're fun to make. They'll be treasured for years to come.
See you soon.

HELLO DOLLY!

I'd like to add your name to my little black book. My name is Jellybean and I'm a lovable, proven, white toy poodle stud. Champ-sired, handsome, conceited, spirited and 8 inches tall. For last minute or future dates call FL 9-1311 evenings and ask for JB's secretary. P.S. I have a small miniature friend for bigger "girls."

SCHOOL BOARD DUCKS PARLEY

Prepare Data On Bond Issue

Thirteen residents attended last Thursday's organizational meeting of the Citizens' Advisory Council—the group responsible for turning out information on the Oct. 24 elementary school district referendum.

Residents of the school district will be asked to vote Oct. 24 on a $700,000 bond referendum for building and an increase of 21 cents — the legal maximum — in the educational fund tax rate.

Members of the school board, according to information given out in advance of the meeting, were to be present. However, no members of the board appeared even though the meeting was delayed an additional half hour.

SUPERINTENDENT Lester Przewlocki stated he felt other meeting conflicts and personal affairs apparently kept members from attending. Przewlocki, on direct question, stated that the board had not boycotted the meeting.

Council Chairman Stanley Lehnert explained that the door-to-door committee was the most important established by the council in getting information and facts to the public on the referendum.

Lehnert told the assembled group that it was important to get the vote out on Oct. 24—and either pass the referendum by a large majority or have it fail, if that should be the feeling of the voters, by a large majority and not by one or two votes.

He explained that facts sheets were being prepared which would hit three main points; the need, the solution and the cost.

THE COUNCIL chairman said he had hoped for a better turnout at the organizational meeting so people would understand the issues involved and would then donate two hours of their time to help inform others.

It was explained that Addison teenagers had offered their time free as babysitters on the day of the referendum to allow mothers to get out of the house and to the polls.

A working list of voters' names and telephone numbers will be compiled by the door-to-door workers. These names will be turned over to another crew for typing and then distribution to still another committee of the council which will call on Oct. 24 to make sure the people remember to vote.

BUT IT doesn't end there. Poll watchers will record the names of those persons voting. These names will be taken by runners to the central command post and the names removed from a master list.

Those persons not crossed off the list will be relayed back to the telephone committee and calls will again be placed.

"All activity will stop at 5 p.m.," said Lehnert as he delivered the battle orders for Oct. 24.

A KICK-OFF meeting, at which time the schedule of activities for Oct. 24 will be finalized, is slated for Oct. 15 in the junior high.

What has been billed as an organizational finalization meeting has been set for 7:30 p.m. in Fullerton School.

5 Trustees At Municipal Conference

Five of the six Addison trustees attended sessions of the Illinois Municipal League conference in Chicago this first part of the week, it was reported.

Also attending the sessions were Village Administrator Richard Jenisch—every day—and Village Engineer Willis E. Collins—several sessions.

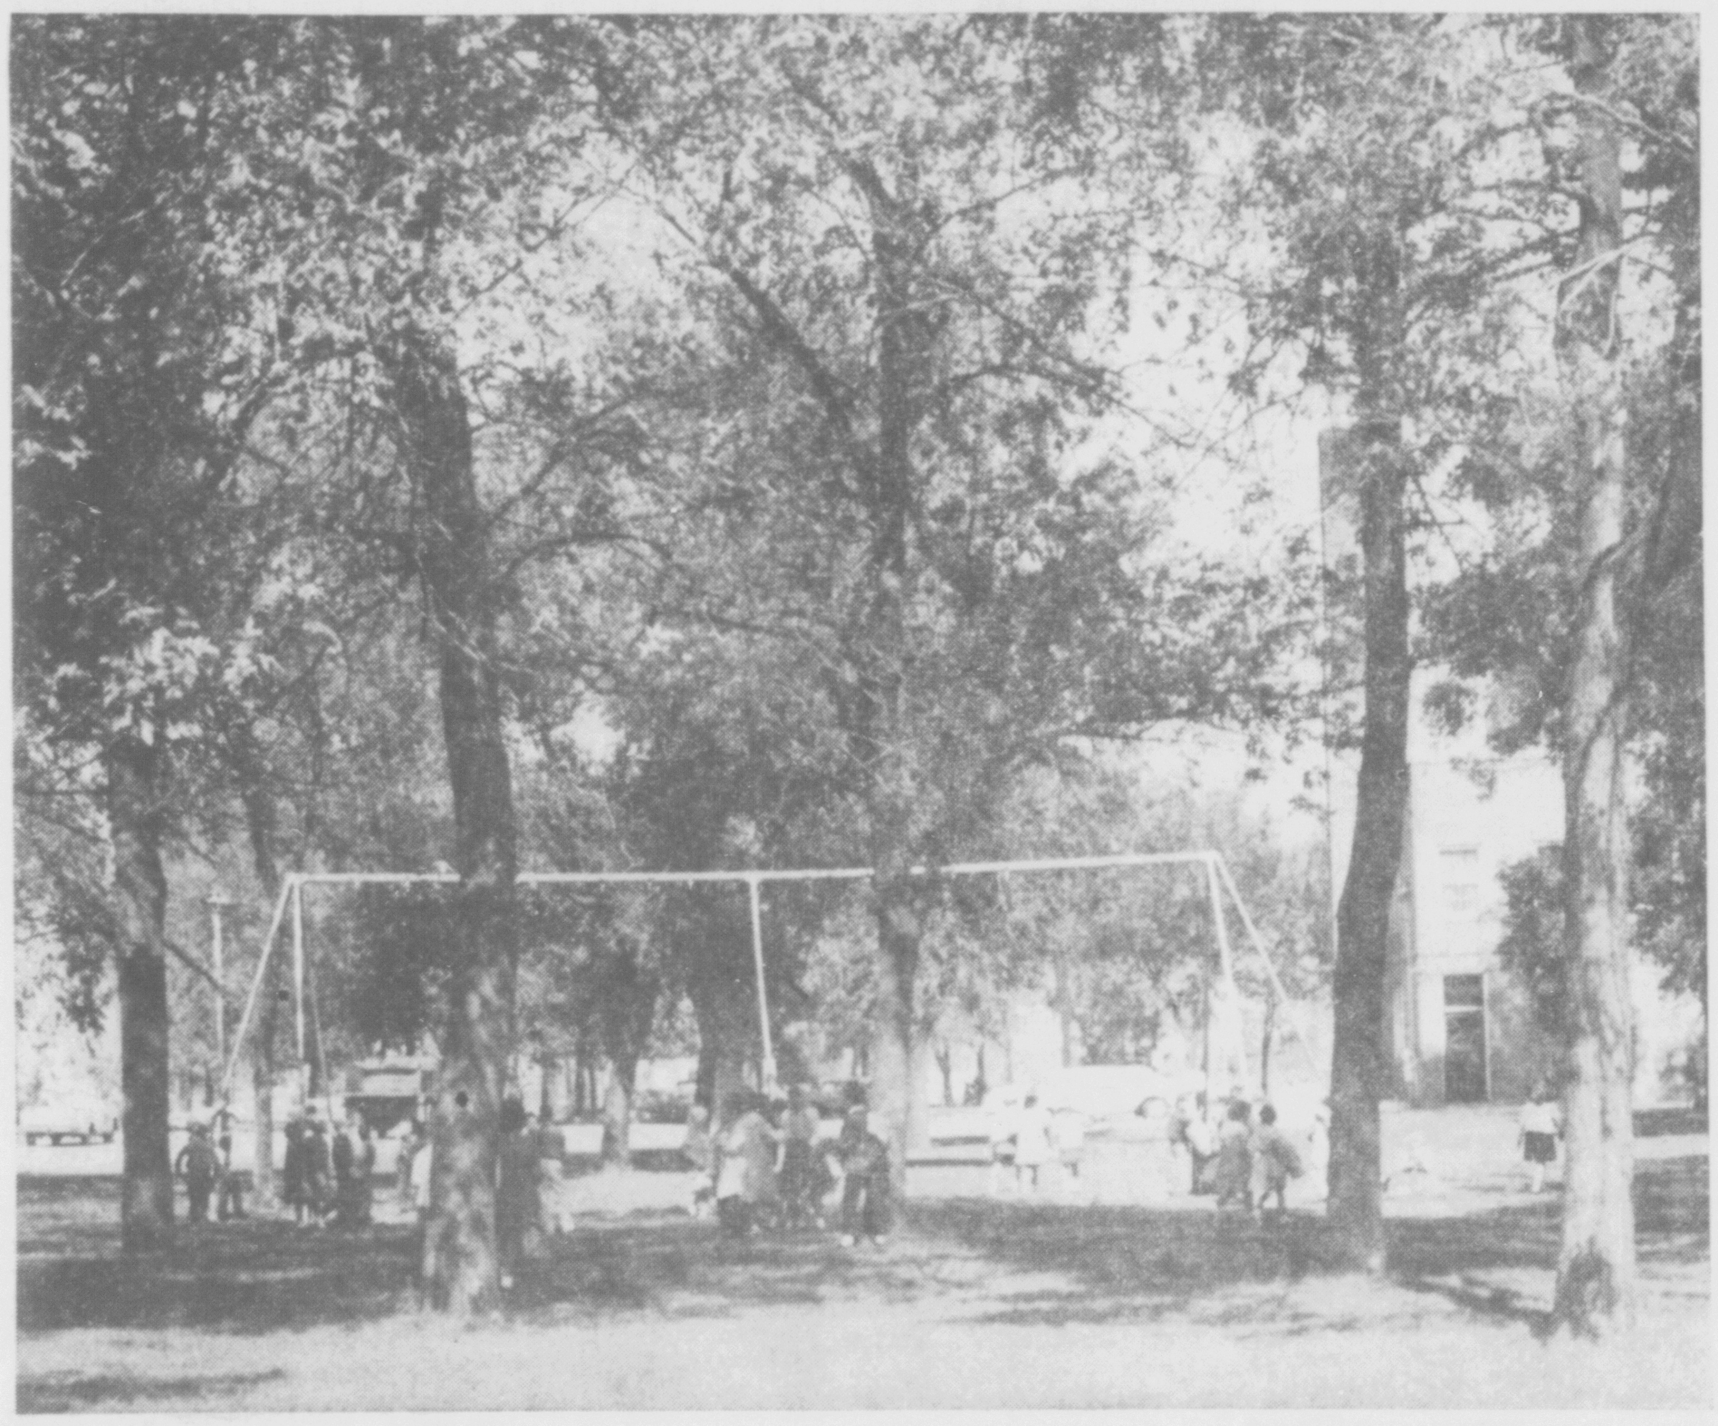
Take Advantage of the Money-Saving Combination with the Sunday Suburbanite



CHILDREN PLAYING on the village hall lawn is a common sight in Addison — the elementary school district rents space from the village for four classes. This fact was pointed out in part of the material released by the Citizens' Advisory Council to show the need for the $700,000 bond issue and the 21 cent increase in the education tax rate proposed in the Oct. 24 referendum. Additions to two existing schools has been proposed, plus the construction of a 14-room school in the Westwood area. (Staff photo)

Addison's School Needs Described

(Editor's note: This is the first of several articles between now and the Oct. 24 referendum designed to supply the voting public with as much information as possible about the needs and costs and how both were determined.)

A tri-colored fact sheet of information on the Oct. 24 referendum to increase the education tax rate by the legal maximum and build a new school and several additions to existing Addison elementary schools spells out the need, proposed solution and the cost for voters.

In hard simple terms, divorced from the multi-colored papers with easy-to-read black headings, the Citizens' Advisory Council felt the $700,000 building program and a 21 cent increase in the education tax rate were necessary for continuing education of children presently, and those soon to come to the district's now crowded classrooms.

The increase in the education tax rate will amount to 21 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, reports the council, and an additional five cents per $100 during the life of the $700,000 bond issue. This would be a $21 per $10,000 assessed valuation increase.

STANLEY LEHNERT, chairman of the council, said the bond issue would be spread over 15 years.

While the board of education supported in general the complete recommendations of the council some changes were made and the following four-point proposal is being placed before the voters of the district:

1) A school site in the Westwood area be purchased and a 14-room school constructed,

2) Eight rooms be added to Army Trail School,

3) Eight rooms be added to Ardmore School, and

4) The education tax rate be increased $21 per $10,000 assessed valuation.

Superintendent of Schools Lester Przewlocki said the bonding power of the district—five per cent of the assessed valuation minus the outstanding bonds — is, in round figures, $305,000 now.

With the retirement of current bonds, debts and an increase in the assessed valuation of the district, the bonding power will be more than $700,000 by March 1, or April 1, 1965.

VOTERS WILL be asked to approve the proposed $700,000 bond issue Oct. 24, then — as is the practice with many districts faced with a growth problem — blocks of bonds will be sold.

Przewlocki said an audit report of the 1963-64 school year has been completed and the report would be released shortly.

An estimated $57,000 was taken from tax money destined for the 1964-65 operating budget to end the 1963-64 school year.

Przewlocki said he thinks the actual amount would be below this figure.

ACCORDING to figures released by the council's financial committee— many of which were supplied by the superintendent's office — an estimated deficit of $63,220 would result if the education tax rate is not increased.

The education tax rate has remained at its present $1.25 per $100 of assessed valuation since 1952, reports the advisory council. The legal maximum is $1.60, but the legal increase at any one time is 21 cents.

Rezone Land For Business

The Addison Plan Commission, by a split vote, last Friday recommended a zoning change from multiple family (R-3) to B-3 business on land west of Green Meadows Shopping Center.

B-3 is a service business district and is owned by Anthony Lullo, who has not said exactly what he plans to place on the 18.6 acres.

Nelson Robert, commission chairman, feels the village was fortunate to have the land taken from R-3 zoning and placed in B-3 because of the increase in sales tax revenue it could mean for the village.

Bernard Liss cast the only "no" vote on the zoning—but indicated he was not opposed to the change in zoning.

Nelson said the recommendation would be presented to the village board Monday, Oct. 5.

3 Boards to Meet On 400-Acre Tract

Tonight, Thursday, has been set as the joint meeting of the plan commission, the zoning board of appeals and the Addison Village Board concerning the nearly 400 acre development of Anthony Lullo presented to the village board Sept. 14.

Village President Robert McHugh instructed Village Administrator Richard Jensich on Sept. 14, to call a meeting of the three bodies to go over in detail the proposal west of Route 53 and running south from just below Lake Street to Mitchell Field and embracing R-2, R-3, B-3, and M-2.

LULLO, WHO is seeking annexation to the village, said the project—termed a unique land development package by Jensich when it was presented—was two years in the assembling.

The developer said the development consisted of 230 acres of residential (R-2), 19.9 acres for multiple family (R-3), 53.8 acres for business (R-3) and 85 acres of manufacturing (M-2).

The meeting, to be held in the council meeting room of the village hall, is slated for 8 p.m.

Addison Plans New Area for Developer

Addison, which scored a first last week with a record number of traffic cases, scored another first last Friday.

The plan commission planned a section of the village—home arrangement, lot sizes, street layout, etc.—on a 10 acre tract of land along Villa Avenue near Armitage, and the developer accepted the plat.

Plan Commission Chairman Robert Nelson explained this was the first time—at least recorded time—that such a thing has happened in Addison.

Nelson said the pre-planning, which took place one to two years ago, allowed the village to retain complete control over the streets, preventing dead-ends and making the streets in this new area conform to the surrounding area's streets.

An estimated 23 houses can be erected on the land, it was explained.

Saturday Deadline For Voter Signup

Addison Village Administrator Richard A. Jenisch issued a reminder to residents to register for the November election.

Jenisch said the village office would be taking registrations until Saturday, Oct. 3, the last day voters can make themselves eligible for the "most important right they possess."

THE ADDISON village office, located at 130 W. Army Trail Road, is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and from 8:30 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

For those persons who cannot come in during those times, Jenisch has compiled a list of deputy registrars who will be available to register persons until the deadline.

"REMEMBER," said Jenisch, "it is everyone's right to vote. But you must be registered to be eligible."

Residence requirements for registration are 90 days in the county and one year in the state.

Civil Defense Men On Active Schedule

The Addison Civil Defense police and fire-rescue units were busy during the annual Community Day parade recently.

Both units assisted the Addison Police Department in controlling traffic in and around around Addison. Many of the CD men were new volunteers recruited within the last three months, and according to Addison CD Director Stanley Rauch, they did very well. They also received a note of thanks from Nels Andersen, Addison Chief of Police.

THE CD POLICE unit will again assist the police department during the Addison Fire Department's fire-fighting demonstration Sunday at 1 p.m. The fire-rescue unit will participate with the fire department in the fire-fighting demonstration.

Director Rauch has said that even more volunteers are needed in order to have a well-trained CD organization for the Village of Addison.

Volunteers may contact Rauch at BR 9-6369 or send their name, address, and phone number to Addison Civil Defense, 130 W. Army Trail Road, Addison, Ill., 60101.

High School District 88

Appoint Cahoon to Fill Board Vacancy

Lyle R. Cahoon, 48, of 20W461 Diversey, Addison, was appointed Monday night by the District 88 Board of Education as a new member replacing Paul W. Stiegler, who resigned in August.

Stiegler and his family moved Sept. 1 to Fort Smith, Arkansas, where his industrial firm has established new headquarters.

Cahoon, married and the father of five children ranging in age from six to 15 years, was administered the oath of office by Louis L. Ackerman, president of the board. The Cahoons' oldest son, Reynolds, is a sophomore at Willowbrook, and the other children are all enrolled in Addison schools.

A GRADUATE OF the University of Denver School of Commerce and Industry, Cahoon has been associated with Sears Roebuck & Co. for 25 years. He is controller of the Savings and Profit-Sharing Fund for Sears employes and a resident of the unincorporated area west of Addison.

In providing a replacement for Stiegler it was necessary for the board to follow the directive of the School Code of Illinois which states that "the successor shall have the same type of residential qualifications as his predecessor." Stiegler was from the unincorporated area south of Villa Park.

Cahoon's appointment will be effective only until the next school board elections in April, when the vacancy must be filled for the remaining one year of the original three-year term by election.

IT WAS NOTED by school officials, however, that recent analysis of assessed valuation of the district by the Office of the County Clerk revealed that the assessed valuation from the unincorporated areas of District 88 is now less than 15 per cent of the total.

Therefore, it will no longer be mandatory for the District 88 Board to have a representative from the unincorporated area. Milton Darr Jr., is a resident of the Timber Trails area, which is also unincorporated.

Dance Plans

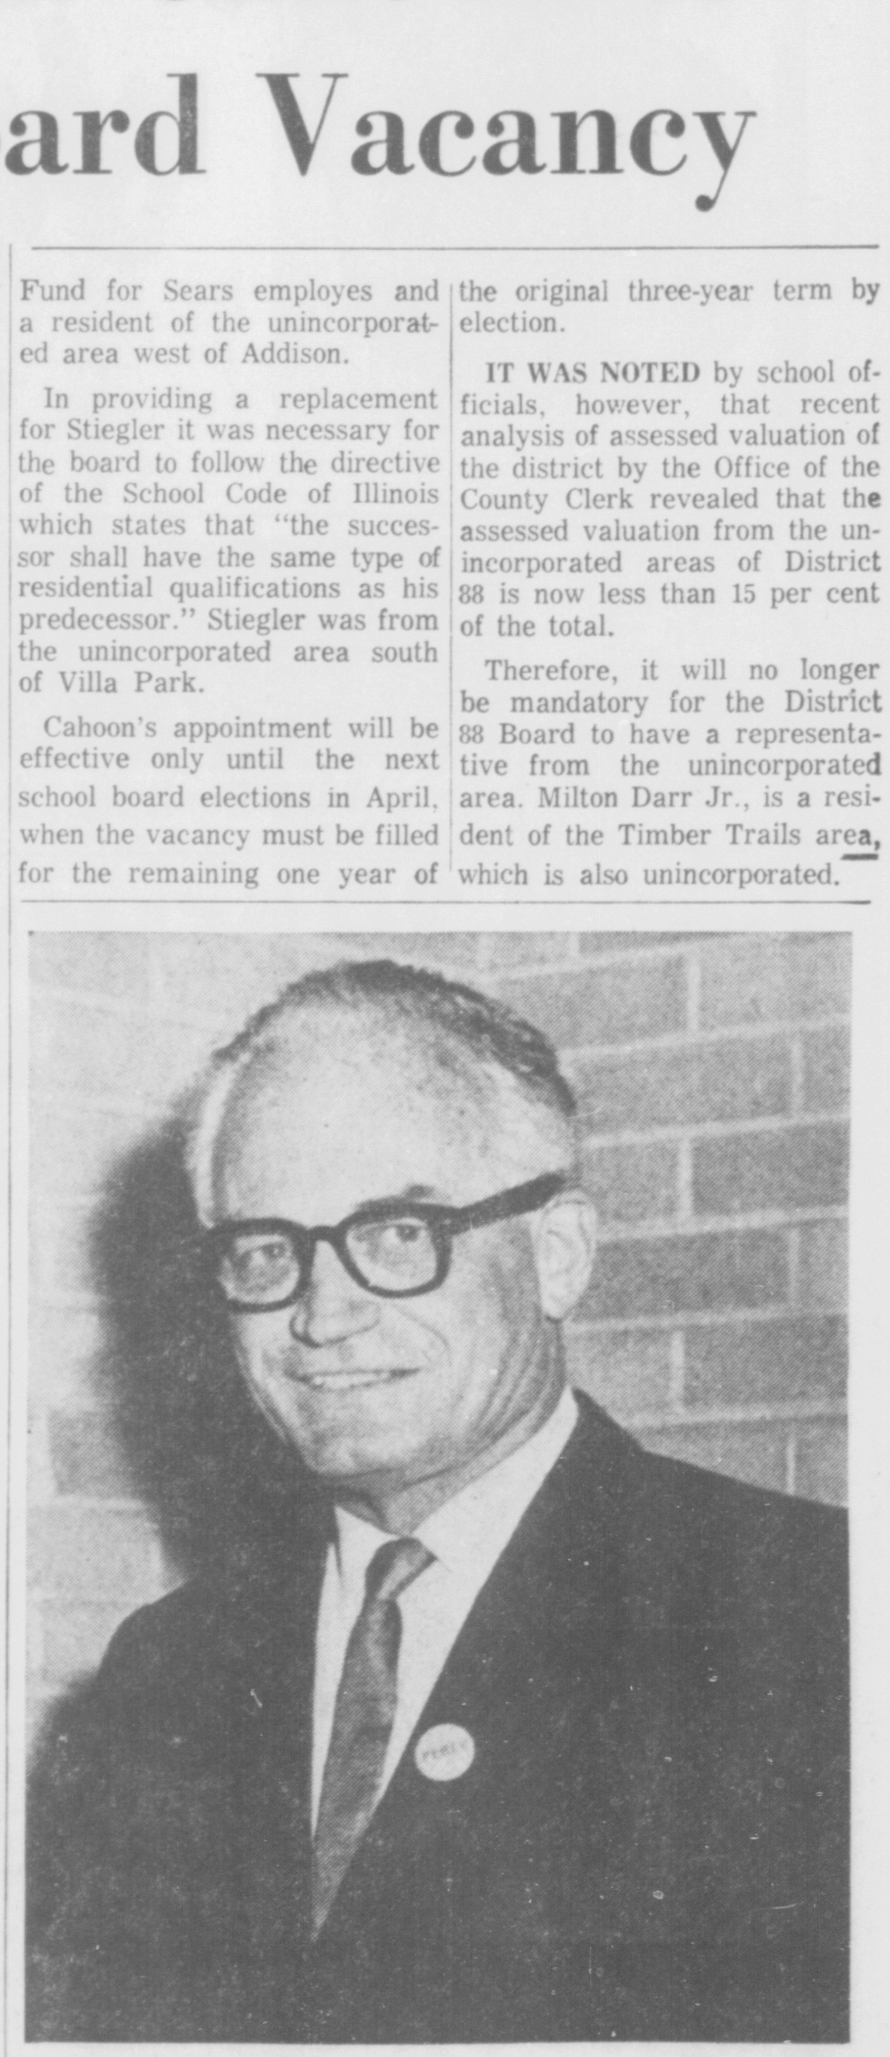
Final arrangements have been completed for the 13th annual dance of the Wood Dale Police Benevolent Association to be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Salt Creek Country Club on Saturday, Oct. 3, it was announced this week.

Seek Removal Of Cow Catcher

The village of Roselle wants to know just when the Milwaukee Road intends to remove a cow catcher from the northeast corner of the Park Avenue - Main Street intersection.

The catcher was cut from the front of a train after being damaged in a train-auto collision on July 25. It hasn't been moved.

Trustee Harvey B. Karpie suggested the village write the railroad to find out when it will be hauled away.



REPUBLICAN PRESIDENTIAL nominee Sen. Barry Goldwater will be in DuPage County to attend a rally at the Wheaton College football field at 5 p.m. For details, see story inside.

Board Fails To Publicly Back Issue

(With Library)-2c

The Bensenville Village Board ignored a request by Trustee Mildred Richter last Friday to go on record supporting a referendum for a new library.

"I think we definitely need a new library," Mrs. Richter said, "and I think we should go on record supporting it."

No other member of the board responded to Mrs. Richter's request. She said after the board meeting that she presumed the subject had been dropped.

"No one said anything about it," she said. "I don't know why. That's all I have to say on the subject."

New Schedule For Trustees Begins Tonight

The Bensenville village board will hold its first regular meeting under a new weekly schedule today (Thursday.)

The board recently voted to meet every Thursday in order to better handle the increased volume of business facing the village.

The board members will continue to be paid $10 for each regular meeting under the terms of the new ordinance.

Putting Champ To Be Chosen

Bensenville

The putting champion of the Bensenville junction miniature golf course will be named during the Gold Rush celebration by the Lions club this Saturday.

Putting champions from 20 weeks throughout the summer will pair off in match play at noon to determine the over-all champion players, according to Ned Lowenbach, assistant manager.

For Mohawk PTA

Expert to Analyze Russian Education

DR. URBAN FLEEGE

The inside story of Russian education will be given to Bensenville residents who attend the Mohawk PTA meeting Oct. 7.

Dr. Urban Fleege, associate vice president of DePaul University, who has analyzed the educational systems of more than a dozen countries, will give his view of how the Russian system operates at the 8 p.m. meeting of the PTA group.

Fleege evaluated the Russian system under the auspices of the U.S. state department and the U.S. office of education.

He toured Russian schools at all levels and he and the group he was with even managed to go into the schools on their own without Russian guides.

FLEEGE SAID HE will tell the Mohawk PTA members how the Russian schools impressed him, of the interest of Russian parents in education, and compare the curriculums of the U.S. and Russian schools at various levels.

The quality of the teaching and the facilities for teaching will also be discussed by Fleege. Fleege also promised to tell the PTA of the results of interviews with various young men and women, who had graduated from the Russian school system.

As a final aspect of his talk, Fleege said he would give his interpretation of the future of Russian education in view of what is happening to the value systems of Russian youth.

THE MEETING will be held in the Multi-purpose room of the Mohawk School at Hillside and Franzen in Bensenville.

Fleege has written several books on American youth and is the author of more than 100 articles in scholarly journals.

He has served on educational advisory teams to three foreign governments and observed educational systems in 20 countries. He has lived and taught in Asia and Europe.

He has traveled twice around the world and has been noted in "Who's Who in American Education" and "Who's Who in the Midwest."

Bensenville VFW Lists Fall Events

Bensenville

Tioga post Veterans of Foreign Wars in Bensenville donated 36 pints of blood last Wednesday, according to club officials.

Another appearance of the Red Cross Blood Mobile has been scheduled for Dec. 16, according to community affairs chairman of the VFW, Dick Daehn.

More than 100 members of the club participated in a recent golf tourney at Mohawk country club, Daehn said.

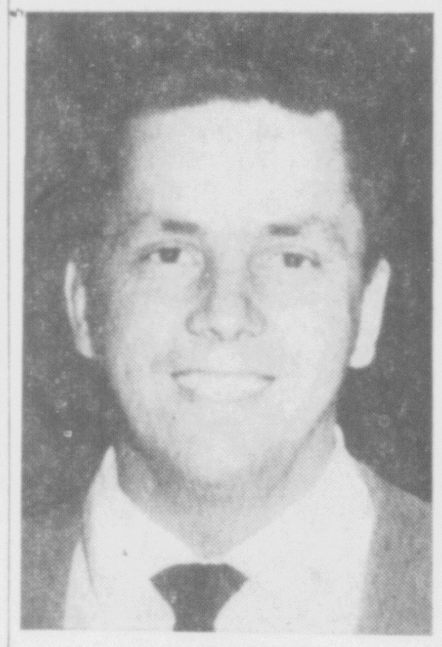
Upcoming activities of the VFW include the post picnic at Churchill Grove on Oct. 4 from 11 a.m. until dusk and a teenage donce at the Tioga home on Oct. 23.

Six new members were added to the rolls of the post and two transfer members joined the group.

New men are Joseph Foltman, James Gracey, John Lang, Marvin Mech, Clyde B. Stradley and Lawrence F. Tonnemann.

The transfer members are George W. Kracke and William Rudolph.

Picnic Ends Year For Boys Baseball



JACK SCHRIMPL

About 500 persons took part in an old-style family picnic which capped the 1964 Bensenville Boys Athletic Association baseball program recently.

Trophies were presented to winning teams in each league made by BBAA president Milford Bonner, baseball president Emil Kupisch and auxiliary president Mrs. Lyle Whiting.

Newly elected association officers were introduced. These include Bonner, for the second year, Donald Schwanz, vice president; Rick Guzman, secretary and Warren Johnson, treasurer.

The 1965 baseball program officers are Jack Schrimple, president; Ronald Stasch, secretary-treasurer and commissioners E. Kellett, Minor League; Don Bauer, intermediate, Don Cooney, majors; and Stan Yrycak, Babe Ruth league.

Student Geologists Bound for Galena

Student geologists from Fenton High School will be visiting areas of geologic interest in northwestern Illinois this weekend.

According to Clarence VanDusen, who is conducting the earth science field trip, the principal area to be studied is the Galena vicinity.

Students will visit Apple River Canyon to study erosion, view the outcroppings on the Mississippi River in Palisades State Park, see Charles Mound, the highest point in Illinois, and tour lead mines searching for mineral specimens.

"Although the trip is primarily a geological field study, the historical significance of Galena will not be overlooked," Van Dusen said. Galena was the home of Grant and seven other Civil War generals, Fenton officials said.

THE AREA to be visited is, according to Van Dusen, the only one in Illinois, outside of the extreme southern part, that was never covered by ice during the great glaciers.

The group will stop in the Oregon area to see the sandstone formations near Chimney Rock. Between Sycamore and Oregon, the Bloomington Morraine, a glacial deposit, will also be pointed out.

Students will stay overnight at the Chestnut Mount Lodge, overlooking the Mississippi. The trip is sponsored by the science department.

Easement Given For Utilities

Bensenville

A plan for a 12-foot easement on five lots at the corner of Church and Grove streets was accepted last Friday by the Bensenville Village Board.

The easement was granted by Boco Builders for sewer and water lines to run across the lots on the northeast corner of the intersection.

Dance to Assist Scholarship Fund

Bensenville

Bensenville's Green Street PTA is sponsoring a harvest festival dance Oct. 17 to raise funds for scholarships.

The 8 p.m. dance will feature round and square dancing with music provided by Stan Mikottis.

Beginners will be aided by free instruction, PTA officials said.

THE PROCEEDS for $1 admission donations will go to the Illinois Congress of Parent and Teachers scholarship fund.

Mrs. Charles Swan is head of the dance committee and may be called for further information at 766-8824.

67 Persons Register on Special Day

Bensenville

A day of special registration in Precinct 7 in the east end of Bensenville recently signed up 67 persons, enabling them to cast a ballot in the November election, according to DuPage County registrar Madeline Donahue.

The registration was designed to encourage new villagers and older home owners who couldn't get to the village hall, to register, Mrs. Donahue said.

Both Republican and Democratic workers in Precinct 7 aided in getting persons to register during the special day.

Vandalism Reported To Sheriff

Bensenville

Vandalism at the home of Mrs. Lena Lambert, 4N784 Rte. 83, Bensenville, was reported to the DuPage County Sheriff's office last weekend.

Mrs. Lambert told Deputy Harold Engstrom that sometime between 11 p.m. and 1 a.m. the night of Sept. 26, someone cut down two of her evergreens, 15 chrysanthemums and 11 roses, cut up a water hose, broke the antenna off her car and punctured two tires on her car.

The car was in the garage and Mrs. Lambert was in her

THE LOVELY BRIDE is Mrs. Clara Pfeil, 77 years young, while the proud groom is John Stopp, 79. The two residents of the Bensenville Home will take part in the annual Lions Gold Rush Day parade this Saturday, dressed in the wedding garb of yester year. (Staff photo)

Plans Drawn To Blacktop Roosevelt Ave.

Bensenville

The Bensenville Village Board accepted plans from Elk Grove Engineering Co. last Friday for the blacktopping of Roosevelt Avenue next year.

The plans are 90 per cent completed and were submitted for study by the board. The road will be blacktopped and gutters installed, according to village officials.

Roundup Dance

Bensenville

The fall roundup dance of the Bensenville American legion post will be held Friday evening, officials said.

Features include short beers, western garb and dancing music, officals said.

New Children's Books Cover Many Subjects

Bensenville

In today's world hardly a subject exists that has not been covered in books. This is demonstrated in a sampling of books recently added to the collection of the children's room of the Bensenville Community Public Library.

Mrs. Dorothea Holland, children's librarian, suggests that Boy Scouts and their leaders will be interested in 21 new Merit Badge books added to the collection of more than 60 titles in this series.

New subjects covered range from basketry and bee-keeping to hiking, motor-boating and geology to rabbit raising and woodcarving.

OLDER BOYS will find pleasure in these: "U.S. Frogmen of World War II," Blassingame; "Exploring for Fun," Burns; "The Coriander," Dillon; "Continent in The Sky," Berna; "Automobiles of Yesteryear," Bergere; "Pushups and Pinups," Bendick; "Quick and Easy Math," Asimov; "A Boy at The Leaf's Camp," Young; "Big League Busher," Archibald; "Ghost of Dagger Bay," Buchanan, and "Sam Gompers-Labor's Pioneer," Selvin.

Teenage girls will revel in these stories of contemporary life: "New York for Nicola," Allen; "Beanie and The Beckening Road," Weber; "Almost Like Sisters," Cavanna; "You Have to Draw the Line Somewhere," Harris, and "Nurse Around the World," Fitzgerald.

These stories of other days will also appeal to this group: "Goodness and Mercy Jenkins," Bradbury; "A Book of Famous Queens," Farmer; "Petticoats West," Burt, and "Betsy and Joe," Lovelace.

FOR THE fun loving group, grades 4 to 6, a new title by Caroline Hayward, "Eddie's Green Thumb" is a must. Others too good to miss include: "Ribsy," Cleary; "Candle Tales," Cunningham; "Beast With the Magical Horn," Cameron; "Clambake Mutiny," Beatty; "Elves and Ellefolk," Belting; "Party ABC's," Bryant; "Indians at Home," Hofsinde and "So You're Going to Get A Puppy," Meek.

Beginning readers and the read-to-me wee ones will find these enjoyable: "The Five Pennies," Brenner; "Listen Rabbit," Fisher; "Take A Nap, Harry," Chalmers; "A Baby Sister for Frances," Hoban; "May I Bring A Friend?," De Regniers; "The Mice That Ate Iron," Evans; "Peter Pumpkin," Ott; "Jim Can Swim," Olds, and "John Henry and His Hammer," Felton.

Thirty-two boys and girls finished the summer reading game which required the reading of 29 books to receive a reading certificate. The summer program ended with the end of August. Children who registered for the game but did not finish may pick up their picture libraries in the Children's Room.

The library hours of opening remain the same: Monday through Thursday, 1 to 9 p.m.; Friday, 1 to 5 p.m., and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Public Hearing Monday on Pre-Annexation Agreement

Elk Grove Village trustees will hold a public hearing Monday on a pre-annexation agreement for 110 to 112 acres at Route 83 and Devon Road in DuPage County.

The pre-annexation agreement stipulates that if annexed, the property will be zoned M-2 heavy industrial.

It would be developed in two or more units, the first known as Devon-O'Hare Industrial Park Subdivision Unit 1.

This property was sought for annexation to Bensenville, but the developer preferred Elk Grove annexation.

William McLennan Co., the developer, would agree to install public improvements including streets, water and sewer mains as well as a sewage treatment plant.

The sewage treatment plant would have to be built in accordance with engineering plans prepared by the Elk Grove Engineering Co. The Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District indicated it did not want to service this property though a 90-acre Centex tract in DuPage County probably will be serviced by this district.

The sewage treatment plant would be built 180 days from the date of the hearing.

ELK GROVE Village under the contract would lease, maintain and operate the sewage treatment plant. Any user of the facility would have to pay a $100 tap-on fee and $30 monthly charge.

The village would collect all money for the water and sewer which would be paid as rental to the developer beginning Sept. 1, 1965. The village would deduct from this rental the costs of operation and maintenance of the plant.

The village would operate the sewage treatment plant until June 1, 1969, or until it has collected $50,000. At that time it would have the right to purchase the sewage treatment plant for $1.

Should the Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District extend its facilities to serve the property, the village could void the sewage treatment operation contract with McLennan. This would be contingent on the village being free of any costs or the users served agreeing to pay all charges resulting from the connection.

McLENNAN COULD disannex the property only if the pre-annexation agreement were violated.

The company that plans to build a small industrial park must comply with certain restrictions:

—No building can be built within 25 feet of any street right-of-way or within 10 feet of side and rear boundary lines.

—No loading dock can be built on the front of the property facing the street unless it is set at least 60 feet from the street property line.

—Off-street parking facilities for cars must be provided. A minimum of 300 square feet spaces for each three employes employed on the premises must be provided.

—ALL BUILDINGS must be masonry construction or its equivalent or better. Front walls facing the streets must be finished with face brick, stone, modern metal paneling, glass or their equivalent. Other walls must be faced with common brick or like material.

—The areas between the building lines and the street property lines must be used for open landscaped and green areas or for service access to the building or to a parking lot. The landscaped areas would have to have lawns, trees or shrubs and these would have to be maintained "in a sightly and well kept condition."

—Items such as water towers, penthouses, ventilating fans, radio or TV towers, or roof signs may exceed a height of 50 feet only with the permission of the developer.

—Storage yards for equipment, raw materials, semi-finished or finished products must be shielded by a fence, shrubs, hedges, or other foliage to screen it from the street. The property cannot be used for dumping. Incinerators must be kept in clean and sanitary condition.

The conditions and the covenant will terminate after 25 years from Oct. 1, 1957.

New Season Begins For Skating Club

Bensenville

The advent of frosty nights and chilly mornings means the start of activity for the new season by the skating club of Bensenville's VFW Tioga Post 2149.

Club heads have scheduled a pre-season exercise and conditioning program, accordingly, to get members in shape for the winter activity.

The pre-season meetings will start Oct. 7 at 6 p.m. at the warming house near the Bensenville simming pool on Church Road, club officials said.

The club is considering a plan this year whereby all classes, except intermediate and senior, will follow into two categories—class A and novice.

A NOVICE skater is one who has not scored a point within the past two seasons, according to Dick Westlake, a club official.

Additionally a bantam class has been added for skaters seven years and under, Westlake said.

Westlake said it is his hope the new category will encourage more youngsters to participate in the sports activity.

The novice level will allow the youngsters to compete on a more equal level than was previously possible, Westlake said.

Those desiring additional information on the club may contact Luetta Spencer PO 6-2764, Duane Kuffel, PO 6-1047 or Westlake at 773-0489.

New Zone Code Adopted, Will Modernize Law

Bensenville

The village board completed action in a specially called meeting Tuesday evening on drafting a new zoning ordinance for Bensenville.

The comprehensive amendment to the zoning ordinance and subdivision regulations was the result of long work by the village plan commission, headed by Edward Hynes, and the village board.

"This represents an updating and modernizations of our zoning codes," village president Richard Thomas said, after the fial form was passed by the final form was passed by the board.

WOOD DALE FLASHES

Hans Ramisch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Josef Ramisch, is in Elmhurst Memorial Hospital after sustaining injuries in a recent automobile accident. He would appreciate cards and letters.

Mrs. William Borjes of Itasca Street, a recent patient at Memorial, is now at home recuperating, and would like to hear from area friends.

MRS. ANTHONY Annarella, a fervent gardener, recently entered her prize tomato in a neighborhood gardening contest, and won "hands down" with her 2½ pound heavy-weight. Last year she had a 6½ pound squash, and this past summer the neighbors enjoyed her huge dahlias, as well as oversized samples from her vegetable garden. The Annarella home is located on 226 Hillcrest Road.

Get well wishes are being extended to Miss Clora Ann Phillips, who is down with a case of flu.

Sharon Phillips has been busy after school working on the floats for homecoming day at Lake Park High School. The homecoming dance will be held this Saturday at the school.

DuPage Man Presides At Planning Workshop

Howard Charles (Chuck) Johnson, superintendent of the DuPage County Forest Preserves, presided Monday over a local planning workshop during an all-day session conducted at the Pick-Congress Hotel, Chicago, by the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission.

"Water to Live By" was his topic and Johnson opened by saying, "Life begins with water." He pointed out that watersheds have social and political significance and urged that this "precious commodity" be conserved.

TO THIS END, he reported, DuPage county and NIPC "have joined hands" in making an inventory of land in DuPage county and what it has to offer. The planning commission is currently engaged in the survey and a report on its findings and recommendations is expected next January. Johnson explained it as a "study based on natural resources, objectives, potentials of use, flood control, wild life protection and augmentation of ground water supplies."

William Bauer, engineer engaged by the DuPage County Forest Preserve commissioners to assist them in development of a vast recreational area at Butterfield and Winfield roads in the western part of the county, reported on the plans for creating a 75-acre lake there by pumping water from the West Branch of the DuPage river.

Itasca Village Trustee Jack Crabtree asked about a local matter involving development of a lake in the recently formed Itasca park district. He wanted to know whether the park district, or the village, could handle the matter better.

Jack Sheaffer, Wheaton resident and member of the NIPC staff, replied that the park district probably has "more flexibility" for the job than the village, and Johnson advised that someone expert on the subject be employed to assist the project.

REPLYING TO the question of another Itascan, Robert Jordan, Johnson said that he would offer what advice he could and the NIPC and other agencies may be consulted.

Questions about flood areas, and why developers are allowed to build in them, evoked an answer from Sheaffer: "Adopt proper ordinances." He said that the problem stems almost inevitably from inadequate ordinances to prevent this use of lowlands.

Instead, use of these lands for water retention and recreation was stressed. All agreed that more studies need to be made on this vital matter and that geological and engineering specialists must be consulted.

No Indictment for Oak Brook Sergeant

DuPage State's Atty. William J. Bauer reported Monday that a grand jury, sitting in Wheaton, had returned a "no" bill on Oak Brook Police Sgt. Harold Walthers.

Walthers was never formally charged with complicity in the Aug. 21 armed robbery of the Jewel Tea Store in Oak Brook Center, but he was accused of having been "in on the plan" from the start by the men who were arrested for the crime shortly after it was committed.

The trio, Ronald P. Maggiore, 31, of Melrose Park; Edward T. Jones, 27, of Chicago, and Louis French, 31, of Villa Park, were all indicted for armed robbery.

BAUER HAD asked all four to submit to lie tests, which they did, and reported afterward that Walthers had passed his, but there was sufficient conflict in the statements made by the accused robbers to warrant a grand jury investigation.

Oak Brook Police Chief Richard Siudzinski has defended Walther's statement that he had gained his confidence and learned much from the ex-convict to benefit his own police department. Walthers also has stated that the FBI was aware of what he was doing and that he had been working with them.

Coordinator Appointed for Kerner Talks

Esther L. Clute of 244 Elm St. in Elmhurst has been named co-ordinator for DuPage County of the Citizens for Kerner Speakers Bureau.

She will arrange speakers on any subject regarding the Kerner administration, according to committee officials. She may be contacted at BR 9-8099 or WO 9-7775.

Meeting Set with Lorenz On Irving Park Congestion

Bensenville Chamber of Commerce officials will take the problem of Irving Park Road traffic congestion to the top next Wednesday.

After meeting during the past week with Cook County road officials to determine what that governmental unit plans to do about the portion of Irving Park it serves, the Bensenville officials have set up a meeting with Francis Lorenz, director of the State Department of public works.

"One purpose of this meeting is to determine if the state will give priority to the expansion of Irving Park to four lanes to the western limits of the village of Bensenville," Bill O'May of the chamber said.

THE IMPROVEMENT has been submitted to the state for attention next year by district officials in Elgin, Bensenville officials said.

Latest plans for sharing the cost of the improvement within the village limits are now under state consideration for approval in Springfield.

As soon as state approval is rceived the plans will be forwarded for consideration by the Bensenville village board.

The last state request would have had Bensenville pay about $130,000 of the cost of the improvement. This would have represented about 46.6 per cent of the total cost. It was turned down.

Missing Keys Are Returned

The manager of several Bensenville apartment buildings breathed a sigh of relief Monday when she learned that the master keys to nine houses and 40 apartments had been recovered.

Skokie police obtained the keys from George A. Machett of Chicago. They are holding Machett on charges of auto theft.

Mrs. Ramona Gasper of Riley Management reported the keys missing on July 15.

Rally Day Sunday at Bible Church

Fall and winter activity schedules for the Bensenville Bible Church will start this Sunday with a Rally Day, officials said.

The Rev. Calvis Becker of Moody Bible Institute, will speak during the day's activities. Other features will be a special musical presentation by a trumpet trio from Wheaton and a puppet presentation for children.

About 40 members of the church visited the town house section of Bensenville off Irving Park Road to distribute invitations to join in the Sunday activities, church officials said.

Five Girls Picked for Soph Cheers

Fenton sophomores Mari Kero, Maryann DiOrio, Joyce Hish, Barb Mazur, and Sue Perry were selected as the new frosh - soph cheerleaders on Sept. 22 in the main gym.

Candidates were required to compete in preliminary tryouts, pass a written exam on football, basketball, and cheering rules. Seventeen girls made the finals.

They were judged on such things as clearness of voice, precision of movements, enthusiasm, eye contact, jump and splits, Fenton officials said.(B

KINDERGARTEN at Bensenville schools affects all children differently as they get their first taste of the educational experience. This little fellow at Green Street School may turn out to have an aggressive approach to education after the newness wears off as he already seems to have a certain amount of misgiving. However, since it is only the second week it is too soon to tell what his future ambition will bring, be it doctor, lawyer or Indian chief.

Race-Religion Meet Saturday

About 400 religious and lay leaders are expected to attend a DuPage County religion and race day this Saturday at Elmhurst College.

The theme of the conference — "Morality and Race Relations" — will be highlighted by addresses by a clergyman and a layman.

The Rev. William White, pastor of Elmhurst Methodist Church will give the theological viewpoint, while the suburban citizen's responsibility will be pointed up by Albert Belanger, chairman of the Oak Park - River Forest Citizens for Human Rights.

Two seminar discussions will give all participants in the conference an opportunity to give their comments, program chairman John Keleher of Elmhurst said.

THE SEMINARS will cover housing and the role of religious congregations in race relations.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m., with a public session at 10 a.m. The day will close at 4 p.m. with a short Biblical service on the equality of all men as treated by the Bible.

Representatives of the conference are now canvassing the county for public support.

GOP Campaigns for Voter Registration

DuPage County Republicans' voter registration drive enters its final phase this week. The registration deadline for the Nov. 3 general election is Oct. 6.

Republican precinct committeemen, aided by volunteer workers, conducted a door-to-door voter registration drive during September.

"We are looking for a record registration this year and a record vote for Republican candidates," comments County Chairman Elmer J. Hoffman.

HE SAID DuPage County Republicans are looking to equal the 4-to-1 plurality given former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1956 and to better the 45,000 vote plurality Richard M. Nixon received four years ago.

Chairman Hoffman predicts a 70,000 plurality for the "top of the ticket" in Republican DuPage. Fifteen community Republican campaign headquarters are now open and operating throughout the County.

Correction

The Register regrets an error made in last week's paper regarding distribution of checks to DuPage County taxing bodies. The amount was reported as $90,800,000. It should have been $14,800,000. This sum represents 90 per cent of the $59 million extended. (Z

Barry to Talk at Wheaton Stadium Saturday

Hope for Crowd Topping Nixon's

U.S. Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, Republican nominee for president, will visit DuPage County Saturday for an address at the Wheaton College football field at 5 p.m.

The field is at Chase and Seminary Avenues. In case of rain, the GOP standard-bearer will speak at the Wheaton College Centennial Gym, on Adams Street in Wheaton.

The college football field gates will be open to the public at 4 p.m.

Admission to the Goldwater rally isfree, and grandstand seats will go on a first-come-first-served basis. There will be no reserved seats.

The Arizona Senator will visit DuPage County as the final speaking engagement of a two-day whistle-stop tour of Illinois. He will speak in Joliet before coming to Wheaton.

His topic has not been announced. He is scheduled to speak a half hour.

SHARING speaking honors with the Republican presidential nominee will be State Rep. John N. Erlenborn, Elmhurst, GOP candidate for U. S. representative in the 14th Congressional District.

Erlenborn's address is expected to include both an indictment of the Democratic Administration and a tribute to Senator Goldwater.

Incumbent Rep. Elmer J. Hoffman, who is also the Republican nominee for secretary of state, will act as master of ceremonies. The other four candidates for state office—Charles Percy, governor; John Henry Altorfer, Lt. Governor; Elroy Sandquist Jr., attorney general and John Kirby, state auditor—will attend the rally.

All Republican candidates for DuPage County and District offices, plus nominees for state representative will be introduced.

Senator Goldwater will be accompanied by his wife, Illinois Republican congressmen and members of the GOP State Central Committee.

FOUR YEARS ago more than 20,000 persons gathered at the same spot in Wheaton to hear former Vice President Nixon. Cong. Hoffman said he expects the crowd at the early eevning Goldwater rally to top the record Nixon crowd of 1960.

DuPage arrangements are under the direction of Hoffman as chairman of the DuPage Republican Central Committee. Working with him are co-chairmen James F. Whitfield, Wheaton, and Lucinda Wanner, Glen Ellyn.

Whitfield is chairman of the DuPage Citizens for Goldwater and is GOP Milton Township chairman. Mrs. Wanner is DuPage County chairwoman and State Central committeewoman of the 14th Congressional District. More than 200 of the county's Republican precinct committeemen will serve as an honor guard for Senator Goldwater.

NORTH DuPAGE residents involved in planning the rally are:

Honor guard, Robert Ettlebrick and pat Savaiano, both of Bloomingdale, and Robert Mittel, Addison.

Policing, Elmer Rosin, Carol Stream.

Parking facilities at the rally are available east and west of the football field and at the DuPage courthouse lots four blocks to the southwest. (Z

Here's Goldwater Route from Joliet

Senator and Mrs. Barry Goldwater will ride in a closed car, flanked by police motorcycles, on their route from the Joliet Courthouse to the DuPage rally at Wheaton Saturday.

Here is the route the caravan will follow:

The motorcade will leave Joliet on Alternate Highway 66 to Highway 53, where it will turn north. At the DuPage County line, a DuPage sheriff's patrol will replace Will County authorities in escorting the motorcade.

THE MOTORCADE will pass through Lisle and continue on Highway 53 to Park Boulevard. It will proceed north on Park to Roosevelt Road (Alternate 30) in Glen Ellyn, where it will turn west to Wheaton.

Wheaton city police will join the escort at the city line. In the city, the motorcade will move west to Chase Avenue to the Wheaton College football field.

Goldwater will enter the field on the west side, near the speaker's platform, accompanied by Republican state and congressional candidates and Illinois party leaders.

Officials indicated speed limits "will be maintained" en route to Wheaton to prevent delays in the start of the rally.

Independent Vote Can Tip Scales Either Way Nov. 3

by FINLEY McGREW

The last day to register will be next Tuesday, Oct. 6. Until then, it will be possible to register and to vote in the November election. After then — no sale!

You may register if, on election day, you will be a 21-year-old American citizen who has lived a year in Illinois, 90 days in DuPage County and 30 days in your precinct. You may register at the court house in Wheaton or at any city or village hall in the county. You may register to vote for president and vice president if you do not meet all the residence requirements for regular registration.

Ray MacDonald, the county clerk, has charge of these registration and election matters, and he may have as many as 194,000 names on his rolls at the close of business Tuesday.

This is about 25,000 more than were registered before the primary last April, which means that people get more excited about general elections than about primaries. If the number falls far short of 194,000, it may signal trouble for the Republican ticket. (What is meant by "far" short? Say, 170,000 or 175,000.) There were 169,000 registered last April. In recent presidential years, the increase has been about 14 per cent from April to November.

REPORTS I have received from around the state are fragmentary and not to be taken as gospel. Political seers have given such varied opinions as these:

That Barry Goldwater will lead the Republican ticket and that the whole slate will carry; and —That only a landslide for Charles Percy can swing the Illinois electoral vote to Goldwater. The figure that was mentioned here was a 700,000-vote majority.

If you accept this latter forecast — that Percy must defeat Kerner by 700,000 votes if Goldwater is to stand a chance — then it must be granted that Goldwater's hopes are slim indeed. Only one Republican has ever carried Illinois by more than that. He was Dwight Eisenhower, running for re-election in 1956. His majority was 857,000, a record.

(The late Charles F. Carpentier won by 600,000. The biggest Democratic majority to date was Otto Kerner's 525,000 in 1960.)

KERNER'S victory margin in 1960 gives him every reason for confidence that he can win again this year; but the confidence may not be well placed. There are many differences between 1960 and 1964:

1. Kerner's opponent then was William G. Stratton, trying for a third term, something no Illinois governor has won.
2. Kerner's opponent now is Charles Percy, who has proved to be a vigorous campaigner who appeals to the independents, the very people who put Kerner into office.
3. Whereas Kerner was able to make much of a bogeyman named Orville Hodge in 1960, the Republicans are making headway with a bogeyman named Richard Daley in '64.
4. Kerner alienated a large segment of the electorate by his veto of the state aid to schools bill.

KERNER HAS some other minuses (and of course, many pluses) in his record, but we'll go into them another day.

The point, so far, is that Kerner can be beaten, but only by a massive effort by the Republicans.

Now, to get back to those 194,000 persons who are expected to be on the DuPage registration rolls. They presage a total vote in the county of 180,000, or maybe a slightly smaller number.

If they were divided 4 to 1 in the Republicans' favor, there would be dancing in the Republican streets, for it would indicate a GOP sweep. President Eisenhower carried DuPage by that ratio in '56, the year when he carried Illinois by that whopping 857,000 margin.

For the record, a 4 to 1 vote in the county has rarely happened, even in the palmiest of Republican days. Among 180,000 voters it would mean 144,000 for Goldwater and only 36,000 for Johnson, and it isn't likely to happen that way.

IKE CARRIED DuPage by a little more than 3 to 1 in 1952. His margin was 48,600 votes. A 3 to 1 margin would be 90,000 now — about 135,000 to 45,000. If it turns out that way, the Johnsons are likely to be moving back to Texas in January.

In 1960, Richard Nixon carried DuPage county by 101,000 to John F. Kennedy's 44,000, or about 70 per cent to 30 per cent. If Barry Goldwater can do that well, he will get 126,000 to Johnson's 54,000, or a plurality of 72,000 votes.

Occasionally, an especially attractive Democratic candidate has gotten 40 per cent of DuPage's vote. If that were to happen this fall, the vote would be 108,000 for Goldwater to 72,000 for Johnson, and Goldwater could go back to the department store in Arizona.

Is DuPage county a good barometer of the political weather? In Illinois in recent elections, it has been. It may be the best Republican county in the United States, but it is not without its Democrats nor without its independents.

IT WORKS this way:

In each of the past three presidential years, subtract 20 points from the DuPage ratio and you have the Republican candidate's statewide share of the vote. For instance, Ike got 76 per cent of the DuPage vote in 1952, and 55-plus per cent of the Illinois vote.

In '56, Ike got 80 per cent in DuPage; 60 per cent in Illinois.

In '60, Nixon got 70 per cent of the DuPage vote (more precisely, 69.7 per cent) and got 49.1 per cent of the Illinois vote.

Suppose the worst happens — the worst, that is, from the GOP point of view. Suppose Lyndon Johnson gets 40 per cent of the DuPage county vote and carries Illinois big.

WHAT CHANCE would the Republican state ticket have? What chance Percy? And Elmer Hoffman for secretary of state? And John Henry Altorfer and Elroy Sandquist and John Kirby?

What chance the 118 Republican candidates for the General Assembly?

In DuPage and in Illinois, they still could win.

A large segment of Illinois voters will switch from one party to the other. In 1960, while John Kennedy was winning the state by 8,800, Paul Douglas (who was next on the ballot) won by 435,000, and the third man from the top was Otto Kerner who won by 525,000.

JUST TWO names farther down the ballot, Charles Carpentier won by 384,000.

From president to governor, 285,000 voters switched from Republican to Democrat; and from governor to secretary of state, 455,000 switched back to Republican again.

That's a lot of switching — a lot of independents.

Chances are that both the Republicans and the Democrats are working on them for all they're worth. (Z

DuPage Flood Control Plans Nearly Ready

Flood control plans for DuPage County have been "pretty well crystalized," State Rep. William A. Redmond (D-Bensenville) said this week.

Redmond said an official of the Division of Waterways of the Illinois Department of Public Works had advised him the plans were in their final stages.

Redmond and other DuPage county officials were to meet with Francis S. Lorenz, director of the Department of Public Works Wednesday afternoon to discuss the final plans for the drainage control of the county.

"It is my hope that we can have a comprehensive discussion of what needs to be done," Redmond said.

THE MEETING could possibly result in definite plans for a program to be submitted to the 74th General Assembly in 1965, Redmond, who is Bensenville village attorney, said.

Redmond has said it is necessary to develop a program of control for Salt Creek on a six-eight year basis and work up the waterway step-by-step, first acquiring land and later moving construction up.

The program has never been coordinated or dovetailed completely during past legislative programs, Redmond said, leaving much money appropriated for the task unused. (Z

Policeman's Indictment Quashed

A motion to quash a DuPage County indictment of Northlake Police Sgt. Ralph McLean was granted Tuesday by Judge William L. Guild in Wheaton.

Thirty-five-year-old McLean of 42 S. Roberta, Northlake, was arrested last March and subsequently indicted for the theft of two cases of wine from Suburban Valley Liquors, Inc., 226 Addison Rd., Elmhurst. Indicted with McLean on April 27 was his helper on the moonlighting job, Robert Pipkins, formerly of Maywood. Pipkins has since moved to California; his indictment also was quashed.

JUDGE GUILD ruled in favor of the claim of the pair's attorney, Julius Eccles, that the state's attorney's office had failed to provide him with a requested bill of particulars and that in it is now more than four months since his clients were indicted. Asst. State's Atty. Anthony Peccarelli prosecuted for the state. He is considering reinstating the case.

McLane and Pipkins had been working part-time as drivers of a delivery truck for the liquor company. They pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial.

Township GOP Dance Tomorrow

The Addison Township Republican dance will take place tomorrow (Friday) at the Itasca Country Club.

Eimhurst, said that state and Chairman George Unverzagt of Elmhurst, said that state and county candidates will mingle informally with local Republicans and their guests. Dancing and refreshments will be available at the newly remodeled club.

Township Chairman Robert Mittel of Wood Dale reports that tickets are $1 each, and all GOP Committeemen have them.

Communion Observance At St. Paul

Addison

Addison Protestant churches will join fellow Christians throughout the world on the first Sunday in October to observe World - Wide Communion Sunday.

Beginning at 6 p.m. Chicago time Saturday, first services begin in the Fiji Islands and New Zealand. As the world swings around and the first Sunday of October dawns on each continent members of all churches will gather at the Lord's table.

SINCE THE first observance of World-Wide Communion Sunday in 1936, the day has been developed through the World Council of Churches to emphasize the unity of all Christians.

Among the local churches celebrating the sacrament on this Sunday is the Addison United Presbyterian Church, meeting in the Municipal Building, Lake and Army Trail Road. Services begin at 10 a.m. and all are invited to join in an open communion to receive the sacrament. (L

Democrats Plan Rally

A Democratic political rally will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday, at the American Legion Hall in Bensenville, sponsored by the Bensenville Democratic Women's Organization.

Jerome Ziegler, candidate for Congress, will discuss the opportunity it is to be able to vote. Joseph Tumpach, candidate for state representative, will speak on the power of the vote. Donald Mock, candidate for the Judicial Circuit, will urge those present to be sure to vote.

There will be a question and answer forum following the speeches. (B

Golfers Greeted by Sunny Skies

Addison

A beautiful, crisp, sunny day heralded the Addison Industrial Association's recent annual summer golf outing.

The golfers couldn't quite say the same for their scores—Long Grove Country Club has a very difficult and challenging course.

THERE WERE two prize events for the golfers — Blind Bogey and Peoria. Prizes consisted of a variety of golf and outdoor equipment such as a golf cart, sport shirts, golf balls, a camera, a transister radio and an insulated patio ice bucket.

A buffet dinner to be served on the patio of the country club had been planned but the coolness of the evening brought the guests inside for their dinner. (L

Roselle Coin Dealer Talks To Colleagues via Teletype

by DAN BAUMANN
Staff Writer

Roselle

"SSL TO TTQ HAVE A SET OF WARTIME NICKELS BU FOR $35.00 PLS ADV IF INTERESTED SSL OUT"

"TTD TO SSL OK CFM AND SHIP AND THANKS TTQ OUT"

That's a sample of the lingo used in one of Roselle's newest, and most unusual, businesses. The business: Toppers in Coin, 103 E. Irving Park Rd. Its business: wholesaling and retailing coins.

The jargon is that used on a teletype system hooking the Roselle dealer with 65 others across the country. SSL is another firm sending a message to Toppers (TTQ). Roughly, the message translates: "I have a set of wartime nickels, in brilliant, uncirculated condition, for $35.00. Please advise me if you are interested." And the reply from Toppers: "I want the set. Please confirm and ship them to me."

TOPPERS opened its office in June shortly after receiving its corporate charter from the state of Illinois. Its principal officers are John M. Eltzroth, president, and Norman E. Tower, secretary-treasurer, both of Schaumburg.

The two are avid amateur coin collectors of long standing. Both are employed full time—Eltzroth as a chemical engineer and Tower as an electronic circuit tester—and run the coin store as a part time enterprise.

"We have two basic kinds of customer," Eltzroth commented. "Some are collectors and are interested in coins only for collections. Others are investors as well."

Collectors enjoy having unusual coins or sets of coins. Investors see in the coin market an opportunity to make money, since the value of coins — certain kinds at least—grows rapidly. The coin market has a whole set of its own literature, providing news of coins, current market values and the like. Such reports are to the coin dealer what stock market quotes are to the stock broker.

ROSELLE IS NOT large enough to support the operation. The two men picked it "because we like Roselle and it's convenient to our homes." The business draws from a large area outside the village, mainly from the north and west parts of the metropolitan area, but also from more distant locations.

And the constantly chattering teletype, run on a telephone circuit leased by the International Stamp and Coin Exchange, itself is a source of business. On the wire, dealers buy and sell coins of specialized vantage. The coins are then shipped, by insured mail, on an "on approval" basis.

"That machine is my warehouse," Eltzroth said. "With it, I've got access to any coins that are available on the market."

THE COINS actually available in the Roselle outlet range from Indianhead pennies, for children's collections, to an 1858 flying eagle penny, valued at $100, to a variety of new and old coins of intermediate value.

Coins of greater value are kept in a vault at the Roselle State Bank, across the street, and are open for inspection only on request. Those actually in the store are kept in trays. For security, the trays are locked in a safe, in the store window and under lights when the store is closed.

"It's a good arrangement," Eltzroth indicated, "because of the bank across the street. The police security checks made there, throughout the night, make us more secure."

Budget Adopted; School District Must Borrow

Medinah

The Medinah Elementary school board last week adopted an educational budget totaling $276,850.

The district will borrow $123,000, the limit of its borrowing power, to meet the budget. Included in the deficit will be $41,500 from working cash and $81,500 borrowed from tax anticipation.

District voters last summer turned down a 21-cent tax increase proposed to shore up the educational fund.

Hog Raisers Win Award

Earl C. Boesche and Ralph Boesche of Route 1, Roselle, have been presented sow and pig management awards by the Moorman Manufacturing Co.

The award is being made to hog raisers whose sows wean larger-than-average litters. The simulated oak plaque, showing a sow with pigs nursing, is a reproduction of an original hand carving done especially for this award. The award winner's name is engraved on a brass plate attached to the plaque.(X

Football Competition Set Oct. 10

Roselle

Roselle boys from 8 to 13 years old can register from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday for the annual "Pass, punt, kick" competition.

Registration will be at the Roselle Ford Agency, Roselle and Irving Park Roads, and all boys must be accompanied by a parent.

The competition will be held Saturday Oct. 10, at 10 a.m. at Frank Chino Park, Illinois and Flagstaff Streets, Hoffman Estates, pitting boys from Roselle, Medinah, Schaumburg and the Hoffman areas. It will be administered by the Roselle Jaycees, the Schaumburg Boys Baseball League Association and the Hoffman Estates Athletic Association.

GRADING WILL be based on a score totaling the distance of one pass, one kick and one punt, minus footage the ball travels from a center yard marker. Prizes will be given to the top three boys in each of the six age groups.

Regional and national competition will follow, the finalists competing during the halftime of the professional playoff league game in December. (X

Hour Lunch Kept for Junior High

Roselle

A proposal to shorten lunch hours to cut the length of the junior high school day in Roselle was defeated by the board of education last Thursday.

Board member Quinn R. Prichard suggested that the lunch period be reduced from the present hour to a half hour and that school be started at 8:45 a.m. rather than the present 8:15 a.m. That would bring junior high hours more into line with elementary hours. Elementary students have the same lunch hour as junior high students but do not start until 9 a.m.

The proposal was defeated, however, on the basis that junior high students needed time for recreation after lunch.

ABOUT ITASCA PEOPLE

The community extends sympathy to the family of Mrs. Bertha Baruth, 324 N. Linden on her death last Wednesday night in the Wood Dale Nursing Home where she had been taken the previous week.

Surviving are a son and daughter Oscar and Irene, both living at the Linden Street address; a son, Willis, in Rolling Meadows, and another son, Ray, in Clarendon Hills. A daughter, Mrs. Adeline Smethurst, preceded her in death three years ago in a fatal auto accident with her husband, Don Smethurst.

Mrs. Baruth was the second oldest living native-born citizen of Itasca, and would have celebrated her 91st birthday Oct. 31. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon in Geils Funeral Home.

MR. AND MRS. C. S. Jones of Tiffin, Ohio, arrived here last Friday to spend a week with their daughter and son-in-law and family, the C. E. Fullers, 405 Willow.

While they have been living at 601 Willow for the past few months, while their new home was being constructed, the Ramon Schroeders have been busy getting settled at 631 Willow since last week.

Hebron, Ill. was their former home, where Mr. Schroeder was superintendent of public works and is now operating engineer of the Village of Itasca. The family includes three daughters: Vickie 5, Donna, 7, and Carol Rae, 8. (X

Attends Legion Meet in Dallas

Roselle

Eugene Field, past commander of Northwest DuPage Post 1084 was among 22,000 legionaires recently attending the National American Legion convention in Dallas, Tex., as a delegate from the department of Illinois.

One of the highlights of the convention, according to Field, was a four and a half hour parade. The main convention speakers were Secretary of Defense Robert F. McNamara, Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater and Gov. John Connally of Texas. (X

2 Drivers Report Car Radios Gone

Roselle

Two thefts of transistor radios from automobiles were reported to Roselle police last week.

In one case, police Thursday nabbed a 12 year old boy in the lot of the Midwest Folding Products Co. after a complaint that he was lurking about cars parked there. He admitted removing a radio from one auto.

The second report came Friday from Elmer K. Brems, 23W175 Woodworth Dr., who said a radio was taken from his car as it was parked in a drug store lot on Main Street.

Holiday Year

There are only 88 days in a year that are not celebrated somewhere in the world as recognized legal holidays.

Barber Shop Group Has Openings

Wood Dale

The Wood Dale chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., has openings for men.

This singing chapter, named the Countryside Chorus, is a nonprofit fraternal organization which promotes relaxation through singing for men of all ages. Through singing engagements, the chorus endeavors to be of service to many organizations in the community.

ALTHOUGH the chapter promotes and encourages quartet singing, it is not the primary purpose of the men to sing in groups of four only.

The Countryside Chorus meets each Monday at 8 p.m. in the basement hall of the church just south of the fire station on Wood Dale Road south of Irving Park Road in Wood Dale.

Ranchettes-Fairway Park

WITH ROSEMARY ZEMAN 773-1678

"On a wintry February day in 1964 this comumn was born under the assumption and hope that the Rahchettes - Fairway Park area had awakened from its slumber and with a plea for assistance in reporting news, dedicated itself to bringing residents the latest comings and goings of the community."

"Eight months later it has become apparent that the dedication remains but the assistance is fleeting. Appropriately enough at the time of year when the great out-of-doors is beginning its preparation for a long winter's nap, it is with a great deal of regret and disappointment that this column is compelled to fade into the "used to be."

"To the handful of residents who have been so cooperative in supplying news, sincerest thanks; to the many who have expressed enjoyment in reading it, sorry but no news is no news!" (X

Elmer R. Green

Funeral arrangements were made by Richert and Son, Roselle Chapel, for services and burial to be held Sept. 29 in Jarretsville, Md. for Elmer R. Green, 36 Chathman Lane, Weathersfield.

He was born in Bear Lake, Mich. June 19, 1881 and died Sept. 26 in the home of his daughter, at the age of 83. Prior to his retirement in 1942, he was engaged in farming in Jarretsville. His wife, Edith (nee Dawson) preceded him in death.

He leaves his daughter, Mrs. Arthur Taber, with whom he resided; a son, Albert D. of Wilmington, Del.; five grandchildren; and one sister, Alice Kirk of Bear Lake, Mich.

Disagree On Rat Problem

Bloomingdale

Does Bloomingdale really have a rat problem?

Residents living in an area north of Lake Street near East Park and Prairie Avenues say yes. They have been to village board meetings in recent weeks complaining about the problem and seeking help and advice.

Recently the DuPage County Health Department showed a film to Bloomingdale residents, "How To Exterminate Rats."

However, exterminators who have been contacted by village officials to check into the problem say that no rat problem exists. There are no fresh rat tracks in the area, they say.

MAYOR EDWARD Barber said that the lowest price to rid the area of rats quoted to h[illegible] by an exterminator firm [illegible]s $45 per trip plus $15 per each home serviced. The company said that it would take no more than three trips to rid an area of rats.

Trustees agreed with Barber that the village could not afford this service.

The matter was turned over to Trustee Ralph Johnston's health and safety committee for further study. (X

2 Liquor Permits Are Asked

Roselle

Roselle trustees now have on file two applications for packaged liquor licenses from grocery store owners.

The latest came from Julian Gorski, operator of Harve's Food Mart, 21 E. Irving Park Rd. Gorski said he was renewing an application he made in 1959, which was tabled, after hearing of an application by Anthony Maurice, operator of Pik Kwik Foods, 525 E. Irving Park Rd.

Maurice applied two weeks ago and said he wanted to sell liquor in a bulding separate from the food store. Gorski's letter, received Monday, said he would agree to sell liquor either as a separate operaton or as part of the present store.

Set Designs to Be Displayed at Elmhurst College

Theatre set designs which have won international fame for their creator, Howard Bay, will be on display for a limited time in the lounge of the recently completed College Union building of Elmhurst College.

Included in the 12-day exhibit are Bay's designs for "Carmen," "Music Man," "Carmen Jones," "Jazz Production," Michael Todd's "Peepshow," "Up in Central Park," "Pal Joey," "Night of the Auk," "Milk and Honey," "Tyl Eulenspiegel" and "Show Boat." Also included are several industrial designs.

The designs will be displayed in the lounge of the Elmhurst College Union building, through Friday, Oct. 9. Hours are 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 1 a.m. Friday and Saturday and 12 noon to 11 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited. (Z

13 New To School District

Bloomingdale

The expanded staff at Bloomingdale schools this year includes 13 newcomers to the district.

Several have master's degrees, including Principal Harold Smith, Crystal Lake; Mary Hovde, fifth grade, from Colorado and now of Roselle, and Joyce VanZanten, third grade, Wheaton.

Other new members of the staff are Joan Ann Garling, kindergarten, Wheaton; Judith Wenshutonis, kindergarten, Chicago; Sally Donovan, first, Addison; Lorrayne Toci, first, Chicago; Carol Frey, second, Park Ridge; Janet Slomka, third, St. Charles; Egil Anderson, fourth, Wheaton; David L. Rodgers, sixth, Wheaton; Myron Getz, seventh, Wheaton and Laura Boone, music, Bloomingdale.

Roy Roe, physical education supervisor, has announced a continuation of the swimming instruction program for seventh and eighth graders. This was made possible by completing arrangements at a nearby indoor private pool for use by the students one day a week. (X

Lagging Readers Aided by Lake Park Plan

Vicious Circle Is Block to Learning

by DAN BAUMAN
Staff Writer

"Reading is like a never ending circle.

"Poor readers don't read much. It's hard work. As a result, they get progressively worse. And they enjoy reading even less."

The speaker: Thomas Meehan.

Meehan is in charge of the reading program instituted at Lake Park High School this fall to break the circle victimizing poor readers.

The program is so new it hasn't acquired the glamour of reading programs at some school disaricts. For one thing, it concentrates on the middle level of attainment—the so-called "correctives" who need help and are relatively easy to reach. For another, it does not include use of expensive machinery ("hardware," as Meehan calls it), although some "accelerators" are used to increase reading speed.

The machines, and specialized help for those in the highest and lowest levels of reading attainment, will come later.

LAKE PARK hasn't just discovered reading. Special courses were included in the summer school programs for the past two years, and reading has been taught as part of the English program for those with the lowest level of attainment in English.

The difference now is that reading has been separated from the regular English classes and all freshmen will be exposed to the teaching of reading techniques.

The English program at Lake Park is divided into three tracks. Each track will take reading for one quarter of the school year. The remaining three quarters of the year will be devoted to regular English studies.

As a start on the reading program, Meehan has four classes of freshmen from the low "track" plus one ungraded group of upperclassmen with serious reading problems.

FOR READING purposes, the freshmen groups are further subdivided: the "remedials," whose reading skills are so poor that they need almost individual teaching; the "correctives," with below standard reading skill who can be helped in moderate sized classes, and the "developmentals," who are average or superior readers and whose reading speed can be accelerated through a reading program.

There are a variety of reasons for poor reading attainment, according to Meehan. Some of the causes are related to attitudes, to vision, brain damage, glandular disfunctions, general intelligence, physical handicaps and the like.

The lowest level—the remedials—are the most difficult to work with because many of them have difficulty reading even simple words. Some, Meehan indicated, are on the borderline of literacy and may even have difficulty with the alphabet.

THE CORRECTIVE group includes many who need to build their vocabularies and to develop comprehension — the ability to make inferences from written words.

The developmental level students can make these inferences. "Development," for them, means reading speed and a richer vocabulary.

The "real core" of the reading program aimed at the middle group includes a vocabulary workbook and a reading workbook. Each reading workbook assignment gives the student a story to read. Then he answers questions about the story.

The questions are designed to get him to think about the meaning of words, to generalize about them, to sift out details, to outline the idea and to draw conclusions.

EACH LESSON is, in effect, an "open book" exam. The student answers questions about the story while it is in front of him. The object is not memory but learning.

When he's finished, the student is graded; the grade is compared with national attainments for his grade level.

Students work at their own speed and take on new assignments as they finish the old.

"There is no daily carryover," according to Meehan, "since there is no 'content' to learn. But we can use materials related to subject matter in other courses. There, learning content would be a byproduct of learning reading."

MEEHAN HAS contacted other departments at the school with plans to develop a workbook, with their cooperation, which would have content related to science, history and such.

The locally devised workbook, the "hardware" and the concentration on special reading problems are in the future.

Of more immediate concern to Meehan will be the achievement tests administered when the first students complete this quarter. The results will be compared with tests given before the start of the program.

"Then we will know if anything grew but their fingernails," Meehan commented.

Speaker to Discuss Pornography Danger

Roselle

"Pornography—a vital concern to every member of the community" will be the topic of a program scheduled by the St. Walter's Women's Club on Tuesday.

The club has urged all members to attend, with their husbands, the session scheduled at 8 p.m. at the church. The speaker will be Arthur J. Reis, a member of the Citizens for Decent Literature. The group is designed to alert adults to dangers inherent in pornographic material.

"Alert and well informed parents can prevent this insidious evil from infiltrating into our homes and community," said Mrs. Richard Frain, president of the Women's Club.

A social hour will follow the meeting, and refreshments will be served under the direction of Mrs. Edward Gore, social chairman.

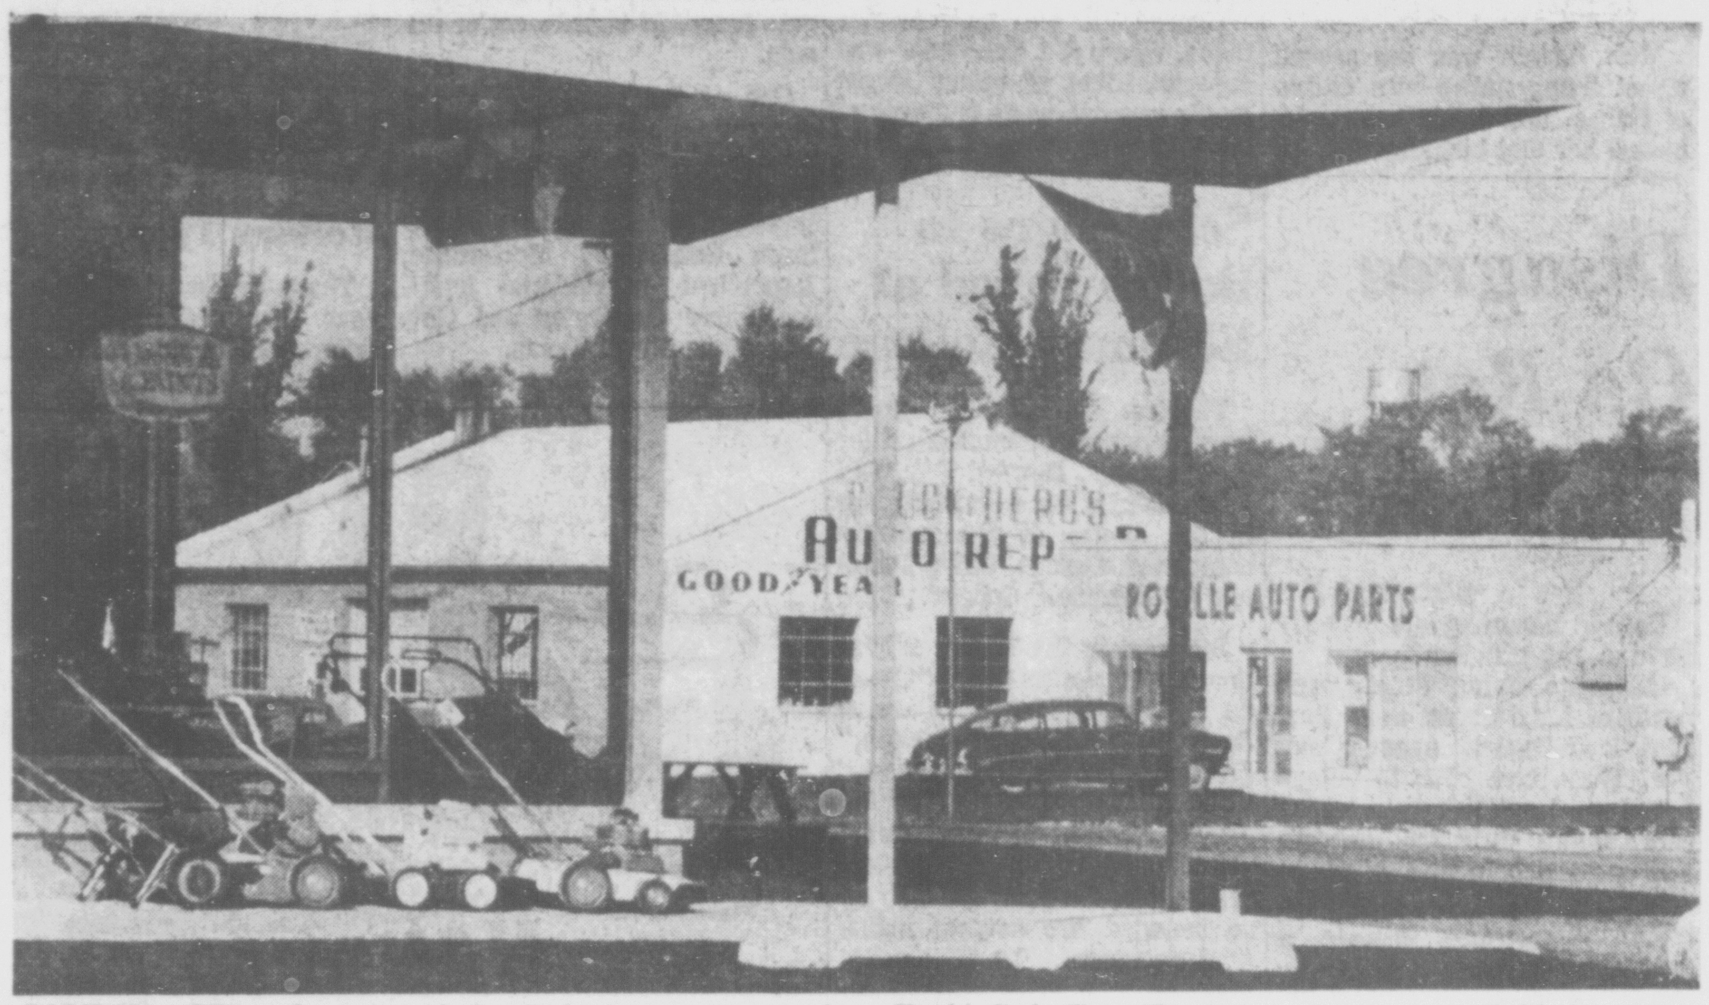
Seeks Zone Okay

Bloomingdale

The Bloomingdale Village Board has referred to the planning commission a request from an ambulance service for B-2 (business special use) zoning for its office near Lake Street and Circle Avenue. The firm wishes to erect a radio transmission tower at the site.

The trio has been bound over to a federal grand jury. One $20 bill was passed Tuesday at the Roselle 5 Cents to $1 Store, and an unsuccessful attempt was made a day earlier at the Roselle Liquor Store.



PARKING LOTS at three east side Roselle businesses were paved last week, replacing gravel drives. In the foreground is the Town Hardware building; across the street are Roselle Auto Parts and Chuck's Body Shop. The three businesses are in E. Maple Avenue near the intersection with Irving Park Road. (Staff photo)

Who Will Be Picked Lake Park Queen?

One of four senior girls will be named queen of the homecoming dance at Lake Park High School Saturday.

The four are Wendy Beach, Gay Leet, Sherry Pope and Donna Spiezio.

They were picked in a vote of the student body which was tallied on Monday.

ALSO NAMED to the court were representatives of the other three grades: Rena Ambroso, freshman; Eileen Coughlin, sophomore, and Frieda Anders, junior.

The queen will be picked at the dance and will be crowned by Carl Erik Kilander, Lake Park's exchange student from Norway.

Saturday's homecoming agenda is:

10 a.m. Parade in downtown Roselle.

12:15 p.m. Frosh-sophomore game against St. Viator.

2 p.m. Varsity game against St. Viator, followed by a reunion in the Lake Park Library.

8 p.m. Homecoming dance.

After-Hours Typing Class Is Approved

Roselle

The Roselle board of education has agreed to offer an after-hours typing class again this year.

The board approved a 15-lesson class starting next Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. Mrs. Helen Mathews, acting superintendent, indicated the class would be offered to public school students in eighth, seventh, sixth and fifth grades in that order of priority, on a fee basis.

Zoners Consider Lot Size Change

Roselle

The Roselle plan commission tonight (Thursday) will consider proposed changes to the zoning regulations affecting manufacturing in the ivllage.

The amendments were drafted by Trustee Hargey B. Karpiel after two meetings with Roselle manufacturers, The main import of the changes would be to half lot size requirements to permit expansion of plants which existed before the zoning ordinance was adopted.

School Board Okays Buying Bicycle Racks

Roselle

The Roselle board of education has approved purchase of bicycle racks adequate to hold 110 bikes for $4,597. The racks will be used at Parkside School.

The board also approved purchase of three trucks for moving folding chairs, for $55.58 each, from new construction funds. Two of the trucks will be used at Spring Hills School and the third at Lincoln School where additions have recently been completed.

Best Books Listed For Young People

Itasca

The annual list of Adult Books of 1963 Significant for Young People is a selection of fiction and nonfiction as varied as the patterns of a kaleidoscope. Many of these books, chosen by a committee of school and young adult librarians in the United States and Canada, are available at the Itasca Community Library.

Two fine books of mystery and suspense are among those listed. "Ice Station Zebra" by MacLean is a story of the unforeseen hazards that imperil a nuclear submarine on a rescue mission to a secret Arctic weather station, where agent Neil Carpenter discovers evidence of arson, sabotage, and murder.

"The Moon-Spinners" by Mary Stewart tells of the adventures of Nicola Ferris, vacationing in Crete, who stumbles into murder, smuggling, and romance when she befriends a mysterious, wounded fellow Englishman

OUTSTANDING fiction books are Borland's "When the Legends Die" and "Sword at Sunset" by Rosemary Sutcliff. In the first story Tom Black, a real man and not an idealized Indian, embittered by his treatment in the white man's world, exists as a brutal rodeo rider until he establishes his identity by accepting his Indian heritage.

The second book is a retelling of the story of King Arthur which goes behind the legend to find an early war lord, Artos, who drove off the Saxon Marauders.

A study of human relations is Eleanor Roosevelt's "Tomorrow is Now." Here Mrs. Roosevelt presents her beliefs in the great principles of our heritage. Social problems of the Negro are described forcefully and emotionally by James Baldwin as he writes of the anger and disillusionment of his race in "The Fire Next Time."

DETAILED accounts of marine exploration in the Red Sea, the Mediterranean, and elsewhere are contained in Cousteau's "The Living Sea." For readers who like animal stories, Sterling North's account of his adventures with a pet raccoon, "Rascal," is a hit.

For the sport's fan "Pro Football's Hall of Fame" by Daley is an interesting and informative book. Poetry lovers will find Carl Sandburg's "Honey and Salt" pleasant reading.

"The Coming Explosion in Latin America" by Gerald Clark discusses historical background, present conditions and power groups, and the need for specific reforms in South America. A lively history of the U. S. Customs Service is Whitehead's story, "Border Guard."

GOP Women to Hear William Rentschler

Itasca

William Rentschler will address the Itasca Republican Women's Club at its annual luncheon meeting Tuesday.

Rentschler, business executive and civic leader, is a former president of the Illinois Young Republicans.

He also served as chairman on the recent "blue ribbon" slatemaking committee which reslated 71 of the most outstanding incumbent representatives for this year's election.

RENTSCHLER speaks on major national and state issues and likes to encourage good citizens to take an active part in politics.

The luncheon will be at 12:30 p.m. at the Itasca Country Club. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Jane Griggs, 773-1012, and should be made no later than today (Thursday).

New officers will be elected during the business meeting.

4-H Clubs Put Up Window Displays

Three 4-H clubs in the Addison area and one at Bartlett have window displays in stores this week in observance of National 4-H Club Week.

The Addison Flashes, Bloomingdale Busy Beavers and Junior Misses have displays in windows of the Green Meadow Shopping Center. The Merry Workers of Bartlett have their display at Schultz Hardware.

The week is being observed throughout DuPage County and in other areas throughout the world.

Originally designed as pig and corn clubs for boys and canning and sewing clubs for girls, 4-H in Illinois now has shifted its emphasis to personal development. Although rural boys and girls are still a target group, nearly half the present 76,000 members in Illinois come from urban and suburban communities.

Along with the agricultural and home economics projects are such programs as automotive care and safety, creative crafts, electricity, photography, flower gardening, landscaping and home grounds improvement entomology and room improvement.

JERRY ZIEGLER WAS HONORED GUEST at a Democratic dinner-dance Friday at St. Andrew's Country Club, north of West Chicago. From left are John Coburn, Glen Ellyn, treasurer of the Ziegler campaign; Prentice Marshall, Wheaton, campaign manager; Ziegler; U. S. Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), and Robert C. Weaver, federal housing administrator. Senator Douglas warned the Democrats to be alert for "wide-spread cheating" by the Republicans on election day. Ziegler is the Democratic candidate for Congress in the 14th district, DuPage and Will Counties.

Sen. Douglas Warns Of Republican Frauds

Senator Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), at a dinner honoring Democratic Congressional candidate Jerry Ziegler of Naperville, warned some 400 diners at the St. Andrew Country Club Friday against "large scale Republican cheating" at the polls on Nov. 3.

Senator Douglas, one of three speakers for the occasion stated that "it is almost impossible to cheat on voting machines," adding, "but it's an old Republican custom to hold out on ballots 'till they see what they need."

Defending his reputation for filibusters in the Senate, Douglas called them "prolonged educational discussions," and proceeded to give a "prolonged educational discussion"—over one hour—to the men and women who came to the country club near West Chicago to support the youthful Ziegler.

HE SPOKE WITH his usual vigor, wit and intesity of his support for: the nuclear ban treaty, reapportionment, medicare, the anti-poverty act; preservation of open spaces and conservation of water and natural resources, and what he termed "the two greatest questions of our time . . . freedom and peace."

"A nuclear war would kill 100 million Americans and so contaminate the air that survivors would be crippled and ill." The senator followed this reminder by restating his avowed opposition to Communism. He added, "We believe our nuclear weapons should be the last thing to be used . . . not the first. Whose finger do you want on the nuclear button?" he asked, gesticulating with his own index finger to emphasize his position.

Urging the election of the Democratic candidates, Senator Douglas plugged especially hard for DuPage County's Democratic candidate for the congressional seat, saying "the Democratic candidate would be a big improvement as far as this district is concerned."

Robert C. Weaver, administrator of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, was another speaker in the ceremonies that were sandwiched between the dinner and the dancing that followed.

WEAVER TOOK off on the Republicans in general and presidential candidate Barry Goldwater in particular. He said, ". . . their radicalism is a clear and present danger to every segment of our society . . . perhaps most of all to traditional Republican party leaders."

Weaver continued, "Radicalism also now means a program of massive tax cuts, despite their candidate's vote against the administration's big tax cut, and despite his (Goldwater's) call for military expansion that would vastly increase government expenditures.

Referring to Elmer J. Hoffman, incumbent Republican congressman and candidate for Illinois secretary of state, Weaver cited his voting record of the past four years, and compared it to that of Barry Goldwater.

"It is a most sorrowful thing, in my view, what the radicals now directing Republican strategy in this state and this nation are asking the American voting public to gamble with the future by putting into our highest office a man who holds such views."

He quoted Goldwater as saying in 1961, "I don't believe in federal aid to education, or aid to the aged or any kind of medical assistance."

IN INTRODUCING the guest of honor, Ziegler's campaign manager, Prentice Marshall of Wheaton, said that the candidate is, "An articulate, knowledgeable man with the highest experience and qualifications."

Marshall predicted: "For the first time in history, a Democrat (President Lyndon Johnson) will carry DuPage County in the presidential poll."

He challenged DuPagers to "break the voting habit that holds a grip on this county." (Only three Democrats, reportedly, have ever held county offices, the plums going traditionally to the Republicans.)

When it was Ziegler's turn before the microphone he wasted few words in aiming verbal swings at his Republican opponent John N. Erlenborn. Ziegler complained, "He won't debate me; he won't even play a tennis match with me," and he accused Erlenborn of being "anti-labor," and "wishy-washy" on civil rights.

Banquet Oct. 24 At Free Church

Itasca

Plans are being made for the annual fall banquet of the Itasca Evangelical Free Church, which will be held Thursday, Oct. 24. A guest speaker and a musical program will be featured.

Serving onthe planning committee are Mr. and Mrs. J. Richard Koehler, Mr. and Mrs. James Grosch and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Evensen. Program details will be disclosed at a later date, church officials said.

Committee Formed for Judges Rathje, Atten

A Citizens' Committee for retention of Circuit Judges William C. Atten and Bert E. Rathje on the 18th District (DuPage County) bench has been announced by committee chairman William C. Ives, of Hinsdale.

Serving on the committee are William Corrigan, Wheaton; William J. Bauer, Elmhurst; Gale C. Marquess, Glen Ellyn; R. J. Fanning D. D. S., Naperville; Chester L. James, Downers Grove; Sam Dean, Oak Brook, and Donald Carlson and Edward J. Vertovec, both of Elmhurst.

"The committee will promote a campaign to educate voters on the importance of the special green judicial ballot that will be one of four ballots voters will receive on Nov. 3 when they go to the polls," Ives commented.

Ives noted that the general election marks the first time Illinois voters will ballot for circuit judges under the new judicial amendment that went into effect Jan. 1. On the green non-partisan judicial ballot, he said, incumbent Circuit judges "will be running against their records."

VOTERS WILL mark their ballots "yes" or "no" on the question of retaining each incumbent circuit judge.

In the 18th Circuit District (DuPage County), incumbent judges William C. Atten and Bert E. Rathje, both of Wheaton, are seeking re-election.

"The committee plans to prepare and distribute voter education brochures outlining the qualifications of Judges Atten and Rathje and stressing the importance of re-electing both judges. We will welcome help from citizens who supported the new judicial amendment and realize the importance of retaining the only incumbent circuit judges on the 18th district bench," Ives esplained.

Judge Rathje presently serves as chief judge of the 18th Circuit. He has been a member of the DuPage County judiciary since 1950 when he was first elected probate judge. In 1957, he was elected to the Circuit bench.

A native of DuPage, Judge Rathje received his law degree at Northwestern University Law School, attended Beloit College and was graduated from Wheaton High School. From 1926 to 1950 he was engaged in private practice of law in Wheaton. During World War I, he served with the U. S. Army.

CHIEF JUDGE Rathje is a member of the DuPage Illinois State and American Bar Associations. He and his wife, Margaret, are parents of five children and have three grandchildren. The Rathjes live at 116 East Farnham Lane.

Circuit Judge Atten received his law degree at the University of Wisconsin Law School after he was graduated from the university and Wheaton High School.

From 1931 to 1957 he was engaged in private practice in Wheaton.

Judge Atten in 1933 was elected a Milton Township justice of the peace, a post he held until 1954 when he was elected DuPage County judge.

IN 1957, Judge Atten was elected to the 18th Circuit District bench. During World War II he served with the legal department of the U. S. Army Ordnance Depot.

Judge Atten is a past president of the DuPage County Bar Association and a past president ofthe DuPage County Bar Association. He is vice president of the Illinois Circuit and Appellate Judges Association. Judge Atten is a director of the Central DuPage Hospital and a past director of Edward Hospital, the DuPage County TB Association and DuPage County Family Service Association.

Judge Atten and his wife, Edna, are the parents of four children. They live on Weisbrook Road.

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by Richard H. DeLano, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

The old saying, "Good things come in small packages," also applies to certain trees. Three of the smallest of the flowering crab apple trees are also among the most attractive.

The Bechtel Crab, the Sargent Crab and the Tea Crab all have qualities that make them unusually attractive in the small city yard. They are of compact size, unquestionably hardy, produce attractvie spring flowers and quickly reach their mature height. Planted near a patio, they give a flowering accent in spring and welcome shade in summer.

The Bechtel Crab can be considered a native of Illinois. It was discovered as a chance seedling in a fence row sometime before the Civil War by E. A. Bechtel, a nurseryman near Staunton, Ill.

Compared to many crab tree varieties which may reach 40 feet, the Bechtel Crab is small. The usual mature height is 10 feet, although specimens up to 20 feet have been observed. Its most spectacular character is the bloom of double fragrant light pink flowers that hang in clusters along the outer branches. Although the bloom is showy, only a small number of pea-sized apples are formed.

FOR colorful half-inch red apples the Sargent Crab can be planted. If not consumed by wildlife, the apples lend color to the landscape from September to December. This fall color is further enhanced by its orange-red foliage, a feature not common in the crab apples.

The six to eight-foot Sargent Crab is the smallest of the flowering crabs. It's so small that it is almost shrub-like in character. In fact, it grows as wide or wider than its height. In spite of its small overall size, the blooms are very showy. Fragrant half inch white blossomes literaly make the tree a mound of flowers.

The last member of this trio of dwarf crabs is the Tea Crab. Strictly speaking, the Tea Crab is not a dwarf since isolated branches may reach 18 feet. However, the upper two-thirds of the tree is loose and open while the lower third is compact, thus creating the impression of a dwarf.

As with the Bechtel Crab, the fruit is usually of little interest, but the bloom more than compensates for this lack. The large fragrant blooms start as deep pink buds that change color as they mature. As the buds open, the color is diluted by the expanding petals to a final white with just a hint of pink.

BECAUSE of its shape, the Tea Crab is useful for planting close to walks, patios and driveways. Its upright non-spreading "V" shape doesn't interfere with traffic.

If you cannot decide which of this trio to use in your landscape, resolve the problem by planting the trio as a unit. They can be arranged as tall, medium and short if you plant in this order: Tea Crab, Bechtel Crab and Sargent Crab. They can also be arranged in order of bloom. The Tea Crab blooms in mid-spring, the Sargent Crab in late spring and the Bechtel Crab in very late spring. (15BB

One in five American families now has a five-figure income, compared with one in 17 families as recently as 1954.

This growth in family annual incomes of $10,000 or more was disclosed in a recent study by Meinhard - Commercial Corp., one of the nation's oldest and largest factoring and commercial financing concerns and a subsidiary of C.I.T. Financial Corporation. Based on U. S. Census Bureau statistics, it showed that 19.9 per cent of U. S. families had incomes of $10,000 or more last year compared with 5.8 per cent in 1954.

THE NUMBER of families in the five-figure bracket nearly quadrupled in nine years, reaching 9,439,000 in 1963, against 2,432,000 in 1954. With 10,673,000 families in the $7,000 to $9,999 per year bracket in 1963, some 42.4 per cent of American families — better than four out of every ten — now have annual incomes of $7,000 or more.

According to the study, the median income of U. S. families rose to $6,249 in 1963 from $4,173 in 1954, a gain of 48.7 per cent. This gain compared with a rise of only 14 per cent in the cost of living.

The over-all increase in consumer buying power, which the firm says shows every indication of continuing in the years ahead has far reaching implications for all companies engaged in the production, distribution and financing of consumer goods. (15BB

The Charles Radtkes and [illegible] returned from a two-week vacation [illegible] cousin, Pamela Arnold of Mount Prospect.

At Marinette, they attended the opening of sturgeon fishing and Charles had the thrill of being the first of the season to catch one of those "whoppers." The 44 inch fish weighed 22 pounds.

The Rollie Wallers of Pamela Drive entertained out-of-town guests over the weekend the Ed Ellisons and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Haugen of Minnesota.

Ann Mary Andre, daughter of the Ray Andres of David Drive, celebrated her seventh birthday twice last weekend. On Saturday, 11 friends, her brother, Greg, 4, and her parents celebrated with lunch at a pancake house in Villa Park, wh[illegible]ed the celebrant a birthday cake.

ON SUNDAY the Andres honored their daughter at a family party with 15 guests, among them her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Anchor of River Grove, and Mr. and Mrs. George Andre of Westchester. A surprise phone call from her godmother, Mary Davis of Denver, made the day most memorable for Ann Mary.

Five-year-old Frank Wleklinski, son of the Kas Wleklinskis, will be happy to have his cast taken off his wrist this weekend.

The Larry Donovans of Dolores Drive entertained Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lillis of Hinsdale at dinner and bridge Saturday evening.

Billy Hynes, son of the Ed Hynes, spent a weekend visiting his friend, Glenn Gamlin.

THE KAS Wleklinskis, Karen and Mark, enjoyed an exciting Sunday afternoon at Mitchell Field watching the annual air show of breathtaking stunts, sky divers and acrobats. Gliders, experimental planes and "old timers" were displayed.

Boy Scouts of Troop 97 had miserable weather last weekend for their campout on the EUB church grounds. Some of the Brentwood boys who had to rough it in the bad weather were Mike Sloan, Ed McIntire, Dave Barth, Claude Walker and Jim Elliot.

The Frank Chesnicks on Sunday evening hosted the Walter Koons to dinner and bridge.

MIKE AND JOAN Alois enjoyed a long weekend with friends, Chub and Obie O'Connor of La Grange, at the Northernaire in Three Lake, Wis. Despite her broken toe, Joan reports a marvelous stay.

The view from their room and the occasional appearance of a deer resembled an autumn mural, and other surrounding scenery was in tune with Colorama Week now being observed in this state.

St. Charles Borromeo Altar and Rosary Society has a most informative program scheduled for Oct. 7. Rev. Francis Filas, SJ, will speak on "Sex Education of Children and Parents." Father Filas is known to many television viewers as a dynamic speaker.

Three Brentwood couples, the Ray Mc Cormacks, the Russell Ribandos and the Earl Enthofs, enjoyed Tiogas VFW Men's Softball League dinner dance Saturday evening. The Bensenville Bank team were the season's winners.

The Pintoppers bowling team bowled Sunday evening and quite a few bowlers were impressed by Ray Basso's exceptional score.

Some of the Brentwood couples who enjoyed a treasure hunt in West Chicago despite the inclement weather, were the Ed Hynes, the Ed Hughes, Kas Wleklinskis, the Don Bertauts, the Cy Sloans and the Dick Lloyds. The hunt was sponsored by the American Legion in West Chicago. Everyone had a wonderful time; 58 out of the 60 cars planned, participated.

BRENTWOOD extends a warm welcome to Mrs. Irma Borecki, who previously lived on Crest Avenue in White Pines for 16 years. She is now making a home for her two sons, Dennis, 19, and Ronald, 16, at 126 Dennis Drive.

Richard and Judy Cler and their son, Robert, 5, recently returned from a week vacationing at Lake of the Ozarks with Bensenville friends, George and Joyce Brinkmann and their son, Mark. Both families enjoyed swimming, waterskiing and boating. They had a pleasant 160-mile long trip on their inboard boat, and report the view from the lake beautiful. Baby Jeffrey, one, stayed home with grandmother, Mrs. Raymond Cler.

Jodi Incandella, son of the Joseph Incandellas of Pamela Drive, celebrated his fourth birthday with a party on Monday afternoon.

White Pines News

Birthday celebrations seem to have dominated last week's activities, and among those who celebrated was Sherry Jefferson, daughter of the Norman Jeffersons of Red Oak.

This year rather than have a party at home, Sherry celebrated her 10th birthday by inviting 10 friends to a theatre party. Last Friday evening Mrs. Jefferson escorted the group to Franklin Park to see the movie, "Good Neighbor Sam," and later stopped at a restaurant for pizza.

On Sunday Sherry enjoyed being the center of attention once again when 25 members of the Jefferson family joined her at a barbecue.

THE CICERO home was also the scene of a family birthday party last Sunday, when 27 family members gathered to help Mary Cicero celebrate her 10th birthday. Guests included her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cicero of Chicago, her godmother, Mrs. James Anderson of Hoffman Estates, her godfather, Joseph Cicero, Chicaog, and other relatives. Mary is the daughter of the Frank Ciceros of Ridgewood.

A group of area Girl Scouts braved the rains and high winds to take part in a two-day campout at Camp Balwing in the Indiana Dunes State Park last weekend. They left early Friday evening by bus and returned home Sunday evening with tales of hiking in the rain and song fests they enjoyed while "drying out."

White Piners included were Kathy and Linda Strohm and Valerie Day of Red Oak; Valerie and Gail Danks and Joan Leveen of Ridgewood; and Jean Elg of Woodland Ave.

CURT, THE SON of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dusek of Red Oak celebrated his eighth birthday with an impromptu party with nine friends last Thursday afternoon. That evening Curt was again the guest of honor when the family diner at Plentywood Farm.

Fifteen school friends gathered at the Leroy Springer home on Red Oak last Wednesday afternoon to help Lisa Springer celebrate her fifth birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Love were overnight guests at the home of the Jess Parrishes of Ridgewood last Saturday. The Loves had been vacationing in the eastand stopped off briefly en route to their home in Fargo, N. D.

CONGRATULATIONS to Jean Elg, who celebrated her 12th birthday on Tuesday. Jean is the daughter of the James Elgs of Woodland.

A family dinner party last Wednesday marked the first celebration of Ronnie Andreasen's sixth birthday. Among those who joined the immediate family for the occasion were his maternal grandmother, Mrs. A. Sikowske of Chicago, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Dale.

Ronnie entertained friends at a party last Saturday afternoon. Ronnie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cedius Andreasen of Crest.

MR. AND MRS. Ronald Gibson of Red Oak braved the drenching rain last Saturday to accompany Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tratt of Libertyville to Madison, Wis., where they attended the Wisconsin-Notre Dame football game.

Richard, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James Haney of Red Oak, is one year old and the Haneys marked the occasion on Sunday with a family party. Among those present were his aunts and uncles, the John Haneys of Bensenville, the William Haney and the John Phillips, both of Leyden Township, also his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyde Haney of Franklin Park, and his maternal grandfather, George Russell.

This was the second celebration which united the family on Sunday. That morning everyone gathered at the William Haney home in honor of their daughter's christening.

LAST FIRDAY Mrs. Charles Hauswald Jr. of White Pine Road, Mrs. John Werner of Forest View Ave., and Mrs. Carl McCormick of Bensenville had lunch and spent the afternoon visiting at the home of former neighbor, Mrs. Robert Smith, now of Wheaton.

As Earl Meyer and Tom Barber, both of White Pine Road, share a mutual birthday, the two couples enjoy the occasion together. This year they chose to dine at The Flame Restaurant, after which they continued their celebration at the Barber home.

Hugh Tempes of Hawthorne Ave. is home once again after having spent three weeks visiting with his family in Germany. He received permission to cross into Meissen, his former hometown (which is now located behind the Russian line) to see his sisters, and also traveled into Frankfurt and Berlin.

AFTER A WEEK of rain, the appearance of the sun on Sunday was particularly pleasing to the Wehr family of White Pine, as Johnnie chose to invite 11 friends to accompany him on an excursion through Brookfield Zoo that day.

The occasion marked his 10th birthday; cake and ice cream were served at home before starting on their journey.

AUDITED PAID CIRCULATION
ABC

One in a series of messages to advertisers

How to win at shadow tag

As a youngster, perhaps you too enjoyed the game of shadow tag. What fun it was in the late afternoon, when shadows were long and easy to catch. As we recall, there was a way of winning at shadow tag. As long as the one who was "it" was kept between you and the sun, he never got close enough to your shadow for a tag. If the real you got caught, so did your shadow.

We got to thinking about this game the other day, during a discussion of circulation and how many different ways there are to "determine" the size of a circulation audience for advertising. You can multiply units of circulation by units of people and maybe you will get reader audience. Studies and surveys can produce age, sex, income, and all sorts of other factors which, when multiplied by units of circulation, might give you other kinds of audience figures.

No matter how it is figured, a circulation audience can never be more reliable than the circulation figures from which the shadow is projected. While the size and shape of the shadow changes in the light of varying points of interest, the child at tag and the circulation under study remains the same.

We believe it is our obligation, as a seller of the commodity of advertising space, to provide you with complete and accurate circulation figures. We believe in full disclosure of circulation facts, based on uniform standards, permitting close examination from any point of interest. We believe, further, that such facts and figures should come not from us or our agents, but from an independent, objective circulation measuring and reporting service.

That's why the Audit Bureau of Circulations was organized 50 years ago, and why more than 4,000 advertisers, advertising agencies, and publishers support this voluntary, self-regulatory effort today. That's why we are ABC members.

Come to think of it, we never were much good at shadow tag. Just ask to see a copy of our latest ABC report—it will let you tag the real us.

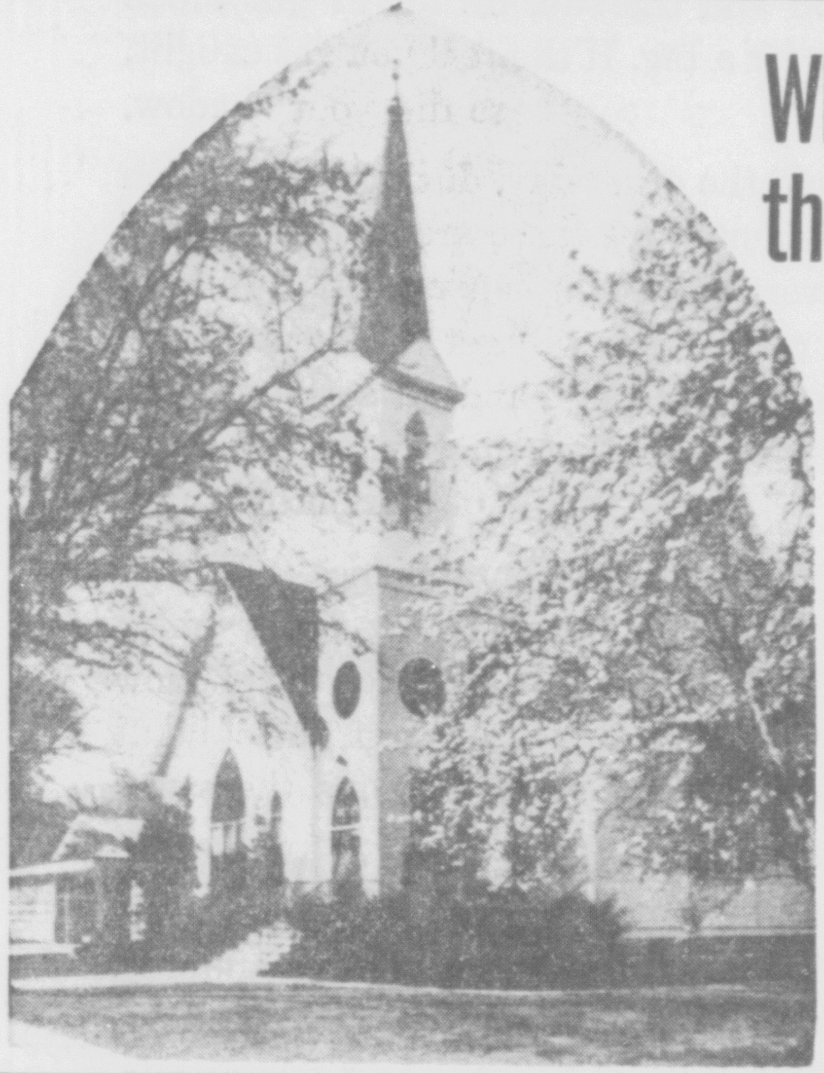
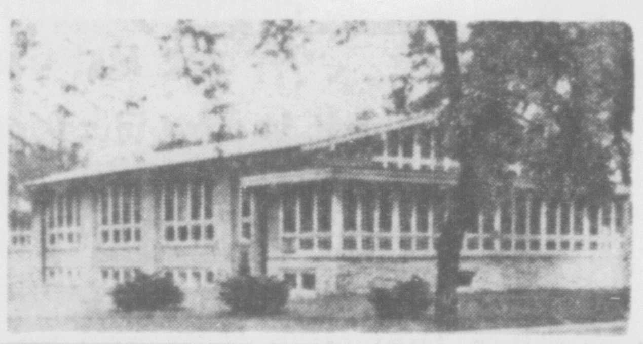
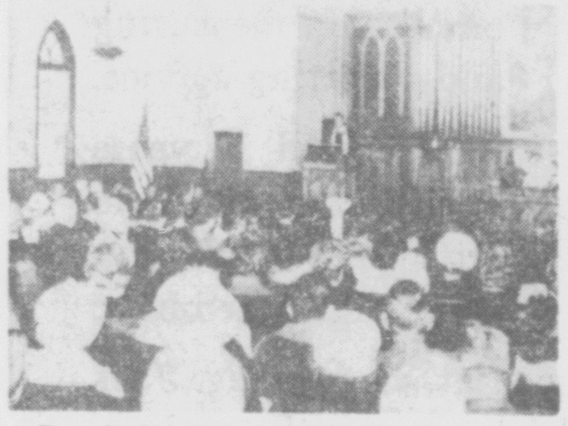
WHAT IS the United Church of Christ?



In Bensenville, Peace Church is one of three churches and a home for the aged representing the United Church. Located in the center of the village at Wood and Center streets, Peace Church has provided Sunday Worship and Church School since the turn of the century. The over 300 families of Peace Church invite you to Sunday Worship at 9:15 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. and your children to our church school at 9:15 a.m. Many other organizations and fellowship groups within the church also invite your interest.





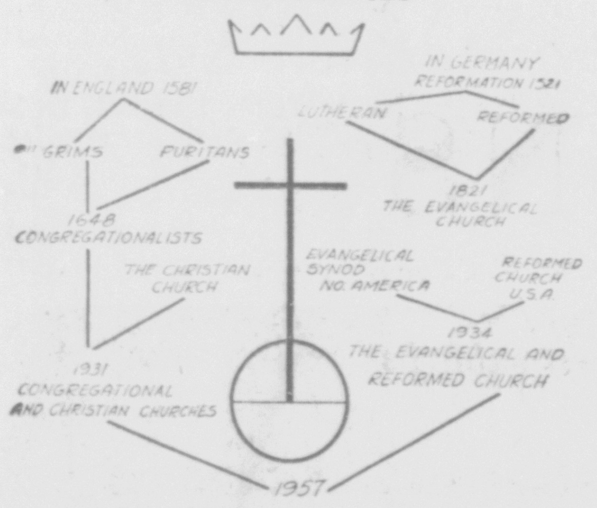
Pastor Ed Geltz leads the congregation in worship and in the sermon preaches God's Word to contemporary man.

Over 300 children from age 3 through Jr. High attend Sunday Church School classes. Above, a second grade class learns of the Christian faith and life.

Teens meet to discuss living as Christians in a world that is rapidly changing. Our youth program includes discussion groups, fellowship nights, and weekend retreats.

The United Church of Christ

HISTORICALLY MERGING BY RESOLVING OUR DIFFERENCES



The United Church of Christ is a new denomination, with roots that are centuries old. It came into existence in 1957 when the Congregational Christian, and the Evangelical and Reformed Churches merged. England's 16th Century Reformation gave birth to the Congregational Church, whose members were among the Pilgrims. The Evangelical and Reformed Church was born of the Reformation in Europe under men like Luther, Zwingli, and Calvin. The United Church of Christ is a united and a uniting church.

MOUNT EMBLEM

"Illinois' Most Beautiful Cemetery"
Site of the
OLD DUTCH MILL
Built in 1850

The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to MOUNT EMBLEM CEMETERY in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.

Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.

Autumn brings a glorious burst of color to the superb landscape of Mount Emblem. This is one of Nature's most impressive moments which we invite you to enjoy.

You will see acre upon acre of multi-colored effects from our great variety of trees and shrubs each lending its particular hue to the scene.

For such extensive landscaping you could reasonably expect to pay more. Yet our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.

County Clerk Explains Fine Points of Voting

With national, state and local elections only a month away thoughts are turning to voting eligibility and preparation.

"If you're not registered by Oct. 5, you cannot vote," DuPage County Clerk Ray W. MacDonald warns.

And Oct. 5 is the first day for an absent voter to file application for a ballot. It is also the last day for transfer of registration; the last day upon which to file application for hearing where a registration is incomplete; and the last day for registration in the Office of County Clerk in Wheaton if there is a second precinct registration day.

If there is not, then Oct. 6 is the final day for registering.

"It's really not so complicated," MacDonald explained, "just be certain that you are properly registered, then, make certain that you vote."

THERE IS a new law in effect this year for the first time, MacDonald points out. It was passed to reduce the "disenfranchisement" of voters who have recently moved into a district.

As a new (less than one year) resident of Illinois a voter may apply for a presidential-vice presidential ballot only providing he has lived in his precinct 60 days by the date of the election, Nov. 3, and provided he was a qualified voter in his former state of residency immediately prior to moving here.

It further provides that a new resident of DuPage County, coming here from another county within the state, may apply for the presidential-vice presidential ballot, provided he's been a resident of this county less than 90 days, but in his precinct 60 days, and was qualified in the precinct where he last lived.

Oct. 3 is deadline date for making application for these limited ballots, MacDonald stated. They may vote at the county clerk's office between Oct. 19 and Oct. 31.

BUT MACDONALD'S office has a sense of uneasiness about application of this new law. "It was passed in July of 1963 and yet no one has challenged it," the county clerk said. He has requested an opinion from the state's attorney's office to clarify the wording of the law, but, until it is actually challenged and found to be unconstitutional, the county clerks are obliged to abide by it.

Voters, who expect to be away from their homes on Nov. 3, may vote by absentee ballot. Oct. 5 is the first day to seek an application and if a voter comes into the county clerk's office in Wheaton, he may also vote that same day, or until Oct. 31. By mail, he has until Oct. 29 to mail in his ballot.

Service men, their spouses and dependents, do not need to register, MacDonald stated. They obtain a card at their posts, mail to the county clerk in their home county and ballots will be mailed to them. They must be received by Oct. 29.

Auditor LaFleur's Duties Broadened by 1964 Law

In DuPage County the county auditor is also the "general financial accountant." This is a new duty allowed through legislation adopted by the General Assembly in 1963. DuPage was the first and is the only county to take advantage of the boradening of the auditor's responsibilities and powers.

Taking on these duties is Auditor L. D. La Fleur, Bloomingdale.

La Fleur helped draft the law, and as legislative chairman of the Illinois Association of County Auditors he testified for the passage of the bill by the Illinois Legislature.

"AS THE FASTEST growing county in Illinois, DuPage needs to keep tight reins on economy and efficiency in government . . . By expanding the duties of the auditor's office this has been achieved," La Fleur comments.

The new program includes:

—Auditing the receipts of the various county officers that are presented for deposit with the county treasurer,

—Devising and installing a system of financial records in the offices and divisions of the county, and —Maintaining a continuous internal audit of the transactions and financial records of the officers, agents or divisions of the county.

La Fleur has assumed the duty of keeping a running account of the amount of revenue a department has received during the fiscal year, the amount of expenditures and any balance left in the budget.

"Not too long ago it was sufficient to do this every 90 days. Three years ago I initiated a program of keeping revenue and expenditure tabulations every 30 days. Now we do it daily," La Fleur comments.

THE COUNTY auditor explains this daily tabulation helps assure that county offices will not overspend their budgets.

La Fleur serves on the special 10-member state commission named to draft uniform county auditing methods for Illinois.

Kirby Says Howlett Exaggerates Savings

John Kirby, Republican candidate for state auditor, has charged that incumbent State Auditor Michael Howlett "painted an untrue and distorted picture" of the financial operation of his own office when he claimed he saved Illinois taxpayers $600,000 during the 72nd biennium.

Kirby, in a statement, said a study of the record proves that Howlett's claim is false.

"The figures Howlett used to portray a $600,000 savings by design, painted an untrue and distorted picture of the financial operation of his office," Kirby said.

"IN ATTEMPTING to show he 'saved' taxpayers' money," Kirby said, "he failed to point out that he asked for and received $448,127 more than his predecessor, Auditor Elbert Smith, requested and received in the 1959-61 biennium.

"He also failed to point out that he had at his disposal $729,000 left over from the appropriation Auditor Smith had received," Kirby said, "of which he spent all but $92,557 in six months."

"It is easy to see why he failed to mention these figures, since they show a far cry from 'saving' $600,000."

Kirby said Howlett violated a cardinal rule of auditing — "He twisted the figures to make them come out the way he wanted them to," Kirby said, "not the way they actually were." (A15

Guitar, Folk Singing Lessons To Begin Oct. 8

The first session of guitar and folk singing offered by Arlington Heights Park District will begin Thursday, Oct. 8, for those who pay special attention to the string instruments. Children, 12 years old, teens and adults are allowed admission into the class.

Clifford T. Stewart, instructor for the summer guitar group, will again be giving instructions. The 10-week session will be held at Hasbrook Fieldhouse on Thursday evenings at 7:30.

Registration for the group is being taken at the park district office in Pioneer Park. Beginner and advanced instruction will be given.

30-Year Employe

William Kuespert, 235 N. Harvey Ave., Wood Dale, observed his 30th anniversary with The Northern Trust Co., Chicago, on Sept. 24. An expert carpenter, he has been a member of the building department staff since he joined the bank.

Electronic Buying Theme of Seminars

About 75 industrial distributors of electrical supplies, steel, stationery and office supplies in the Chicago metropolitan area recently attended the first of a series of seminars on the efficiencise of electronic purchasing being conducted by DoALL Co., Des Plaines.

Similar sessions were held for industrial users of cutting tools, gauges and industrial supplies.

Distributors attending Tuesday's meeting saw how the electronic equipment comprising DoALL's new Telematic ordering system is used to automate order processing. An IBM Data-Transmitter and a Bell System Data-Phone are the equipment used in the customer's purchasing department to transmit orders from prepunched inventory cards. At DoALL an IBM 026 receiver duplicates the order from this card in a matter of seconds. Within 24 hours the order is delivered to the customer.

SPEAKERS at the seminar contrasted this system of rapid buying with the conventional process which takes several days between the decision to buy and the delivery of the order. Whereas the conventional process takes 21 separate and time-consuming steps, the new Telematic System requires only three. The result, it was pointed out, is a saving in the cost of purchasing industrial tools and supplies of at least 50 per cent. In some cases saving runs as high as 70 per cent.

In addition to speeding deliveries and eliminating paper work, DoALL's Telematic System reduces the customer's need for maintaining large tool crib inventories. Such large inventories are unnecessary when tools and supplies can be obtained in 24 hours.

DoALL already has installed its Telematic Ordering System in its stores in Los Angeles, Chicago, Des Plaines, Rockford and Minneapolis. Soon it will be installed in other stores in Milwaukee, Cleveland, Cincinnati, New York and Philadelphia. Ultimately it will go into all 43 DoALL sales-service stores in the United States and Canada.

York Cooperative Sues Rightist Paul Stout

A long smouldering dispute between Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stout of Lombard and the York Center Community Cooperative Association has burst into the news this week. Stout, a Republican rightist writer and chemist, moved with his wife, Florence, from the home they built in the York Center Cooperative about 15 years ago.

Attorney Prentice H. Marshall filed suit in behalf of the Cooperative, an Illinois not-for-profit cooperation, against the Stouts seeking court action to "direct them to abide by their contractural agreement."

THE CONTRACT, entered into by all of the community's home-owners, regulates the purchase and sale of property in the Center, located south of Roosevelt Road, Lombard, near Meyers Road.

"We were never able to get clear title to the property," Mrs. Stout said when appraised of the suit. "We built that house ourselves with our own hands, out of current income. We never asked for a mortgage on it. Now, without a title, it is hard to find a buyer."

She expressed the opinion that "the completion has changed there over the years," and said that "open end contracts" allowed rules to be changed by a simple majority vote.

In July of 1963 the Stouts left the cooperative community and moved to 150 N. Main St., in Lombard. The house has remained unoccupied and, according to the suit, is in need of repairs.

THE PLAINTIFFS complain that the Stouts will not accept the highest appraisal of $16,000 for the house, that they owe about $800 in special and water assessments and over $2,000 in unpaid 1961, 1962 and 1963 county real estate taxes, plus other costs. They asked that they be deducted from the sale price of the house.

Mrs. Stout reported, "We brought it to an issue by holding back on our taxes. The money is being held in escrow, but we wanted to settle this thing."

York Center is a community of 72 homes with an estimated population over 300. The aim of those living there is "to promote and develop good will, high moral values, wholesome cooperative activities and healthy civic spirit."

RESIDENTS agree to abide by the Rochdale principles to live with open membership, allowing one vote for one member, to maintain religious and political neutrality and "decent labor conditions for employes and members.

Stout's name appeared as the author of several anti-Percy pamphlets during the primary campaign this spring, and he has written a number of other rightwing books and articles.

'Inherit the Wind' Cast Is Announced

The cast of Forest View High School's fall play, "Inherit the Wind," was named this week.

The play, written by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, is based on the Scopes Trial court battle between Clarence Darrow and William Jennings Bryan.

The famous "monkey trial" followed the arrest of a Tennesee school teacher who was teaching Darwin's theory of evolution.

IN LEAD roles are Jim McKelvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. McKelvey, 73 Forest Lane, Elk Grove Village; and Roger Baron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Baron, 915 S. School, Mount Prospect.

Other members of the cast include Pat Press, David Cook, Ron Camarata, Randy Farmer, John Maheras, Donna Roberts, Bill Brown, Tom Chilton, Clay Dahl, Bonnie Haynes, Dennis Richey, Bart Tarman, Bill McGrath.

Pat Tanerowicz, Bob Farber, Karen Wulff, Jim Dale, Pat Horn, Hale Tokay, Bill Wright, Ron Schuemann, Steve Tendrock, Larry Duncan, Jim Maroni, Phil Dorn, Terry Brenner, Kevin Knause.

STEVE BLAIR, Steve DeHaven, Paulette Felice, Terry Hysell, Barbara Blair, Jan Newren, Debbie Conley, Aline Wheeler, Dennis Roepke, John Beaston, Larry Green, Jerry Potter, John Vitta, Frank Nicodem, Richard Anderson, Dave Wanser, Sylvester Keefe, Bob Dorsch, and Bob Dunn.

The new faculty director is Daryl Schultz.

Superintendent Lists Available Scholarships

Four different kinds of scholarships will be awarded in DuPage County on the basis of the American College Test to be given in November, announced Roy DeShane, county superintendent of schools.

Applicants should contact their high school counselor for information on the time and place of the ACT test.

Two County Scholarships will be given to the highest ranking candidates. They are good for tuition for four years at any of the six state-supported universities in Illinois.

The Special County Scholarships awarded in counties with population of more than 100,000 also provide tuition for four years but may be used only at the University of Illinois.

BOTH THE County and the Special County Scholarships are awarded only to high school graduating seniors. They may be used in any course.

One scholarship in agriculture and one in home economics, good for tuition for four years, will be awarded. These are limited to agriculture or home economics at the University of Illinois.

These may be awarded to high school graduates who rank in the upper 50 per cent of their class or to those with college credit, who must have a 3.5 grade average in terms of the University of Illinois grading system. Those who have attended University of Illinois are not eligible.

In addition there are three scholarships to be awarded to children of veterans in each county. One will go to a child of a World War I veteran, one to a child of a World War II veteran and one to a child of a veteran who served between June 25, 1950, and January 31, 1955. Preference is given to those whose fathers are disabled or deceased.

THESE scholarships are good for four-year tuition in any course at the University of Illinois. No special average is required, and students who have studied at the University of Illinois or any other college are eligible.

All applicants must be residents of Illinois and the county in which application is made.

Especially for Women

Carol Sue Oliver Changes Her Name to Mrs. Fountain

Baskets of pink, yellow and white flowers enhanced Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church for the late summer rites of Miss Carol Sue Oliver, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Oliver of 704 S. Rosedale, Roselle, and Robert B. Fountain, son of the William B. Fountains of Meridian, Miss.

Double ring, the wedding was performed at 7 p.m. by Rev. Eugene E. Trieglaff of the Roselle parish. Virgil Prince, brother of Mrs. Oliver, accompanied his niece to the altar.

FOR HER AUG. 29 nuptials the bride wore a street-length silk organza dress lined with white taffeta. It was detailed with a full skirt, sleeveless bodice of lace and matching lace jacket with short sleeves and buttons at the back. The shoulder-length veil was topped with a crown of pearls, highlighted by Aurora Borealis.

Jewelry was a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom, and flowers, blue and white chrysanthemums.

Light blue chiffon over taffeta fashioned the street-length gown worn by Miss Sherry Mueller of Ontarioville, maid of honor. Sleeveless, the dress had a scooped neckline and a matching cape, small pillbox with matching veil and a bouquet, the reverse pattern of the bride's flowers, completed the ensemble.

MRS. OLIVER chose a pink taffeta with grey lace and a white corsage for the nuptials. The groom's parents were unable to attend; however, his brother, Maj. William L. Fountain, on his way home to Colorado Springs, flew in from New York to witness the service, as did his sister, Mrs. R. C. Randle of Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Randle departed for the wedding from Denver, where she and her husband were on a business trip, wearing a pink suit covered with grey lace. Upon arrival here, she was given a pink and white corsage.

Lloyd Oliver of Roselle, the bride's brother, served as best man. Immediately after the ceremony he and ushers, Eric Wendt of Lombard and Donald Frost, Roselle, joined 75 guests at a reception in the Oliver residence.

THE NEWLYWEDS visited the groom's parents in Mississippi for a week and then made their first home at 228 Addison St., Elmhurst.

A '64 graduate of Lake Park High School, the bride is employed at Farmers Equitable Insurance Co., Elmhurst. Her groom is a former student of Southern Mississippi University and is an audio salesman for E. J. Korvette in the same town. (Camelot Studios

BENEATH AN ARCHWAY of white roses and gladioli, a Wood Dale pair—Miss Sharon Olivia Stoeck, daughter of the Paul F. Stoecks, and John Samuel Rahe, son of the John S. Rahes, recently exchanged rings and vows during a high mass in The Church of the Holy Ghost. The bride's gown was chantilly lace, her headpiece, a white pearl chown with elbow-length French illusion veiling; and the bouquet, a cascade design of white roses and stephanotis. For contrast, her five attendants and the flower girl were attired in floor-length blue peau de soie and carried Mamie Eisenhower carnations in pink and white. Following the reception in Salt Creek Country Club for 600 guests, the newlyweds honeymooned at Miami Beach. The bride is a former student of Beloit College, and the groom, Loras College. Their new home is in Midlothian, Ill.

Medinah Bride Takes Trip Through State of Nevada

A honeymoon in the state of Nevada climaxed the Aug. 30 wedding of Miss Marian Zahorsky and Emanuel Molakakis. At a 4 p.m. service in The Lutheran Church of St. Luke, Itasca, the pair were united in holy matrimony by Rev. Kurt Grother.

Among guests witnessing the rites were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Zahorsky of 7N315 Medinah Road, Medinah, and the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Farazakis, who traveled from their home in Cleveland for the service.

IN FLOOR-LENGTH. Miss Zahorsky's bridal gown of organza over taffeta had a scalloped neckline trimmed with seed pearls and a bell-shaped skirt with attached Watteau train. White orchids, stephanotis and ivy made up the bouquet and an illusion veil was held in place by a crown in scallop design.

The copen blue floor-length gowns of organza over taffeta worn by her four attendants were contrasted with bouquets of yellow shattered mums. Mrs. William Wuestenfeld of Rolling Meadows served the bride as matron of honor; bridesmaids were Marlene Riforgiato of Medinah, Sue Sinon, Elmhurst, and Michele Zahorsky, who took the role of junior bridesmaid in her sister's wedding party.

Best man was Tony Farazakis of Cleveland, the groom's brother. Dean Pearson of De Kalb and the bride's brother, Donald, were ushers. A home reception feted the newlyweds in Medinah.

A graduate of Lake Park High School, the new Mrs. Molakakis was formerly with Lindberg Steel Treating Company. (SD

Golden Fellowship To Tour in Oregon

The Golden Fellowship of Bensenville has scheduled one last trip of the fall season — a "colorama tour" Oct. 5 of White Pines State Park in Oregon.

Those taking part will board a chartered bus at 9 a.m. at Peace United Church of Christ, 168 S. Center St., and return at 4:30 p.m. Included will be a ham dinner served in the lodge.

Reservations for the trip must be made before Oct. 3 with Mrs. Hofmann, PO 6-5016.

ON OCT. 15 the senior citizens will celebrate the third anniversary of the charter-meeting. All are invited to bring their favorite dish for the potluck luncheon at Evangelical United Brethren Church, 17 E. Lincoln.

Older adults of the community are welcome to visit or join this group on the third Thursday of each month from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Mrs. Gaskill, PO 6-1804 may be called for transportation.

This is a service of the VFW Auxiliary. (SD

Priest To Speak On Sex Education

REV. F. L. FILAS

The Rev. Francis L. Filas, S.J., known in church circles as a "one-man crusade for Christian family life," will be guest speaker the evening of Oct. 6 at a meeting of the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Peter Church, Itasca.

Born in Cicero, Ill. in 1915, Father Filas joined the Society of Jesus at the age of 17 and was ordained in 1945 after the customary 13 years of Jesuit training. Since 1950 he has been stationed at Loyola University, where he is now chairman of the theology department.

FATHER FILAS has written eight books on family living, has appeared on television nine times to present the annual Good Friday "Shroud of Turin," and has recorded a four-side LP album of his discussion of "Sex Education of Children for Parents."

Sixteen years ago he introduced the Cana Conference movement for husbands and wives in the Detroit area, and is currently a member of the Board of Conductors of the Cana Conference of the Chicago Roman Catholic Archdiocese.

The priest is scheduled to appear in St. Peter School hall at 8 p.m. next Tuesday. The public is invited. (SD

Tioga VFW Auxiliary

The initiation of new members will be the main point of interest tonight at the auxiliary meeting. It is hoped there will be a good turnout to welcome these new sisters to the organization.

Tioga Post 2149 and Auxiliary will hold the annual fall picnic this Sunday, Oct. 4, at Churchill Grove on St. Charles Road, west of rt. 53, from 11 a.m. to dusk.

FREE HOT dogs, ice cream and pop will be served, and games and prizes for children and adults will be part of the activities planned for members of the post, auxiliary and their immediate families.

Sept. 23 started the third year of the Tioga Post blood bank donor plan, and thus far, 36 pints were added to the bank.

The objective of the donor plan is to encourage all members to participate in the program as an act of charity. The program provides blood when needed to all participating members and their immediate families.

For further information on this plan, Richard Daehn or Catherine Losch, HE 9-2673, may be called. The next donor day is planned in December.

THE GOLD RUSH Day parade will take place this Saturday, Oct. 3, with a line-up at 12 o'clock. Many members are expected to be on hand to march in this annual civic activity.

Get well wishes are extended to Chuck Marsicek, department photographer, who is in Community Memorial Hospital in La Grange.

Catherine Whalen wishes to thank all post and auxiliary workers who assisted at the Tioga Softball League banquet last Saturday.

BOWLING standings are as follows:

Chow Hounds, 5-1; Gold Bricks, 5-1; Snafus, 4-2; U.S.O. Commandoes, 4-2; Dog Robbers, 2-4; Yard Birds, 2-4; Sad Sacks, 1-5; and Liberty Hounds, 1-5.

Peace Corps Talk Set For HEIH

Mrs. Edward Henninger, volunteer director, told of the move to a new volunteer office in the hospital and expressed a need for more women to volunteer help in all areas of the hospital.

Garden Club Holds Presidents' Meet

A program of floral arrangements by recognized artists in this particular field highlighted the annual presidents' Council Day of the Garden Club of Illinois.

Held in the Lake Shore Club, Chicago, the Sept. 21 program was preceded by a business meeting and luncheon, served in the ballroom. Plans were made for the club year and packets of information distributed to all club presidents in attendance.

MRS. WALTER Jarosh, president of the Garden Club of Bensenville, was accompanied by Mrs Walter Olhabzer, program chairman; and Mrs. Robert Kerch, Mrs. Ernest Ward and Mrs. James Quigley, conservation chairmen.

A Northfield woman, Mrs. Erwin Winters, as chairman of the speakers' bureau of the Garden Club of Illinois, arranged the program. (SD

Sunday School Convention

Using the theme, "Workers with Christ," the first Northern Illinois area Sunday school convention was held at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chicago, on Sept. 18 and 19.

Major addresses were presented by four officials of the Lutheran church, and the main work of the convention centered around department conferences for teachers entitled, "Meeting the Spiritual Needs of the Age Level and Pupils We Teach."

Sunday school workers in attendance from St. Paul Lutheran Church, Addison, were Esther Rittmueller, Esther and Martin Schwarz, La Vera Levin, Donna and John Kaedisch, Ted Johnson, Carl Burger, Harold Krentz and Vicar Wesenberg. (SD

FOR THE SECOND consecutive year, Tioga VFW 2149 Auxiliary, Bensenville, earned first place recognition in a nationwide contest for press and publicity. At the recent 51st national convention of the VFW Auxiliary in Cleveland, two Ernie Pyle plaques went to the local auxiliary and Paddock Publications' Bensenville Register. Accepting the award on behalf of The Register is Beth Weir, center, DuPage County Women's Editor, shown with Lorraine Garcia, auxiliary president, left, and Joyce Guido, news chairman for the '63-'64 club year. Child's Goal is Topic Oct. 6 at Holy Ghost

"Your Goal for Your Child" will be the subject discussed by Fr. James A. Voss when he speaks before the Holy Ghost Catholic Women's Club of Wood Dale, Oct. 6 at 8 p.m.

Founder of the Cana Marriage Movement, F. Voss was the first chaplain of the Christian Family Movement, and the first to initiate the Pre-Cana Conference for engaged couples.

AS A STUDENT at Loyola and the University of Chicago, he studied psychology and has been instructing classes at Quigley College for 22 years. Following his talk, Fr. Voss will head a question and answer period.

Refreshments will be served after the meeting by Mrs. Robert Thollander, Mrs. Alfred Galuszka, Mrs. Albert Ladubec and Mrs. James Dougherty.

The September meeting, first of the new club year, was well attended, states Mrs. Don Weslo. Of the many ideas formulated by the group was the introduction of an "Intention for the Month." Each month the club will select a special intention for the group to pray and work toward.

"Understanding and Sympathy for Other People" is the intention for the month of September. (SD

Friend's Night Held by OES

A festive "Friend's Night" was held Monday evening at the fire hall by the Bensenville Chapter of the Eastern Star. Many guests from the surrounding communities attended.

Of special note was the presence of a number of past matrons, with four of them holding offices for friends. Arriving from Arizona for a visit and the festivities were Marge Oakes and Marguerite Franzen.

Merriment was added when worthy matron and patron, Edna Dieckjriede and Clarence Hill were presented with a gasoline can and flashlight to make traveling easier — and avoid running out of gas while in formal attire. (SD

Attend Matinee Of Hamlet Film

Senior English students from area high schools attended the matinee performances of "Hamlet" at the Arlington Theatre last week.

Arlington and Forest View students saw the Wednesday afternoon "electrovision" production, and Prospect High School students attended Thursday's show.

The reading of "Hamlet" is a part of most seniors' work in English.

Scouts Stress Fire Prevention

Fire prevention, fire protection and fire escape planning will be emphasized by Boy Scout troops in the Northwest Suburban Council in connection with Fire Prevention Week from Oct. 4 to 10.

"Approximately 85 per cent of all deaths from fire occur in the home," Leonard Shure, chairman of the Scout Council's Health and Safety Committee, reports. "Moreover, burns are the principal cause of home deaths on all age groups between five and 65 years of age."

Macaroni Hint

When cooking macaroni or spaghetti, add a tablespoon or two of Spanish olive oil to the water. This prevents water from boiling over and keeps the strands of macaroni separate.

Critics Bury Bears

by TOM TULLY

This is the week when the whispers concerning the Chicago Bears became deafening. Most of the comments on the Bears in recent weeks have not been ones befitting the defending champions of anything.

The criticism has ranged from charges of complacency within the ranks to opinions that age has rusted the skills that won the National Football League title last December.

As is usually the case with criticism, the current demeaning of the Bears is cruel. For the most part it has bypassed the Chicago offense which was maligned so much last year that it is accepted as mediocre.

Critics Point To Defense

Instead it has been directed at the magnificent defense that led the Halas entry to the championship game and then won it by handing the offense two touchdowns.

The questions asked of the defense range from a punchy 'Wha hoppened' to the smug suspicion that the veterans who led the charge to the crown have suddenly run out of gas. All at the same time.

There is no doubt that the Bears are elderly by NFL standards. Ten members are 30 or over and four of them are 34. But age does not swallow up a team all at once, particularly not this early in the season.

There are other reasons for the Bears slow start. The first that comes to mind is injury. Certainly injuries are part of the game and a club without a certain amount of depth has no business regarding itself a contender. The Bears, however, have had more than their share. The defense has been stripped of Larry Morris. Bill George and Ed O'Bradovich have been part timers and Bob Kilcullen, the number one handy man, belongs in the same category. The Bears have been hit hard.

Pep Up The Offense

During the winter Halas decided to spruce up the offense. He gets no argument here, it needed it, but in doing so he must have realized the defense was going to suffer. While the 1963 offense was not a scoring one, it was a time consuming one. It seldom turned the ball over by interception or fumble. No more than it scored, it couldn't afford to. The point is, that magnificent Bear defense was often a rested one.

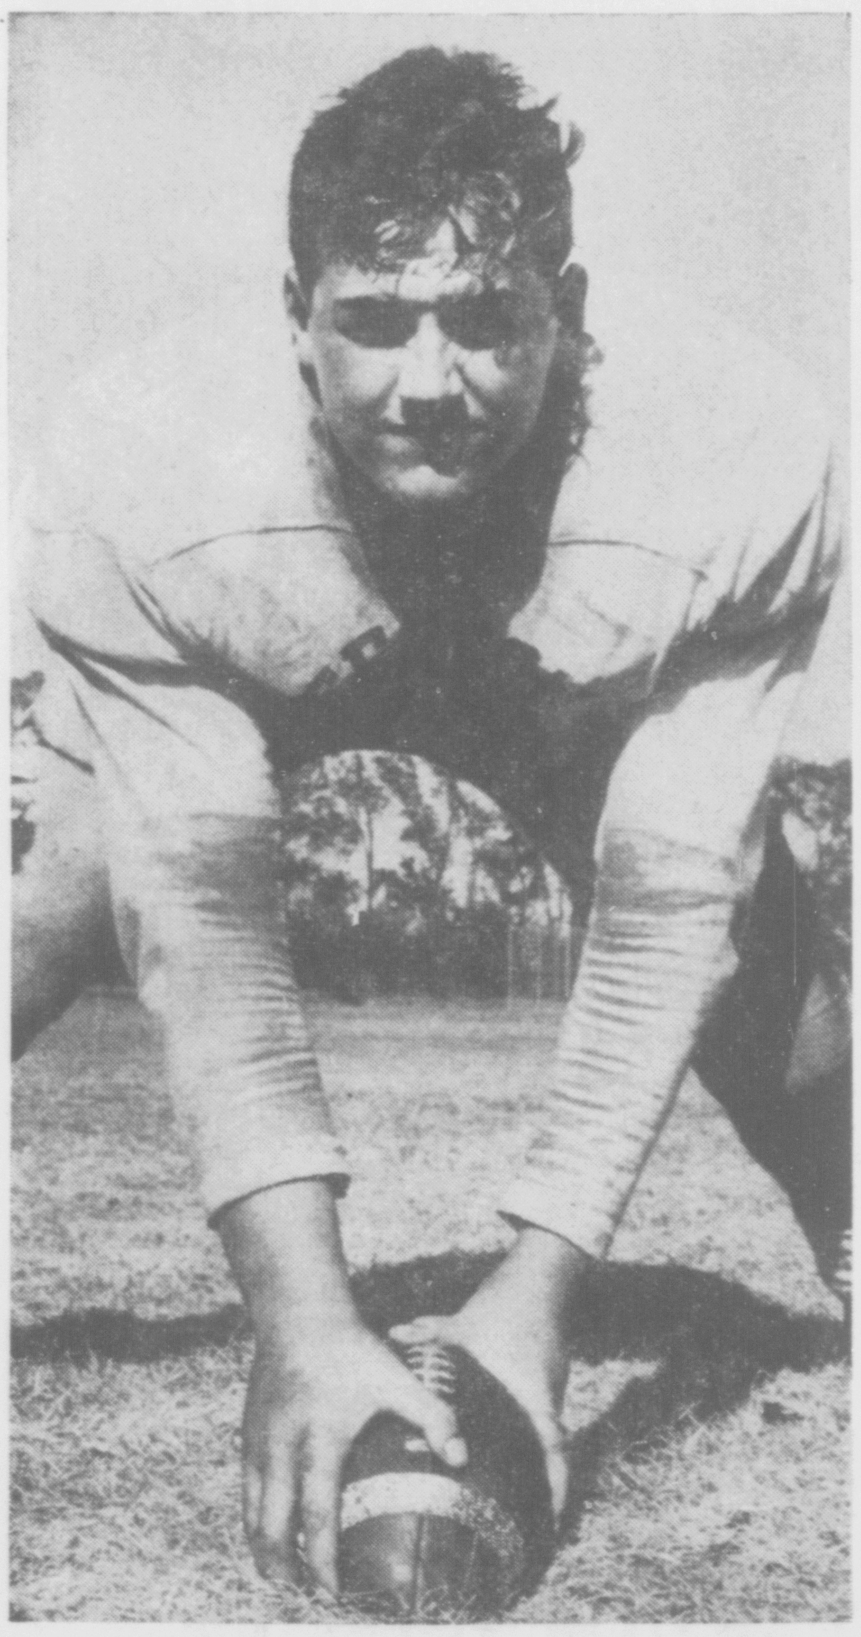
Consider the trades for Gary Barnes and Rich Kreitling. Halas intended to go to more of a passing game, or at least a passing threat. He has and with the pass comes the interception and added to that the Bears have shown an irritating tendency to fumble. The defense is playing more and at the rate they are giving up points, enjoying it less.

Yet another factor comes to mind. The NFL is set up to destroy the team on top by helping the lower clubs. Put another way, they try to achieve balance through an intelligent draft system. This gives the leader a shot at signing the fourteenth best player in the country, two of the top 28 and three of the most desired 42.

The natural argument for this is Green Bay and yet it is no argument at all. The Packers are riding high now, and only after holding up the league and picking off those top draft choices for several years. Instead look at Baltimore. The Colts rode the golden arm of Johnny Unitas to two titles in the late fifties, then fell abruptly to the middle of the league. Only now do they appear to be on the way back.

So now you have heard that malarkey about the balance of the league. But in the case of the NFL it isn't all baloney.

And while we are using the old standbys, let's use one more. The Bears have played just three games. Seven of the remaining eleven will be played in cozy Wrigley Field where Halas and his teams have been accused of some nasty things. Let the corpse get cold before you bury it.



LEW BAYLOR, 255 pound Fenton center was lauded by coach Bob Appleby for his play in the Bisons 7-0 victory over Mundelein. Appleby cited Baylor's blocking and his accurate centering in kicking situations despite the adverse weather conditions.

Willowbrook Travels Friday; Morton Tops Warrior Eleven

by PAT SIEVERT

The Willowbrook Warriors will travel to Maine South Friday evening to play the newest team in the Des Plaines Valley Conference.

It should be an interesting game, with Willowbrook looking for its first win this season and Maine South a surprising team, fresh from its first triumph.

Saturday afternoon Willowbrook battled Morton West in the first home game this season. So far the Warriors have built their whole offense around a passing attack, so the windy, rainy weather was a big factor in a 20-0 loss.

The game started as if it were going to be Willowbrook's day. After the opening kickoff Morton fumbled on its first play from scrimmage and the Warriors recovered on the fifty yard line.

Running out of the spread formation, with Bob Carpenter passingl the Warriors found it difficult to move, with the rain making the ball hard to handle.

After exchanging the ball a few times, Willowbrook blocked a punt attempt and took the ball over on their own 36 yard line.

STILL IN the spread, Carpenter had one of his passes picked off and Morton moved to Willowbrook's 16 yard line. The defense tightened and Morton was held to no gain.

Then a Willowbrook fumble was picked up by Mattas, who took it in for the score. The extra point was good and Morton led 7-0.

The rest of the first quarter found the ball changing hands, and Willowbrook having trouble passing on a very wet field .

STILL USING the spread formation, the Warriors couldn't make any yardage. They got a break when a 45 yard touchdown for Morton was called back and they fumbled on the next play.

Willowbrook moved nowhere and Morton took over again. After a few plays Bruce Self broke through for a 35 yard touchdown run for Morton. The extra point was no good but Morton West led 13-0.

The pouring rain thwarted the Warriors' chances of getting a big drive going and they had to relinquish the ball again. Near the end of the first half Morton West scored again on a fine run by Pete Salerno. The extra point was good and the half ended with Morton leading 20-0.

THE SECOND half found both teams bogged down by the rain. Both Willowbrook and Morton had scoring opportunities, but neither could seem to get moving.

Morton held the Warriors' passing attack to nothing and the weather didn't help either.

With the Warriors relying on their passing, they had better hope for good weather the rest of the year, or be forced to go to the ground.

Willowbrook JVs Record 20-12 Win

The Willowbrook [illegible]sity football team pulled out a 20-12 victory over Morton West Saturday.

Morton drew first blood with two minutes left in the first quarter when Clish hit Krejci for a 25 yard touchdown. The kick was no good and Morton led 6-0.

In the second quarter Tiberio hit Fars for a 44 yard touchdown on a beautiful play. The point was good and Willowbrook led 7-6.

Near the end of the first half Fars ran 12 yards for Willowbrook's second touchdown. The extra point was good, leaving the score 14-6 at the end of the first half.

In the third quarter Morton scored again, making the score 14-12, but near the end of the game, the Warriors sewed it up with another touchdown.

Record Crowd

The Illinois-Ohio State football game here Oct. 10 will establish a new crowd record for an Illini home opener. The present mark of 64,819 was established in 1959, with Army as the opponent.

PAUL SCHMAUS, Lake Park tackle has been one of the solid performers in coach Bob Monken's forward wall this year. He'll be in the starting lineup when the Lancers entertain St. Viator on Homecoming Day, Saturday. (Staff photo)

Lancers Hope to End Loss Skein Saturday Against St. Viator

by DICK DAVIS

Still seeking their first football victory of the season, Lake Park's varsity Lancers will entertain an unbeaten St. Viator eleven Saturday afternoon.

In the Lions, coach Bob Monken's squad will be facing a rugged squad which has not yielded a point in two games in posting victories over Glenbrook South (2-0) and Crane Tech of Chicago (13-0).

The 2:15 p.m. scrap will find the Arlington Heights squad cast in the favorite's role with the host squad again assuming the underdog tag.

ST. VIATOR, a Chicagoland Prep League squad, will be facing the Lancers for the first time in athletic competition between the schools. The Lions feature a sturdy defense that has been spearheaded by a large, mobile forward wall.

Pacing the visitors on offense will be halfbacks Tim Walinski and Steve McNamara and fullback Bob Rogowski. Mike Campana, a junior, and Dennis Wilkinson, a senior, have been alternating at quarterback.

Walinski is the boy to watch. He has good speed and is a breakaway threat. The 155-the current loss string now standing at 10 straight.

Last Saturday, Ridgewood's highly regarded Rebels bumped the Lancers by a scant 7-0 score and took one stride toward the successful defense of their Tri-County Conference crown. While the Rebs were slipping past the pound senior paced the Lions in rushing as a junior.

THE LOCAL entry, meanwhile, has been plagued with a sputtering offense although last Saturday's miserable weather conditions were hardly suitable for judging a team's offensive problems.

At any rate, Lake Park will be facing a difficult task in the Chicagoland opponent. Working for the locals, however, is the fact that it is Lake Park's Homecoming and the Lancers are anxious to stem the tide of Packers, they got some solid help via Fenton's surprising 7-0 upset win over Mundelein's highly touted Mustangs.

Reb quarterback Jon Jagusch completed a 19 yard TD strike to end Alan Karpa midway through the 2nd quarter to culminate a 55 yard paydirt drive. Seconds later fullback Rich Young added the extra point to put the finishing touches on the day's scoring.

THOSE FEW fans brave enough to witness the two teams in action will probably remember that the two squads had more difficulty confronting the cruelties of mother nature than doing serious "rockem sockem" battle against each other. While the two teams floundered through four quarters of turf tearing, the icy 40 to 50 mile an hour winds and teeth chattering rains produced such zany antics as 13 fumbles, seven by the Rebels and six by the Lancers. Statistically, Ridgewood managed to somehow gain 140 yards total, while the Lancers managed but 68 total yards in the air and on the ground.

Earlier, the Rebel frosh-soph squad handed the Lancers a 14-0 defeat. Both squads had suffered noticeably from the turbulent weather conditions, but the visitors proved to be better mudders.

First a safety gave Ridgewood a 2-0 lead in the opening quarter, and two quick second period touchdowns were set up by the conveniences of a recovered fumble and good field position after a pass interception.

Travelers Drop 16-13 Loop Decision

The Elmhurst Travelers lost their first game in Central States League play last Sunday, to a tough and much improved Madison, Wis. team in Madison, 16-13.

Madison led at halftime, 7-0. Mike Devine, Mustang QB, hit Phil North with a 28 yard pass for the score after moving the ball 70 yards by pinpoint passing, and some fine running by Sonny Redders. Redders kicked the extra point.

The Travelers missed a good chance to even the score when they moved the ball to Madison's eight yard line late in the second quarter. A costly fumble that was recovered by Madison stopped this drive.

ELMHURST kicked off to Madison to start the second half and while the Mustangs were deciding just what they should do, or who should take the ball, Stanley Smagala raced up and fell on it on Madison's 49 yard line.

A sweep play by Alex Cichowski gained 36 yards, and then big Lou Neuman battered his

Standout May Play Saturday

Fenton Tops Mustangs In Key League Contest

by BOB RADER

Corky Kero, Bob Appleby's star halfback, who led the Bisons to a 7-0 victory over Mundelein, is a doubtful starter for Saturday's game with the Elmwood Park Tigers.

Kero left last Saturday's game with the Mustangs in the final quarter with facial injuries. He was taken to Elmhurst Memorial Hospital for treatment and then dismissed.

At first it was feared that he might have sustained a broken nose besides the cuts. But, X-rays proved negative. He did, however, have four stitches put in his lower eyelid and uppercheek. His face was puffed up, and he'll be wearing a shiner for some time.

APPLEBY HOPES Kero will be ready by Saturday and will be able to play, wearing a full-protection, "bird-cage" face mask. He didn't know his status at the beginning of this week.

Kero was injured with less than four minutes to play. He was thrown for a loss on the Mundelein 27 when the freakish accident occurred. Mundelein's Jack Wiech came up to put a final tackle on Kero, who had been stopped for a two-yard loss. Wiech couldn't stop in time on the wet and slippery field and slipped into the pile-up.

When the officials started untangling the knot of arms and legs, they discovered that Wiech's foot was lodged under the right side of Kero's face bar. Fortunately, the cleats were turned away from his face, and the soft part of the shoe was against it.

Other than Kero's injury, the Bisons came out of the Mustang game without any other injuries.

Halfback Bob Johnson, who has been out all week suffering from exhaustion, has gotten the o.k. to play Saturday.

LAST YEAR the Bisons beat the Elmwood Park Tigers 14-13. Jim Marinangel's 102-yard run with an intercepted pass highlighted that contest.

Last week Elmwood Park was upset by Cary-Grove's Trojans 7-6.

In Saturday's 7-0 upset of title-minded Mundelein, the Bisons took advantage of strategy that backfired on Mundelein coach Wayne Whitmore. Late in the first quarter, Mustang quarterback Nick Tangorra fumbled on the Fenton 44. Bison tackle Glen Warkentien recovered the first of three balls he was to get that day.

The Bisons worked the ball into Mundelein territory and had a fourth down on the 44. Whitmore anticipated a punt and pulled his deep backs off the field, not wanting to risk a fumble deep in his own territory. However, the Bisons didn't punt. When fullback Dennis Fitzpatrick burst through right tackle, there was no one to stop him as he romped for the only touchdown of the game. Once the Mustang players had left the field, they could not return.

Fitzpatrick scored the PAT on a run to make the score 7-0.

THE GAME was a see-saw of punts and fumbles before a scant handful of spectators huddles under umbrellas, plastic sheets and soaked blankets.

CORKY KERO

The field was covered with water, and each time a back ran he kicked up a small wake behind.

Perhaps the key to the Herd's win was the fine punting of Kero and the errorless center snaps back by the Bisons' big center Lew Baylor. Kero averaged more than 35 yards per kick. The Mustang punters, meanwhile, had several bad snaps resulting in bad kicks. Fitzpatrick partially blocked one by Steve Boothe, and on one occasion the ball dribbled out of the center's hands on an attempted snap. Fenton recovered.

AFTER THE game, Appleby said his defense was tough. It was. Warkentien turned in a fine game at tackle, particularly in the first half. Kero also played an outstanding defensive game, making more tackles than any other Bison.

Corner linebacker and halfback Tim O'Keefe was also tough. O'Keefe tackled one Mustang back so hard that the ball squirted out of his hands. O'Keefe's arms were wound so tightly around the back that he couldn't recover the ball which went to Mundelein on their own 15.

Assistant Bison Coach Dick Camp also singled out Baylor's blocking on offense as being outstanding, in light of the weather conditions. Tackle Bob Gallas and linebacker Paul Poplawsky's play also brought praise from Appleby.

The Bisons tested a new offense, but the weather conditions limited its use. They split one end and placed a setback in the gap. However, quarterback Jim Dahlstrom, who played the entire game, tried only two passes, completed none and had one intercepted.

Press box dedication ceremonies, scheduled for halftime, were cancelled. The new Meneguin Field press box will probably be dedicated Oct. 10, homecoming at the local high school.

Fenton Harriers Drop Two Meets; Sophs Unbeaten

Bob Townsend's varsity harriers of Fenton High School-l dropped meets to St. Procopius last Wednesday and Mundelein last Friday to bring their record to 2-3. The Bison soph runners, meanwhile, ran their string to five straight without a loss.

Rich Hebel paced all runners in the St. Procopius meet, but the next Bison runner was Paul Miller, who finished sixth. The Fenton thinclads lost 21-40. Lowest score wins in cross country.

In last Friday's meet with Mundelein's Mustangs, conference champ Mark Hopkins of Mundelein barely nosed out Hebel for first in the varsity event. Hopkins broke the old course record of 10:21 by one second. Hebel tied the record to finish second. His 10:21 clocking however, broke his old school record of 10:30 for the course at Mohawk Country Club.

FENTON'S Paul Miller finished third, but Mundelein got the next four places to sew up the victory. Carl Wanzung of Fenton finished eighth.

Bob Fraser took first place honors in both the meets for the Bison sophs. Ted Hebel finished second at St. Procopius, and Steve Levon, Al Rothmeeler, Bill Brose, Ernie Rodriguez and Stan Lind were seventh to eleventh, respectively. The sophs edged their hosts 27-30.

Mundelein's Al Gallinati was second but Fenton got the next three places to defeat the Mustang sophomores 19-40. Hebel was third, Levon fourth, Bob Wright fifth and Clare Giltner sixth.

Buicks Roll 3rd Straight Shutout Win

Stretch PCTL Lead With Win Over Casares

Come on fellas, cut it out.

The way Bill Cook Buick is trouncing the rest of the Paddock Classic Bowling League, the first half race may soon develop into one for second place.

After three weeks of play in the PCTL the Buicks have a 'perfect' total of 21 points. Shutout number three came last Saturday evening at the expense of the Casares Pro Bowlers.

HAL NORUM

Other action found Gunnell's, a solid contender for first last week, fighting to hold onto second after dropping a 4-3 decision to Country Lanes. Gunnell's second place standing is in peril because The Brass Rail Restaurant lashed Pioneer Lanes 5-2 to move within one point of second.

THE FINAL match of the evening saw improved Jeffery Lanes whip Morton Pontiac, 5-2.

John Kmety, a talented newcomer on the Jeffery team, and Hal Norum, a Morton veteran, shared individual honors for the evening. Kmety claimed high game with the first leg of a snappy 267-177-209—653. Norum edged Kmety and George Schmidt of Pioneer (also 653) for top series with a consistent 206-229-226—661.

The Buicks had no prolific scoring to match these, but Paul Borvig gave them a 623 and Al Haase chipped in with a 610 as the leaders survived close calls in the second and third games to remain unscored upon. Match honors went to Don Oberg, who rolled a 624 for Casares.

BOTH COUNTRY Lanes and Gunnell's suffered through off nights as CL copped the first and third games but lost the point for total pins to an 84 point Gunnell edge in the second game. Tom Kouros of Gunnell's led both teams with a 618.

The Brass Rail displayed superior balance in its victory over Pioneer. Fred Des Jardin paced the win with a 622. Schmidt's match topping 653 featured a 257 in the first game.

Kmety got lots of help from Don Christensen (208-205-225 — 638) and Ted Zimmerman (159-225-225—609) as the Jeffery team posted 3061 total, highest in the league this year. The winners needed it because the Pontiacs led by Norum and Les Zikes (628), came up with their best effort of the season, a 2916.

LP Tops Knights, Larkin

Before the start of the cross country season, Lake Park cross country coach Tom Meehan had this to say about his Lancer harriers. "We lack the outstanding boy. If we have a good season, it will be because of our depth."

In chalking up their second and third straight wins of the dual season, the Lancers not only did so in convincing style, they made a prophet out of Meehan.

The Lakers routed West Leyden 20-37 on Sept. 17 and whipped Elgin Larkin 20-35 last Tuesday. In both cases, the individual winner represented the losing team and in both meets Lake Park took the next five places.

Sims of West Leyden raced to an easy 19 second victory over the Lake Park course in the first meet but Lancers Kay Sams, Yurgen Markewycz, Bob Westerlund, Andy Ritting finished within eight seconds of each other to grab the next five places.

Buehler of Larkin nipped Markewycz by one second on Tuesday, but the other four Lancers took the next four spots.

Fenton's Sophs in 12-0 Win

Fenton's sophomores scored touchdowns in the second and fourth quarters to shut out Mundelein's underclassmen 12-0.

The Bisons' first score came three plays after Paul Stany recovered a blocked Mustang punt. Mickey Finn scored the TD on a 27-yard run. Phil Philiben's PAT run was short.

The second and final touchdown came on a 81-yard run by Philiben late in the final stanza. Paul Wagner's PAT run was no good.

Sophomore line coach Paul Brostrom praised the work of guards Larry Venziano and Phil Cooper as being instrumental in the win.

It was the second straight shut-out for the Bison underclassmen. They defeated West Leyden two weeks ago 26-0.

Boedicker's 77-76 Takes Golf Honors

Bob Boedicker fired 18-hole totals of 77 and 76 to capture top honors in the Golden Acres Country Club golf tournament.

Boedicker, representing the Hoffman Men's division, finished six strokes in front of Bob Powell, who carded a 159.

Eli Sargis was third with 161. John Milke, John Andrup, and Len Haines, Sr. tied for fourth with 163s and Andrup won the playoff.

The Hoffman Estates Men's league took team honors with a unit of Boedicker, Powell, Roger Leland, Harry Grover, and Milke.

59ers Hold Awards Luncheon

The annual awards luncheon of the Hoffman 59ers Ladies Golf League was held at Golden Acres Country Club.

Trophes were awarded to the members of the first place team, Frank's Beauty Salon. The team was led by Captain Joy Keesee, whose team-mates were Jean Witt, Sibyl Mann, Doris Morrissey, and Betty Schultz. Mrs. Frank Vaccaro accepted the trophy for Frank's Beauty Salon.

Clara Gerker was presented with a trophy for Most Valuable Player in the league for 1964. Named as the most improved golfer for the year was Pat Vancel.

Prizes were given to all members for the 18 hole tournament. A special plaque was placed in the clubhouse naming the player who scored low gross in the tournament. The honor went to Jean Witt for her gross score of 106.

New officers for the 59ers were elected for the 1965 season. President Clara Gerker was re-elected and Mary Sayad and Joy Keesee were named secretary and treasurer respectively.

At Rolling Meadows

Wally Krupa of Rolling Meadows Realty rolled a high series of 644 in the Rolling Meadows Men's Handicap league . . . Wally had games of 241 and 236.

THE DOWNPOUR during the Wheeling-Niles North game last Saturday failed to dampen the enthusiasm of Wildcat cheerleader Sue Ryan as she led Wheeling followers at the school's first home game. Sue's cheers were in vain, however, and Niles North spoiled the inaugural with an 8-6 victory.

Women's Classic

Pontiacs Gain Tie for Lead

Penny Smith and Joan Lindahl fired the big series Saturday evening to lead Morton Pontiac to a 4-0 blitz of Country Lanes and share of first place in the Paddock Women's Classic League.

Penny fashioned a 586 and Joan chipped in with a 565 as the Pontiacs pushed their record to 7-1 in the six-team gals division.

Morton had to be tough to keep pace with Steve's Restaurant as Steve's, the first week's leader with a 4-0 white-washing of Bill Cook Buick, took three points from Owens Plastics.

IN OTHER action Saturday River Rand Bowl picked up three points from Bill Cook Buick and climbed into third place in the women's league.

Penny Smith's 218 was the big game for Morton Pontiac as it rolled past Country Lanes 4-0. Penny opened with a modest 177 but was red-hot in her two final games with efforts of 191 and 218.

Nancy Dietz was high for Country Lanes with a 494 series.

Steve's Restaurant continued to roll along thanks to some strong performances by LaVerne Rosset (571) and Bonnie Kuhn (565). Both gals had 210 games.

ROSE KRAFT topped Owens Plastics with a 543 series. Hellen Kijak fashioned a 221 game but had to settle for a 510 series. Peggy Harris had a 210 game and 512 series.

Ethel Juenger contributed the top series of the evening, a booming 590, in pacing River Rand Bowl past Bill Cook Buick, 3-1. Ethel had games of 198 and 224 before slipping to 168.

Marlene Smith was the only Cook Buick competitor able to eclipse 500. She fired a 534 with high game of 187.

Fenton Frosh Register Split

A safety and long return of the ensuing kick-off resulted in eight points, and that was all Mundelein's frosh 'A' football team needed last week in an 8-0 victory over Fenton.

The Mustangs did all their scoring in the second quarter.

Fenton had better luck on a 'B' level, scoring a touchdown in the second period for a 6-0 victory. Seggeling counted on a two-yard plunge.

Lancer Frosh Nip Lakewood

Paul Mahon crashed in from four yards out and Terry Marino added the extra point as Lake Park's frosh football squad nipped Lakewood of Dundee, 7-0, in the season opener.

The only touchdown came in the second period.

Mahon was credited with playing an outstanding game on offense, and Jeff Petterbridge was cited for his work in the line.

way to the 5 yard line. On the next play, Tom Beck went into the end-zone on a keeper play. John Scheldrup kicked the extra point.

Later in the same quarter, Beck passed to Don Busch in the end-zone to put the Travelers ahead 13-7. The try for the extra point split the uprights but a halfback in motion penalty forced the Travelers to kick again, and this time Madison blocked it.

JUST BEFORE the quarter ended, Madison broke through and blocked a punt on Elmhurst's 37 yard line. Arnold Mott, who was now directing the Mustangs, immediately lofted a beautiful 32 yard pass to Milt Bakken, who was downed on the Traveler five.

On the very next play, Mott ran around his own left end to score. Dave Oxie blocked the kick for Elmhurst, making the score 13-all.

In the fourth quarter, the Travelers drove deep into Madison territory twice, but the best that they could do was get to the 18 yard line before giving up the ball to Madison.

A 4TH DOWN roughing the passer penalty against the Travelers, with less than four minutes to play, gave Madison their big opportunity to win, and they took advantage of it by moving to Elmhurst's eight yard line.

A tough defense by the Travelers here held for three downs, but Redders who had been in Elmhurst's hair all afternoon, kicked the winning field goal. Tom Beck moved the Travelers up to the Mustangs 25 yard line but time ran out.

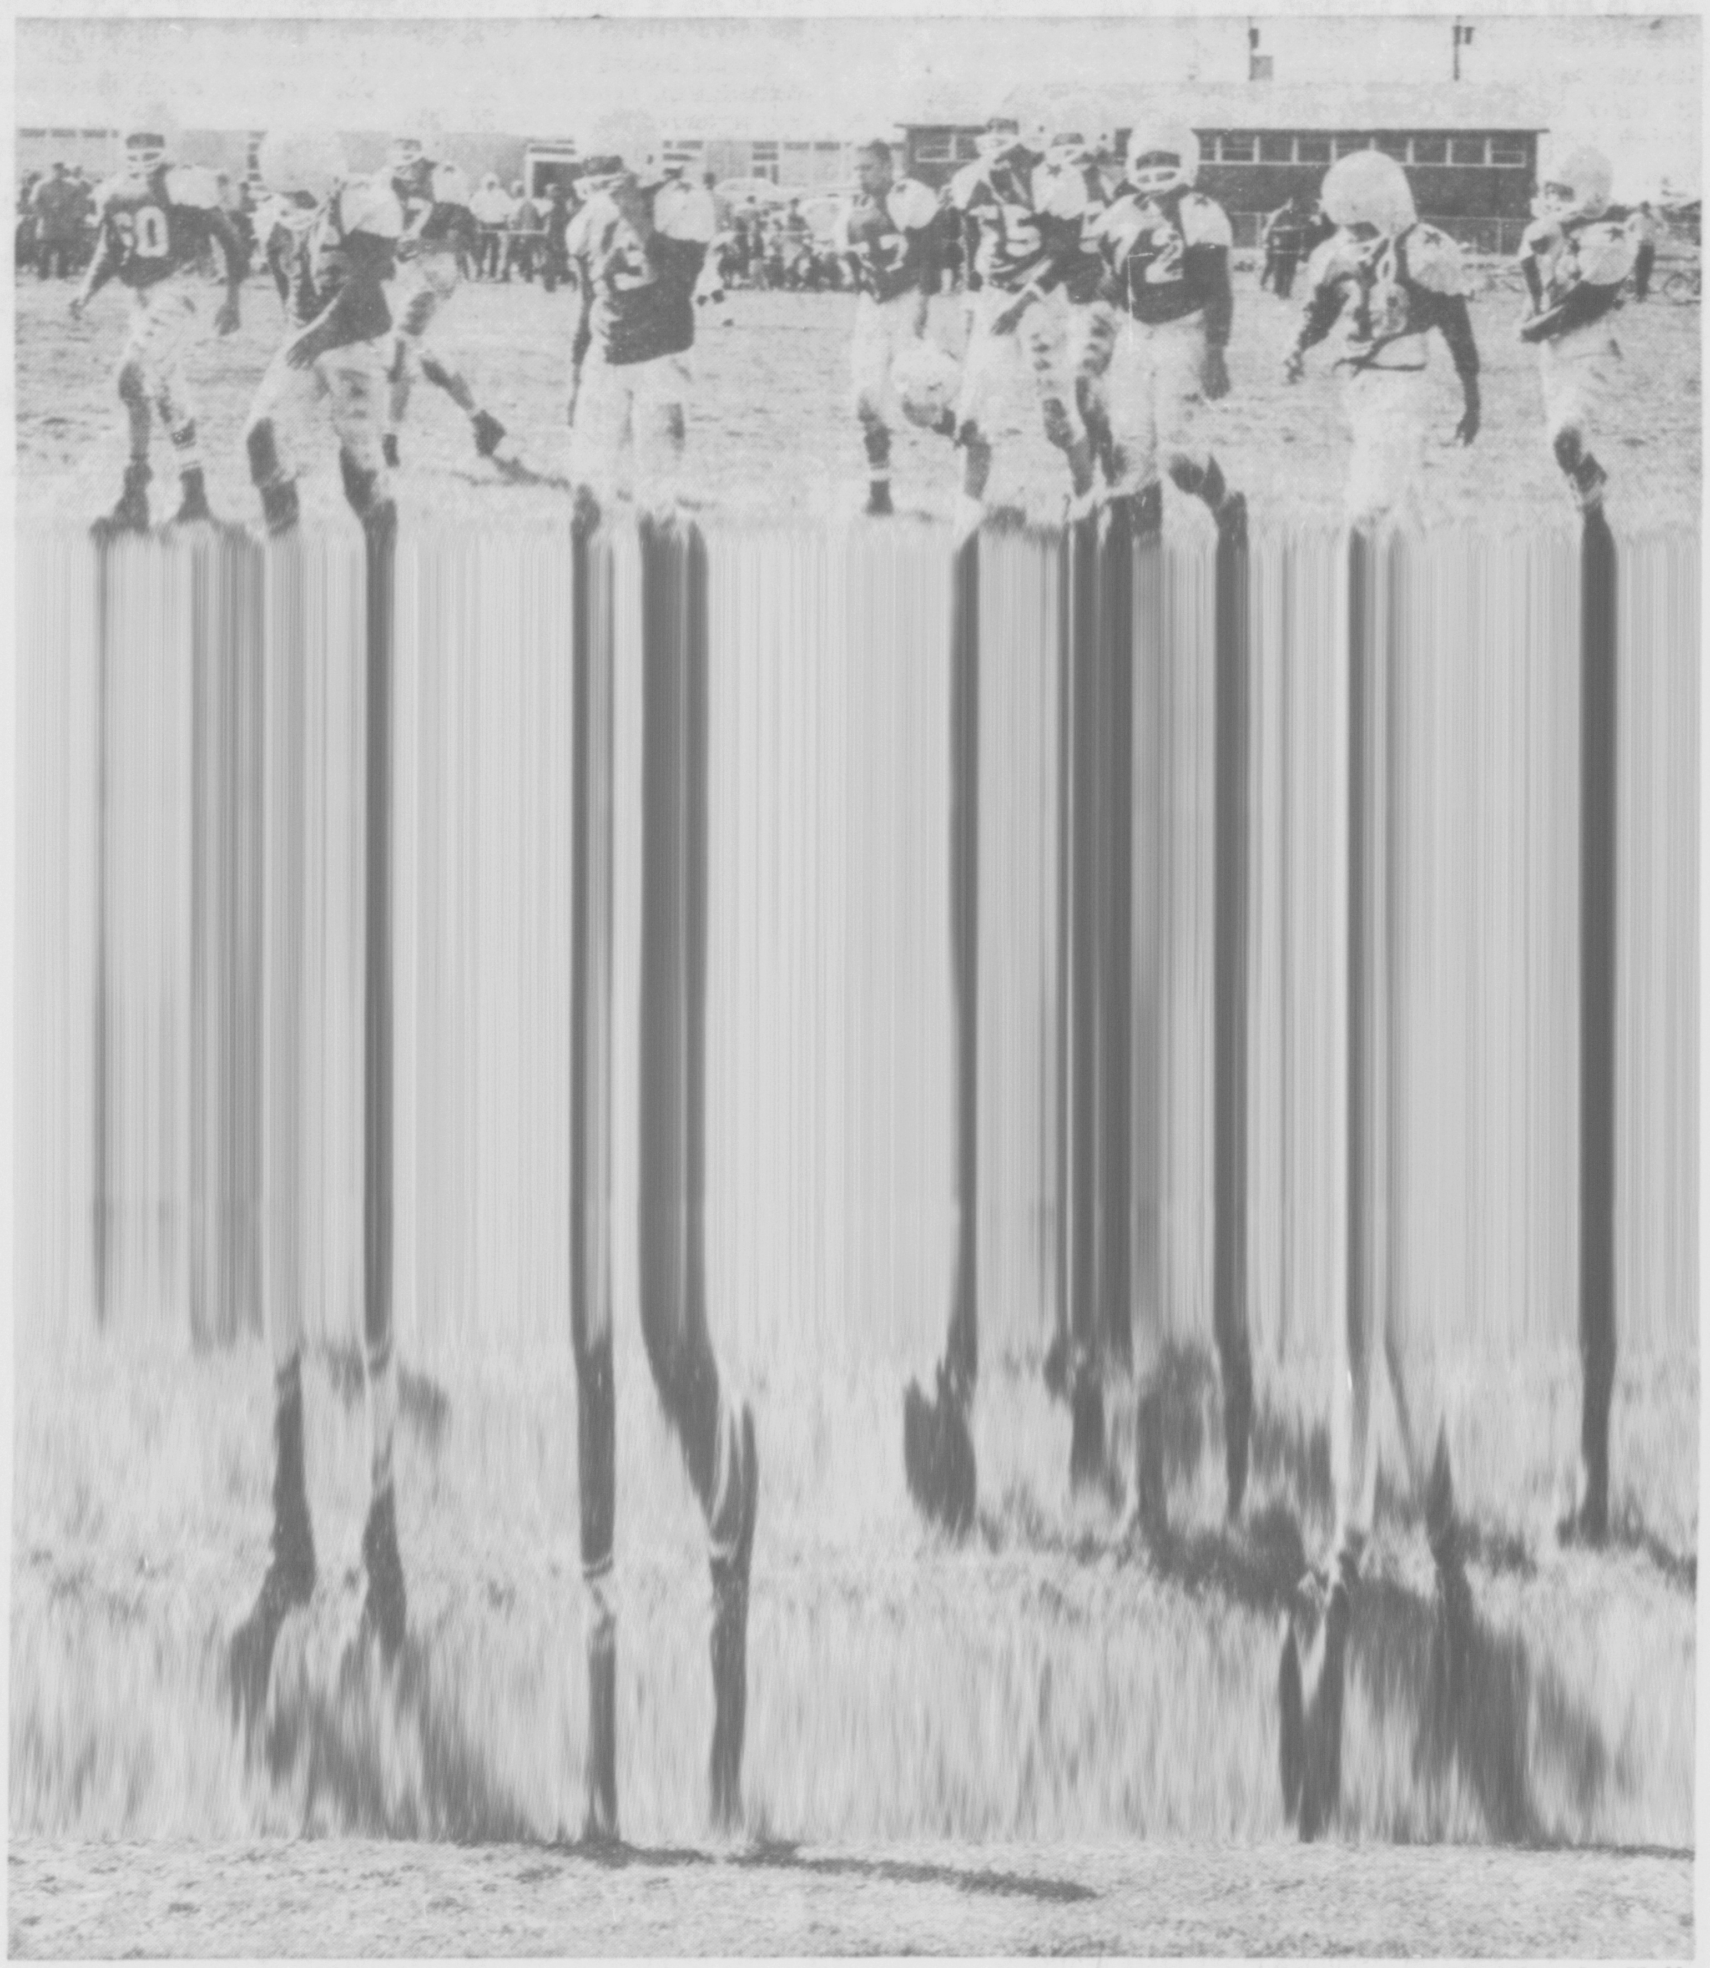
Pomp, Pageantry Spur Pint-Sized Gridders



DEJECTEDLY LEAVING the field are members of the Addison boys football team which just dropped a tough 13-7 decision to the Hoffman Estates Commandos in the 100-pound division game. Sunday was Homecoming Day for the Hoffman Estates teams and it was celebrated with a queen and parade in addition to the football games. (A15

Are They Ready For 'Big Time'?

by BEN BURNS
Staff Writer

Games in the Chicago Suburban Junior Football League have all the color, pomp, pageantry and pressure of their high school and college counterparts.

As has been cited as a major fault of Little League baseball ,the pint-sized players' parents are ofter accused of shifting the emphasis from "how you played the game" to winning.

Only the scaled down players differentiate the game from the high school or college version. Otherwise cheerleaders, marching bands, screaming crowds and homecoming ceremonies are much the same.

'Block that kick! Block that kick!" chant the cheer girls. "That was no clip, he caught him from side," exclaims an irate pop. And the Suburban Junior League's version of Ohio State's Woody Hayes—a blocky bull of a man—explains to his anxious bench, "I'll put the second string in just as soon as we score one more touchdown."

THE TRAINING for the games is rigid, with four days of practice per week. Heavier boys in the Pop Warner League are forced to diet to stay under the 120 pound weight limit, according to Hoffman Commando coach Bob Hill.

The younger group runs off a straight T formation while the older boys play from a split T formation and have other intricacies.

The passing attack is somewhat limited in the small fry version of the game because the boys have trouble spiraling the regulation sized ball.

The Hoffman Estates teams have had few injuries—two minor ones in the past three years —and every innovation in safety equipment is used by the players from all teams.

ON THE DAY of the game the boys get together early and eat nothing after 9 a.m. for a 1 p.m. game, Hill said.

The squads are limited to 34 players, by league regulations. Teams participating in the league this year include: Wood Dale, Addison, Bensenville, Bloomingdale, Hoffman Estates, Downers Grove, North Austin, Glen Ellyn and Edison Park.

A single game is played with each member of the league, with championship trophies awarded in November, according to league officials.

High school, college and amateur coaches all agree, however, that the experience of football for the 9-13-year-olds, who partiicpate in the Pop Warner and Little League football teams, can be a valuable one.

AS COMMANDO coach Hill, a former semi-pro player with the Elmhurst Travelers, put it, "Depending on the coaching staff, I would say this type of football is very valuable to surrounding high schools and to future football play.

"If the coaches can develop fundamentals it can be a great help; if not, it can hurt the surrounding high school teams," Hill, a Hoffman Estates resident, said.

An Addison Recreation Club spokesman compared the game with Little League baseball. "It is definitely good for kids this age," he said. "It definitely helps the high schools in the areas. There are quite a few first string sophomores playing at York."

Where the coaches seem to differ is on the extent to which the game should resemble high school and college contests.

MICKEY LILE, freshman coach at Northwestern University and formerly head football coach at Lake Park High School, expressed the concern of his peers.

"It has great value if every boy that comes out is allowed to play someplace and the emphasis is not on winning but rather on learning how to play.

"I feel some of the amateur coaches love the game but never had the etching techniques to do a good job with the kids. I think some of them have begun to make the same emphasis in Pop Warner football as they do in pro football or college football," Lile said.

More than 140 boys turned out for football tryouts in Hoffman Estates, Hill said. Of these 34 were selected to play on the Commando team, which includes youngsters up to 100 pounds in weight.

"Every boy had an opportunity to play," Hill said. "Each boy would put on a football uniform twice and would be judged on the quality of his tackling, blocking and defensive play. The decisions are made by four coaches, not just one man," Hill emphasized.

LILE, HOWEVER, pointed out that the boys who are most physically mature are most proficient and are usually the ones selected.

"Others, who may mature later, sometimes become better athletes," Lile said. "No boy should be overlooked at that age. I maintain that the Little Leagues in both football and baseball are all right if played right at home and al lthe boys divided up into as many teams as possible," Lile said.

Robert Appleby, head football coach at Fenton High School in Bensenville backed up his fellow coach's stand.

"Intra-community football is better because it takes the pressure off that is put on winning by parents and adults.

"Let the kids play the game; there is no point to the pressure put on them."

APPLEBY SAID Bensenville has changed its approach from within the village to become a suburban league member this year.

"I'm not in favor of it," Appleby said. "Now, the emphasis has changed and they are limiting the number of boys. Another thing that happens when they start playing inter-community community football, they are taking the ones who are already talented and developed.

"This is not what Pop Warner or Little League football was intended to be."

Hill disagreed with this viewpoint. "Between communities is best," he said.

"In an intramural league the boys don't have the tendency to do the job if they know the kids they are playing against. It gives them better spirit and a more competitive attitude to play against boys from another town. (A15

Travel Tips

With this edition we mark the start of a new travel column that will be featured weekly in Paddock Publications.

Written by Wayne Griffin, local Arlington Heights Travel Agent, at 104 N. Evergreen, the column will delve into all sorts of facts about the world of Travel. Included from time to time will be tips on current popular trips being offered by the agency, along with Mr. Griffin's personal travel experiences.

As Griffin explains, "In any business we must know the product we are selling. The same is true in travel. That is why the staff of our office is constantly visiting vacation spots both near and far to keep up to date on facilities that are offered. Hawaii is a good example. All of our staff folks have been to Hawaii — they know the hotels, the sightseeing, the eating places in both Waikiki and the outer islands. And we revisit Hawaii regularly so we know about the newest hotels and latest changes. I have been in Hawaii five times in the last couple of years and will be happy to discuss it with anyone, at any time . . . It's my favorite vacation paradise."

Wayne Griffin Travel invites you to read this column each week. It will be found in the same location in this section of the paper weekly.

Desk Provides Ideal Hideout

Did you ever long for a tiny hide-away where you could get away from the hustle and bustle of a busy family, and yet be at home?

Some architects are giving to heads of the family just such a retreat in the form of a small, screened wood - decked patio opening off the master bedroom.

THE FLOOR DECK needn't be very large, just enough for a couple of easy chairs or maybe a chaise lounge for ded and mom.

It needn't cost much because wood decks are simple and easily built.

To insure maximum privacy, a high wooden screen can be installed around the sides of the deck exposed to the street or to activity in the family yard.

HOW DO YOU BUILD the deck! Use a sturdy lumber like Douglas fir which will last for years when exposed to the weather. The frame should be of small timbers and the deck can be of 2x4s spaced slightly to permit runoff.

The screening fence can be any pattern desired, but a louvered patterns will give good circulation and yet provide privacy.

You can use western red cedar, a lightweight wood which will last for many years.

THE DECK and screen need not be painted or stained, but can be allowed to weather to a soft silvery color. However, these woods will take any paint or stain with ease in case color is desired.

Teenagers Meet For Discussion At Supper Club

The Luther League of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, Euclid and Wolf Roads, is sponsoring at Sunday night Supper Club for teenagers. The youth meet from 5:30 to 7 p.m. on Sunday evenings for supper and consideration of the topic, "Is It Christian?"

Parents of the youth take turns in providing the supper. Pastor Weidlich moderates the discussion. The material used is part of the new curriculum of the Lutheran Church in America. Karen Petersen, vice president of the Luther League, is the acting officer in charge.

'Accident or Design?' Is Theme of Planning Meet

by JEAN WESTON

If the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission has its way the next 20 years in northeastern Illinois will have "design," and judging from the number of representatives of various municipal, county and organizational bodies attending the seventh annual metropolitan area planning conference in Chicago Monday, it will.

Using as its theme this year, "The Next 20 Years: Accident or Design?" the planning commission delved into a wide range of topics mutually concerning the six counties it envelopes and it came up with a good many answers, recommendations and solutions.

Transportation was high on the list of concerns with metropolitan planning, water problems, zoning and planning tomorrow's shopping areas among the workshop subjects.

The day-long sessions opened in the morning in the Great Hall of the Pick-Congress Hotel with Matthew L. Rockwell, executive director of NIPC, welcoming the participants.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made during the day of the contract just signed with the Illinois State Division of Highways and NIPC. The planning commission will undertake a $140,000 land use study for the highway department Francis Lorenz, director of public works and buildings, announced.

Rockwell said the study is related to planning a comprehensive transportation system for the Chicago urbanized area. Funds will come from the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads. The planning commission will prepare alternative land use plans as a basis on which a revised transportation plan can be developed. The findings will be tested by the Chicago Area Transportation authority and compared with its study of 1962.

NIPC is the official agency established by the Illinois General Assembly to develop plans for solving critical area-wide problems. It serves the metropolitan area comprised of Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry and Will counties.

It receives $50,000 per year from the state, and the same amount from Cook County. DuPage County, among others, engages its services in an advisory capacity at $7,500 per year.

IN ADDITION, the county has commissioned NIPC to undertake a $12,500 study of land, water and open space used through-out DuPage. The results will be announced early in 1965.

Many of the municipalities in DuPage County also avail themselves of the services of this unique planning body.

Chester Davis, Wayne resident, president of NIPC, expressed the hope that the next meeting of the state legislature would see enabling legislation enacted making NIPC a state agency.

Seated at the speaker's table during the luncheon were Paul Ronske, chairman of the DuPage County Board of Supervisors, and Chester LeRoy James, President of the DuPage Forest Preserve District and a member of the commission.

Roger Nusbaum, deputy chief highway engineer, chose transportation as his topic in addressing the gathering following the luncheon.

THE SPEAKER predicted a rapid increase in population for the six-county area of metropolitan Chicago, from 5½ million in 1956 to 8 million in 1980. "If we're to effectively meet the challenge of this growth, we must plan for it now," he warned.

He spoke of the federal legislation, Federal Aid to Highways Act of 1962, in which it states, "After July 1, 1965, the Secretary of Commerce shall not approve any programs for Federal Aid to Highway projects in any urban area of more than 50,000 population unless such projects are based on a continuing comprehensive transportation planning process carried on cooperatively by the states and local communities."

Nusbaum, as did the other speakers for the sessions, stressed the need for comprehensive planning on an area-wide basis. (A-15

Importance of Proper Eye Care, Safety Is Stressed

(This is the first in a series on eye health and safety by John W. Ferree, M. D., Executive Director, National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Ind.)

Every 20 minutes an American goes blind. Three times every hour some man, woman or child — blindness knows no age limits — forfeits the precious gift of vision forever. They enter the world of permanent shadow, tragic victims of disease, accidents and neglect.

Your eyes are your windows on the world. Marvelous windows that enable you to see color, motion, form, tiny particles, distant panoramas. You wouldn't sell your eyes for all the money in the world, nor would all the money in the world ever buy you a new pair.

NEVERTHELESS, most of us pay more attention to things far less valuable. For example, the chances are good that your car has been to the garage for inspection or a tune-up during the past year. When was the last time you had your eyes and those of your family members examined completely?

America now has an estimated blind population of more than 400,000, just about the same number of people as in Newark, N. J. To understand the immediate need for preventing blindness, try to form the terrifying idea of every man, woman and child in Newark suddenly struck sightless. Disaster would be the cry. That our blind are numbered in every community across the nation rather than a single one makes the national toll no less calamitous.

It is doubly tragic to realize that half of these Americans need never have lost their sight. Half of all blindness is preventable. No new miraculous cures or scientific cures are needed, just the simple practical application of the sight-saving knowledge — the detection of eye problems, their correction, and eye safety — that our nation already possesses.

TIME CAN run out in the race to save sight. There is a point of no return for the imperiled eyes of young and old alike. More than 11,600,000 American school children need some form of eye care. And 1,355,000 Americans over 40 years of age are threatened with blindness from glaucoma — but half don't know it. What is the remedy? Detection programs coupled with public education to identify these people so they may gain treatment while there is still time to save their good vision.

Some Americans must work harder to see than others. In our country today there are thousands of young and old alike with diminished eyesight, some even within the legal limits of blindness, who are capable of living near-normal lives with special help.

However, only 10 per cent of the 92,000 partially seeing students in the country benefit from the proper educational facilities they need to use vision as their chief means of learning. Countless numbers of elderly citizens could regain useful lives through cataract surgery or low vision lenses. These people must be helped.

TEAMWORK is the key to vision safety — in the home, in schools, and in factories. More than 153,000 school-age youngsters are threatened with blindness in eye accidents every year, and another 1,000 eye accidents strike employes in industry every working day of the calendar!

Complete 100 per cent eye safety programs are the answer in schools and factories, and a constant vigilance against eye accident possibilities must be brought into play in our nation's homes.

The individual, the community, the country, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, all must band together. Blindness for even one is a loss for many.

Next: Children's Eye Problems.

Colombia Student At Palatine High

Since word was received at Palatine High School that Nubio Camachio would be arriving Nov. 25 to spend three months here, plans have been started to make the young lady feel at home.

Nubio, the 16-year-old daughter of a Colombian lawyer, will make her home with the Harold Chamberlains of 1048 South Brockway. Their daughter Cheri recently returned from spending three months, complete with private schooling, in Ibaque, Colombia.

NUBIO WANTED to come to the United States because it is an industrial country. She is in her last year of school before entering university. Her majors are mathematics, languages, and social science.

The young guest comes from the city of Bucaramango in the province of Santandere. In applying for the opportunity of coming to the United States, Nubio chose the cities of Boston, Philadelphia, and Chicago as the three places she would most like to visit.

Lake Park Expansion

Lake Park High School students are surrounded by construction materials and machinery.

Two new wings are being added to the building to make room for the school's growing student population. Included in the additions are a larger library, a new auditorium, physical education facilities, and a large study hall.

OTHER PARTS of the building are being remodeled. The school will have an enlarged science department area which will include an animal and plant room.

The animals will be used primarily for observation, and the plant room will be used for experiments and for growth of bacteria cultures.

Next to the animal rooms will be the sunroom equipped with a small pond and a bubble in the roof to let in sunlight.

A "LIVING classroom" is planned for the wooded area around the school. It will include a seven foot deep pond stocked with fish, and the woods will be stocked with rabbits, pheasants, and quail.

The school's Biology Club is participating in the project.

Use Angles

If you want to be different, you might want to design your wood deck so that the floor plan is in the form of a diamond, a trapezoid or even a circle. Wood, such as Douglas fir, is so flexible you can cut it to any shape.

School Council Is Voice of Students

New Officers Begin Duties

To northwest suburban high schools, self-government means Student Council.

While this group of elected representatives does not limit homework or dismiss classes, it does perform an important function as a voice of the student population.

The opening of school finds councils picking up the gavel of authority left by last year's seniors, welcoming new freshman members, and planning the year's activities.

Wheeling High School excepted, area schools elected Student Council officers last spring. Freshmen named their representatives this fall.

AT WHEELING, students are presently forming a Council are recently named Mark Newman the group's first president. Mark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Newman, 1703 Hickory, Prospect Heights.

Other WHS officers are Linda Edwards, daughter of Mrs. Norma Davis, 420 Meadowbrook Lane, Wheeling, vice president; Jeanne LaBandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray LaBandt, 304 Lancaster, Prospect Heights, recording secretary; Ann O'Donnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William O'Donnell, 119 Emerson, Mount Prospect, corresponding secretary; and Bob Krug, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Krug, 128 Center Ave., Wheeling, treasurer.

The Wheeling council will be formed by presidents of the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes, and 30 elected representatives. There are no seniors at Wheeling this year.

AT ST. VIATOR High School in Arlington Heights, only juniors and seniors are eligible may seek election to the Student Council. Officer candidates form a "ticket" composed of aspirants for the jobs of president, secretary, and treasurer. The president and treasurer must be seniors, but the candidate for vice president may be a junior.

Every candidate must have a petition signed by 10 per cent of the students from the four classes. Following the submission of the petition, candidates are screened by the administration and executive officers of the council.

Balloting is according to pretoral college method. Homerooms each elect one representative and one alternate.

Directing the St. Viator council is Joe Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Grant, 645 S. Walnut, Arlington Heights. Vice president is Rick Profita, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Profita, 232 Hatlen, Mount Prospect. Secretary is Mike Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Cole, 301 S. Kenten, Arlington Heights; and treasurer is Tim Walinski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Walinski, 920 Horne Terrace, Des Plaines.

ARLINGTON High School Student Council officers, already busy with plans for an Oct. 9 and 10 talent show, are led by president Harley Gates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Gates, 737 S. Highland, Arlington Heights.

Other officers are Lee Lockwood, vice president, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lockwood, 313 E. Walnut, Wheeling; Dorothy Anderson, corresponding secretary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Anderson, 701 S. Walnut, Arlington Heights.

Kathy Lill, recording secretary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lill, 832 N. Kennicott, Arligton Heights; Vicky Finch, treasurer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Finch, 820 S. Oakton, Arlington Heights; and Linda Hosek, chief justice of the traffic court, daughter of Mrs. Walter Hosek, 804 W. Elm, Arlington Heights.

AT FOREST VIEW High School, Bob Kohn, son of Major and Mrs. Norman R. Kohn, 923 Tower Drive, Mount Prospect, presides over Student Council affairs.

He is assisted by first vice president Chuck Boesenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Boesenberg, 903 Candota, Mount Prospect; second vice president Dick Mosher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Mosher, 531 W. Kathleen Drive, Des Plaines; secretary Karen Garrity, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Garrity, 2200 Bluebird Lane, Rolling Meadows.

Appointed this fall was treasurer Steve Altenburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Altenburg, 801 S. Meyer Road, Mount Prospect.

While council activities vary somewhat from school to school, Arlington High School's council projects are typical. President Gates has his group pointing toward the talent show Oct. 9 and 10, and must also prepare for Homecoming activities the following week.

The council finances the American Field Service program which annually brings a foreign exchange student to Arlington High School. Raising money for the AFS program usually means sponsoring dances, fun nights, and game concessions.

Other Arlington projects include an Americanism Day program, a Christmas Card exchange for students, a fund drive for a worthwhile charity, and a guide service to orient freshmen to the building.

PRESIDENT JOE Grant of the St. Viator Council feels "the purpose of the Student Council is to give students a taste of responsibility and leadership, a chance to extend their qualities, and to provide for better understanding between the faculty and students."

Arlington's Harley Gates points out that often the council can, through negotiation, effect changes in school policy. His group was able to talk Arlington administrators into removing a "ban" on culottes, a type of skirt popular with teenagers.

"More often," Gates says, "the council acts as a bond be- [illegible] and administrators, creating a more smoothly run high school."

LBJ Supporters to Open Headquarters

Americans for Johnson headquarters will be officially opened Saturday at 11 a.m., it was announced this week by Norbert W. Necker of Wheeling, general chairman.

Headquarters will be located in the Palatine Plaza Shopping Center, Routes 14 (Northwest Highway) and 53, near Dominick's Food Store.

Volunteers will staff the headquarters from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. throughout the week, and all day Saturdays until election. Telephone number there will be 358-7877; if that line is busy, people may call 358-1922.

BUMPER stickers, campaign buttons, matchbooks, post cards, literature and other information will be distributed at headquarters. A telephone campaign to voters is planned, as are letter-writing activities.

Volunteer scheduling is being coordinated by Mrs. Sheldon Staubitz, and those who wish to work may call her at 358-9061. Mrs. Merle Halama, organization treasurer, suggests that those who wish to work for President Johnson's re-election but whose time is limited may send contributions to her at 217 S. Hart, Palatine.

Mrs. Bernard Masler, Wheeling, membership chairman of Americans for Johnson, announced that more than 25 communities are represented in the one-purpose organization. "We welcome all Republicans, Independents, and Democrats who wish to join us in helping the campaign for President Johnson."

"We are ready to provide speakers and/or literature to any group or individual who wishes to know more about the campaign issues and the activities of Americans for Johnson," said Jan Bone, Palatine, publicity chairman. She is speaking Oct. 14 at a morning coffee of Republican Lake Bluff women, and that evening at the Alpha Omicron Pi Northwestern Suburban Alumnae meeting.

Dave Bone, group program chairman, has been guest speaker at two Evanston discussions and has been asked to talk at a coming Glen Ellyn - Lombard meeting.

Exchange Is Valuable

AFS Program Is Bringing Foreign Students to Area

Area high school students will tell you that few programs are as worthwhile as the American Field Service, which annually brings foreign students to suburban schools and allows local students to study abroad.

The number of students involved in the program increases each year. There are presently some 16,000 foreign students studying in the United States under AFS auspices.

Locally the AFS tally is dramatic:

An Arlington High School senior is studying in Italy; a Lake Park senior is studying in Australia; a Southern Rhodesia student is studying at Prospect High School; a German student is studying at Forest View High School; an Arlington senior just returned from a summer of study in Norway; a Japanese student is studying at Arlington High School; a Norwegian student is studying at Lake Park High School.

A PRIVATE, non-profit organization, the American Field Service was founded in 1914 as a volunteer ambulance corps and served with the allied forces in World War I and World War II.

Its 4,000 volunteer members carried over a million casualties.

Following World War II, the AFS initiated a program of bringing students from other countries to the United States for a year's study. A summer program (eight to ten weeks) was added in 1950, and in 1957 a program to allow American youngsters to study abroad was inaugurated.

PURPOSE OF the program, of course, is to increase understanding and friendship among the peoples of the world by giving American teenagers the opportunity to live and study with students from other countries.

The AFS Americans Abroad program is a family and school experience. It is not a tour.

Candidates must be 16 years old or older, have studied a foreign language, be a member in good standing of the student body of a school which has an AFS chapter, be a member of the Junicr Class, have an excellent academic record, and be in excellent health.

TYPICAL OF exchange students attending American high schools is Kazuyoshi Hosoquya, now a senior at Arlington High School. He is residing with the Paul Oppelt family, 1211 N. State, Arlington Heights.

"Yoshi," as his classmates have tabbed him, comes from a new Japanese city, Saku, which is located near the center of the main island of Japan.

At Arlington he is studying English, American history, current history, and mathematics; and already complains of homework. He and the Oppelt's son Randy have become fast friends.

"YOSHI" arrived in August. Highlights of his stay so far have included attendance at a Japanese festival in Chicago, learning to water ski in Wisconsin, and starting school with over 2,200 classmates. He wants to play baseball next spring.

Christa Margraf, 17, hails from Eibach, Germany. While attending Forest View High School she is living with the Robert Arnold family, 8 Audrey Lane, Mount Prospect.

Her course load consists of English, American history, journalism, sociology, and art. Christa was excited by Chicago's Marina City, enjoys American shopping trips, has taken to pizza, and claims Germany has nothing to match her first pajama party.

"Everything is bigger and brighter in the United States," she remarked. "It is easier to live here. Everyone is smiling and more easy going."

CARL ERIK Kilander, Lake Park High School's student from Norway, says American schools are "pretty hard." He anticipates special difficulty with English.

Erik has found American life pretty confusing, but, he insists, "I think I'll like it as time goes on."

Expenses for AFS students are usually paid by an AFS chapter. The host family bears the expense of housing and feeding the student.

"WE WOULD like to have more community participation in the AFS program," informs Martha Craig, Arlington High School counselor and director of the school's AFS program.

The program is designed to involve the entire community but usually all planning must be done by the schools.

Students don't mind the planning, however. Arlington High's Student Council has worked overtime to provide money to bring students to their school. They have hosted exchange students from Germany (2), Argentina, Panama, France, Turkey, and Japan.

IN ADDITION, Arlington students have traveled to Denmark, Norway, and Italy.

But benefits from the program are not limited to those students who qualify for study abroad. Most students get to know the exchange students, and their avid support of the AFS program is testimony to the program's values.

Introducing New Idea

'Highlights' Section Spotlights Teen News

A new idea in scholastic journalism has given Paddock Publications another first this week.

"High School Highlights" a section devoted to news of area high schools debuts as a regular feature of all Paddock papers.

Editing the new section are some top-notch student journalists from northwest suburban high schools. Represented on the staff are Arlington High School, Forest View High School, St. Viator High School, and Wheeling High School.

Invitations have also been extended to Lake Park High School in Medinah, Palatine High School, Prospect High School, and Fenton High School in Bensenville.

"The section will grow as the group grows," informs Highlights director Jack Martin, an English and journalism instructor at Arlington High School.

PADDOCK Publications is adding the section because of the growing numbers of teenage readers. Nearly 14,000 high school students reside within the Paddock newspaper territory.

Executive Editor Charles E. Hayes points out that in addition to providing news of high school activities, which are of interest to students and their parents, the new section will be an excellent motivation for students interested in journalism.

Another purpose of "High School Highlights" is to give additional recognition to area students whose accomplishments have not been adequately publicized.

"High School Highlights" should improve our coverage of high school affairs, Hayes added.

Here are "Highlights" staff members who worked on the first issue: Joan Bierma, Arlington High — Joan is editor-in-chief of the Arlington High "Cardinal," is a member of the Coronets girls' drill team. She is an excellent student and hopes to combine her interests in journalism and political science. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bierma, Jr., 15 E. Willow, Arlington Heights.

Joy Metz, Arlington High — Joy, like Joan, is a senior. She serves as the "Cardinal" feature editor, is a member of Coronets, is a former member of Student Council, and will attend college next year. Like other members of the "Highlights" staff, Joy maintains a high grade average. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Metz Jr., 421 N. Carlyle, Arlington Heights.

Tom Pitello, St. Viator — Tom is a junior with interests in journalism, nuclear physics, and bowling. He manages his school's paperback book store and is a member of the St. Viator Sodality,, an organization which stresses the importance of religion in one's daily life. Tom is an associate editor of the St. Viator newspaper. He is the son of Mrs. Marie Pitello, 19 N. Dryden, Arlington Heights.

Kathy Barnes, Wheeling High — Kathy is editor-in-chief of the Wheeling newspaper which published volume one, number one recently. A transfer student from Indianapolis as a sophomore, Kathy became interested in journalism through her English classes. She is learning to play the guitar but hopes to study medicine. Kathy is the daughter of Mrs. Susan Barnes, 1060 Wheeling Road, Mount Prospect.

Dance Marks Change to Fall Attire

Arlington High School females are glad the Kickoff Dance is over.

It wasn't that the evening was a bore, but somewhere in the school's past, girls adopted an unwritten policy which accepted the Kickoff Dance as a signal to shift from cotton to wool clothing.

NO ONE seems to know who started the tradition, but AH girls shivered through two weeks of school rather than break custom.

Part of the hardship was due to the fact that school started about a week later than usual, the Kickoff Dance did not come after the opening football game, and the area experienced some unseasonably cold weather.

Shakespeare Theme for Homecoming

With "A Hard Shakespearean Night" as the homecoming theme, student council committees at Palatine high school are dividing the work for this all-school activity.

Homecoming is Oct. 17 with Maine South as the game opponent.

Steve Applehans is president of Student Council, and Clifford Anderson is Council adviser. He is assisted by William Burns.

Ted Wachs and Jeannine Williams are co-chairmen for the hootennanny to be held in the Palatine gym Friday evening, Oct. 16.

DAVE SWINGLEY is over-all chairman for homecoming. He is assisted by Jerri Tabbert, parade; Rick Johnston and Binney Williamson, game; and Kim Pedersen and Bunny Tomasek, dance.

The Fremd student council is in charge of decorating the field.

Banks from the Winston Park and Sanborn schools will join the high school marching band to give more musical units in the parade.

Plan Disaster Drill At Scout Camporee

Does Scouting belong in the space age?

That's the question members of the Sauk Woods Boy Scout District Camping Committee hope to answer affirmatively this weekend when more than 500 Boy Scouts, Explorers and their adult leaders hold their annual Fall Camporee.

Under the direction of Jack Medley, 2003 Hawk Court, Rolling Meadows, the camping committee has spent several months on the preparations for a campout with an outer space theme. According to Medley, 16 Scout troops and five Explorer posts from Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows will take part in the program.

SITE OF THE three-day outing will be the Northwest Suburban Scout Council's 160-acre Lakota Reservation, eight miles west of Woodstock on U.S. Highway 14.

"Operation Teamwork," as the campout has been named, is designed to teach the Scouts the principles of rescue and survival in the event of a space age disaster. Although they don't say how they know, the Camporee planners say a landing from outer space is expected in their area during the weekend.

The program gets under way tomorrow (Friday) at 3 p.m. when the local units start setting up their tents and other camping gear. Following church services and award ceremonies Sunday morning will be the homeward trek beginning at noon.

WORKING with Medley on the Camporee are these Rolling Meadows Scout leaders: Lawrence R. Hall, 2709 School; Howard M. Christensen, 2200 Jay; and Joseph E. Murawski, 2704 Fremont.

Arlington Heights Scout leaders are: James F. Otis, 1160 N. Beverly; Otis A. Johnson, 833 N. Forrest; Dr. Frank J. Psota, 5 S. Donald; Arthur A. Schott, 733 S. Chestnut; and Raymond T. Chidley, 830 N. Belmont.

The Sauk Woods Boy Scout District is headed by John D. M. Shelley, 350 S. Derbyshire, Arlington Heights. Stewart M. Grant, 701 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, is district commissioner. Jack M. Starke, 617 Warren, Palatine, is district executive.

NROTC Test Set Dec. 12

Applications are now available for the Navy's nineteenth annual NROTC qualification test, according to area high school administrations.

The nationwide examination will be given Dec. 12, and all eligible male high school seniors and graduates may apply.

On the basis of this test, personal interviews, physical examinations, and other factors, over 2,000 young men will be given college educations as midshipmen in NROTC units in 52 well-known colleges and universities throughout the country.

REGISTRATIONS for the test will close Nov. 20, Informational bulletins and applications are now available from counselors at area schools or at the nearest U.S. Navy Recruiting Station.

A successful applicant receives financial aid for four years of college. This includes tuition, books, uniforms, miscellaneous expenses, and a $50 per month retainer fee. After successfully completing college degree requirements and naval science training, NROTC midshipmen become commissioned officers in the U.S. Navy or Marine Corps.

During their training, Regular NROTC midshipmen enjoy three summer cruises with various naval units, including visits to foreign ports.

Male citizens of the United States who will be over 17 but not yet 21 on June 30, 1965, and are now high school seniors or graduates, are eligible to apply for the Dec. 12, 1964, NROTC qualifying tests.

Applicants who score well will be interviewed and given physical examinations next February.

Unique 'Contracts' To Improve Grades

A unique plan to improve student scholastic achievements has been introduced at Forest View High School.

Principal L. S. Jenness has asked each student to sign a contract aimed at raising his grades.

On one side of the paper students listed their courses and final grades for the 1963-64 school year. They then figured their average grade.

NEXT TO THIS schedule the students listed the courses they are taking this year and what grades they hope to get in each subject. These grades were also averaged.

The contracts were made in duplicate with the signature of the student on both so that Jenness received one copy and the student kept the other.

In reading the contracts Jenness found that most of the students were realistic. He found that the goals usually represented an improvement over last year's grades, although some were lowered in cases where students anticipated difficulties in specific subjects.

THE SCHOOL-wide campaign began when the football team was asked to set the pace for the rest of the school. (So far the varsity team is undefeated.)

The school newspaper, "The Viewer," will take a student survey to find how successful the plan is after the first grading period.

Officers Selected For Wheeling Clubs

Selection of officers for three Wheeling High School organizations was announced this week, and representatives were named to two business sponsored activities.

Bonnie Archer and Beth Holthaus were elected co-chairmen of Orchesis, Nancy Zlotowdki, secretary, and Beckie Holthaus, treasurer. The modern dance group will perform at assemblies and during halftime at basketball games.

GARY BOZLINSKI, Sue Summers, Nancy McDonald, George Drakje and Liz Keith were elected officers of the Modern Music Masters Club, called Tri-M. Members must be members of the music department and have an "A" in their music subject. There are presently 10 in the club.

Ann O'Donnell was selected by faculty advisors as the editor-in-chief of the high school yearbook staff, and Jill Herrmann is assistant editor. There are 15 other members of the staff.
